Hon. R. H. Grant's amendment met with considerable objection from J. R. Cooke Conservative member for Hastings, who claimed that the bill if adopted would ruin the school system in the Province in the rural districts. He stated that the unabsorbed surplus of the Separate School grants of last year was $70,000. and if divided among the 99 Separate Schools of the lower grades who would naturally benefit, it would mean an average of $706. extra grant. More, he said, than the average salary paid the teachers. At the present time, according to Mr. Cooke, there are certain localities in which there were a considerable number of people who would ordinarily support a Separate School, but not being able to do so all parties were working together in harmony supporting one Public School. He was afraid that the extra grant would cause more Separate Schools to be built and would therefore weaken the general public system of the Province. He suggested that the whole grant question be sent back to the Select Committee on Education, of which he is a member, to be considered during the recess and reported upon during the next session. Hon. Howard Ferguson was of the same opinion as Mr. Cooke and advised that it be sent to committee.

Situation Right Itself

Hon. Mr. Grant agreed to this proposition but in the meantime he desired his amendment to go through explaining that his whole desire was to avoid further criticism this year. Mr. Grant thought that the situation was righting itself in any event owing to the fact that the Separate Schools themselves were awakening to a more general realization of the grants and were taking greater advantage of them with the result that the unabsorbed surpluses were decreasing year by year.

At the request of Mr. Grant the amendment was passed through the house and will be referred to the Special Committee for further consideration.

Following the objection of Hon. Howard Ferguson a clause, incorporated in the bill giving sections of less than 500 population the right to elect the school trustees by ballot was struck out. Mr. Ferguson stating that the open voting method was the best and proper proceedure and that if he had the power, it would be the system in vogue for provincial elections in Ontario.

U. S. LABOR BODIES MAY BE SUED FOR RESTRAINT TRADE

Important Decision Was Handed Down By United States Supreme Court.

RE COAL STRIKE.

WASHINGTON, June 66 (Canadian Press). — Labour organisations, although unincorporated, may be prosecuted for violations of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law, the United States Supreme Court held yesterday in an opinion delivered by Chief Justice Taft.

The decision came in the celebrated Coronado Coal case, investigating strikes in Arkansas in 1919, as a result of which the United Mine Workers of America were found guilty of restraint of inter-state commerce and damages of $200,000 were awarded against the organisation by the District Court, which damages were trebled as provided under the Anti-Trust Law.

The Supreme Court, in a careful analysis of the evidence presented in the case, found that the facts incident to the strike were not convincing; that its object was to restrain interstate commerce. In fact, Chief Justice Taft stated that as much as the Court would have been pleased to aid in the punishment of the arson felonies committed by the strikers, it was forced to the conclusion that the lawlessness was strictly local and not associated with an effort to restrain inter-state commerce.

The international officers of the Mine Workers' Union were held by the Court not to have been liable for trial, as there was no evidence that they had either participated in, authorised, or approved the strike.

The fine imposed by the Lower Court will therefore not be imposed by the new form of decree which that Court will enter in conformity with the Supreme Court decision of to-day.

LOCAL OPPOSITION NEW CHEQUE TAX

Executive Council of the Chamber of Commerce Urges Higher Sales Tax.

At a meeting of the executive council of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday called expressly to discuss the proposed graduated stamp tax to be placed on cheques by the King government the criticism of the business men present was sharp and to the point.

J. Wells Fraser presided in the absence of President J. J. Duffus. The following resolution copies of which will be sent to Hon. Fielding, G. N. Gordon and the Toronto Chamber of Commerce was adopted: Whereas the proposed graduated stamp tax announced in the budget will be detrimental to commerce, will hinder banking and inflate currency by encouraging a large circulation of currency in the place of cheques, therefore be it resolved that we the executive council of the Chamber of Commerce, strongly recommend to the Minister of Finance, Dominion government, that the proposed stamp tax be not enacted, but that the proposed sales tax from manufacturer to wholesalers or consumers and wholesalers to retailers or consumers and on imports be further increased, in the former to 2 1-2 and 5 per cent, and the latter from 3 3-4 and 6, to 6 1-2 respectively.

It is expected that the Chamber will add to the delegation that is waiting on the Minister of Finance this week asking that the stamp tax be removed and the sales tax increases as called for in the resolution, put into effect to increase revenue.

Riley's Army Marches Back

OTTAWA, June 66 (Canadian Press). — After being addressed at Howick Hall, at the Exhibition Grounds, by the Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie-King and the Hon. Thomas Murdock, Minister of Labour, General Riley's army of unemployed veterans started to march back to Toronto.

The men expressed dissatisfaction with the answers given to their demands and queries.

The march commenced at 9.45 last night.

MARLER ANSWERS RILEY'S DEMANDS

The "General" Does Not Appear Before Special Parliamentary Committee.

OTTAWA, June 6. — (Canadian Press.)—"General" Riley failed to accept an invitation to appear, with the executive of his army, before the Special Parliamentary Committee on soldiers' re-establishent, Herbert Marler, Committee Chairman, stated yeserday. The committee had signified its willingness to meet the unemployed soldiers or their representatives and had held themselves in readiness, Riley, although notified, did not take advantage of the opportunity.

The committee, said Mr. Marler, have fully investigated the different departments dealing with soldiers' affairs and have the greatest confidence in them. This confidence would be clearly indicated in the report of the committee to the House. The committee had the greatest sympathy with the returned soldiers, and this sympathy would also be made apparent in the report.

Mr. Marler said that the demands which the "army" had placed before the cabinet would be considered by his committee to the fullest possible extent. It was naturally felt, Mr. Marler pointed out, that the unemployment situation was due to the business depression and that it could not help being felt by the returned soldiers as well as by other people.

Regarding the request for a medical re-examination of all ex-service men, the committee chairman said, that in the case of disability or illness all that the returned soldier required to do was to present himself at the district office of the D.S.C.R. The department was bound by law to provide treatment.

"Regarding adequate reimbursement along the lines of the man's earning power it should be remembered," said Mr. Marler, "that of the pensions in force as regards disabilities, over 90 per cent. are paid to those below the rank of lieutenant. It follows from this that, if previous occupation were considered those holding superior rank would be paid accordingly more, whereas those holding lesser rank might receive proportionately less. The basis of all pensions is an able-bodied 100 per cent. fit unskilled laborer."

The committee was giving every consideration to the unemployment situation and to provide help to the widows and orphans, after care of the sick and of those unable to work.

Mr. Marler emphasized that the committee was absolutely non-political, and the government had not made the slightest effort to influence its deliberations. The only influence it had exerted was to advise the committee to deal generously with the returned soldiers.

INCREASE COAL PRICE.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—An immediate increase in the retail price of bituminous coal as a result of the fair price maximum of $3.50 a ton at the mines established last week, was predicted yesterday by Roderick Stephens, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the National Retail Coal Merchants' Association, at a conference of members with Commerce Secretary Hoover.

SCOTT CONCILIATION BOARD APPROVES PREVIOUS AWARD

Recommendation That Wages of Coal Miners Be Cut Twenty Per Cent. With a $3 Minimum For Datal Men.

OTTAWA, June 6.—(Canadian Press)—"We are of the opinion that the McKinnon award rates, with a reduction of 20 per cent on the wages of all employees, with a minimum of $3.00 per day for datal men over the age of 18 years should be adopted."

The above is the conclusion in regard to wages of the majority report of the Scott Board of Conciliation which investigated the dispute between the British Empire Steel Corporation, its subsidiaries, the Dominion Coal Company, the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company, and the Acadia Coal Company.

The Board was appointed several weeks ago by Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor after the policy of "strike-on-the-job" had been declared in some of the Nova Scotia Mines.

The majority report was signed by D'Arcy Scott, Ottawa, chairman of the Board, and John E. Moore, St. John, N.B., representing the employers.

A minority report submitted by I. D. MacDougall, Inverness, N.S., represening the men, recommended that the preesnt minimum datal rate be increased from $2.85 to $3.45, and that the higher d'l rate should be reduced ten per cent. below what they were under the so-called Montreal agreement.

He also recommends that the contract rates at present in force be increased 18 1-2 per cent, making them 13 1-2 per cent below the contract rates of the Montreal agreement, or 1 per cent, below those of the MacKinnon award, to be retroactive to January 1st.

SHIP IS HELD FOR SMUGGLING ARMS

U. S. Vessel Seattle Spirit Held Up By British Ship For Carrying Arms to Ireland.

NEW YORK, June 5 (Canadian Press). — The U. S. Shipping Board steamer Seattle Spirit, reported held up by a British sloop in Tralee Bay, with contraband arms, presumably loaded here, is the second United States vessel to get in trouble over the shipment of arms mto Ireland.

Just a year ago this month the steamship East Side was boarded as she was loading at a pier in Hoboken, and 495 machine guns were seized by the Hoboken police on the theory that they were being illegally shipped to Ireland.

Two inquiries were made by a Federal Grand Jury, but that body was unable to find any evidence on which to base indictments.

The Seattle Spirit, now reported held up with arms, was in trouble here less than a month ago over a cargo of contraband liquor.

Officials of the Moore & McCormick Company, which operates the Seattle Spirt, declared yesterday they had no knowledge of arms or ammunition aboard the vessel when she sailed, and asserted the supplies said to have been discovered by the British must have been smuggled aboard by members of the crew.

The Seattle Spirit is an oil burner of 8,800 tons deadweight, and carries a crew of 33. She had been in the Irish-American trade for about a year.

DRAINAGE CANAL AGAIN IN DISPUTE.

Famous Chicago Canal is the Cause of Still Another Legal Litigation.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—(Canadian Press.)—Wisconsin was yesterday granted permission by the Supreme Court to file an original bill against the State of Illinois and the Sanitary district of Chicago to determine whether Wisconsin or its citizens are being deprived of any rights by the operation of the Chicago drainage canal.

Wisconsin in its bill of complaint contended that the level of Lake Michigan and that of other of the Great Lakes, as well as their connecting waters were being lowered by the drainage canal at Chicago. The complaint also stated that the Secretaary of War had authorized the withdrawal of the water from Lake Michigan, whereas an act of Congress was necessady to legalize the diversion; and that the lowering of the lake level required the lightening of the loads of the steamers, thus increasing transportation costs.

POTATOES ROTTING BECAUSE OF HIGH RY. FREIGHT RATES

Maritime Provinces Demand That Charges in Existence Forty Years Be Restored.

"That the conditions which warranted the suspension of the Crows' Nest Pass agreement in the first instance, and the subsequent continuance of suspension by the railway act, have not yet passed away and that there remains a clear justification for the further continuance of the suspension.

He also said: "The Economic conditions of the Maritime Provinces were such as to demand an immediate relief from the transportation charges, which are at present effective in that district, and that as between the East and West, it can be said that the conditions of the one are any worse than the other."

It was further contended that there should be an extension to all portions of the country of measures of relief. The statement was also made that in Prince Edward Island potatoes were rotting in cellars because of the high freight rates which made it unprofitable to ship them. Therefore relief should be granted, and it should be general.

The Maritime provinces were vitally interested in the present situation because it had been represented that if the specific rate reductions called for in the Crows' Nest Pass agreement came into effect, the resulting revenues of the railways would be so reduced as to render it impossible to extend any relief through reduction in rates to other portions of the country or to any commodities not covered by the agreement.

It was contended that the Maritime Provinces had entered confederation on the undertsanidng that the intercolonial would be built, and there was an implied agreement that the rates should be such as to enable producers in the Maritime Provinces to get into the market of Central Canada. Such rates had been granted and had remained in existence for forty years, and in justice to the Maritime Provinces, these as soon as possible should be restored.

CANAL PROJECT IS NOT POSSIBLE NOW.

St. Lawrence River Improvement Scheme is Definitely Turned Down By Canada.

WASHINGTON, June 6 (Canadian Press). — The Canadian Government's position with reference to present action on the St. Lawrence River improvement project was officially communicated to Secretary Hughes yesterday by Sir Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador.

The fact that Canada did not feel it expedient to proceed with the matter at present was stated recently by Premier King at Ottawa.

The note of Ambassador Geddes was in reply to one from Mr. Hughes, which was forwarded to the Canadian Government, stating that the American Government would be glad to take up with the Canadian Government the negotiation of a treaty looking to the deepening of the waterways which would enable ocean-going ships to reach the Great Lakes.

"The competent authorities of the Canadian Government," Sir Auckland Geddes said, "have advised the Governor-General that they have not, up to the present, had an opportunity to give to the report of the International Joint Commission and the accompanying report of the Board of Engineers appointed to examine the subject, that careful consideration which their importance merits. Moreover, having regard to the magnitude of the project and the large outlay of public money involved, the Canadian Government is of the opinion that it is not considered expedient to deal with this matter at the present time."

BILL TO AMEND SCHOOL LAW PASSES COMMITTEE

Several Important Amendments Are Introduced By Premier Drury.

SCHOOL GRANTS.

TORONTO, June 6.—(Canadian Press)— With several important amendments the bill to amend the School Laws Act introduced in the Legislature yesterday afternoon by Hon. R. H. Grant, Minister of Education which embraces a plan to overcome the situation respecting provincial grants to rural schools, which aroused so much criticism last autumn, was approved in Committee. Premier Drury was responsible for the chief change in the reading of the act when, at his instigation, the clause was dropped which would have placed at the discretion of the Minister of Education the distribution of a portion of the grants accordng to "the special circumstances of any particular school".

As the bill was originally introduced the measure proposed to add to the list of qualifications on which general grants for the rural public and separate schools might be apportioned, subject to the regulations. Premier Drury, however, thought that the clause placed in the hands of the Minister a power that might be abused in the future with the result that an amendment was substituted to the following effect". "And any other circumstances which according to the regulations should effect such apportionments."

Criticised Last Year

The object of the Government in adding to the provisions on which the money might be distributed was to clear up the situation and criticism of last year when it was stated that certain rural separate schools were being assisted by provincial grants in unfair proportion to similarity situated public schools in the same districts. It was pointed out that the whole difficulty arose over the fact that a large portion of the grants to rural separate schools had not been absorbed on the regular basis of distribution and the department had followed the practice of distributing this unabsorbed portion on a prorata basis.

Premier Drury was also responsible for the inclusion among the considerations governing the apportionments that grants should be made on the basis of the assessment of Separate School supporters. It being pointed out that there were no Separate School sections.

J. R. Cooke Objects

Hon. R. H. Grant's amendment met with considerable objection from J. R. Cooke Conservative member for Hastings, who claimed that the bill if adopted would ruin the school system in the Province in the rural districts. He stated that the unabsorbed surplus of the Separate School grants of last year was $70,000. and if divided among the 99 Separate Schools of the lower grades who would naturally benefit, it would mean an average of $706, extra grant. At the present time, according to Mr. Cooke, there are certain localities in which there were a considerable number of people who would ordinarily support a Separate School, but not being able to do so all parties were working together in harmony supporting one Public School. He was afraid that the extra grant would cause more Separate Schools to be built and would therefore weaken the general public system of the Province. He suggested that the whole grant question be sent back to the Select Committee on Education, of which he is a member, to be considered during the recess and reported upon during the next session. A minority report submitted by I. D. MacDougall, Inverness, N.S., represening the men, recommended that the present minimum datal rate be increased from $2.85 to $3.45, and that the higher datal rate should be reduced ten per cent. below what they were under the so-called Montreal agreement.

He also recommends that the contract rates at present in force be increased 18 1-2 per cent, making them 13 1-2 per cent below the contract rates of the Montreal agreement, or 1 per cent, below those of the MacKinnon award, to be retroactive to January 1st.

SHIP IS HELD FOR SMUGGLING ARMS

U. S. Vessel Seattle Spirit Held Up By British Ship For Carrying Arms to Ireland.

NEW YORK, June 5 (Canadian Press). — The U. S. Shipping Board steamer Seattle Spirit, reported held up by a British sloop in Tralee Bay, with contraband arms, presumably loaded here, is the second United States vessel to get in trouble over the shipment of arms into Ireland.

Just a year ago this month the steamship East Side was boarded as she was loading at a pier in Hoboken, and 495 machine guns were seized by the Hoboken police on the theory that they were being illegally shipped to Ireland.

Two inquiries were made by a Federal Grand Jury, but that body was unable to find any evidence on which to base indictments.

The Seattle Spirit, now reported held up with arms, was in trouble here less than a month ago over a cargo of contraband liquor.

Officials of the Moore & McCormick Company, which operates the Seattle Spirt, declared yesterday they had no knowledge of arms or ammunition aboard the vessel when she sailed, and asserted the supplies said to have been discovered by the British must have been smuggled aboard by members of the crew.

The Seattle Spirit is an oil burner of 8,800 tons deadweight, and carries a crew of 33. She had been in the Irish-American trade for about a year.

DRAINAGE CANAL AGAIN IN DISPUTE.

Famous Chicago Canal is the Cause of Still Another Legal Litigation.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—(Canadian Press.)—Wisconsin was yesterday granted permission by the Supreme Court to file an original bill against the State of Illinois and the Sanitary district of Chicago to determine whether Wisconsin or its citizens are being deprived of any rights by the operation of the Chicago drainage canal.

Wisconsin in its bill of complaint contended that the level of Lake Michigan and that of other of the Great Lakes, as well as their connecting waters were being lowered by the drainage canal at Chicago. The complaint also stated that the Secretaary of War had authorized the withdrawal of the water from Lake Michigan, whereas an act of Congress was necessady to legalize the diversion; and that the lowering of the lake level required the lightening of the loads of the steamers, thus increasing transportation costs.

POTATOES ROTTING BECAUSE OF HIGH RY. FREIGHT RATES

Maritime Provinces Demand That Charges in Existence Forty Years Be Restored.

"That the conditions which warranted the suspension of the Crows' Nest Pass agreement in the first instance, and the subsequent continuance of suspension by the railway act, have not yet passed away and that there remains a clear justification for the further continuance of the suspension.

He also said: "The Economic conditions of the Maritime Provinces were such as to demand an immediate relief from the transportation charges, which are at present effective in that district, and that as between the East and West, it can be said that the conditions of the one are any worse than the other."

It was further contended that there should be an extension to all portions of the country of measures of relief. The statement was also made that in Prince Edward Island potatoes were rotting in cellars because of the high freight rates which made it unprofitable to ship them. Therefore relief should be granted, and it should be general.

The Maritime provinces were vitally interested in the present situation because it had been represented that if the specific rate reductions called for in the Crows' Nest Pass agreement came into effect, the resulting revenues of the railways would be so reduced as to render it impossible to extend any relief through reduction in rates to other portions of the country or to any commodities not covered by the agreement.

It was contended that the Maritime Provinces had entered confederation on the undertsanidng that the intercolonial would be built, and there was an implied agreement that the rates should be such as to enable producers in the Maritime Provinces to get into the market of Central Canada. Such rates had been granted and had remained in existence for forty years, and in justice to the Maritime Provinces, these as soon as possible should be restored.

HARDING SENDS BIRTHDAY NOTE TO KING GEORGE

Wishes Health to His Majesty and Prosperity to the British Empire.

KING REPLIES.

WASHINGTON, June 6 (Canadian Press). — The cablegram of felicitation sent by President Harding to King George on the occasion of the latter's birthday, and the reply thereto, were made public yesterday by the State Department.

President Harding's message, under date of 3rd June, was as follows:

"Please accept the hearty felicitations of my fellow-countrymen on this anniversary of Your Majesty's birth, and my own personal wishes for your personal health and happiness, and the hope that your beneficent reign will continue an era of great prosperity for the British Empire."

His Majesty replied on Sunday:

"I sincerely thank you, Mr. President, for the very kind words in which you, on your own behalf and that of your fellow-countryman, have greeted me on the anniversary of my birthday, and for your good wishes for the prosperity of the British Empire. I greatly appreciate this message o goodwill, for you know how strong are my feelings for your country and its people."

MONTREAL MAN IS HELD AS SWINDLER.

NEWARK, N.J., June 6.—(Canadian Press.)—A man who says he is Harry C. Miller of Montreal, yesterday was held for the Grand Jury in default of $2,000 bail upon his plea of guilty to two complaints of passing worthless checks. The complainants are managers of automobiles sales companies. The scheme, the complaint said, was to pretend to buy an automobile, give a worthless check and then present another for cash on a plea of being short of funds. The amounts involved are $500 and $200.

CORONER'S JURY TO INVESTIGATE DEATHS

SIMCOE, June 6. — (Canadian Press.)—Coroner McIntosh empannelled a jury yesterday morning in connection with Sunday's fatality at the model farm pond, wherein Cyril Johnson nad Albert Paterson were drowned.

The jury viewed the remains observing burns about the hands and arms and adjourned for one week. A post-mortem examination will be made to ascertain if the children were drowned or killed by the electric current. The hydro current leaves town at 110 volts and tested yesterday where the boys caught it there were but 84 volts.

WHERE ARE THE LIGHTS?

Now that the boating season is here, it might be well to draw the attention of the authorities under whose jurisdiction the matter lies to the face that the regulations in regard to the illumination of power launches and other craft have been more or less openly violated in other summers, and that some action should be taken to see that the law in this respect is more generally observed. Fortunately, there have been no fatal accidents to record as a consequence of the ignored regulations. How they have been averted, however, is more or less of a mystery to those who have observed conditions on the Otonabee. A high powered launch running along at high speed in a river dotted with canoes is an invitation to disaster. The sound of the engine serves as a warning, of course, but it is not a reliable guide to the position of the on-coming launch, and an inexperienced canoeist—of which gentry there are many down the river—is placed in a perilous position when he knows that a power boat is bearing down on him and has but a hazy idea of the course of the launch and its proximity to him. The regulations call for canoes and rowboats, as well as launches, to be illuminated, and there is no reason why the law in this regard should not in the general interest be observed. A start should be, however, made with the power craft. A canoe without a light may not be a safe proposition so far as its occupants are concerned, but at least it is not dangerous to anybody else. On the other hand, a motor boat running without illumination is a menace to the safety of every boat that may be abroad on the river. The authorities will have public opinion behind them in in a campaign to enforce the law.

UNNECESSARY NOISES.

Several music-lovers have asked The Examiner to remonstrate with the motorists who are interfering with the pleasure of those who attend the band concerts at Victoria Park, and after a personal experience with this nuisance we are glad to have a chance to draw attention to the annoyance that is being caused by thoughtless car-owners. There is a constant procession of noisy motors up and down the Murray street and Brock street hills, a continuous interruption caused by open cut-outs and shifting gears and rattling machines that makes it impossible for many people to hear the music. The beauty of many of the finer passages played by the band at the two concerts this year has been completely spoiled by the totally unnecessary noise. There is no objection to people attending band concerts in their machines, but why they cannot stop their cars when they reach the neighborhood of the park, instead of making the trip around the square half a dozen times, is something that is difficult to explain. On Sunday night there were some motorists who drove round and round the park, causing a steady disturbance, and at all times there was a car or two ascending or descending the hill. Lack of thought is doubtless responsible for this condition of affairs, and perhaps this reference to the annoyance caused the public may result in an improvement in conditions at the next concert.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP IN GERMANY.

Opponents of the broad principle of public ownership will quite naturally make all the capital possible out of the practical breakdown of the German railway system, says The Ottawa Journal. Their case is only good, however, until the facts are revealed. Then it assumes a totally different complexion. The German state railways were among the most efficient in the world until they were swept into the vortex of disorganization which followed the effort to adjust from a monarchical to a republican form of Government. They fell into the hands of a group of grafting politicians, and the fine morale which had obtained under the old order was supplanted by the greatest possible looseness. They were not only allowed to run down in all departments, but were shockingly over-manned with voters. It has been conservatively estimated that four men out of every five on the payroll could be laid off with advantage to the system.

What has happened in Germany is not in any sense a test of the principle of public ownership. It is simply a proof of what can be done when rational control is thrown to the winds, and a sound and efficient railway system is handed over to politicians. There was not the slightest effort under the new regime to maintain the old standards which had yielded such excellent results. There was rather, it would seem, a deliberate attempt to see how quicklyand thoroughly the wrecking could be made absolute. From no point of view was the principle of public ownership at issue.

Yet there is a distinct and salutary warning in the recent experience of Germany. A thing perfectly good and practicable in itself may easily be made to show calamitous results when it passes into the hands of the wrong men. Such men are always ready to step in and take charge. We have a huge public railway system on our hands, and Government announces that it will soon appoint a new executive board. In view of what has occurred in Germany, and in some degree in France as well during the period of reconstruction, an apprehensive and vitally interested public will watch with anxiety the choice which Government may make. The soundest principle in the world may be made ineffective unless it is administered with sagacity and perfect honesty.

EMPLOYMENT OR MENDICANCY?

Last evening The Examiner discussed in these columns the necessity of some preparation on the part of the City Council for another period of unemployment next winter. The doles system, it was pointed out, has engendered pauperism in Canada, and the influence of this deplorable condition must be counteracted by some more sound method of relief for those who find themselves without employment. The futility of any other relief measure except the providing of work seems to have been effectively demonstrated.

This point is well covered by a writer who signs himself "T.M.V." in the current issue of The Veteran.

In a recent article on the question of unemployment, he says, the writer stated that "year after year it has been proved that it is rank and criminal folly on the part of municipalities and other governing bodies to wait until the beginning of winter, or until the fall, before attempting to devise methods of coping with the terror—for unemployment is no less." Some observations were also made on the futility of relief measures. A number of worthy councillors did not quite like the idea of being told they were foolish to the point of criminality. Unwise they might occasionally be (though not often), they were willing to concede; but criminal, no. Such an accusation should not be levelled at them. Well, the folly lies in never learning that it is too late to avoid unemployment by waiting until a large proportion of the community is out of a job before attempting to remedy matters, and the criminality is involved in the circumstances that almost the only possible means of loosening the grip of poverty at this stage is by way of the organized relief that has so often proved to be futile.

By the "futility of relief measures" was meant, of course, not measures for the relief of unemployment, but measures for the financial relief of those who are unemployed, which is an entirely different matter. One means work, and the other means charity, disguise it by what name you will. Now, work—work of any kind, even the hastily conceived and usually inadequately planned remedial work which is inaugurated almost solely to offset the disastrous effect on the industrial classes of trade depression—has no marked tendency to rob a man of his self-respect, rather the reverse, as a rule; but organized public charity, once accepted by the individual, after no matter how much internal conflict, has a curiously debasing effect upon the mind. Not one man in a million is a mendicant by instinct; conversely, all the natural desires of man revolt against begging. Offer an indolent man the three alternatives—work, starve or beg—and he will be a very lazy man, indeed, who deliberately chooses the last. Offer physical cowards the three alternatives—beg, starve or fight—and nine out of ten will agree to fight.

This was very thoroughly recognized by the authorities during the war, and was the reason that widespread unemployment was at times actually connived at by the Powers that Were, in order to stimulate recruiting. Whether there are some men who would "sooner fight than eat" is perhaps a highly debatable matter; but there is no shadow of doubt as to whether a man would sooner fight than not eat. He would. That is one reason why the "volunteer" system of raising armies—during times either of peace or war—will never break down until the fall of the present economic system drags it to oblivion amid its own ruins; and when that day comes we shall not need armies of any description, "voluntary" or conscripted. However, we are now dealing with another sort of army—the army of the unemployed—which has already in it a brigade or two of the unemployable, thanks to the periodic "relief." Let us see why this is so.

To the normal man, taking charity seems almost as bad as actually starving—before he has taken it. But accepting relief is much like stealing—not in the ethical significance of the two acts, but in their psychological effect. In this respect they are almost identical. Most men do not very readily diverge from the path of honesty (not because it is "the best policy"—as a matter of fact, it isn't, from the material viewpoint—but because it is natural to respect another man's right to what he possesses. Even the laws of savage tribes recognize this right; and savages have no conscious knowledge of ethics). But when once they do diverge from that path, it is the easiest matter in the world to stay off it. Whether or not falling off a log is easy, staying off it is decidedly easier than climbing back on again. That is why so many who have once seen the inside of a prison find themselves eventually in it again. Similarly, a man may be reduced to the verge of sheer starvation, may even see those dear to him reduced to it also, before he can bring himself to apply for public relief; but when once he has taken the irrevocable step—well, he not infrequently gets all he can, then. There is poison in the cup.

In one city, this winter, a man, it was ascertained, drew "relief" from no less than seventeen different sources. Recently, one of the administrators of a relief fund, asked what his experiences of the past few months had taught him, made answer that, roughly, twenty-five per cent. of those to whom relief was extended were really deserving cases. The rest got what was there because it was there to get, and on the general theory that "if they didn't have it someone else would."

"Without investigators," said he, "a fund is shamelessly exploited; with investigators, everybody connected with the administration of the fund is misrepresented and vilified; and, what is worse, the deserving cases, many of them, are frightened off by the dreaded prospect of having their dire poverty pried into and their need exposed to the unsympathetic light of publicity, or having to sacrifice every shred of self-esteem in order to establish their claim to a dole on the ground of necessity. So that, in either event, relief measures are to a large extent self-defeating."

Voice of the People

THE MASTER'S METHODS.

Dear Sir: At the close of my evening service on Sunday, on my way to call on a sick member of the church, I passed through Central Park and was attracted by the large number of people who had gathered around to share in the open air service and worship which was being conducted by Mr. Geo. Mulligan and his helpers. A number of things occurred to me as I stood and listened to the singing and speaking, and observed the reverent attention. For one thing I could not help but feel that Mr. Mulligan and his helpers are approaching much more nearly to the methods of the Master in preaching the Gospel than are the churches. Nearly all Christ's preaching was done in the open air. He preached the so-called "Sermon on the Mount" in the open air. He was transfigured in the open air. He was crucified in the open air. His ascension to heaven was from Mount Olivet in the open air; and when He comes again the first sight of Him by a wondering earth, will be in the clouds of heaven, in the open air.

It seems to me our churches might do a much more effective work for the Kingdom of God if they closed their evening services in the churches, in the summer months, and went out into the parks of the city to preach and sing the Gospel. In a sermon which I recently preached, I made such a plea for open air work. I said: Why should not the Church go out into the highways and hedges with the Gospel? Why should not a church like this have a few evangelistic bands of preachers and singers, preaching and singing the Gospel in the open air? Why should the man of cultured speech and eloquent tongue never be heard outside the walls of the sanctuary preaching Christ? And why should not our best singers be heard in the open air as well as in the choir of a church? In the old land some of their most gifted preachers, such men as the Bishop of London, take their places on the street corners, and in the parks, beside soap box orators who advocate all kinds of doctrines, and preach to the multitude the Gospel of the Master. We have allowed the enthusiasm of the church to be smothered by a false sense of dignity and conventionality, and the church is silent when she ought to be heard."

I sincerely hope that the members of all our churches will give their hearty support to the good work of Mr. Mulligan, which he has been carrying on with such zeal and untiring effort for years. Yours very truly,

SORES SPREAD ALL OVER FACES AND HANDS

Mrs. Howard Labelette, Waskatenau, Sask., writes:—"I wish to tell you of the benefit we have received by using your valuable medicine Burdock Blood Bitters.

My children started to break out on their faces in small white pimples which kept getting larger each day. Pus would form under the scabs and they would come off, and each time the sores would be larger; some were as large as a twenty-five cent piece and would spread all over their bodies. I was nearly in despair and sent to the village for a bottle of good blood medicine. The druggist sent me a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, which I commenced giving them at once.

In about ten days I saw an improvement and they grew steadily better each day, and in one month the sores had all disappeared."

All blood and skin diseases are caused by bad blood, and to get it pure and keep it pure you must remove every trace of the impure and morbid matter from the system by a blood cleansing medicine such as

Radio News

NEW YORK.—Uncle Sam is giving free lessons in wireless.

The course is limited to amateurs who have had a year's experience.

These are sought for the development of an amateur radio reserve which will co-operate with the government and be ready for any emergency.

With Signal Corps

"This reserve is an organization of high class radio men with whom the signal corps is working hand in hand in transmitting educational information and assisting as far as possible," says C. J. McBrearty, secretary of the reserve for the Second Corps army area. "It is developing amateur station relay routes covering all posts of the army.

"Eventually the reserve will form a reliable and efficient network of amateur stations capable of carrying on official traffic. It is strictly a civilian outfit, not obligated in any way to either military service or training.

"Great care is exercised in selecting the amateur stations for relay points."

Summer Camps

Summer training camps are being planned for the members of this radio reserve. They will be under the supervision of U.S. Signal Corps officers and will be more of a gathering of radio fans with the same interest, than a civilian training area.

In the meantime, from a central point in each army corps area a course of radio lessons is conducted.

There are three classifications of membership in the radio reserve:

Grade A—Licensed amateurs who have both transmitting and receiving sets and who are exceptionally well fitted to operate them.

Grade B—Those who have both sets, but are not in line with a relay station.

Grade C—Those who have received sets only.

"We give these members lectures by mail or radio, pamphlets and other information," says McBrearty.

TRUE DETECTIVE STORIES

THE FINAL TEST

(Copyright 1921 By The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

Many are the tricks to which detectives of various countries resort in order to secure confessions of crime from suspected prisoners. Some of these, like the "third degree" and the "water cure," are brutal in the extreme. Others, like Inspector Byrne's "fourth degree" are merely clever utilizations of applied psychology, founded upon the fact that the police official is usually of a higher order of intelligence than the man who is under arrest.

Such, for example, was the ruse used by Mace, chief of the Parisian police force, who cleared up the Duclos murder when everyone else had failed.

The mangled remains of M. Duclos had been found in the well of a house in the Rue Princesse. All the evidence which Mace could gather pointed directly to a man named Voirbeau, a close friend of Duclos, who was known recently to have quarrelled with him. But, strive as he could, Mace could secure nothing but the most circumstantial proofs of Voirbeau's guilt—and even the majority of there were inadmissable as evidence under the French law.

Voirbeau, either ignorant of the fact that he was suspected of desirous or matching wits with a man who was later to be recognized as one of the group of detectives, appeared perfectly willine to assist in the search for Duclos' murderer. He placed himself at Mace's disposal and spoke freely of his relations with the dead man, even up to the point of admitting that he had been one of the last persons to see him alive.

"But," he added, "inasmuch as I didn't kill him, I was certainly not the last!"

At this Mace would smile and wonder how he was going to force a confession from this callous criminal, for he realized that only by a confession could a conviction be secured. Voirbeau had covered his tracks too well to permit of the discovery of any incriminating information.

Examination of the Duclos house convinced Mace that the murder had taken place in the dead man's bedroom which, as in the majority of Parisian houses, was tiled. The detective felt certain that it was here that Duclos had been killed and the body dismembered, afterward to be thrown into the well which opened directly under the window.

At the request of Mace, Voirbeau came to the Duclos house one afternoon about a month after the discovery of the murder, and was informed that the detective merely wished him to be present at "a little investigation" pertaining to the crime—"an investigation in which was a duplicate of Duclos, even to the color of the eyes and the peculiar style of shoes which the dead man had affected.

"My idea," explained Mace, "is to re-enact the crime as far as possible so that, reasoning from the effect, we may gain an insight into the identity of the cause. If we can deduce anything which might have followed the murder, we may stumble across a valuable clue to the subsequent movements of the criminal!"

It was at his direction that the figure representing Duclos was taken to the bedroom and then, for the first time, Voirbeau interrupted the proceedings by asking the reason for this, when the body had been discovered in the well.

"That," replied Mace, "you shall presently see. Something which had recently come to light——" and there he halted, leaving his sentence in mid-air, but it seemed to him that Voirbeau's interest, which up to that time, had been superficial, suddenly became strained and active.

Upon reaching the bedroom, one of the other detectives acted the part of the murderer, striking "Duclos" from behind and then placing the body upon a large table which stood in the center of the room.

"This table," continued Mace, "was up against the far window when we first entered the room, but there are marks on the floor which clearly indicate its usual position as it is now. Am I correct?"

"Quite," Voirbeau agreed, imperturbably.

Without a word, the detective who was playing the role of murderer secured a knife—"That's one point we'll have to guess at," interpolated Mace, "for we don't know where the weapon came from"—and commenced to dismember the figure upon the table. As he did so, Mace stepped forward and started to pour water from a pitcher over the body.

"Here is something that I wish you to note particularly," he said to Voirbeau. "The tiling of this room has, as you will observe, a slight slope towards the centre—really not enough to be perceptible, but sufficient to permit any liquid dropping upon it to gather in a pool in the middle of the room," and he pointed to the puddle of water at his feet.

Overwrought by the scene enacted before his eyes, Voirbeau was beginning to succumb under the strain. Silently, but tensely, he watched the steady drip, drip, drip of the liquid which represented the blood of his dear friend. As he watched him, Mace thought he could read what was going through his mind—the feeling that he had overlooked one shred of evidence.

"We'll now see the result of this!" exclaimed the detective, dramatically, as he motioned to one of his men to mop up the place.

Motioning Voirbeau to his side, Mace commenced to dig at the holes in the center of the room. Finally one of them came up—to disclose a brownish-red mass of coagulated blood, which had settled in the shape of a distinct letter 'V."

"Stop it, for God's sake!" cried Voirbeau. "Even his blood convicts me! Yes, I did it—but let me get out of here!"

"It wasn't his blood," retorted the detective," "but your conscience. Here where the blood came from. I placed it there myself last night," and he held up the body of a rabbit, with its throat slit from ear to ear.

Causes More Sickness In Spring Than Any Other Time Of Year.

You no doubt have taken all sorts of medicine with always the same results, only temporary relief. The reason you do not get any results is because none of the medicines you have taken acts upon the Liver. There is only one medicine known that acts upon the Liver, and that is Tanated Calomel. Doctors recommend that you take one of these tablets before meals or two at bedtime. This medicine acts upon the Liver, causing it to excrete ile into the intestines, giving a natural, easy movement of the bowels. A few hours after taking you will get almost instant relief from Headaches, Indigestion, Rheumatism, Constipation, Impure Blood, Kidney Pains, etc.

Tanated Calomel is harmless and easy to take. No salts or seidlitz are necessary after taking. It will be worth millions to people who have been sickly for years. It is also the best medicine for spring, when so many people are troubled with that tired, heavy, listless feeling. Get a few of these tablets from your druggist, F. C. Webber, Charlotte street, and you will be surprised how much better you will feel.

CABLES.- SALADA, TORONTO
CODES,- BENTLEYS, A.B.C. (5TH ED.) LIEBERS

453-463 King Street, West
Toronto, June 3rd, 1922.

To our Wholesale and Retail Customers.

Dear Sirs:-

On Monday June 5th, the price of Brown Label SALADA Tea will be advanced ten cents a pound. Doubtless you, in common with all the rest of the trade, have been anticipating this, knowing as you do the extremely high prices that all classes of teas are bringing.

At the Indian, Ceylon, Java and London auctions during the last eighteen months there has been an advance on some grades of not less than sixteen cents per pound, and on no grade has it been less than ten cents. This advance has been gradual, but steady.

We were fortunate in having operated heavily during the first twelve of these eighteen months, and, therefore, for a time, did not have to pay the highest prices. However, our stocks commenced to run down, and about three months ago we were compelled to go into the market again. We commenced to use these high priced teas about the middle of April, and while still hoping against hope that an easier market would enable us to maintain our prices even with heavy losses for a few months, we have now reached the conclusion that we can hope for no material drop, and that, therefore, an advance is imperative.

Two things have brought about the present condition. First, there was a tremendous over-production on the gardens two years ago, with the result that teas were selling at very low prices. The garden owners combined and agreed to reduce production by 20%. They kept that agreement and the result was that there was less tea produced than was required by world consumption, and, consequently, the market rose. That is the principal reason. Second, and one which has only cropped up within the last week or two, is the reduction of the duty on tea in England by four pence a pound. This was radical and has immediately resulted in increased consumption. In other words, a commodity of which there was already insufficient to supply the demand, is being called for in still larger quantities by the largest tea consuming population in the world. This inevitably results in higher costs.

You will note from the enclosed price card that we are allowing the retailer an additional cent a pound profit. We have done this in view of the increased Sales Tax. When it was 1% he paid it, but, with the additional 2%, we feel it would be unfair to expect him to pay this. Therefore, in this additional profit you will see that we are allowing practically the whole of the Tax as it now stands.

We trust that you will appreciate our position and realize that we deferred the evil day of an advance as long as it was humanly possible.

Yours very truly,

SALADA TEA COMPANY OF CANADA, LTD.

Cuticura Heals Itching Burning Pimples On Face

"My face was entirely covered with pimples which not only disfigured me but bothered me with itching and burning. They were large, hard and red, and after a while began to fester. They itched so that I had to scratch them which made the burning more intense.

"I used various salves and creams but they gave no relief. The trouble lasted for nearly three months until I heard of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I sent for a free sample. In about a week a decided improvement was made so I bought more, and two cakes of Soap with one box of Ointment healed me." (Signed) Elmer V. Foss, 7 Ocean View Ave., East Lynn, Mass.

A Danger Signal— Tender and Bleeding Gums

Healthy teeth cannot live in diseased tissue. Gums tainted with Pyorrhea are dangerously diseased. For not only the teeth are affected, but Pyorrhea germs seep into the body, lower its vitality and cause many ills.

Pyorrhea begins with tender and bleeding gums. Then the gums recede, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of the poisonous germs that breed in pockets about them.

Four out of five people over forty have this disease. But you need not have it. Visit your dentist often for tooth and gum inspection. And keep Pyorrhea away by using Forhan's For the Gums.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea—or check its progress—if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums hard and healthy, the teeth white and clean. If you have tender or bleeding gums, start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has already set in, use Forhan's according to directions, and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

"Our First Year"

(BY A BRIDE)

CHAPTER LV

HOW CAN JACK LOVE ME AND NOT BE JEALOUS

The differences of opinion which caused a vast amount of unnecessary heartache in our first year were produced by situations we easily could have avoided.

Our acknowledged differences proved easy to cure; but the subtle and hidden hurts were like submerged rocks, unchartered reefs which menaced our future.

Jack's pride was one of these. My extravagance was another.

My husband was proud of his pride. He had promised before our wedding to be superior to jealousy. After marriage, if Jack ever were jealous of Bart, or of what I did with my time, or of my mental and social interests apart from his own, he managed to live up to his code and conceal his feelings.

I began to wish that my husband were not so different from the ordinary man. And every time the idea occurred to me I'd think of Mrs. Herrod, and wonder if chess were the sole bond between her and Jack.

And I'd half decide Jack did not get jealous because he really didn't love me to the exclusion of all women— as I wanted him to love me.

Somehow my fine theory about ultra-modern love between husbands and wives was proving a bit shaky. Although I had set out to follow the new ideas about marriage I wasn't equal to the strain of them

But Jack seemed to be. Jack could love me devotedly and yet find tremendous pleasure in playing chess with Mrs. Herrod.

One outstanding fact in their friendship annoyed me: Mrs. Herrod wrote to my husband regularly. I discovered her notes every time I hunted up Jack's handkerchief's for the laundry.

Monday was always a blue day for me. I had to go through the same struggle, over and over, had to put away the temptation to treat my husband's private correspondence as my own.

If Jack was proud of his pride, I was proud of my conscience, my restraint, my will. Moreover, after the affair of the mustache, I was pretty tender of my man's feelings. And Jack was decidedly tender of me.

But this mutual consideration did not make us confidential.

I knew, Jack knew, the new psychology speaks true when it advises the worried to tell their troubles and get them off their minds.

If Jack and I had talked things over frankly we would have avoided shipwreck on the rock of silence which stands at the entrance to Love's fairway.

MINISTERS HELD A JUNE MEETING

Members of Millbrook Ministerial Association Discuss the West—Millbrook News.

MILLBROOK, June 6.—The June meting of the Ministerial Association was held in the St. Thomas' church S. S. hall on Monday, June 5th, at 9.30 a.m., the president, Rev. S. T. Tucker, being in the chair. Rev. G. S. Gervan gave a most interesting talk on "The Opportunity of the Church in the West," speaking from his personal experience in Saskatchewan for some years, and referring especially to the menace of Mormonism, with reference also to social conditions, particularly amongst the foreign population.

Rev. Gladstone McKee of Wilford, who was preaching anniversary sermons at Pontypool on Sunday, was a visitor present, driving over with Rev. A. McLaughlin whose work he was taking the previous day. Both were guests at the parsonage during the afternoon.

A Memory Test.

The meeting of the 'Wide-Awakes' C.G.I.T. group on Monday evening, took the form of a "memory test," when a tray containing at least 20 articles was placed in the centre of the square, and after 10 minutes' observation, was removed, and the girls required to write from memory as many of the articles as they could recall. Marjorie Sayles had the highest record, having 17 names on her list; Lillian Sanderson had 16, Elsie Spence 15, Jean Burnham and Kathleen Freelove 14 each, and Wilma Fallis 12. The topic consisted of a brief talk on the value and necessity of cultivating the habit of observation. Next meeting on Friday, June 16th, when the members will have concluded writing on their final examinations with the exception of the entrance pupils.

Class Won Banner.

The class winning the "Banner" for the month of June, in the Methodist Sunday school, is that taught by Mrs. J. McCoombe, and the members are five little girl, Jean Stinson, Marian Earle, Aileen Blue, Annie McMahon and Marguerite Hawken, who just came out from the Primary Department after the New Year. The "Banner" is given to the class, each month, whose members recite the largest number of verses in connection with the lessons every week.

June Meeting.

The June meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church will be held at the home of Mr. John Gardiner, Tupper street, on Tuesday, June 6th, at 8 p.m. A large attendance of members is requested, as this will probably be the closing meeting until September, and all necessary business must be transacted.

Attended Sports Day.

Mr. P. Stinson was in Lindsay on Saturday attending the "Sports' Day," put on by the Boy Scouts. The number of spectators was not as large as the occasion would seem to have warranted, nor was there an overplus of enthusiasm over the various events.

War Memorial.

An interesting ceremony will take place at Trinity College school, Port Hope, on Sunday, June 11th (Trinity Sunday), at 11.30 a.m., when the wayside cross, presented by the Ladies' Guild in memory of those who fell in the Great War, will be unveiled and dedicated. Invitations have been to all those who have been, or are, in any way connected with the school, but all interested are invited to attend. In all probability a number from Millbrook will take in this event through a sense of personal interest in the school.

Personals.

Mr. Basil Richards, of the Riverdale branch of the Bank of Toronto, was home over Saturday, June 3rd, which being the King's birthday, was a bank holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Edmunds, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Edmunds, and their two children, Bryer and Reg., motored to Beaverton on Sunday, and were guests of Mrs. Ross Edmunds' parents for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Mann, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Mann, of Bridgenorth, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Fallis last week, coming over by motor.

Mr. and Mrs. W. West, Mrs. Kenyon, her daughter, Miss Zeta, and son, Mr. Max Kenyon, motored to Norwood on Sunday, and were guests of Mrs. Kenyon's sister, Mrs. Fennell for the day.

Amongst those from Millbrook who motored to Peterborough last week to see the "Queen of Sheba" were Misses M. Needham, M. Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Sayles and family, Dr. A. Jemison and Mr. W. Coombe.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Burnham and baby daughter, of Peterborough, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Burnham on Sunday.

The annual L.O.L. district meeting will be held in Millbrook in the Orange Lodge rooms (No. 79), on Saturday, June 10th, at 2 p.m. A large attendance of those interested is looked for.

WEAK HEART NERVES BADLY SHATTERED

Many a woman who should be strong and healthy, full of life and energy is bound by the shackles of ill-health.

Some disease or constitutional disturbance has left its mark in the form of a weak heart, shattered nerves, impoverished blood and an exhausted system.

In MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS they will find a remedy that will supply food for the exhausted nerves, one that will strengthen and regulate the weak heart and invigorate the whole system.

Mrs. W. W. arse, 14 Seaton St., Toronto, Ont., writes:—"I was left with a weak heart and in a run down condition from the 'flu.' My nerves were badly shattered, and I had such pains around my heart I could not sleep much at night. I took several doctors' medicines without getting any better. My husband got me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after I took one box I got relief, and after taking six boxes I have been well and not bothered since."

KIDNEY TROUBLE

Is quite common, gradually becoming more severe, and if prompt action is not taken, serious results will follow. The symptoms are headache and pain in the back, sleeplessness, ashen complexion, white coated tongue and frequent urination. Are Men Getting Careless of Hair

A frightful admission was made by authority in the hairdressing trade the other day. He said that many men were not having their hair cut as often as formerly. Whereas the average time used to be once in three weeks, now people were submitting to the abhorred shears only once in two months, says a writer in the Daily Mirror.

This opens up an appealing prospect. Are we all to go about looking like the popular idea of a spring poet? Shall we see the man whom we used to esteem as the glass of fashion and the mould of form with ragged tufts of hair sticking out all round his ears? Will the Guards' subalterns go on duty with elf-locks brushing the collars of their uniforms?

Deemed Effeminate

For many years long hair has been deemed effeminate—though, as a matter

For many years long hair has been of fact, the men of the Mutiny and the Crimea were very hairy persons; and when at home loved to titivate their ambrosial locks and drench the same in oils and unguents. But times change; and close-clipped hair has been decreed the only wear for a truly manly man—till now.

And this swing-back has been brought about by the most sordid of all reasons. The charges of the hair-dressing fraternity have gone up so that a "haircut and shave" has become a serious item of expenditure. The average man grumbled and paid when the price of tobacco went up; he grumbled and paid when the price of spirituous comfort went up, but at the increased charge for a haircut he grumbles, and does not pay it.

According to the authority quoted above, hairdressers are not at all likely to decrease their prices. A reduction is impossible owing to the high prices of materials and soaring rents. So, much as we may dislike long hair, we must grin and wear it.

How Would You Like It?

Novelists' beautiful heroines will be called upon to decide between the loathsome rich man who has his hair cut once a month and the noblehearted young fellow who is obliged to let his locks brush his collar.

I suspect, though, that many men will make the high cost of hair cuts an excuse. They will perhaps be secretly relieved at not having to visit the toilet saloon so often. To anyone with a sensitive nature it is rather an ordeal.

The operator always asks you, "how would you like it," but this is simply a meaningless formula intended to soothe you and put you in a good temper. In reality, he takes not the slightest notice of any instructions.

The victim cannot see what the operator is doing and by the time the deadly work is done, it is, of course, too late to complain, even if you can summon up the moral courage to do so.

Then the executioner holds a hand-mirror behind the back of your head, and politely asks if everything is all right. And, poor coward, you mutter a feeble affirmative, and slink out of the shop—after giving the severe person at the cash-desk all your money, and handing the hairdresser your wrist-watch and tie-pin as a tip.

Hundreds of years ago, before the war, it used to be alleged that no matter how poor, you could be tidy.

It does not look like it now!

A BRAVE ACT.

BELLEVILLE, June 6.—Fourteen year old Marjorie Blaind, daughter of Ernest A. Blaind, James street, performed a heroic act at the foot of James street, when she threw herself in front of an east bound passenger train and seized a five-year-old girl who was standing on the track. Both fell together on the south side as the train flashed by.

Marjorie had been standing at the door of her home, when the mother of the child shouted as the train was seen coming round the curve west of the Bay bridge crossing.

Girl's Wardrobe for $20

MADEMOISELLE LOUISE.

FOUR GARMENTS FOR $20 — SUMMER FROCK, DANCING SILK DRESS AND SPORT COST UME.

For only $60 a clever needlewoman made a complete summer wardrobe for herself, her younger sister and her small son. To-day, in her second article for the Examiner, she tells how she made her sister's summer garments for $20.—Editor.

My reputation as a successful budgeteer was made when I finished my sister's summer clothes. She is 16 and attractive and thinks that life would be a dreary waste without new clothes. Her allowance is small, so the obtaining of a complete summer wardrobe presents difficulties.

She wanted so many things this season that we decided they'd have to be made at home. It was a good solution of the problem, since we made three dresses and a knicker costume for only $20!

Putting a summer frock together is the simplest sort of task, especially if it is one of the popular slip-on affairs. We made such a dress of bright figured cretonne and trimmed it with—what do you think? —unbleached muslin! All the cretonne slip-on dresses in the shops were decorated in just that fashion.

Dancing Frock, Too.

We made a dancing frock, of course for evening wear. I hesitated between chiffon and georgette and finally chose the latter, since the petal pattern we made it from seemed to need material with slightly more body to it than chiffon has.

This was the easiest dress of all to make, since the edging is done with machine hemstitching and there is no other trimming at all.

Just as important as the dancing dress was the sport costume—something that would stand a good deal of hard wear. Knickers, of course, as the fashions are now. The long blouse that goes with them is called a middy, but is quite different from the old-fashioned middy in cut and line. These we made of dark linen.

Taffeta Gown.

Then for all the occasions when one needs an informal silk gown we decided on a taffeta dress trimmed perkily with organdie —little puffed sleeves, a wide collar and billowing pockets. We found out by window shopping that this combination of materials is especially good.

Perhaps you'd like to make this $20 outfit yourself so I've added a table of materials and prices to let you know how it was done:

Cretonne dress—Three yards of cretonne, 36 inches wide, at 50 cents a yard	$ 1.50
One-half yard unbleached muslin, at 20 cents, for trimming	.10
Dance frock —Four and one-half yards of 40-inch georgette at $1.43	6.53
Taffeta frock—Two and three-quarter yards of 40-inch taffeta at $2	5.50
One and one-quarter yards of 40-inch organdie at $1.25	1.57
Middy and knickers — Four yards of 36-inch linen at 75 cents	3.00
Four patterns	1.80
Total	$20.00

TIPS OF YOUR EARS NEED A BIT OF COLOR TOO

BY HELEN RUBINSTEIN
Famous Beauty Specialist

Study your type!

Of course you have heard that time and again. Tired of hearing it, probably. But really you should heed it for your face is a little different from any other face in the world and it needs your thought and your understanding.

For instance, you may be the type of woman who needs a certain amount of color, even though it must be artificial, to make your face really attractive. On the other hand, you may be at your best when your skin is quite colorless. Sometimes pallor spiritualizes a countenance, invests it with something ethereal and lovely.

But if you are the type that must have color, do use your rouge rightly and well! If your skin is dry use a paste rouge. Either liquid or powder would tend to increase the dryness. An oily skin, however, takes a powder rouge nicely.

And in applying it don't forget your ears! Just a touch of well blended pink on the lower part of the ear makes a tremendous improvement in the general appearance. It gives the make-up quite a natural look, makes it hang together, as to speak.

If your lips need touching up use the same rouge for them that you use for the rest of the makeup and don't step at the outside line of the mouth.

If you do, when you speak there will be a line of demarkation where the rouge stops and your natural color begins. And it is upon such little things that your appearance depends for its effectiveness.

Be sure that there are no lines where the color begins or ends. When you have completed your toilet examine your face in a strong light in order to assure yourself that it is beautifully and not crudely done. Use your hand mirror for this and you have the light shining directly on your face, not on the mirror, for then only can you find the flaws.

WOMEN BAND TO PURGE SCREEN.

MRS. CHARLES GILMORE.

"Clean pictures by clean people" is the slogan of the women of Sacramento, Cal. who have organized to elevate motion picture taste.

Their method is simply to advertise and boost pictures meeting the approval of their pre-viewing committee and to say nothing about the others. Their verdict is practically the final word with exhibitors as well as public.

"The plan has worked admirably here", Mrs. Charles Gilmore, president of the organization, declares. "I believe it would be equally effective in other cities."

RAISINS EXPLOITED AS WARM WEATHER RELIEF

Step by step California raisins have "advertised" their way to an increased consumption more than quadrupling that of a few years ago.

First came the popularity of raisin bread in so many homes because of the delicious flavor it added. Then we came to recognize raisin pie as the "energy dessert". Tired business men found in this pie's replenishment of exhausted energy a source of relief at the end of the day.

Soon after, stewed raisins made their appearance as a breakfast food. The "different" taste and the energizing nutriment of this dish made many friends for it in thousands of restaurants and hotels, as well as in homes.

Now we know Little Sun-Maids, the famous five-cent package of seedless raisins that can be bought most anywhere and which is so popular between meals. It is said that this little box of raisins has established a record in sales for all five-cent sellers, like chewing gum, chocolate bars, candy bars, etc.

This summer we are greeted by a message from California raisin growers stating that their delicious product in any form, is an ideal warm-weather food. Raisins are rich in organic iron and energy. In hot weather, when the oppresive heat takes so much of energy, raisins restore it. If this is true then we may successfully combat this feeling.

Such are the words we hear from Frenso, California, where raisins are grown, packed and shipped to points all over the world. Here, too, exhaustive labratory experiments are conducted, from which messages pertaining to the health-value of this delicious fruit are sent out.

GOOD OMELET.

If you would have light, thoroughly cooked omelet shake the pan gently while cooking and raise the coked portions to allow the uncooked portions to allow the unpan.

Rinso doesn't redden the hands. It's pure.

Don't Rub—Just Soak Your Clothes Clean

RINSO is fine granules of soap essence, scientifically and completely different from ordinary soap, flakes or washing powder. It should be used differently too—for instance, to get the best results, do not pour the Rinso granules into the tub from the package.

Make the wonderful Rinso liquid first—take half a package of Rinso for each tub of clothes—stir it into a cream in a little cool water, add two quarts of boiling water, stir vigorously and put into the tub of cool or lukewarm water.

Put your clothes to soak for one hour, two hours, overnight, or as long as convenient in this rich Rinso suds, then just rinse thoroughly and the dirt runs away. Your clothes are ready for the line—snowy-white, clean and fresh.

If You Use a Washing Machine*—follow the regular directions on the Rinso package and soak the clothes. Then before operating the machine, add fresh Rinso solution and proceed. No other preparation is needed when Rinso is used.

Vaughan, vice-president of the National Railways in charge of purchasing, failed to produce the contract between the railways and the Youghiogheny and Ohio Coal Co.

The Committee determined to call Mr. Hanna and to instruct him to appear to-morrow with the contract.

HOTEL QUESTION COMING UP AGAIN

TORONTO, June 6. Canadian Press.—In the Legislature this morning, Hon. W. E. Raney stated that the government was considering the appointment of a committee to sit during the recess to endeavor to solve some method whereby the hotel accommodation in the province could be improved. Mr. Raney thought that perhaps some other committee that might be sitting on another subject could look into this particular matter along with their other duties.

SCHOOL ASSOCIATION.

The Home and School Association of the Queen Alexandra School held their regular meeting last evening, Mrs. F. Touchbourn, the President, occupying the chair. Arrangements were made to hold the art exhibit of pupils' work on Friday afternoon and evening of this week, also to hold a picnic for the school children on June 28th, at Nicholls Oval.

Mr. G. A. Gillespie gave an interesting talk to the meeting on the value of milk as a food product, and a piano solo was rendered by Norman Davidson.

CURED OF KNEE TROUBLE

To the Gallagher Remedy Co.,
Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sirs:— About three years ago last February I was injured in the knee while working with others filling the C.P.R. ice house at Trenton, Ont. After being doctored for a time, I thought I was able to go to work again, but the trouble returned and for three years I was unable to get around except on a crutch. I have been in three hospitals under the treatment of Specialists At Toronto three weeks, at Ottawa two months and at Brockville five and a half months. In two hospitals I was worse off when I came out than when I entered and at none of them was I helped.

On February 7th., your agent, W. S. Jones, called at my house and after making enquiries left a bottle of your Golden Drops and told how to apply it. My wife followed directions and I began to improve. I used two bottles and am able to get around nicely without crutch or cane and without pain. I would like a job now at some light work that I may earn some money, for I spent since my injury $2,500.00 up to the 7th of February, the day your agent called and $1.00 since for two bottles of Golden Drops.

STORM DRAINS FOR EAST CITY NOW ASSURED

City Council Passes the Report of Works Board Providing for Their Construction.

ROUTINE BUSINESS

George Carpenter, a resident of Armour Road, made a personal appeal to the City Council last night to drain and fill in a ditch on the west side of the road between Douro and Clifton streets, and to lay a sidewalk there. He declared there had been several near accidents in this ditch.

"It's a necessity all right, but we have not got the money this year," remarked Ald. Stocker.

" just wanted to make the thing a little more clear to the Aldermen," Mr. Carpenter told the Mayor.

Fears Damage.

When Council passed the Board of Works report in which authorization to lay the surface drains on Hunter street east was given, Ald. McIntyre discussed the subject of damages the city might incur by running the drains into the creek. Ald. McIntyre was afraid of actions developing.

R. H. Parsons, the City Engineer, did not see in what way the city was liable, and Mr. Widdifield pointed out that only in the case of the city diverting streams would they be liable.

Ald. McIntyre claimed there would be more water put into the creek, but the city engineer said it would get there eventually any way. Ald. Mcntyre inclined to the view that the water should be drained into the river, and asked Mr. Parsons for an estimate of the cost.

Eleven hundred feet of pipe at $4 a foot came to $4400. Mr. Parsons said and the labor and other costs would make the total probably about $6000 or $7000.

Wanted Pavement for Holiday.

A letter was read from the Exhibition Board last night, urging the city to speed up the paving on George street south if at a possible in order that it might be ready for the Civic Holiday.

Later in the meeting Ald. Phelan atempted to start the wheels revolving but three members of the council held up progress.

Dark, Dusty and Dangerous.

Ald. Turner discussed at some length last night the grievances of residents of Water street who live oposite the Goose Pond, after the Board of Works report showing what is being done for other sections was read. He pointed out that the houses were showered with dust from people dumping their ashes there, and that there was danger of an accident at the bank of the river there. There were no lights along the street either he said.

City Engineer Parsons said that he could not understand who was dumping ashes there as the city had stoped three months ago. Objectionable refuse was also thrown in, said Ald. Turner.

Council Steps in.

....He moved, seconded by Ald. Mcrrison, and it was carried, that a guard rail be put up along the river bank, that action be taken to have the dumping of refuse and ashes in the pond stopped and that two lights be placed along the street.

As an after thought he remarked that there were several catch basins that were below the level of the ground and dangerous to pedestrians and horses. The raising of these to the level of the ground was called for in another motion.

"We've probably had 50 signs up there to stop people dumping stuff in the river, and they do no good. The only way is to send a man up there and prosecute some of them," remarked City Engineer Parsons.

Ald. Hamilton put forward the question of paving this section of street but the City Engineer said that there was a steady settling there and that in his opinion the pavement would crack.

Oil Monaghan Road.

Ald. Walter Stocker said that the dust nuisance was unbearable in that section of Monaghan Road south of Charlotte street, to the Prince of Wales School and on his recommendation authorization was given to oil the street. Mr. Parsons explained that the city had done pretty well this year in the matter of oiling. So far 6 cars had been used, against one a year ago.

Nineteen signatures of residents of Romaine street between Aylmer and Park streets were on a petition for oil on that street. It went to the Board of Works.

No Smoking or Spitting.

Ald. Mcntyre, chairman of the Property Committee, reported progress on the painting of the market building. The kalsomining of the hall was complete, he said, and he started to go ahead with painting the entrance and the stairways. One man asked him $200. He and the council thought this was high, and on motion of Ald. Gainey, he was authorized to call for tenders.

"I think now that we are painting and fixing that place up we should stop the spitting and smoking. It's done in other places, and now's the time to do it," remarked Ald. Crowe. He moved, seconded by Ald. Gainey, that notices be placed in the hall that there is to be no spitting and smoking; council gave the measure their approval.

GERMAN OFFICERS FIGHT FOR LIVING NOW AS CIVILIANS.

Three Hundred Thousand Uprooted From Chosen Careers Forced to Begin Life Anew.

BERLIN, June 6.—(Associated Press.)—Fighting for a post-war existence in civilian life has proved more harrassing than the fortunes of the battlefield to many of the thousants of German officers who survived the war. They numbered some 300,000 at the time of the armistice. While the majority held only war-time commissions, there were a large number of veterans for whom the lifting smoke of the conflict revealed that they had suddenly bene uprooted from their chosen careers and were forced to begin afresh in new fields. It was especially difficult for the aged officers, who were no longer vigorous and adaptable enough to battle effectively in an economic maelstrom already burdened with keen competition.

The German army and navy in piece times included an active officers' corps of 55,760, of whom 50,960 were in the military forces. When the war broke out, this list was augmented by 270,000 of those who were retired or on reserve. In addition there was the commissioned staff of the medical branches ing 3,406. The total loss in the corps amounted to about 55,000 killed and 96,213 wounded.

Hard on Officers

Since the Treaty of Versailles permitted the retention of but 4,000 officers in the Reichswehr, a vast majority of the war survivors became factors for absorption in civilian pursuits. Today they are to be found in nearly every walk of life, some having even resorted to the positions of waiter and porter in order to gain a livelhood. Some were connected with trade, labor, or industry through family ties and thus found situations comparatively easy. Others returned to official positions, and a part enlisted in the newly-organized Security Police.

A considerable section of the ex-officers turned to university callings particularly could they be seen at judicial and medical lectures and in polytechnic schools. In the first perod of transition, some worked in subordinate executive postions as assistants and some at manual labor even as miners.

There are none of the larger banking and industrial concerns to-day in which former officers are not active. In some banks one runs across an occasional general. Former staff officers were in position to receive tempting industrial offers because of their usual preparations and their knowledge of languages. Already before the war, officers were in demand in the insurance field as inspectors and agents, and this number has been noticeably increased. The automobile industry, too, has attracted many. Detective agencies and warehouses have employed them in divers capacities.

In short, the huge network of Germany's trade, commerce and industry, is fairly dotted with these former heads of companies, battalions, and other units in the old and war-time armies. They are in the mines, metal works, machine factories, electric plants, technical offices, quarries, and export houses; some have drifted to the film industry.

The former surgeons-major in the army have condescended to be mere medical men or have become specialists in their profession. Many went into the chemical industry or took places in hospitals. Officers blinded in the war were mostly instructed at the School for Blind at Marsburg, where they studied political economy and simultaneously learned typewriting and stenography.

Unhappy Experiences

Certain of the officers who, after the close of the war, resolved to begin life anew as settlers in some foreign land, are reported to have had really unhappy experiences. Some died miserably after sore privation; while some few others succeeded in getting back to the Fatherland. Only a small minority made real progress abroad. Very few left the country, however, it is said, and the charge that German ex-officers since the war have joined foreign armies and navies is regarded here as unfounded.

The marked transformation in mode of living has variously affected the family life of ex-officers, not all of whom can maintain their former social status. For example there is the case of the well-known First Lieutenant Berg, who in the world war was the commander of the "Appam", taken as a prize ship by the "Moewe". He obtained a situation in Hamburg leaving his wife and children in the Danish town of Apenrade, formerly German With his slender income Berg was unable to meet the cost of his family's upkeep, which became increasingly high due to the Danish standards of valuation. He finally killed himself when the family had been reduced to want.

Individual instances of resourcefulness were of everyday occurrence One lieutenant used his last resources to buy a taxicab which he and his former orderly drove alternately. Now the taxi belongs to the orderly and the lieutenant can devote to study the humble receipts of his enterprise. Three U-boat officers combined and bought a small sailing cutter, which they ply as a freighter betwen German and Scandinavian ports. They themselves compromise the crew, loading and discharging all cargoes personally.

THIS LAXATIVE HAD EFFECT

Miss Johnston glad to say Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin freed her from constipation.

Miss A. M. Johnston, Sweetsburg, Que.

IT is not always easy to find just the right medicine for chronic constipation, but the experience of many thousands of people is that Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is the best remedy to take. Miss A. M. Johnston of Sweetsburg, Que., sought relief for years and only found it in Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. So did Mrs. H. Lefever and her little daughter of Medicine Hat, Alta., and Mrs. M. Martin of Mussey, Ont. There are, of course, thousands of others, and they recommend it publicly.

There is no need to take harsh physics, cathartic pills, castor oil, calomel or dangerous coal tar medicines. You can get better and quicker results in a mild and gentle way with a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, and a dose costs less than a cent. This wonderful medicine is a vegetable compound of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin. The formula is on every package. Use it for constipation, headaches, billiousness, feverishness, loss of appetite and other ills due to a disordered stomach and bowels. It is safe for babies.

POLITICAL POT IN MEXICO NOW BEGINS TO BOIL

Although the Next Presidential Election is More Than Two Years Distant —Full Guarantees.

NEWSPAPER CONTEST.

MEXICO CITY, June 6.—(Associated Press.)— Although the next presidential election is more than two years distant, there have been various indications during the past few weeks that the political pot in Mexico is even now commencing to boil.

President Obregon has been called upon frequently of late to give official assurance that full guarantees will be given voters, speaking with direct reference to the congressional elections to be held next August, the chief executive has stated repeatedly that an earnest attempt will be made to permit the voters of Mexico to express their sentiments without fear or hindrance.

The newspaper El Universal is now conducting a contest to discover its readers' choices for president and, according to its statements, a lively interest is being displayed. President Obregon described the contest as "one of the best jokes of the season" and in other official circles there is the direct charge that Editor Palavincini of El Universal is taking this means to enhance his own chances to gain the presidential seat.

First Computation.

The first computation of votes as announced by El Universal, gave Adolfo de Huerta, present secretary of the treasurer, and former provisional president, first choice, Pascual Ortiz Rubio, former minister of communication and public works, was next, and Senor Palavincini was third. These three men were closely grouped in the voting.

There was then distinct drop in the number of votes to Secretar of Interior Calles, and President Obregon was fifth with a mere 26 votes. Among the scores who appeared as possible candidates were General Salvador Alvarado, Francisco Leon de la Barra, Felix Diaz, Vito Alessio Robles, editor of El Democrat, Rafael Alducin, editor of Excelsior; Ignacio Bonillas, Francisco Marguia, Secretary of Foreign Relations Pani, Francisco Villa and Monsignor Orozcoy Jimenez, Archbishop of Guadalajara.

There was considerable comment, editorial and otherwise, when El Universal's first classification of candidates was published. Among the "extreme radicals" the paper named Secretary Calles, Secretary de la Huerta, Secretary of Public Instruction Vasconcelos and Celestino Gasca, governor of the federal district.

Luis Cabrera, former secretary of the treasury under Carranza; General Salvador Alvarado and Felipe Carrillo Puerte, the present governor of Yucatan, who is an avowed "Red," were classed as "radicals of conciliation."

The "cinetilcos" or "old regime" group was said to include Secretary Pani, Francisco Leon de la Barra (now in Paris), Manuel Pelaez and Manuel Celaro. Fernando Iglesias Calderon, former Mexican representative at Washington; former President Federico Gonzales Garzo, Senator Carlos B. Zetina, and Francisco Escudero wer placed in the "laisser faire" group. The arbitrary classification of these potential candidates caused many protests, especially from members of the "extreme radical" group.

Political Changes.

Among the political changes of the year may be mentioned certain developments in the case of the Partido Liberal Constitutionalista. This party at the time of Obregon's election claimed him as its nominal leader, but the chief executive as well as certain members of his cabinet who were also members, has kicked over the traces and, according to his own assertions, belongs to no party. In several contests for supremacy in the Chamber of Deputies, the Partido Liberal has been defeated, and it opponents now declare that it has ceased to function as the dominant party. Succeeding it may be found a strong Partido Liberal Cooperitista and the numerous branches of the Socialist Party. In addition the Catholics are strongly organised, and have announced their determination to contest for every seat in the Chamber. They will doubtless, as at the last election, name a candidate for president.

President Wide Awake.

There are also obvious indications that President Obregon is keeping a weather eye out on political conditions in the States. In Puebla, where Governor Jose Maria Sanchez was ejected by his legislature, and in Morelos where Governor Francisco Mugica is on an indefinite leave of absence, their successors have been men who are beyond all question "right" with the Government.

President Obregon, on the other hand, has taken serious steps to prevent interference in state politics by the central Government, and is especially vigorous in his attempts to prevent the army from participating in elections. The old system of voting army groups en bloc for a favoured candidate must go, the President says, and although he anticipates that the approaching elections may bring some minor disorders, he optimistically declares that the voters will be given every facility for a free expression of their choice of candidates.

AT LAST—THEY GROW LONGER!

It is true—actually true—that skirts are longer; and that is a sign of that the terrible schism that has disrupted the world of fashions two years finally is healed.

Two years ago Parisian designers said skirts were to be longer and for all the seasons of those two long years American women have continued to wear them short.

However, the breach is healed. America admits that, perhaps, after all, skirts are longer.

The lines of all the newest frocks are very simple. Low waistlines and longer skirts are worn. The trimming does not break the lines of the dress (no ruffles or puffs) but consists for the most part of colorful embroideries or flat trimmings applique.

FINES FOR SPEEDERS WILL BE INCREASED.

Vagrants Must Not Use Railway Station for a Bunkhouse.

Hereafter all speeders will be fined $10.00, Magistrate O. A. Langley has ordained, and if disrespect for the law in this direction does not end, the ante will be raised another notch.

Provincial Constable T. Y. Stratton as keeping a close watch on the highways, and the police motorcycle is also to be reckoned with.

S. McMahon, Arnold Plunkett, George Sukloff, and Stanley Bishop were fined for speeding, at a busy session of the Police Court yesterday.

Ottesander Crazko, a Russian Pole, got a week for vagrancy. He was found by the police sleeping in the waiting-room of the C.P.R. Station, which the railway object to having become a public parking ground for vagrants.

DIVERGENT OPINIONS AS TO FREIGHT RATES

OTTAWA, June 6. — (Canadian Press.)—Four organizations of business men have presented written pleas regarding freight rates before the special house committee on transportation rates.

The Winnipeg Board of Trade asked for a return to the Crow's Nest Pass agreement, the Hamilton Chamber of Commerce and Transportation Bureau of Montreal Board of Trade asked that it be further suspended. The Canadian Pulp and Paper Association urged that rates be reduced to the basis in force before the increases made in September, 1920.

CABINET RESIGNS.

TOKIO, June 6 (Canadian Press). —The Regent to the throne summoned the elder statesmen to-day for a consultation on the subject of a successor to Premier Takahashi, who, with his Cabinet, resigned early this morning. The statement was given out that the Cabinet's resignation was not based on any political issue, much less on the ministry's foreign policy, but was due entirely to the divergence on the question of the reconstruction of the Cabinet itself.

MAYOR W. H. TAYLOR AFTER THE DOGGIES

Six Curs Parked on Ald. Crowe's Lawn One Night Last Week.

Mayor W. H. Taylor advised the Council last night that he, as a member of the Police Commission, would see that the dog by-law, requiring that dogs be tied up, was enforced. Ald. Joseph Crowe introduced the matter, pointing out that there were large numbers of canines at large and the police were taking no action. He was of the opinion that the Council should take some strong and decisive action. Other aldermen endorsed his views and Mayor Taylor said he would speak to the police about the matter. The law was not being enforced, Ald. Crowe contended. Ald. Crowe said he brought the matter up because a great many complaints had come to him in regard to property destruction. In spite of the law that every dog must be on a leash, the alderman from the western part of the city said that he counted six dogs on his lawn one night last week.

LET' EM ROLL.

Twice Oshawa tried the little trick of letfing a foul ball roll into fair ground before picking it up and on Saturday Bowmanville did just the reverse. In this case Heckman's bunt was rolling foul and Bates picked it up just before it crossed the line. In every case a safety was registered for the locals.

Y.M.C.A. NOW HAS A CLASSY TEAM.

Meet Raybestos in League Fixture at Ball Park This Evening.

More excitement in the twilight hours of this evening, Y.M.C.A. and Raybestos will play an intermediate league contest at six o'clock, and Howard Kirn may twirl for Y.M.C.A. This team will also be further strengthened with players from the Classics who have withdrawn from the race. Looks as if Doug. Loomis now has a real ball squad. Raybestos will be along with a strong team, with Leith Bartley as the probable starter on the mound. This evening's game has all the earmarks of an interesting contest.

The next big attraction is an East Peterboro league game with Otonabee and Keene as the battlers, at Riverside Park, on Wednesday evening, at six o'clock. The Otonabee lads are coming along fine, and are a big improvement over the team of last season. They have a good team and a host of sluggers who hit the ball "a mile". Keene is using several junior players who made good last season, and are away to a good start this summer. The Keene team defeated the Ahanacs in an exhibition game at Keene on Victoria day.

ADANACS TEAM TO CLASH WITH LAKEVIEW NINE

Thursday Evening the Date Set For Clash Between the Junior City League Leaders.

TWO FAST TEAMS.

Thursday evening's meeting of the Adanacs and Lakeviews promises to be the battle royal of the Junior City League. The feams are scheduled to go into action at 6 o'clock sharp and Alex Kay's stentorian voice will give the signal to play ball right on the minute

These two teams now share to honours for top of the League as neither has lost a game. Both teams have been greatly strengthened for the fray and new faces will appear on the diamond wearing the uniforms of their respective teams. The fall of the Classics threw some good baseball material on the market and some of these boys are expected to appear in new livery on Thursday.

The latest dope from the headquarters of the two organizations last evening was that the personell of the teams had not yet been definitely selected. Even the batteries are uncertain but the Adanacs will have Shaughnessy, Scates and Turner to pick their heaver from, the first two right handers and the latter a southpaw, and the Lakeviews have Gilchrist, Whitehouse and Ash. Gilchrist is the only right hander of this trio the other two passing them over from the nigh side. Wilgar is expected to be on the receiving end for the Adanacs and either Rogers or Huff for the Lakeviews.

Both teams are almost evenly matched in the matter of a fast fighting infield and but few changes are expected in this portion of the lineups. They have played practically air tight ball in the earlier games of the season and any change could hardly make any improvement.

Football

It will be of some interest for soccer fans to know that the Peck Cup was last played for in 1913. All Saints beat St. Johns in the final by 1-0, the scorer being Reg. Dyer, brother of the C.G.E. centre forward.

The C.P.C. Junior team has accepted the challenge to play the Woolens Juniors, and will be glad to hear form their secretary regarding a match.

The Comrades will practice this evening at the Exhibition Grounds at 6 p.m. All players are requested to attend and bring uniform.

The second semi-final of the Peck Cup be played on July 8 at 6.30. A. McKinley will referee.

GREAT BATTER.

GEORGE BLOCK.

About this season's most sensational tosser of professional ball is George Block, playing manager of the St. Petersburg (Fla.) Saints.

Block has filled very position on the team except in the twirling department, but he specializes behind the bat, and out of 100 times he has faced the pitcher he has hammered out 53 hits for an average of .530 Eighteen of his swats were for two bases and eight times he smashed out triples. Getting extra base hits in the Florida State League is "some" feat. A batted ball landing in the outfield falls dead and rarely rolls more than 20 feet.

George bats right handed and can hit 'em anywhere on the lot.

In 1911 Block was the property of the Cardinals. Later he was farmed out to Denver. In 1918 he was to have reported to Brooklyn. But just then he was claimed for military service. Later he suffered a broken should which eliminated him from major ball. Now, however, scouts from the big leagues are showing up in Floriaa to watch him perfom. Good judges of ball say he'll class with any catcher in the game if his arms' to be depended upon.

CANADIAN CHAMP TO MEET JEFF SMITH.

HALIFAX, N.S., June 6.—(Canadian Press)—Mike McTigue, of Halifax and New York, claimant of the Canadian middlewieght championship, and Jeff Smith, of Bayonne, N.J., will meet here on or about June 21, if negogiations now in progress between Halifax fight promoters and the boxers bear fruit.

Professional boxing has been under a ban in Halifax for upwards of two years, but it is thought in sport circles that it will be possible to have it lifted.

Smith receievd a decision over McTigue here in 1920.

When You Score

If a base runner starts to steal a base prior to a battery error, he shall be credited with having stolen the base, and the battery error shall also be charged against the player committing it.

Lessons in Golf

An instant before you begin the backward and upward step of the driver you should execute the "forward press." I consider the "forward press" a most important detail of the stroke. It ushers in the stroke. It leads to rhythm, the aim of every golf stroke. This is how you accomplish the "forward press" First push your hands forward until your hands are a few inches in advance of the ball on the ground in front of you. Then draw them back to a point about as far back of the ball. Now start the clubhead back with a left-hand and left-wrist movement, the right hand joining in after the clubhead has been started back and just as the club begins to lift. Study just how you would throw a baseball. Your first movement, you will observe, would be a bending forward of the right hand. Then, as your hand and arm are drawn backward, you will observe a flowing, rhythmic movement of the arm and body. This flow and rhythm are what you strive for in golf.

The picture, by John Duncan Dunn, shows a perfect form at the top of the stroke, with club gripped lightly.

KIWANIS TO MEET THE ROTARY NINE

Ball Game Will Be Staged on the Oval Thursday Evening Between Local Clubs.

A battle royal will be staged Thursday afternoon when the local Rotarians will tangle bats with the Kiwanians in the first mutual ball game of the season. The contest will be held on the Nicholls Oval diamond.

Either Bob Abbott or Gordon Matthews are expected to do the twirling for the Rotarians with Chris Graham on the receiving end. The Kiwanians are believed to have signed on Lloyd Hamilton, Charles Cummer and Bob Neil as their pitching staff though just which one will be chosen for Thursday's game is still in doubt. Either Nagel Phalen or Russ Widdifield will be seen in action behind the bat.

The Rotarians will meet for practice this evening on the Armoury grounds while the Kiwanians will limber up on the Oval diamond.

IF THIS FLAY COMES UP

When an umpire calls a balk, play is automatically suspended. All base runners are entitled to advance one base. Often the umpire calls a balk on the pitcher for some infraction of the rules, only to have the pitcher throw to the batsman, and have him swing at it. No attention should be given any play that might arise. The calling of the balk suspended play, and the action of the pitcher in delivering the ball and the batter swinging at it should be given no consideration. The only action possible after the calling of the balk is for all base runners to advance one base. Just remember the moment the umpire rules a balk that any further play immediately becomes impossible.

SEES REVOLUTION IN OIL INDUSTRY.

Alberta Sands Can Supply World For 600 Years, Says Expert.

Enough oil is obtainable in Alberta to supply the world's requirements for over 600 years, according to Thomas S. Howson, of Vancouver, an expert in oil production and refining, who is registered at the Empress Hotel, Peterborough. Mr. Howson is a son of the late J. W. Howson, of Keene, Otonabee, and himself a former resident of Peterborough City.

The oil is not in a liquid condition, to be obtained by drilling, but is to be found in vast fields of bituminous sand, often erroneously named 'tar sands," mainly in the district of McMurray, on the Athabasca River, and on the Slave River.

This fact is of great importance in its effect on the world's supply of fuel, Mr. Howson pointed out in an interview, as the supply of liquid oil to be obtained by drilling wells is limited and, at the present rapid rate of consumption, will probably be exhausted within a few decades. The discovery of methods of extracting oil from shale, which has been a commercial reality in the United States and Scotland for some time, opened up a new vista for the oil producing and oil consuming communities, in that it pointed the way to independence of a source of supply destined to early depletion.

Vast Possibilities.

Investigations have since been carried out extensively in Alberta, both by the Government of that Province and by agents of oil companies, and the result has been the discovery of vast possibilities in Alberta's fields of bituminous sand which, under proper treatment, may be made capable of rendering an enormous supply of oil, adding substantially to the natural wealth of the Province and safeguarding the world against any fear of depletion of its oil supply for several centuries—long enough for science to have found fresh sources and new methods of power production.

In support of his statement, Mr. Howson turned to the official Government report on the mineral resources of Alberta, where a mass of statistics regarding bituminous sands of certain parts of the Province is followed by a quotation from a report by Dr. T. O. Bosworth, which reads as follows:

"In the district of McMurray, on the Athabaska River, we have the largest natural exposure of oil in the world. It is interesting to consider the amount of oil in this territory. For this purpose, we will suppose the area to be 15,000 square miles, the average thickness fifty feet, and the average yield to be ten gallons per ton. A simple calculation gives the result as 30,000 million barrels of oil. This is an immense quantity—it is 600 times the world's annual production."

Mr. Howson is of the opinion that the thickness will run nearer 150 than 50 feet. The question which originally presented difficulty in connection with the vast oil source, he stated, was that of extracting the oil from the sand cheaply enough to make it a commercial possibility. Much research and experiment has been devoted to this question during the past two years, and he believes it will soon be a fait accompli. The most successful experiments, he states, have been those in which the oil was extracted by agitating the sand in tanks of hot water, so that the oil floated on the surface and the sand sank to the bottom.

SOCIALISTS ATTACKED.

KASSEL, Germany, June 6.—(Canadian Press.)—Philipp Scheidemann, widely known German Socialist, was assaulted by a youth today while on a holiday near Wilhelmshohe. While fleeing from his assailant, who threw some sort of poisonous liquid into his face, Herr Scheidemann fired two shcts, neither of which took effect.

Herr Scheidemann later was found unconscious and carried to his residence, having suffered no serious injury. His assailant was not identified.

The Socialist leader has been Lord Mayor of Kassel since his retirement as a member of the Reichstag.

LAST SATURDAY AT HOME FOR PETES IN JUNE

Port Hope Here This Week After Which Petes Are "on Road" For Two Saturdays.

Local fans should not be misguided by the booklets issued some weeks ago, giving some facts about the Central League. On the cover there appeared a list of home games for the Petes, in which it was stated that Port Hope would play here on June 17th. This is a mistake. The Ontarios play in Peterborough on Saturday of this week, June 10th, and on the following Saturday the Petes are in Leaside.

This week's game should be a real battle, because the gang from Sandy Lockington's town dearly love to spill the beans for the Solomon crew, and they will be here on Saturday with their strongest battle array, determined to down the Petes. The Ontarios are in and outers, one day looking like a million dollars and the next like a German mark. They generally save their good ball for the Petes, however, and the local gang cannot afford to underestimate the ability of the Ontarios. It will be the last Saturday at home for the Petes until July 1st, for they play Leaside on the 17th, and in Oshawa on the 24th, and the only other home game this month will be on Wednesday, June 21st. There should be a huge crowd out in view of that fact.

?UNIOR LACROSSE GAMES WEDNESDAY

ocal City League Fixtures at King Edward Park and the Oval at 6:15 o'clock.

The second brace of games in the Junior City Lacrosse League will be played on Wednesday night with the Athletics and Crescents meeting at King Edward Park and Riversides and Strathconas at the Oval. Some of the followers of the game believe that the junior series so far is even better than the seniors. The youngsters are playing clean lacrosse and have their hearts in the game. At the same time, the referees might be advised not only to impose the rules strictly and sensibly, but also to offer instructions from time to time when the opportunity is presented and would not cause any disruption o the game. Such a proposal, however, would have to be carefully handled by the referee.

The Junior O.A.L.A. team has asked the Hastings management to consent to a postponement of their game here on Thursday. Some of the local players are mixed up in the Lakeview-Adanac baseball game, which is billed for six o'clock Thursday evening. Others are attending school and could not get away until after four, and as a result it was felt that Hastings would agree to a postponement of the opener for the reason that such a concurrence of duties would not occur again this season.

WILL SETTLE DOWN AT 132 YEARS OF AGE

Aged Pole Claims to Be Only Survivor of Napoleon's Armies.

WARSAW, June 5.—Sergt. Jan Krasinki, a Pole, who says he is the only survivor of Napoleon's armies, proposes to settle down quietly for the rest of his life in the district of Posen, where land is provided by the Polish Government for war veterans.

He says he fought in the battle of Bordonino, 110 years ago. He was 22 years of age at the time, he says, which would make him 132 years now He is still full of life and vigor and looks like a sturdy octengenarian. He was captured by the Russians at Borodino and served the greater part of the last century in the Russian army and saw service in many wars. His wife died last year in Russia. She was 98.

Krasinski claims he was born the year after the French revolution began. He was two years old when Murdock introduced gas lighting to the world. He was a man long before the first railawy was built, and before the first steamship crossed the seas. He completed his first half-century before telegraph lines were established. H was a lad of 15 years old when Nelson won the battle of Tralfalgar.

Oppose Adolescent Act

A resolution from Chatham Council that indicates an opposition to the Adolescent School Attendance Act was read in the communications and referred to the Finance Commmittee. A copy of this resolution has been sent to all Ontario municipalities. "That this Council memorializes the Ontario Legislature, requesting the repeal of the Adolescent School Attendance Act on the ground that if fully or even partially enforced it will impose upon the taxpayers of the municipalities of Ontario both rural and urban excessive burdens for new school construction and maintenance at a time when financial conditions generally and especially the necessity of meeting the obligations incurred by the war necessitate the strictest economy in all government affairs".

City Solicitor Widdifield stated in a letter that he attended the Court of Revision of the Township of Otonabee at Keene, May 29th and succeeded in the city's appeal against the assessment of the property acquired for a sewage disposal plant.

Resignation Accepted

The resignation of Frank Whitehouse as chairman of the Suburban Road Commission was received and accepted with regret. Mr. Whitehouse said he was resigning for private reasons. Various names were advanced as a successor but it was pointed out by Ald. Phelan that the appointment required a bylaw and one could not be prepared for this meeting. Mayor Taylor suggested that Ald. Walter Stocker, chairman of the Board of Works succeed him but Ald. Stocker was wise enough to enquire what duties went with the office. Ald. Turner mentioned Ald. Dr. Holloway and Ald. Phelan was for Ald. Morrison an appointment Ald. McIntyre favored "as he had plenty of time". No action was taken outside of the acceptance of the resignation.

Sidestep Tax on Cheques

If the Fielding proposal to exact a tax of two cents on cheques for each fifty dollars or fraction thereof involved goes into effect on July 1st the city will be in a position to save large sums of money on taxes as a result of action taken last night on the suggestion of Ald. Phelan, chairman of the Finance committee. As an instance of what may be expected Ald. Phelan pointed out that on a cheque for $150,00 as frequently encountered in the city's business the tax would amount to $600. Instead of the city controlling its various accounts by cheques Ald. Phelan said it was perfectly legal to make transfers from one account to another through the bank and so far this transaction has not been taxed. City Solicitor Widdifield gave his opinion that sidestepping the stamp tax in ths way was legal and accordingly amid congratulations from the different aldermen on the plan Ald. Phelan ushered through the resolution advising the Bank of Montreal to make certain transfers from time to time from one account to another, when advised by the clerk on instructions from the treasurer, Mayor and chairman of the Finance Committee.

Oh Where Has My Appropriation Gone

A statement of the city's financial position up to May 31st was submitted by the city treasurer. This statement showed a total overdraft now of $259,886.05 of which $51,-511.91 has been carried over since last year. The matter of overdrafts was the subject of some enquiry among the chairman of the committees last night and there were no hopes of any ending 1922 with an even sheet judging by the pessimistic way in which they regarded the financial waters. The unanswerable challenge that flies to and fro round the Council Chamber is "Where is the money to come from?" This question is hurled at every deputation that appears with a request for this that or the other thing. Chairman of committees entruster with funds unloose it at unwary aldermen who ask for some work to be carried out. In aldermanic ordinance it ranks supreme.

Ald. Harry Gainey made use of it last night when it was proposed that the Parks committee lay a water pipe into Riverside Park to supply water for watering the grass and other purposes. Alex. Kay on behalf of the P.A.A.A. made the request for water pointing out that he understood the city had pipe over there now not being used. "We appreciate what you've done over there already", he said.

Ald. Gainey said he wanted to get $150 to work with on the park but was cut to $100.

Ald. Turner and Ald. Holloway moved that the request be granted Ald. Hamilton put in an amendthat the matter be left with the chairman of the Park committee with power to act. Four voted for the amendment and three for the motion and both were lost. Ald. Hamilton and Stocker combined in their motion to appease Ald. Crowe and Ald McIntyre who held the city engineer should attend to it the name of Mr. Parsons as well as Ald. Gainey. No one attempted to answer Ald. Gainey's challenge "where the money is coming from".

At The Theatres

CAPITOL — American Releasing Corporation presents "Sisters," from the famous novel by Kathleen Norris. Also Charlie Chaplin in "Sunnyside," his third million dollar comedy.

ROYAL — First National Attraction feature drama, "Unseen Forces," Vitagraph Western Feature, "Trip Through the World," Mark Sennett Comedy, "Fore Word," one tinual laugh.

AT THE ROYAL.

Heralded as one of the most remarkable photodramas of the season, "Unseen Forces," with an all-star cast headed by beautiful Sylvia Breamer, at the Royal Theatre, tonight and to-morrow.

Directed by Sidney A. Franklin, recognized as one of the most able men in his profession, it is a Mayflower production and is released through Associated First National Pictures.

Supporting Miss Breamer in the cast are such well known celluloid celebrities as Conrad Nagel, who is her leading man; Rosemary Theby, Robert Cain, famed for his portrayal of lounge lizard parts; Sam De Grasse, who has made a big reputation for himself as both an actor and director; Edward Martindel, Harry Garrity, James O. Barrows, Aggie Herring, Andrew Arbuckle and Albert Cody.

At The Royal To-Night and To-Morrow

Most remarkable of all perhaps is the story which has been picturized, for, as the title would indicate, it deals with "unseen forces."

Sylvia Breamer has the role of Miriam Holt, a girl possessed of peculiar intuitive powers which enable her to fortell certain future happenings. She is known as "the girl who sees around corners."

A childhood romance develops in later years into a real love affair, but a misunderstanding results in the parting of Miriam and her lover, Clyde Brunton.

He marries another woman, but quickly regrets the step he has taken, and when he comes upon Miriam in New York, where she has gained fame for the great services she has performed for humanity through her wonderful gift, he knows that he still loves her.

A lounge lizard who has been pestering her is the least of Miriam's troubles, but in her heart she has a real problem to solve, and she does solve it as only a "girl who sees around corners" could do.

MYSTERY STORY IS PUT ON THE SCREEN.

The wave of public interest in the occult now sweeping the country is expected to contribute much to the success of "Unseen Forces," a gripping mystery story which has been picturized by Sidney Franklin and which will be screened at the Royal Theatre to-night. The story centres around a girl possessed of uncanny powers. From a sheltered, naive country girl she becomes a popular medium for New York's elite. In this role will be seen Sylvia Breamer, and the cast includes Conrad Nagle, Rosemary Theby, Sam De Grasse, Robert Cain and Edward Martindel. The production is Sidney Franklins initial Mayflower release for Associated First National Pictures, Inc.

Capitol Entertainment

Charlie Chaplin is at the Capitol this week, in "Sunnyside"; the inimitable Charlie, who has chosen for his setting this time a quiet rural community, where, as the clerk in the "Hotel Evergreen," he mows the grass that springs up in the brick-paved office, and prepares breakfast in his own peculiar fashion, with the hen that lays the eggs and the cow that supplies the milk for the tea appearing in full form. Charlie takes the cow to pasture, but makes a wrong turn and forgets his charges who keep straight on. Their appearance at the Sunday service in the church causes a hurried exodus of the entire congregation, and Charlie gets the customary 'booting' from his employer, an irascible old gentleman with "Love Thy Neighbor" as a prominent motto on the wall. Then the girl enters the picture; a charming damsel in clothes of 1890 vintage, whom Charlie woos in his own way, with a posy plucked from her own front door yard, a bag of peppermint sticks, and a startling rendition of "The Lost Chord," before it is partially consumed by the family goat. An exotic episode is the dream, in which the girl becomes enamored of the "city chap" with patent cigarette lighter and grey spats. Charlie essays an imitation of the latter, with disastrous results, but all ends happily when a timely kick awakes him from his slumbers. He has an especially good time in the scene with the "lounge lizards," where his mop does a great deal of damage, but his pose, with the moustache, and the hat, and the wonderful shoes, never alters from beginning to end.

"Sisters" is a very interesting picture. Screened from Kathleen Norris' famous novel, a departure has been made from the rather gloomy ending of the book, with happy results. As a delineation of character, it is intensely entertaining. There is the eternal triangle; the man who loves one sister and marries the other. Later, the weaker girl tires of her husband, who has not enough money to give her what she wants, and returns to her sister's home, where she proceeds to work havoc with the lives of the husband and wife. Anne, and Alix, and Cherry are the three sisters, whose several romances occupy the attention of their audience, against a background of Californian beauty, in the "Mystic Valley" of the picture. Cherry is selfish, thoughtless and lovely. Spoiled and irresponsible, she leaves her husband through pique, and her sister Alix, in a beautiful character play well portrayed by Seena Owen, suffers for the self-willed girl and the man, Alix's husband, who is fascinated by the younger sister's charm. As a lesson for the temperamental, the picture excels.

The serial, "White Eagle," is nearing its final chapters, with some thrilling scenes, and the "Jackie Coogan" pictures are at the Capitol this week also, picturing the local child contestants for the prizes offered for the best representation of Jackie, in "My Boy." There are several bright pictures of the children who competed, showing them in different poses, as a group, and separately, with the prize-winners, little Jessie Scholey, Olga Wright and Norma Paquette in different cunning poses.

THE HOME CIRCLE

LIFE AS A BUSINESS PROPOSITION

By Dr. Frank Crane

Life has been called all sorts of things. Life is a dream, a gambling game, an opportunity from which to get all the fun and the least gain possible, a probation preparatory to the next life, a vale of tears, and so on.

Suppose we consider life as a business proposition. Look at it from a practical profit-and-loss, shrewd and commonplace viewpoint.

Very well. First, what can we get out of it? Only wages. There are no endowed and privileged ones, all are day laborers; for every one, when the work's over, must leave all he has gained and go back to that nothingness from which he came as stark naked and poor as when he arrived. All the billionaire gets out of life is exactly what the bricklayer gets his board and clothes and amusement.

What is the wages of Life? Life's pay is happiness. On Life's book, happiness is credit and unhappiness debit.

It's happiness we all strive for, of one kind or another, whether beer and cakes or turtled feasts, overalls or dress-suits, pinochle on a cracker box or stock gambling on the market, social distinction, wealth display, political success, intellectual achievement—it's all happiness, according to taste.

How is happiness to be secured, how can one be sure to get his pay? By finding out what he really wants. This is not easy. Most people work a lot for what they think other people think they want.

How can one find that out? By experimenting, trying out various activities until he finds the one in which he can most enthusiastically express himself.

Also by ascertaining those forms of pleasure that are frauds and bring on misery. The conclusive arguments against drunkenness, licentiousness and the like, is that they are swindles, gold bricks; they promise joy and pay suffering.

How should one get his pay? Every day. Not at the end of the task. Unless every day brings its satisfaction, you are cheating yourself.

How can one tell what sort of things pay and what sort do not pay? By the collective experience of mankind, and by accepting the guidance of reliable teachers.

What does the culminative experience of mankind show? That only those acts which are fundamentally just, fair, honest and kind are those that invariably pay.

Why work? If it's happiness that is our wage, why not eat, drink, and be merry; why not loaf and play? Because human beings are so constituted that they secure the maximum of satisfactory self-expression only by doing some part of the world's work.

What we call goodness more than pays every day, it leaves something over, a deposit in the happiness bank, which becomes a reserve fund from which we draw dividends. The good are the happiness capitalists. The bad are the happiness spendthrifts.

Why not approach this matter of good and bad, conscience or self-indulgence as a business proposition?

One thing that has gone out of style which we all bitterly regret is the old fashioned Sunday dinner. Everything during the week led up to that meal. It was the peak of culinary art. Sunday always started with a hectic rush. No matter how soon the family started getting ready for church, they never were ready on time. Always at the last moment everybody lost some article of wearing apparrel or a hole was discovered in somebody's stocking.

At last, just before tha prayer, the family would file into church and father would sink back with a sigh of relief and marvel that they were really all there. Mother didn't marvel, however. She had had too much to do with getting them there.

With what gusto every one sang the Doxology and how hungry they were on the way home. Just a little wait and they sat down to that gorgeous feast the "Sunday dinner." A man who has played eighteen holes of golf doesn't work up a healthier appetite than did those church goers.

And of course on Sunday, all of the best linen and silverware were forthcoming. And there was nearly always company. Sometimes twenty or thirty people would sit down at that long table each one arrayed in his "Sunday best," each face shining in anticipation, and each appetite whetted to the nth degree.

Yes, the Sunday dinner as we used to know it, is a thing of the past and we regret to lose it with its hospitality and its good cheer.

Howard Ferguson, that he would withdraw his bill to abolish the appeal to the Privy Council for the present session. "We have been getting along without it for a good many years now, and one more year will not hurt. It would not be fair to the House to ask to it to discuss it at this date," he said.

DRINK WITH SHAVE NEWEST WET STUNT.

But Barber's Innovation in Service Brings Him to Grief With Prohibition Agents.

NEW YORK, June 6.—The latest innovation in New York barber shops is the serving of drinks with a shave, it was reported at city prohibition headquarters after a visit by three agents to the shop of Sam Eisenman, 2,085 Madison Avenue. The agents, Williams, Donovan and Koehler, sauntered in with the air of men wanting a shave and Williams sat down in a barber chair while his companions waited.

While being shaved, Williams remarked to the owner, Sam. Eisenman, who was handling the razor that he needed a drink of whisky. Eisenman, it is alleged, sold the agents a drink and also a half pint of whisky for $1.50.

Waiting until the barber had taken the razor from his face and he was entirely clear of the chair, Williams made known his identity and introduced his companions. A search of the barber shop is said to have revealed one and a half gallons of whisky. Eisenman was handed a summons to appear before Commissioner Hitchcock.

WOMAN AT VATICAN, POPE'S HOUSEKEEPER

Has Been With Ratti Family For 40 Years.

ROME, June 6. — (Associated Press.) — Pope Pius, disregarding customs of centuries, has installed his old servant, Signora Linda, within the precincts of his apartment as his housekeeper and wardrobe maid, says the Giornale d'Italia.

Signora Linda, who has been with the Ratti family 40 years, watched at the deathbed of the mother of Pius when he was in Poland, and at her death retired to a convent. When he became cardinal Pius called her to govern his household after only seven months as a cardinal he was elected Pope.) Signora Linda prepared to return to the convent, but was summoned to Rome. She orders the frugal meals for the Pope and his secretaries and oversees the household, insisting on economy an order.

Since this was the first time a woman had been admitted to such a position, some conservatives in the Vatican remonstrated. They were received by the Pope, who gave his customary tranquil decision, saying: "It is our will."

FRILLED BLOUSES

WATCHMAN WAS ASLEEP ON JOB

A member of the Fire, Water and Light Committee this afternoon, when asked why Fireman N. Pammett had resigned Sunday afternoon, stated that he had been found asleep in the watch-room by Fire Chief George Gimblett after dinner on Sunday. The Chief appeared on the scene unexpectedly, and the slumbers of the fireman were undisturbed. Chief Gimblett called Captain James Ward to behold the watchman. Fireman Pammett was aroused and had to face the Chief in his office. When told that he would have to leave it is said he told the Chief "he didn't care anyway, for he was sick of it." Chief Gimblett made it clear that watchmen while he is in charge must have both eyes open. Monday morning Orville H. Wilson, a Peterborough boy, 24 years of age, and a returned soldier, was taken on in Pammett's place.

SAYS BOARD MEMBERS ARE VERY THIN-SKINNED

TORONTO, June 6. — (Canadian Press).—In an effort to prove that the Workmen's Compensation Board was autocratic in its administration, and that medical men had been suspended from acting on cases coming under the jurisdiction of the board without just cause, Hartley Dewart, K.C., to-day continued his cross-examination of Samuel Price, the Board's chairman. Mr. Dewart claimed that Board members were "thin-skinned" and took offence at the doctors' remarks about their fees being cut.

"I suppose they crossed your sovereign right," he remarked. He thought that probably the doctors had not sufficiently apologized to His Lordship.

WAGE WAR ON THE G.W.V.A. ORGANIZATION

GANG DISAPPOINTED.

TORONTO, June 7. — (Special). —War to the hilt on all ex-service organizations—especially the G. W. V. A. and the G. A. U. V.—was declared by "General" Riley, who addressed his men at Queen's Park upon their arrival here from Ottawa last night. This little Irishman was also "agin the Government" as much as ever. He was talking mildly about hitting the trail again for the capital if nothing was done within the next forty-eight hours. The veterans intended to get busy at once and organize for sending a second and greater deputation to the foot of the throne if necessary. What they wanted for the present was the re-opening of the D. S. C. R. relief which, the speaker maintained, that the Premier's promise implied. His parting instruction to the men was to hang around and be ready for action.

To tell the truth, the rank and file were wondering what they had actually gained by the hike. Instead of promises along general lines they had been looking for something tangible. They went to Ottawa expecting the Government to treat them as a father and buy them new clothes and boots and supply them with enough of a dole to give them a good holiday. Great, therefore, was their disillusion when they returned jobless to Toronto, until the "General" gave his version of what they had already accomplished. Boiled down to its simplest terms, his boast was that they had put the Government in a very embarrassing situation, and kept the Premier and the Minister of Labor up all night last night. Besides this, he was certain that Ottawa had been intimidated into taking action to relieve distress among the unemployed.

Anti G.W.V.A. Campaign.

The opening of the anti-G.W.V.A. campaign is staged for to-morrow night. The hikers are to be on hand in force at the mass meeting in Queen's Park. "The G.W.V.A. and G.U.V.A. are going to discuss compensation at this meeting," said W. G. Barbour, one of the speakers of the Executive. "After you have gone to Ottawa to get it for the ex-service men. We have practically smashed every soldiers' organization in the country. Come to-morrow night and vindicate yourselves," he said.

"Shut up," shouted a hostile voice. "Put him out," demanded several of the veterans who threatened to break the ranks and rush the hostile section of the crowd. The situation looked too threatening for the agitators and so they desisted.

The above organizations were termed by Riley as being "Bureaucracy personified," as well as "the flotsam that followed them."

Regarding McDonald, his predecessor in office, he wanted it understood that "that yellow rat" had never been the real leader. He put the question up to the men. "No," they shouted in practised unison.

For the information of the four hundred spectators present he announced that that gentleman had been kicked out and had not merely resigned.

THE WEATHER

This is much the warmest day of the present year up to this time. On a number of days the temperature has been up to 81 degrees. To-day at noon it had reached 87 degrees. Thunder storms have been passing around this section but have not reached here as yet. Rain is needed and Central Park is already beginning to be brown in places.—W.P.

An Interesting Bill of Fare for The Toronto Methodist Conference

TORONTO, June 7.—(Special) There is a very interesting bill of fare before the Toronto Methodist Conference in the shape of resolutions that are due to be shifted by the resolutions committee. Some of them will no doubt fall by the wayside or reach conference in much altered form, but the topics are many and varied.

First of all the men from the north want to split the conference in two. It runs clear north to James Bay now. They would split on the line of Collingwood or thereabouts taking nine of the eighteen districts in the new northern conference.

There will probably be a bit of a fuss over a motion which would cut down the spending of Methodist money on the secular education of students in Methodists colleges. It is said that something like $70,000 is being spent annually in educating students who are not entering the ministry.

Other resolutions that are to be introduced include the following

To ascertain what mortgages are held by the superannuation fund as investment of some $174,000.

That where church property on union fields is not used and unfitted for future work, and is not held by a trustee board, it should be handed over to the church and parsonage board.

To give the annual conferences a voice in the election of General Conference officers by allowing nominations in the annual conferences.

That a committee be named to report on the proposal to have a corps of preachers equipped as teachers to serve the northern Ontario district, where there is lack of leadership, and schools are open to qualified probationers or ministers.

That literature be provided for union fields, which now number about 500 in Canada, as it is rather awkward for the Methodists to be attempting to use distinctly Methodist publications on union fields; also to prepare a union catechism.

DELIGHTFUL GARDEN PARTY AT CONVENT

Young Ladies of Sodality Are to Be Congratulated

The Young Ladies Sodality of St. Peter's Cathedral held a very well-attended garden party last evening in the grounds of St. Mary's Convent, on Hunter street. Returns were most satisfactory to the ladies in charge of the different attractions. Fancy work in quantities of dainty articles were sold at a triangular booth, draped in blue, white and yellow, in charge of the Misses Myrtle Shaver and Margaret O'Brien; an orange and black striped booth was devoted to the sale of ice cream and home made candy, with the Misse Eva Archambault and Clara Fontaine selling cream, and the Misses May O'Brien and Florence Murray dispensing the candy. In the pretty tented tea-room, arranged with Japanese lanterns and flower-filled vases on the small tables Miss Katie Sharpe and Miss Josie O'Donnell had charge. A fish pond was supervised by the Misses Annie Simons, Hannah Fraser and Josie Lynch, and Miss Frances Carveth, assisted by the Misses Marcta and Geraldine Collins, had the humorous "art gallery". TWELVE NURSES GRADUATED AT LOCAL HOSPITAL

PRIZES PRESENTED

Graduating exercises for one of the largest classes in the history of Nicholls Hospital were held last evening in the G. W. V. A. Hall. Twelve nurses were graduated, though one, Miss Rena Ross, was unable to attend the exercises on account of illness.

Friends and well-wishers of the young ladies filled the hall to overflowing, many watched the exercises from points of vantage at both the front and rear entrances, and dozens of others were turned away, unable to gain admission on account of the crowd.

The affair was opened by Richard Hall, who acted as chairman, and welcomed the guests on behalf of the graduates. The opening address was made by Rev. J. A. MacKenzie. After the conferring of the diplomas by Mr. Hall and the presentation of the medals by Mrs. E. M. Leeson, superintendent of the training school, the address to the graduates was made by Dr. F. C. Neal.

Great Responsibilities.

After outlining briefly the qualifications necessary for a successful nurse and the course of training which they must pursue, Dr. Neal pointed out to the graduates that in entering their chosen profession they would have to assume new relations with the public, which would in their turn bring greater responsibilities. He pointed out that they were now "going into business for themselves." "If a person is to succeed in any line," he said, "they must have as part of their stock-in-trade the highest professional knowledge which we have been able to obtain to date, a few high, noble, and practical ideas, a versatile personality, which will give us an entree into the lives and understandings of the people we are to serve, and a realization of our responsibilities as individuals."

He pointed out that the course of training which had been pursued had laid the foundation for these requirements, and he appealed to the newly-graduated nurses to make their present knowledge but a basis for further study. "The wise way," he said, "will be to incorporate in your aims from the very first plans for definite progressive study."

Prizes Presented.

Dr. A. W. McPherson presented the prizes for bandaging to Miss M. E. Greer and Miss M. M. Bulmer. These prizes are contested for annually by the graduating class, and Dr. McPherson stated that owing to the largness of the class the competition was exceptionally keen this year. The winners only attained that position by a very narrow margin, for the work of all the graduates closely approached the perfect mark.

Closed With a Dance.

During the course of the evening several excellent musical selections were rendered by Miss Florence Scott and the Imperial Male Quartette. Miss Hazel Davidson, elocutionist, also contributed greatly to the entertainment.

At the close of the exercises the immediate friends of the members of the class gathered to extend their heartiest congratulations to the young ladies, and the evening's entertainment was closed with a dance.

The hall was decorated with huge quantities of flowers, while each graduate carried a large bouquet of American Beauty roses.

The Graduates.

Those who graduated were:

Miss Keitha Eleanor Kidd, Miss Mildred Margaret Bulmer, Miss Gladys Victoria Parker, Miss Merle Irene Horsley, Miss Rosabell Brooks, Miss Daisy Priscilla Stalker, Miss Mae Humphries, Miss Mary Ethel Greer, Miss Rena Ross, Miss Blanche Irene Campbell, Miss Anna Bernice Story, Miss Anna Katherine Kenny.

CHEESE SOLD AT 13 1-2c. LB.

Prospects of Peterborough Cheese Board Are Brighter.

The second sale of the Peterborough Cheese Board, held this morning in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms, was a decided contrast to the last one on the 24th of May.

Nearly twice as many boxes were sold to-day, and the price advanced from 12 1-8c to 13 1-2c per pound.

The outlook was decidedly more optimistic. Two more buyers were on hand, and factories boarded cheese that have not appeared on the sale list in several years.

President T. Braden had charge of the sale.

G. A. Gillespie, J. S. Cook of W. S. Cook & Son, Belleville, G. H. Ivey, Campbellford, buying for Lovell & Christmas, Montreal, and A. Nicholson, buying for A. A. Aires, Montreal, made up the buyers' division.

Cheese Boarded.

Cheese boarded was as follow: Warminster, 55; Selwyn, 80; Villiers, 70; Warsaw, 145; Young's Point, 60; Lang, 41; North Dummer, 40; East Emily, 25; Cedardale, 16; Norwood, 140; South Burleigh, 12; Killarney, 20; total, 704 boxes.

All the cheese was coloured.

G. A. Cillespie opened the bidding at 13 cents, Cook offered 1-16c and would go no higher. Mr. Ivey bid 1-8c, and Gillespie 3-16c. Nicholson went to 1-4c, Ivey 3-8c, Gillespie 7-16c, Ivey offered 13 1-2c for selections, but Mr. Gillespie said he would take the whole Board at that price.

Opposes Cheque Tax.

Secretary E. Hawthorne read a letter from the Montreal Produce Merchants' Association, dated Friday, May 26th, strongly protesting against the imposition of a graduated stamp tax on cheques and suggesting that the Cheese Boards voice a protest to the Minister of Finance. The tax would have a most detrimental effect on the dairy produce business, it was declared.

The tax would mean a decided increase in overhead charges, it was stated. The tax would be collected four times on each transaction between the time the produce is disposed of and returns made to the producer.

The tax would be felt by the produce men in the following four ways, it was declared:

1.—By the buyer in the country where produce is paid for by him.

2.—By the merchant in Montreal when the buyer's drafts drawn to cover payments made by him are paid by cheque.

3.—By the merchant in Montreal on bills of exchange when goods are sold in Great Britain or elsewhere.

4.—By the handling of the business for the producer in the country when dividend cheques are paid for milk or cream sent to the factory. The total tax would amount to at least 16 cents on every hundred dollars paid on each transaction, it was claimed.

The salesmen and buyers discussed the proposed tax and agreed with the opposition raised by the association.

On motion of Mr. Gillespie, seconded by Henry Batten, Warminster salesman, the Secretary was instructed to write the Minister of Finance, pointing out the hardship the tax would be on the dairy industry and urging that it be not imposed.

It was decided to hold the next sale two weeks from today, when prospects are bright for a large offering, as many factories are now working at capacity and others will be just getting into their stride by that time.

MORE ROOM IS NEEDED IN CITY PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Congestion in the Collegiate Institute is Also Approaching an Acute Stage.

DENTAL QUESTION

It seems quite evident from the reports of Principal H. R. H. Kenner of the Collegiate and Public School Inspector A. Mowat, that congestion in both the P.C.I. and the Public Schools is reaching an acute stage.

Mr. Kenner advised the Board of Education last night that conditions in the Collegiate are unsatisfactory and with a strict enforcement of the Adolescent Act the school will be decidedly overcrowded next September. In the absence of increased accommodation he did not see how the situation could be met unless the Board excludes from the P.C.I. all non-resident pupils from the lower school to make room for city students.

To Mr. Denne, Principal Kenner replied that there was no departmental law to prevent such exclusion, although it would be a shame to have to resort to such a course.

Chairman A. A. Fowler reminded the Board that there is a special building committee to consider the question of increased school accommodation.

On motion of Messrs. Denne and Wearing this matter went to the Supervision Committee, to report on provision for necessary increased accommodation at the Collegiate Institute.

Inspector Mowat reported that by September, 1923, the Public Schools will be very much overcrowded unless steps are taken to take care of the Adolescents apart from encroaching on the ordinary school accommodation. The abnormal over growth in school requirements he attributed largely due to the enforcement of the Adolescent Act, and he opined that were adequate provision for industrial and technical training provided, the congestion might be in an appreciable measure relieved by opening the only three new rooms available—two in the Prince of Wales and one in the King George Schools. In any even on September first this year at least another extra class room will have to be brought into requisition.

This matter also was sent to the Supervision Committee.

Mr. Worth, in this connection drew attention to the fact that a special building committee have been instructed to report on a combined Collegiate Institute and Technical School or a separate building for technical and industrial training, and to furnish plans, specifications and costs of same.

Mr. Denne said that were new buildings decided on it would take two years before such accommodation would be ready.

As under the Adolescent Act, scholars who have passed the Junior IV or Senior IV classes could attend industrial and technical training classes until they reach the age limit of 16 years for leaving school. Mr. Worth figures that adequate provision for such training would considerably relieve the public school congestion.

Dental Inspection

J. A. McKone, chairman of the Supervision Committee reported as follows:

Your supervision Committee beg to report and recommend the appointment of a dentist, for part time, to carry on the work of Dental Inspection in the Public Schools, commencing the 1st of September, next.

That the Committee on Appointments invite applications for the position and that they have power to fix the salary and make the appointment.

Your committee also ask that they be authorized to provide the necessary equipment.

On motion of Mr. Worth this report was received and no action taken. He feels that the services of the Board's own doctor are thoroughly satisfactory.

Mr. Wearing said he would like to know something more about the proposition embodied in the report.

Mr. Greene concurred with Mr. Worth that Doctor McPherson and School nurse Miss Jory are doing splendid work in the dental inspection line.

Tooth Brushes

School Nurse Jory reported that some children had no tooth brushes and their parents would not get them. Brushes, she said, could be purchased at Bond's drug store for 17c each or $2 a dozen.

Chairman Fowler contended that Miss Jory had no authority to get prices from any store for tooth brushes and the report was sent along to the supervision committee.

Departmental Exams

Principal Kenner pointed out that as the departmental examinations begin on Tuesday, June 13, it would be necessary to close classes in the P.C.I. on Monday, June 12.

This arrangement was acquiesced in.

Five applications for positions on the teaching staff went to the committee on appointments.

There were present Chairman A. A. Fowler, Mrs. W. R. Morris, J. W. Worth, T. A. McKone, Joseph Wearing, J. M. Greene, Bruce Fowler and Roland Denne.

Stevens, formerly Minister of Trade and Commerce representing Vancouver in the Dominion house and recently mentioned as a possible leader of the British Columbia Conservatives. Mr. Stevens is a fluent speaker and his address on the subject of Oriental Immigration and Illicit Drug Traffic will convey the impressions of one who for many years has been deeply concerned with this problem. The ministers of the city have been invited to attend the luncheon and a large attendance is anticipated. President Frank Whitehouse will preside. Charles Lacheur will be 'booster' of the day introduced by Will Warne.

PROTECTION AT THE HOSPITALS

Changes Introduced at the Fire Hall—Must "Catch the Truck."

Steps have been taken by Fire Chief George Gimblett that will result in increased fire protection at both city hospitals. This morning he stated that he had inspected the hospitals and found them fairly well prepared to fight a fire. On account of the construction work at St. Joseph's Hospital and the activity incident to the opening of the new section at the present time, little can be done outside of enlisting the co-operation of the staff and nurses. This the Chief has done, and has been given assurance that any improvements he might suggest will be considered.

At Nicholls Hospital the Chief described the equipment as adequate for the present. There are ten hand chemical extinguishers in the building and stand pipes for each floor and in the wing, with 50 feet of hose attached. At the rear of the hospital there is a hydrant and 200 feet of two-inch hose in a building ready for an emergency.

The Chief found the staff generally lacking in information as to the refilling of the chemical extinguishers and the proper way of operating them. An explanation was given, and the nurses were given a chance to try operating them. Instructions were given regarding conduct in case of fire and the nurses were grateful for the information given. The male attendants at the hospital were shown how to handle the hose.

German Helmets.

Heretofore around the Fire Hall, either by order or practice, the driver of the apparatus truck has always waited for the men to clamber on board after the alarm has been received. According to a new order of Chief Gimblett, when the captain is on, the truck is to drive off. If a fireman fails "to make it," to use a common expression, "it is his own funeral," and, according to the Chief, very likely to result in a "funeral." In Hamilton dismissal follows a failure to get away unless there are very extenuating circumstances.

Hitch-up drills are being held four or five times a day, and the speed of the firemen has increased 50 per cent. The ladder and hose drills are being held three times a week, with both platoons working together at least one drill each week. The smoke helmets at the Hall will be tested this afternoon, and Chief Gimblett will endeavor to learn if the two German outfits purchased by the late Chief at a cost of $60 each, and apparently never used so far, are worth the money. Chief Gimblett said he tried to have the helmets returned, for he is not in favor of buying German goods if it is possible to get Canadian, but found they were paid for.

A DISARMAMENT MORE DANGEROUS MILITARY

MONTREAL, June 7.—(Canadian Press).—"There is a disarmament more dangerous that naval or or military disarmament at work sedulously throughout Canada", declared Aemelius Jarvis of Toronto, who presided over annual meeting of the Dominion Council of the Navy League of Canada, held here this morning. "It is that kind of disarmament that was at work in the Netherlands for the last few years prior to the outbreak of the war in 1914 a disarmament of the public mind towards preparedness, and an insidious and persistent effort to lead people away from the ties of our Empire".

AT MURRAY STREET BAPTIST CHURCH.

With the five counties and the sixteen churches of the district represented by delegates, who number between 60 and 75, the 120th annual meeting of the Peterborough Baptist Association opened in Murray Street Church yesterday afternoon—Rev. H. Wood, B.A., B.Th., of Port Hope, acting as Moderator.

Eloquent Address.

Last evening's session was featured by the address of Mr. S. J. Moore, of Toronto, speaking on "The Challeng of the World Situation."

Taking as the basis of his address a consideration of the utterances of the late Pope Benedict, when he characterised the five plagues from which the world of to-day is suffering, Mr. Moore said: 'I have seen no statement in all these months which so sums up the situation as the words of the late Pope. In a brief and pungent manner, he described the plagues of the present world as being —First, "An unprecedented challenge to authority." In this connection, the speaker referred, as an illustration, to the city of Chicago, which had more murders last year than the whole of Great Britain, and where a council of judges sat in solemn conclave with a band of picked criminals from the penitentiaries of the State, in an endeavour to discover from these men the reason for the increase from the year 1912, when there were 10,000 criminal cases in the United States, to last year's record of over 70,000.

The second plague, as enunciated by the late Pope, was "An unprecedented hatred between man and man," as exemplified in world conditions between nations, and in interior strife at home and abroad between capital and labour.

The third plague was "An abnormal aversion to work," and Mr. Moore quoted a prominent speaker who declared that "the industrial morale of the world had been shattered," going on to say that one of the most glorious ideals of man, that of work for work's sake, had been changed to an attitude that looked upon work as a degree of servitude, to be performed with reluctance.

The fourth plague, "An excessive thirst for pleasure," was exhibited on every side, in the families who forsook their homes for twelve or fifteen hours on every Lord's Day, to seek amusement and recreation in motor cars, and in the movie colony at Los Angeles particularly, that "devil's cauldron, which is sending out to the uttermost part of the world the filth that is poisoning the minds of our children."

In the city of Hamilton alone last year, the sum of $15,000,000 was spent in amusements, and Toronto squandered $50,000 daily on tobacco.

The speaker quoted the Archbishon of Canterbury as declaring that 80 per cent. of the adult population of Great Britain never patronised a church.

The fifth plague, "A gross materialism which denies the realities of the spirtual in life." was considered the most serious of all, and the prolific breeder of many other evils. "It is in our business offices, in our homes, it has crept into our churches and invaded some of our pulpits, this gross canker which is eating at our vitals." In the year 1921, in the United States, there were 20,000 suicides, of whom 10 were editors, 22 ministers, 30 wealthy widows, 51

Wants to Sell Husband's $25,000 Tomb To Relieve Poverty, Singer Tells Court

NEW YORK, June 7.— Mrs. Elizabeth Wiesen, of 683 Rhinelander Avenue, the Bronx, described as formerly a singer in the old Atlantic Gardens, and widow of a wealthy manufacturer, Henry Wilsen, made application before Justice Edward J. Gavegan in Bronx Supreme Court, for permission to sell her husband's mausoleum in Woodlawn cemetery, erected in 1901 at a cost of $25,000 declaring she was destitute.

McKeown and Flynn, of 529 Cortlandt Avenue, the petitioner's counsel, told Justice Gavegan that in 1901, when Mrs. Wiesen's husband died, he left in excess of $100,000, a proviso in his will stipulating that unless she erected mausoleum his entire estate hould go to the daughter of a friend. The estate dwindled away, the court was told, part of it going to the settlement of claims of relatives of the husband in Germany.

"For sentimental reasons, the old stage name of my client will not be divulged at this time," said William McKeown. "My client is destitute and she needs whatever she can retrieve from the sale of this mausoleum to secure a livelihood."

Fraser, Speir and Meyer of 20 Exchange Place, counsel for the Woodlawn Cemetery, though not opposing the application, submitted an affadavit which read in part:

"The Woodlawn Cemetery does not oppose the application of the petitioner for permission to remove the remains of her husband and to sell the mausoleum, but, on the other hand, neither does it consent in view of the provisions of the will. The cemetery will be guided by the decision of the Court".

LALY ASTOR HAS SAILED FOR HOME.

Will Make No Speeches on Her Next Visit.

NEW YORK, June 7.—(Associated Press).—The next time Lady Astor visits America, she intends to make no speeches. That was what she confided to reporters before sailing for England.

Few public speakers, or workers of any sort, are ever keyed to the high nervous tension with which Lady Astor seems charged when addressing an audience. Her nervousness may not have been so apparent to listening crowds at her 40-odd public speaking appearances in this country during April and the first three weeks of May. But if one sat near her, the eye quickly observed that she incessantly wrung her hands behind her back and ran her fingers over and under her jeweled bracelets, the muscles of her arms and shoulders quivering from nervousness.

Somehow the strain never seemed to affect the clarity of her speaking tones. In fact her talks to crowds no matter what their size, were in a manner friendly and informal. Always she was breaking away from her prepared notes to start a sentence with the loose, conversational "now," or "well."

But when the speech was done, the first woman member of the House of Commons was fagged out and intensely nervous. That, too, seemed never to ruffle her smooth, smiling demeanor, nor did her expression reveal fatigue.

Lord Astor knew how high-strung the Lady Commoner really was, and he made it his job to keep her from talking too much to friends just before or after a speech. "Nancy, Nancy," he would call in warning whenever she pitched straight from a speech into chats to which she seemed to give just as much energy.

Reporters seated immediately in the rear of the speaker's dias when Lady Astor gave her farewell address noticed that her shoulders suddenly deepened to a pink flush as she got up to talk. Then, when her message had gone over, and there remained only the two closing paragraphs, the tension was relieved and the blush faded from her skin.

PRICE THREE CENTS — PETERBOROUGH, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 7, 1922 — PRICE THREE CENTS

RECIPROCITY BILL IS CONDEMNED BY ARTHUR MEIGHEN

He Says Such a Treaty Would Put Canada at Mercy of United States.

OTHER VIEWS.

OTTAWA, June 7. — (Canadian Press.)— "The right course for this country is not to enter into any extensive reciprocal arrangements with the United States," declared Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Conservative Party, in the debate on the budget in the Canadian House of Commons yesterday. He opposed that policy, first of all, because the power to terminate rests with that country. "In proportion to the time it operates," he continued, in proportion as well to the degree of the extension—in proportion to the time when the whole commerce of this country adjusts to the new standpoint. The natural routes are found and as they are found, then we become practically at the mercy of the Government of the United States for the continuance of the commerce of our country."

"Canada rejected the reciprocity of 1911," he asserted, "just because of the truth I have sought to expose. And I venture to say that if it comes in the form that it did before, or anything like an extensive form, before the people of this country again, and they have an opportunity to see to the centre of it, to know its meaning, and to know its purpose, the verdict will be just the same and just as pronounced, I, as a Canadian and a British subject, would not consider the treaty in the least, even if I believed it was going to be permanent, but I know it never can be permanent; I know the permanency of it rests chiefly with the stronger power, the stronger commercial weight, that is to say, with the United States of America."

A different view of reciprocity was expressed by Hon. W. R. Motherwell, of Regina, Sask., Minister of Agriculture in the Liberal Government. He declared that if the reciprocity treaty of 1911 had been adopted, even if the United States had decided not to continue it, the benefit to Canada resulting from it, even over a period of ten years, would have been very great.

U.S. NOW READY TO DISCUSS PAYMENT OF ALL WAR DEBTS

French and United States Representatives Will Discuss War Debts and Reparations.

NO DATE SET.

PARIS, June 7. Canadian Press. — Notification from Washington that the United States Government was ready to discuss the settlement of war debts was presented to the Foreign office yesterday afternoon, by Sheldon Whitehouse, counsellor of the United States Embassy. Though fixing no date this notification is understood in official circles as a reply to Premier Poincare's note to the Debt Commission informing it that a French mission headed by Jean V. Parmentier had been appointed and was ready to proceed to the United States when ever the Commission deemed it advisable.

M. Parmentier is only awaiting the word from Premier Poincare it was explained at the Ministry of Finance yesterday afternoon. While the Foreign office is recent, pending the Premier's decision, which may be delayed until the Bankers' Committee and the Reparations Commissions finish their work or arrive at a point where it may be foreseen with some certainty what the results will be.

The payment of reparations and the payment of war debts are closely allied, in the French viewpoint, and it is held that M. Poincare is opposing any reduction of the total due from Germany, is really protecting the interests of the creditors of France, whose capacity for payment is affected by any reductions or postponements of payments by Germany. Consequently, it is thought that final instructions to M. Parmentier may be modified by any action of the Reparations Commission to-day.

The secret of yesterday's deliberations of the Commission is closely guarded; the delegates are dumb as to what action they are likely to take at the official meeting in the morning. It is forecast in well-informed quarters however that the French attitude will be sustained so far as it concerns the reduction of Germany's reparations debt.

There is much speculation as to whether this will end the mission of the International Bankers' Committee. It is suggested in some quarters that it will affect only the the amount of the proposed international loan, and that the Bankers' Committee may still find it possible to float a billion dollars.

In French official circles last night however the feeling was pessimistic as regards the complete success of the loan plan.

DECISIVE DEFEAT FOR STREET RAILWAY BILL

Act to Increase Fares is Lost in Committee By An Overwhelming Vote. Liberals Vote in Favor.

STRENUOUS DEBATE.

TORONTO, June 7.—(Canadian Press). — After a strenuous fight which was successfully carried on by the representatives of the city ridings assisted by the silent but voting ranks of the majority of the U.F.O. members the Cooper Bill, introduced by Robert Cooper of Welland which, if it had passed would have given the Ontario Municipal and Railway Board power to raise the fares on street railway systems, was defeated in committee of the Legislature yesterday afternoon. Only 14 members of the Legislature voted for the bill. The affirmative vote comprised nearly the entire Liberal group and one or two farmers while the negative vote, which was not recorded on account of the large majority was, comprised of the entire Conservative group and all but about six farmer members.

The chief opponents of the bill were W. F. Nickle (Kingston) George Halcrow (Hamilton), Hon. Walter Rollo (Hamilton) J. McNamara (Riverdale-Toronto) and Dr. Stevenson, (London). Those who took active part in favor of the bill were, Robert Cooper (Welland) J. A. Pinard (Ottawa East) and Thomas Marshall (Lincoln).

Hon. Walter Rollo and George Halcrow of Hamilton were of the opinion that he bill was directly aimed at that city and both raised serious objection to it being entertained. W. F. Nickle, who represents Kingston, a municipality that in the near future expects to take over its street railway also was strongly opposed to the measure.

Company Made Money

Mr. Halcrow reviewed at length the growth of the street railway company of Hamilton stating that it had always been a paying concern and that the company had decreased the wages of the employees following a voluntary increase in fares allowed the company by the City of Hamilton. "Hamilton has done the fair thing by the railway company." stated Mr. Halcrow, "and Hamilton now expects this Legislature to do the fair thing by them. The railway company has made money hand over fist. I am utterly opposed to the bill."

J. Walter Curry, practically the only Liberal member of the house to vote against the bill pointed out that the Hamilton Street Railway Company was a subsidiary of the Dominion Power and Transmission Company. He stressed the point that the employees wages had been reduced following the increase of fares and was of the opinion that the bill was entirely unwarranted.

J. A. Pinard although representing the City of Ottawa was strongly in favor of the bill. He stated that he had received a letter from the City Solicitor of Ottawa asking him to oppose the bill but, he stated, he intended not to. "The Railway Board is appointed by this Government and that is the proper place for such disputes to be spired," he stated.

Not Aimed at Hamilton

Robert Cooper the sponsor of the bill decried the fact that his measure was aimed at Hamilton. "I had no such thing in mind," he said. "I have not been in touch with any Street railway company. The idea is to establish some permanent board before which disputes of this nature can be heard. If this bill gave any street railway any special favors the situation would be different. It does not do that, it merely places the issue before the board for determination. No person wants to ride for nothing. I have been opposed to that principle for a long time.'

Mr. Cooper denied that he had a dollar's worth of stock in the company stating, however, that higher fares means better equipment and more safety for the public. He claimed that there were several companies operating cars that should not be permitted as they were not sufficiently safe. In his mind this was the evil of low fares. He claimed that the railway company had a right to make money on their investment in view of the risk they took.

W. F. Nickle and Hon. Walter Rollo, the latter in perhaps his best effort this session also spoke against the measure. On the motion being put it was then last on the above division.

Gas Bill Lost

By a vote of 15 to 26 the bill which would allow the City Gas Company of London to increase the capital stock of their company and increase the rates to $1.55 per thous and less 30 cents for payment within 20 days was lost on division when it reached the Committee stage.

There was no discussion on the bill with the exception of Doctor Stevenson's comment that the situation was practically the same as the Street Railway Bill. The Government, and a few of the Conservatives and Liberals voted against the bill.

Charles Swayze (Niagara Falls), introduced an amendment to the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission Act to enforce the Power Commission to pay taxes on properties taken over by them in Municipalities on the basis of the assessed value when taken over by the Commission. Mr. Swayze pointing out that the City of Niagara Falls was deprived of much revenue in view of the fact that a suitable basis for taxation had not been struck. At the request of Col. Carmichael and Premier Drury the amendment was left over until to-day. At the present time negotiations are under way to clear the situation at Niagara Falls.

The house yesterday afternoon carried the resolution of Thomas Marshall (Lincoln) requesting a return of the house relative to the Rockefeller Foundation gift to the University of Toronto. Mr. Ferguson and Hartley Dewart both expressed the desire that a committee of the house be appointed to investigate into the administration of the University.

FIERY, ITCHING SKIN IS QUICKLY SOOTHED WITH THIS SULPHUR

Mentho-Sulphur, a pleasant cream, will soothe and heal skin that is irritated or broken out with eczema; that is covered with ugly rash or pimples, or is rough or dry. Nothing subdues fiery skin eruptions so quickly, says a noted skin specialist.

The moment this sulphur preparation is applied the itching stops and after two or three applications, the eczema is gone and the skin is delightfully clear and smooth. Sulphur is so precious as a skin remedy because it destroys the parasites that cause the burning, itching or disfigurement. Mentho-Sulphur always heals eczema right up.

A small jar of Mentho-Sulphur may be had at any drug store.

GEDDES SPEECH IS MISREPRESENTED IN U. S. SENATE

British Ambassador Takes Exception to Statements Made By Senator Watson

MERCHANT MARINE.

WASHINGTON, June 7 (Canadian Press). — Sir Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador, feels that his recent public reference to the American merchant marine and other matters referred to by Senator Watson, of Indiana, in his tariff speech in the Senate on Monday, was erroneously described, and has shown to Secretary Hughes a stenographic copy of his address in Chicago.

The State Department possibly may take some steps in the matter.

The Ambassador delivered his speech on 12th March, giving some figures to show the extent of the trade of the United States with Great Britain. He suggested that "the resumption of this foreign trade and the prosperity that comes from it are largely dependent upon the capacity of the British Empire to buy your goods and to pay for them with dollars in America."

STUDY FINGER TIPS TO LEARN OF FUTURE

Berlin Professor Says It Is All Written There.

BERLIN, June 6. — Fingerprints are an indication of individual destiny, according to Prof. Heinrich Pohl, of Berlin. He says that the future of all nations is clearly written on their fingertips. Palmistry has nothing to do with it, he declares; it is only the markings of the finger tips which count. He even predicts that this idea will soon be recognised as an accurate science whereby life insurance companies can tell from fingerprints what will be the insured's career.

One single print of a finger is sufficient to distinguish an individual from any other person who ever lived. In an ordinary fingerprint ther are about 65 different lines, all forming a bewildering pattern of loops and curves. However, each line is an individual characteristic. The chance that one of these characteristics will occur in exactly the same place in another individual is one in a million.

Prof. Pohl bases his assertions on the study of the finger tips of 6,000 individuals, 2,000 of whom were insane. He reports that the same classes of physical types have the same general characteristic lines on their finger tips. Even racial similarities can be observed. Long-lived persons have different tips than short-lived ones. Insane people seem to have a finger tip design all their own.

HEAVY DUTY.

KINGSTON, June 7.—(Canadian Press.)— Some women of Kingston are decidedly indignant over what they claim is the unfair treatment accorded to them by a female customs official upon their return from Cape Vincent on Monday. These ladies claim they were caused the maximum of discomfort in the customs examination and that the duties levied upon their goods, openly declared, seemed out of all proportion to the cost, especially as most of the goods were purchased rather as mementos than as anything else.

FOREST FIRES.

So extensive have the bush fires in Quebec been this spring that the Quebec Government is threatening to close the forests to campers and tourists, believing that the majority of the fires have been caused by carelessness on their part. A cigar or cigarette butt tossed carelessly to one side in the forest, or a camp-fire left burning, may result in a conflagration that will destroy millions of dollars of timber, and perhaps spread to a village or two and cause loss of life as well as of property. Undoubtedly many campers are criminally careless in this respect. They build much bigger fires than are necessary, they are thoughtless in their selection of a site for their fire and some of them fail to take the precaution to see that the last spark is extinguished before leaving. It should be made the rule of every camping party that fires shall be made on the safest site possible and that no sparks or embers are left as a menace to the safety of the surrounding forests. It is only a matter of moments to extinguish a camp-fire, and anybody who does not take that simple precaution is guilty of criminal negligence. In the next few weeks Ontario's forests will be filled with campers. It is hoped that the warning issued by Quebec will not pass unnoticed by them. Important as is the tourist traffic, the protection of our timber resources is even more essential, and campers and sportsmen have a big part to play in saving our forests from destruction.

A VETERAN TEACHER.

The retirement at the end of the present term of Mr. H. A. Yenney, principal of Queen Alexandra School, will remove from the Peterboro teaching staff a gentleman who for many years has been one of the most successful of the city's teachers. Mr. Yenney has served as a principal for twenty-nine years in Peterboro, formerly at the South Central School and in later years presiding over the Queen Alexandra school. His record has been one of strict attention to duty and of pride in his work and in his school. It is difficult to estimate the value of the service he has rendered the cause of education in this city. Certain it is that many a citizen who is now facing life's battles successfully owes much of the credit for the progress he has made to the painstaking methods and the interest shown by Mr. Yenney in the welfare of those whose education was entrusted to his charge. Twenty-nine years in the employ of one Board of Education is a record attained by few teachers, and it is a fine tribute to the retiring principal that he has during all that time not only enjoyed the confidence and respect of his fellow teachers, and of the members of the Board, but he has also held the regard and affection of the pupils over whose studies he has presided. Although Mr. Yenney is no longer to remain on the active list he will have the satisfaction of knowing that his work will live after him, for the mark of his character and knowledge has been left upon hundreds of boys and girls who are the better citizens to-day because Mr. Yenney had charge of their earlier education.

SOME CANOEING "DON'TS."

At Detroit the other day a young man and his sister attempted to change places in a canoe, with the result that might have been expected. The frail craft capsized during the operation, and the two were drowned. As The Examiner pointed out in an article on this subject recently, there is no more pleasing small boat than the canoe when it is handled by experienced paddlers. But changing positions in a canoe, as these two unfortunate young people atempted to do, is as dangerous an experiment as attempting to walk across the Niagara Gorge on a wire. It is well to repeat the warning published a few days ago that there are a few simple precautions that must be taken in the use of a canoe. The accident at Detroit suggests one of the most important "Don't's" in the list:

Don't atempt to change places in a canoe. If a shift is considered desirable, run into shore to make it. It can be done in midstream, but there are much safer places. A few other "Don'ts" that should be remembered are:

Don't suddenly shift your weight to one side.

Don't get too near passing launches or steamers; but if you can't give them a wide berth, be sure to turn the bow of your canoe into the "swells."

Don't, if you are alone in a canoe, attempt to paddle from the stern thwart unless you weigh down the bow.

A LITTLE NONSENSE.

The old saying about "a little nonsense now and then being relished by the wisest men" is of uncertain origin, says The Manitoba Free Press. It is evident that the wisest men have taken this view of life from the beginning. Horace, the Latin poet, expresses the truth, according to an English translation, thus: "Mingle a little folly with your wisdom; a little nonsense now and then is pleasant."

The Hebrews, who represented the Puritanical element in history, put the matter in another way: "There is a time to weep and a time to laugh; a time to mourn and a time to dance."

Shakespeare throws a bit of satire at the man who is always sober-looking and serious in his actions. He describes them as of "such vinegar aspect that they'll not show their teeth in the way of a smile, though Nestor swear the jest be laughable."

Of course, there are those who think the present generation needs no suggestions about nonsense. But even in this pleasure-loving age there are still many good people who take life very soberly and strive to maintain an unvarying record for gravity. They are the ones who need to unbend oftener. The bow should be kept slack most of the time in order to do good work in its course.

A sense of humor is essential for those who mix with their fellow men and would influence them for good. A little play with a baseball bat or even with the tongue has its place in the economy of life. Some ripples of merriment will add interest to the experience of the day.

A DOZEN NEW NURSES.

The management of the Nicholls' Hospital, and the nurses whose graduating exercises took place last night, are alike to be congratulated upon the success of the occasion. It is worthy of note that this year's graduating class is one of the largest in the history of the hospital, a dozen nurses having successfully completed their training. The trained nurse has a most important mission in life, second only to that of the doctor in so far as the health of the community is concerned, so that the graduation of a dozen young women ready to engage in the fight against illness and disease is an event of more than passing interest. Not all of last night's graduates will of course practice their profession in Peterboro, but wherever they locate they will have the solid foundation of their excellent training at Nicholls Hospital upon which to build their career. The local hospital bears an enviable reputation for the thoroughness and efficiency of its nurses' training school, and it is safe to say that its fame in this respect will be enhanced by the members of the graduating class of 1922 to whom the best wishes of the citizens of Peterboro are extended.

THE TAX ON CHEQUES.

The announcement that Ald. Phelan, chairman of the Finance Committee, had discovered a plan by which the city can avoid Hon. Mr. Fielding's new stamp tax on cheques, was applauded by members of the council, and no doubt the ratepayers will not object. It is to be imagined, however, that the news will not be received with rapture at Ottawa. The tax on cheques was imposed of course for one purpose, and one purpose only, the raising of revenue. Mr. Fielding was faced with the task of trying to make income and expenditure balance, and he had to look about him for new sources of revenue. At first blush the increased tax on cheques appeared to be a prolific field for the Finance Minister but it is by no means certain that the taxation may defeat the very object for which it was proposed. The trouble from a revenue-producing standpoint is that the majority of firms and individuals will be busy endeavoring to hit upon schemes by which the tax can be circumvented. The action of the local council will be followed by other municipal governments and it is to be imagined that the revenue that will be obtained from this source will not come close to reaching the figure that Hon. Mr. Fielding anticipated when he decided upon the increased taxation. The Financail Post hits the nail on the head when it declares that the great difficulty is that by exacting such a tax the government is really puting a premium on the discovery of workable schemes to get around it, and in such cases, if the reward is high enough, the scheme will usually be forthcoming. The Peterboro Council furnishes a concrete proof of the truth of this statement.

NEW CANADIANS.

The attention of Canadians as a whole is being drawn again, and with much added force, to the problem of the immigrant. Coincident with this, attention is also drawn to the ever-present situation that every day, every week, there is a steady exodus of the very best of our young men, Canadian born, of British parentage, filled with Canadian ideals, from the country to the cities. Their places are filled by those coming into the country—and there comes the problem. British Columbia answers by Orientals, Japanese, Chinese, and, in small numbers, Hindus. Manitoba answers by U. S. farmers, for the most part of a high type, but with political and industrial affiliations with the country from which they came. Ontario answers by immigrants from Southern Europe and Quebec finds that even the French-Canadian—in the cities—finds competition at his elbow from similar races. The problem of population is undoubtedly one of the most pressing facing the Government.

It is recognized by almost every organization that Canada must be kept a country for Canadians and by that they mean Canadians Anglo-Saxon by birth, tradition, upbringing, with the spirit of Anglo-Saxon democracy filling their very veins through inheritance. Yet steadily from those veins is drained the best of our young men, who flock to the larger centres with all their attractions, including the strongest one at present of steady employment. To take their places come a few Britishers, but for the most part the members of races with a lower standard of life, a lower esteem for authority, a lower ideal of nationality, a distinctly lesser moral standard, or, worse still, representatives of Oriental races whose ingrained characteristics are such that assimiliation can never be brought about.

There is little danger of annexation of Canada by force of arms or political trickery. There is, however, a distinct danger from "peaceful penetration." It is within the memory of the majority of citizens when there first came to Brantford an Oriental citizen. There was a time when British or Canadian born Anglo-Saxons were at the heads of all local establishments, employing British or Canadian born residents. Today there are certain commercial lines in Brantford in which hardly a British subject, unless he has been naturalized, can be found in employment.

This is not a plea for the total elimination of the Oriental. He came legally, with the full support of this country, to earn an honest living where opportunities were greater than in his own land where millions daily live within reach of starvation, and are often overtaken. But it is a plea for consideration of the immigration problem from another angle, the angle of retention rather than that of selection or immigration. Why not try to keep our own boys in their native land, to further augment the generations of Anglo-Saxon stock? Why not endeavor to stem the flood-tide which is carrying the very cream of our citizenship to the Great Republic where they are eagerly welcomed and soon swallowed up? Retention, together with careful selection, should be the keynote of the country's policy. With our own youth to supply the moral backbone, there can safely be a policy of selective immigration of assimilative races which would bring new blood to leaven the whole but not to result in national blood poisoning.—Brantford Expositor.

APSLEY NEEDS A BOARD OF TRADE.

Advantages of Northern Outpost Brought Out in Debate.

APSLEY, June 7. — On Saturday evening the programme for the A. Y.P.A. meeting was a debate entitled "What is Apsley best adapted for?—How can we advertise the village best?" When the meeting opened the attendance was the slimmest since its inauguration, comprising only a baker's dozen. Mr. C. A. G. Spence in announcing the subject for debate facetiously remarked that from the interest manifested by the villagers, as demonstrated by the attendance, he thought that Apsley was best adapted for a Home of Rest for old and young. Mr Roy Brown in opening the debate gave a very concise description of Apsley as a summer resort, describing its attractions in regard to scenery and fishing and hunting advantages, which are unsurpassed.

Mr. Spence concurred and advocated the formation of a board of trade, a publicity committee, who would finance the publishing of a brochure describing Apsley's attractions in those respects for distribution in the States.

Mrs. Downing demurred on the grounds that there was not sufficient accommodation in the village for tourists, a difficulty that could be met, according to Mrs. Spence, by extending the present boarding houses by additions in building and finding accommodations in farm houses.

Wilbert Johnston agreed that Apsley was a good centre for summer tourists but also claimed that the village geographically was well adapted as a centre for a high school—a very sensible suggestion that did great credit to him. The discussion brought out the fact that the government regulations require that any person purchasing a lot on any of the lakes in this district must within a certain period erect a house worth $800, a condition that is positievly a hardship in this country and would arrest development. The debate brought out some good material and what the meeting lacked in numbers it made up in intellect. It transpired later that the reason of the slim attendance was an impromptu dance in the town hall arranged by the men who came from the Jacks Lake camp for the week end.

Buy Your Tires on a Business Basis

WHICH COST LESS—tires that give thousands of miles of motoring pleasure—or—tires that finally "blow themselves" after a few hundred miles of irritation and trouble?

WHICH COST LESS—sturdy, dependable, easy-riding tires that take you where you want to go, whether the road be smooth or rough, hard or soft, wet or dry, hot or icy—or—tires that have to be cemented and patched, nursed and doctored, and become bandaged cripples after their first few hundred miles?

Buy your tires on a business basis. Don't count first cost only. DOMINION TIRES give the lowest mileage cost—insure fewer tire troubles—and prices to-day average one-third less than pre-war prices.

DOMINION TIRES are better than ever, and are recognized by motorists as the standard by which to judge tire values and tire service.

NORWOOD MOTOR DRIVERS FREED.

Visiting Norwood Men in Montreal Exonerated of Blame in Death of Longshoreman.

MONTREAL, June 7.—The death of Ernest Haggart, longshore man, who was knocked down and killed by an automobile on St. Lawrence boulevard near the corner of Lagauchetiere street at 10:40 last night was due to an accident, a jury under Coroner McMahon, decided yesterday.

The driver of the automobile and his three companions, strangers in the city, who had arrived here Monday from Norwood, Ontario, were exonerated from all blame.

The inquest was completed before the body was identified, the jury deciding the strangers did everything possible to avoid the accident.

Several members of the Longshoremans Union saw the body and gave the morgue authorities the dead man's name. None knew his age or address. They stated that he was a fellow member of the Longshoremen's Union.

Haggart was knocked down by an automobile containing four men as he was crossing St. Lawrence boulevard. The occupants of the Automobile later asked a citizen to direct them to a police station and were driven to detective headquarters, where they were held pending an investigation. They were released following the jury's verdict.

The party consisted of Thomas Ridyard, of Norwood, James Ridyard, his brother, who lives in Peterboro Ont., Richard Kirk and Hugh Adams of Norwood.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION AT BETHEL CHURCH.

Large Attendance Hears Interesting and Instructive Address By Leading District S. S. Workers.

WARSAW, June 7.—A very interesting Sunday School convention was held at Bethel Church, Tuesday, afternoon and evening.

At the afternoon session, after the opening hymn, prayer by Rev. Mr. Weir and reading of Scripture lesson by Mr. Herman Payne, superintendent of Bethel Sunday School, the minutes of the last meeting and the business meeting, also the financial statement, were adopted as read.

Reports of township superintendents were read. No reports came from the Home Department nor from the Teachers' Training Department. Only four schools in the township—Warsaw Methodist and Presbyterian, Cotessloe Presbyterian and 9th Line Union, held in the brick school-house—were kept open all year. Bethel was re-opened some time ago and Zion last Sunday. No report came from Centre Dummer, but it is believed they are working again. Warsaw Baptists have not had Sunday School since the regular minister left. While it was in operation every child who should attend Sunday School did and every one old enough to be a member belonged to the church.

Ninth Line Sunday School had the largest representation at the convention. It is the largest school, but it had the farthest to come.

Rev. Mr. Fletcher, the department speaker of the day, gave an earnest and helpful talk. He said that some townships have had many conventions; Pellman 57 consecutive ones. He also deplored that churches have been and are being built without regard to children. He spoke very strongly of religious education. While the old methods did good work in their time, the age is advancing and Sunday Schools need new methods now. There are vast differences among children of different ages and different dispositions, and these differences must be considered, he said.

Mesdames Taylor and Wasson sang "God's Way is the Best Way."

Mr. Herman Payne spoke of the need of teachers and of co-operation.

Mr. T. Patterson also spoke of the need of teachers and of Christian teachers.

Rev. G. Graham gave an excellent address on "Service." He said we cannot be free if we are indifferent to the greatest things in life, and we must be alert and ready for any emergency. The church that emphasizes child-care counts for most.

Mr. Henry Batten sang the verses of a hymn and all joined in the chorus.

At the Round Table.

At the round table conference Rev. Mr. Fletcher answered several questions. One was about separating the boys and girls. He advised to keep the little beginners together until about 13 years of age, but, by all means, no matter how small the classes, have children separated from the ages of about 13 and upwards, and if at all possible, have men to teach the boys and women the girls. Of course, he said, it is wise to have a men's Bible class and a women's Bible class. To another question he insisted that little folk need illustrations of some kind.

Officers Nominated.

The Nominating Committee, composed of the President, Secretary and one representative from each Sunday School, met immediately after the session. The following officers were nominated: President, Mrs. David Miller; Vice-President, Mr. Thomas Patterson; Secretary, Mr. James Hawthorne; Children's Division, Mrs. W. Wasson; Boys' Department, Mr. Henry Batten; Girls' Department, Mrs. Geo. Taylor; Adult Department, Mrs. E. Hamblin; Home Department, Mrs. John Gardiner; teacher training, Rev. G. F. Weir; Missionary, Mrs. John Crowe; temperance, Mrs. Wm. Forsythe.

The next meeting will be held in Warsaw Methodist Church.

Between sessions refreshments were served by the ladies of Bethel Church.

At the evening session, after the opening prayer by Rev. Mr. Rich of Norwood and reading of Scripture by Rev. Mr. Weir, the officers were received. Then Mr. Weir gave an all-too-short address on "Reverence."

Bethel choir sang "All Day Long," and Rev. Mr. Rich of Norwood spoke stirringly on "Worship."

Zion male quartette followed with a very acceptable vocal selection, and Rev. Mr. Fletcher gave an instructive discourse on how to keep boys and girls of 'teen age at Sunday School. Eighty-six per cent. of the young people who leave Sunday School and neglect church are boys, he said. Why do these boys go? Not that they are less religious than girls. They simply have not been led as the girls have. The boys have not been led to worship God. Sunday School, he declared, is not enticing for the boy; the monotony of a set programme palls on him. It is not necessary that a boy should sow wild oats, concluded this speaker, and a great responsibility rests with parents and teachers to train for and win over to both Sunday School and church the young folk entrusted to their care.

After the Bethel male quartette gave a selection, the session was closed, with prayer and benediction by Rev. G. Weir.

Enough Natural Gas To Supply All Peterboro!

Within ten miles of Peterborough are deposits of natural gas sufficient to supply all the needs of the city and surrounding country. Some of these deposits lie almost on the outskirts of the city and all of them of any importance are under lease by Central Ontario Oil Fields, Limited (No Personal Liability).

Think of it! Millions of cubic feet of natural gas rushing out of the bowels of the earth to be supplied to the city and district at a cost that, compared with the profits, would be almost negligible!

It is to accomplish this and to place its rich oil-bearing properties on a paying basis that we are offering 100,000 shares of the stock of this Company at $2.00 each. With the capital thus obtained it will be able to effect the development of the natural gas deposits in this district and to purchase the equipment necessary to place the Kerwood oil field, where two wells are down already, on a basis of profitable production.

This all-Canadian company has blazed the way into the oil and gas fields of Central Ontario and now stands ready to reap the stupendous profits which accrue to the pioneers in every great oil field. This is your opportunity to get in the ground floor of a great development work in which the possibilities of enormous profits are unparalleled. Fill in the attached subscription form for whatever amount you can afford and mail it TO-DAY. Such an opportunity to realize large returns from a small investment may never again come your way.

OUR RECOMMENDATION

We control and offer for sale 100,000 Shares at $2.00, and subscriptions will be received in any amounts.

This offering by us is made only after the most careful consideration and investigation. Our decision to offer this investment is based on the belief that this Company will enjoy an unusual degree of prosperity.

The reports of geologists and all other information regarding this Company can be inspected at our Offices, or will be mailed on request.

WOULD ARM PUBLIC TO KILL CRIMINAL.

J. N. Hayes Assails the Sullivan Act Before the American Bar Association Committee.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Failure of citizens to insist on law enforcement and compel the police and other public officials to do their duty is one of the important factors in the crime wave, according to J. Noble Hayes, Chairman of the Law's Delays Committee ot the County Lawyers' Association, who addressed the Law Enforcement Committee of the American Bar Association.

Mr. Hayes opposed the Sullivan law and said that he favored arming all citizens. He said he believed criminals caught red-handed and who tried to escape should be shot down by the police or citizens.

Exhibitions of lawlessness by public officials were declared bad examples which aggravated the increasing disrespect for the law. The burglary and theft of private records in order to build up a case against a defendant were offenses which had been committed within recent years on behalf of the Department of Justice, according to the speaker.

In connection with the Ward case, the speaker said that the reports that a public official had announced he intended to invade the Ward home without a search warrant and did so invade it against the protest of the family, were extreme instances of disregard of law by public officials.

"I do not agree with some of the suggestions which have been made here," said Mr. Hayes. "I think it would be a great mistake to cut down the salutary rules of evidence which now safeguard the right of a defendant and insure him a fair trial."

"One trouble is," interposed Judge Marcus Kavanagh of Chicago, one of the members of the committee, "that there are too many innocent men in prison and too many guilty men on the streets."

Mr. Hayes attacked motion pictures for glorifying desperadoes and making crime look profitable and attractive. The old nickel and dime novels, which were condemned in their day for putting haloes on criminals, were insignificant in their bad effect in comparison with the motion pictures.

Neighborhood committees for the enforcement of law in their own neighborhoods and to make sure that the police did their duty in those neighborhoods, were urged. The need of citizen activities in support of the police and public officials was stressed also by Frederick Whitin of the Committee of Fourteen. He said the Police Department of this city had repressed vice with a strong hand.

"The committee's experience has been that public officials are anxious to do their duty, but that it is difficult for them to do so, in the absence of public support," he said. A volunteer law enforcement committee of citizens might have the same success in checking general crime, Mr. Whitin added, that the Committee of Fourteen has had, in co-operating with the police for the improvement of moral conditions.

GOT SO WEAK HE COULD HARDLY PULL HIS SAW

Winnipeg Carpenter Declares He Just Had to Get Relief From Stubborn Stomach Trouble or Quit Work—Takes Tanlac and Now Feels Fine.

"Tanlac has certainly done a lot for me," said Alfred Williams, well-known carpenter of 488 Sherbrooke St., Winnipeg, Man.

"About a year ago my appetite went back on me and I got run down and all out of sorts. I lost weight, strength and energy right along and somedays I did not care whether I worked or not. Towards the close of the day I got so weak I could hardly saw a piece of wood. I had indigestion so bad I was miserable all the time and I saw I would have to get relief or quit work.

"As Tanlac was doing my wife so much good I began taking it too. Well, four bottles have made me feel like myself again. I am eating like a horse and all signs of indigestion are gone. There's something about Tanlac that certainly does the work."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

CHAPTER LVI

PETTING FAILS

When the fox scarf I had bought on impulse was delivered it did not seem as choice as it ought to have been for the price.

I wanted to ask Jack to return it for me or exchange it. I hate to take back my hasty purchases myself.

But I could see he didn't like making exchanges any better than I.

One morning he reminded me very gently of it.

Remembering this, I put the fox stole away in a drawer. I'd keep it. It would be so nice for the motor trip. Jack certainly would want me to have it.

With a charge account it's easy to pick up novelties and have them delivered, easier far than to explain why you have bought them.

Never can I forget the affair of the alabaster lamps.

We needed a lamp to give just the right feeling to our living-room. So I went shopping for something cheap and artistic. I found just the thing, a Roman lamp in what looked like carved alabaster. I knew it would suit Jack's classic taste. Unfortunately, there were a pair of them—at $83.50.

I simply could not resist them. I had them delivered.

Jack didn't even smile when he saw them! He didn't even ask the price! He didn't seem interested—just patient!

I tried to cheer Jack up with fussing and petting, a regular mush party.

And for the first time that thing fell flat!

"Don't you like the lamps, dear?" I asked desperately.

"Splendid!" was his brief comment.

"If you don't like them, you can take them back," I suggested.

My husband shook his head, said nothing. His gesture, his silence irritated me.

"I can guess what you're thinking," I went on. "About your mother. Once she told me she made it a practice never to return things, that she had positive ideas about what she wanted and what she didn't want. And I guess I'm one of the things she didn't want!"

"Peggins! Don't! Why, I was not thinking about my mother's ways, dear! I was wondering if you'd keep on loving me, if I turned out a failure, financially, I mean. I'm not earning enough dear. You ought to have more——"

Again I tried petting for consolation. Jack accepted it passively. And, somehow, I felt awfully hurt. It's a misfortune for a girl to be sensitive.

Argentina To Make Park Of Mesozic Playground

BUENOS AIRES, June 7.—Snow-capped mountains, glaciers, azure lakes, tumbling rivers and foaming cascades are among the beauties of a great national park which the Argentine Government has just set aside from public lands in Patagonia, which recently was revived in public interest as the home of the Plesiosaurus, that monster of the Mesozoic age which never was captured.

The park has an area of nearly 2,000,000 acres. It is situated mostly in the territory of Neuquen, on the Chilean border and takes in foot hills and mountains of the Andes, including some of the volcanic peaks. A third of it has been explored.

In the centre of it lies a lake as large as Lake Champlain, called Nahauel Huapi, over which tower majestic mountains and offering a marvellous panorama of scenery. Dozens of other lakes, large and small, lie cupped among the valleys, some of which have probably never been disturbed even by the paddle of an Indian canoe. The region has been described as one of the most enchanting but little known parts of the world.

The park will soon be approachable by a state railroad, almost completed, which will terminate at Bariloche. Already, however, the beauty of the scenery and the spirit of adventure have for some years been attracting travellers to the region who have not been discouraged by long horseback or rough automobile journey necessary to get there. Now, chalets, hotels, automobile roads and bridle paths are being planned for the park to accommodate the flow of tourists which is expected with the completion of the railroad.

RUSSIA SUFFERS FOR MACHINERY.

Badly Needed to Build Up Her Industries.

MOSCOW, June 7.—(Associated Press).—Russia needs a vast amount of machinery and other material for the upbuilding of her industries, but instead of a flood, the incoming streams of supplies are tiny and hardly make any impression on the actual needs of the country. Had the Genoa Conference agreed upon an international loan to help Russia conditions in this regard might be much more favorable today, it is pointed out, but as it is Soviet officials are saying: "A little water is welcome in a desert."

Up to the present time the German-Russian agreement signed at Genoa has not been followed by any great economic co-operation between the two countries. Nevertheless, German salesmen, German experts and German scouts for German capitalists are arriving in Moscow in constantly increasing numbers. Every train from Riga brings dozens of them, and they are scattering to the four corners of Russia to buy, or sell, or build, or just look around. Some of them return to Germany disgusted with business chances. Others stay and do business.

Foreign money is coming into Russia in driblets, and foreign industrialists, particularly German, are accepting concessions with a measure of control by the Bolshevik Government.

Herr F. Shottack, charge d'affairs of the German mission at Petrograd, has announced in The Isvestia that a Russo-German Chamber of Commerce is to be organized at Petrograd.

"Germany," he said, "will give Russia technical help. I am of the opinion that Russia and Germany can re-establish their economic life by their own efforts."

This feeling of Herr Shotteck is shared by many Soviet officials with whom the correspondent has talked. They never had much hope, after they learned that America would not participate in Genoa, that they could expect any immediate economic help from the Allies.

The Russian Foreign Trade Department and the Supreme Economic Council discontinued many negotiations with individuals seeking concessions or endeavoring to make sales, while the Genoa Conference was in session. These negotiations are now to be renewed.

CURED OF KNEE TROUBLE

Trenton, Ont., May, 19th 1922
To the Gallagher Remedy Co.,
Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sirs:— About three years ago last February I was injured in the knee while working with others filling the C.P.R. ice house at Trenton, Ont. After being doctored for a time, I thought I was able to go to work again, but the trouble returned and for three years I was unable to get around except on a crutch. I have been in three hospitals under the treatment of Specialists At Toronto three weeks, at Ottawa two months and at Brockville five and a half months. In two hospitals I was worse off when I came out than when I entered and at none of them was I helped.

On February 7th., your agent, W. S. Jones, called at my house and after making enquiries left a bottle of your Golden Drops and told how to apply it. My wife followed directions and I began to improve. I used two bottles and am able to get around nicely without crutch or cane and without pain. I would like a job now at some light work that I may earn some money, for I spent since my injury $2,500.00 up to the 7th of February, the day your agent called and $1.00 since for two bottles of Golden Drops.

The Beautiful Linens

From the "Old Bleach" Mills. Have You Seen Them?

How wonderful the gift of Linen, and especially if it is of the reliable "Old Bleach" quality! There is certainly no other make so good or so handsomely patterned.

An opportune shipment of these Linens came to us the other day, and now we are in a favorable position to supply the requirements of the June bride and her friends. There are too many interesting pieces for you to allow this opportunity to pass without inspecting them.

Have You Seen— Have You Heard of the Beautiful Summer Frocks in the Redfern Store?

Your quest is a Dress—something light and airy, something new and pretty. You haven't decided whether it is to be of organdy, dotted Swiss, a combination of both, voile, gingham and organdy, or just plain gingham. You want to inspect a collection of all of them before you make a decision. If we have described the state of mind that you find yourself in, then we advise that you come to The Redfern Store. There are many charming Frocks there, in all the above mentioned materials, and we believe you will heartily endorse the prices.

Those Who Are Partial to Dotted Swiss Muslin, Will Find—a beautiful number in golden hue, or you can have it in black and white. It has a hemstitched inset band of white organdy just below the narrow white girdle that bows at the back. On both the girdle and the band is a colored floral garniture. The short sleeves have white organdy cuffs and the round collar divided at the shoulders is the same. Even the hem receives attention and is bound with white. Priced at $15.95.

TO THE LOVER OF FRILLY THINGS we commend this one with its white organdy skirt, on which are no less than ten rows of dotted Swiss frills, (mauve or tomato) spaced apart and showing alternate rows of white and color. The white organdy girdle, of course, bows at the back, the long white tuxedo collar edged with a frill of the Swiss has tapered to a point by the time it reaches the girdle and the sleeves are cuffed with white organdy. Price, $18.75.

SEA-FOAM GREEN DOTTED SWISS. How pleasant and restful it sounds! We can assure you that the frock does not belie the suggestion. The skirt front is perfectly plain, but there are side panels of white organdy with spaced out frills of the Swiss. The bodice is prettied with a long white organdy collar that tapers to a point. The short sleeves have cuffs of white organdy edged with lace. It's a pretty picture, is it not? Surely worth $15.95.

OTTAWA, June 7.— (Canadian Press.)—The quality of eggs arriving is poorer and specials and extras are becoming more scarce. There will be a wider spread in prices between higher and the lower grades as the season advances. Some of the large operators in Ontario are only offering 21 to 22 to producers and stores while others are quoting from 23 to 25.

Toronto unchanged.

Montreal demand fair, prices steady, extras 34, firsts 31, seconds 28. Poultry export demand good, chickens and broilers 30 to 40, turkeys 42 to 48, ducks 32 to 38.

Prairie Provinces and British Columbia unchanged.

Prince Edward Island country points 26 to 28, retail Charlottetown extra 32, firsts 30, straight receipts 28.

CASH GRAIN.

MONTREAL, June 7.—(Canadian Press.— Local cash grain market was weaker yesterday at a decline of half a cent to one cent per bushel. There was nothing new in the flour situation. The condition of the mill feed market was unchanged. The rolled oats market was quiet. A steady trade is passing in baled hay. Prices of eggs are down one cent per dozen. The potato market was dull. Prices in butter are being maintained.

The tone of the cheese market is firm.

CHICAGO WHEAT.

CHICAGO, June 7.—(Canadian Press.)—Although the wheat market here showed firmness the greater part of the time yesterday, prices gave way at the last owing largely to reports of British offers to re-sell wheat at two cents less than Chicago was asking. The close here was heavy at 1 3-8 to 3c. net lower, with July and September both at $1.12 to $1.12 1-8. Corn finished unchanged to 3-8c. lower; oats 3-8c off, to 1-4c. advance, and provisions up 12 to 62c.

CROP REPORTS

Following is a summary of reports made by the agricultural representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

Fruit prospects are on the whole excellent. The summer and fall varieties of apples have set well in nearly every section, and large yields are expected, especially where the orchards have been well taken care of. Later sorts, such as Baldwins and Spies, are not likely to yield much, but Greenings are promising better.

Pears and plums will be fair to good in yield, and so will cherries where the brown rot has not attacked the fruit, as in Lincoln.

Peaches are likely to be generous in yield should the season continue favourable, although there are some complaints of leaf curl.

Strawberries and all bush fruits, except raspberries, are promising good yields. The raspberries suffered more or less from winter-killing.

The cut worm appears to be more injurious than ever to truck and general garden crops, as complaints come from both the east and west regarding the presence of this pest.

Fall wheat and clover are looking better than two or three weeks ago, but rain is needed to carry them forward. Cutting is expected to be earlier than usual this year.

Spring grains, which received so fine a start, are also needing the showers.

Elgin says that sweet clover will be ready to cut next week. One man in Grey has ordered 100 caps for his sweet clover haycocks. He believes that if this crop is cut at the proper time, left in the field for about two weeks in the cock, and covered well with hay caps, that he will have a feed which will be equal to any grown.

Alfalfa is also looking well, and will be cut next week by many.

Essex and Kent report that a large acreage of tomatoes has been set out, and that they are away to a good start with favourable weather. Essex says that in some instances the tomatoes are displacing tobacco.

It is the general opinion that more oats will be put in than was sown last year.

A good deal of corn, mangels, and turnips have been got in during the last week or two, and are likely to do well if rain will soon come.

Wellington has the following to say regarding flax: "I have not seen nor heard of one single pound of flax being sown anywhere, except what is being mixed with barley and oats, which is becoming quite a common practice in Weddington Co. Farmers more and more are beginning to mix flax with mixed oats and barley to improve the quality of the chop fed to the cattle the following winter."

Middlesex states that during the past week some farmers from the Old Land have been looking over the district with a view to purchasing land.

Bruce declares that owing to the fine condition of early pastures cattle are getting into better condition sooner than usual.

Dufferin states that cattle are selling at around 9 1-2c a pound, and reports fewer beef animals on hand than at this time last year.

Milkers and springers are selling at from $50.00 to $60.00 in Leeds. Good milch cows in the Kenora district are bringing $80.00.

Condensery prices for milk are holding up well in Elgin, making it hard for cheese factories to compete.

Lennox and Addington state that five branches of the Belleville Creamery made 58,660 pounds of butter during the past week. Many cheese factories are skimming the milk and shipping the cream, which accounts for the great increase in the manufacture of butter.

Prices for hogs range from $13.00 to $13.70 a cwt., and are bringing out a larger number of animals than was expected.

Small pigs are bringing from $8.00 to $10.00 each in the Port Arthur district. Essex reports a heavy mortality among young pigs at littering; in some cases they were destroyed by the sows.

Elgins says that lambs weighing from 60 to 70 pounds were bringing from $8.00 to $10.00 each, and Leeds states that lambs weighing from 40 to 50 pounds were selling at from $6.00 to $7.00.

MUSIC IS NOW THEIR CONSOLATION

ODESSA, June 7.—(Associated Press)—Music, once the joy of the people of Russia, is now their consolation. They hunger for bread, and they long also for music to make their unhappy days more bearable.

In passing the unlighted streets of the cities of the lower Volga, the stranger is often guided by piano music bursting upon the darkness. Walking a early morning through the streets of Astrakhan, little boys and girls, often refugees, may be seen at the open windows, at practice thrumming on dilapidated pianos At the dreary stations, during the long waits, people sing. This kindly talented people turn to music for comfort as unconciously as a distressed child to its mother.

They have no post-war music, no jazz and pep and buzz-saw composition. Theirs are the old, old songs of love lost, of the bitter-sweet of happiness gone, of the prisoner in his cell, of the "shadow o'er the heart."

Here in Odessa, by the Black Sea, there is and has been opera, good opera, for several dreadful years. The fields outside the city are bare, the cemeteries are full, and new ones gape for more bodies each day. No home, no city, no war, no battlefield knows such sadness. The singers on the stage are hungry, so are the scene shifters; the musicians are hungry and so is the audience.

Yet each evening, through the darkening streets, thousands take their souls to the doors of the handsome opera house, thousands whose bodies are ragged with old clothes, whose stomachs are as empty as the fields, but whose hearts yet respond to the magic of music.

The operas are sometimes those of Italy—"Tosca" and "La Traviata" but more often Russian. Pushkin, the famous poet, graced the city with his residence for many years, and so operas are made his stories are liked, "Mazeppa" among others. One favorite is "Dobrovsky" the tragedy of a bandit, libretto by Punshkin, music by Naprovniki This opera has a fine romance, a duet in the third act, when lovers sing and promise to be "always true, always the same' This refrain especially touches the audience. One remarks it by a set stillness, rather than by tears.

The opera over, the singers and the men back stage slip homewards; the people file out like shadows through the gloom of the streets, the lights of the building drop away, the mists roll in from the sea, and darkness, and silence and the unburied possess Odessa again

Bowls of thick black glass, with and without standards, are very popular receptacles for holding flowers on the dining table.

PICK YOUR ART SCHOOL ERE YOU PAINT YOUR FACE

BY MARIAN HALE

Most people admit they do not care for art because they do not understand it

To appreciate any picture, you know, it helps wonderfully to have some idea what the artist tried to express

And, in the same way, it seems one might withhold judgment of the painted face of today until one understands what the woman underneath has tried to say!

The various types of facial art naturally fall into certain schools, it seems There are the old master group, the poster group, the futurists, impressionists, pastel artists and realists.

Old Master Style.

The old master effect is the very latest thing in makeup. Paris has sponsored it for some time. To achieve it, you abandon rouge entirely, but equip yourself with a goodly supply of dark yellow powder.

You cover the entire exposed portion of the face thickly with yellow powder until you have a nice dull brown, mat effect.

Then, with a dark lipstick, outline the mouth carefully. In this way you achieve sort of an uncolored mellowed look that is strongly reminiscent of old masters.

Poster School.

Exactly opposite in technique and feeling is the work of the poster school. The disciples of this group always aim to looks like the covers on the best selling magazines.

They stress white skins, pink cheeks, red lips, penciled eyes and beaded lashes They do not look like nice healthy milkmaids. They really represent the conservative element, for they follow the type that stood the test of time.

Futurist Method.

The futurists see no particular reason evidently why the makeup should not add certain fantastic element.. Frequently they make up only part of the mouth and do quite different things on each side of the face. They make conventional patterns with wisps of hair and can make the eye look three times its normal size.

Impressionists.

The real impressionist should never be viewed nearer than 20 feet. She distributes her makeup about as thickly as the impressionist

EXAMPLES OF THE LEADIN G SCHOOLS OF FACE-PAINTING ART. PICK YOUR OWN STYLE.

But sometimes, across a room, she is amazing.

Pastel Group.

The pastel group achieves a varicolored effect, and it must be admited that the face sometimes looks like a batik. But often, too, it is strangely lovely.

This group should have red hair and green eyes. This gives a good color foundation. Then add blue or lavender under the eyes, a pale pink on the cheeks and a deeper rose on the lips, and there you are—a study in pastels.

Realist's Ideal

The realist lets her face stand as is. If nature gave her a nose with luminous qualities, or she is deficient in eyebrows or short on color, she does not alter the situation with her mirror and vanity case.

However, this group is decidedly in the minority and it may soon be extinct.

Her Family "Approves"

But "Gold Coast" Gasps at Bobbed Hair Fiance

CHICAGO, June 7.—The aristocratic and wealthy family of Helen Louise Walker has made another inspection of her bobbed-haired fiance, Stanislaw Szukalski, son of a Polish blacksmith and "apostle of the new art" in sculpture. He arrived Sunday from New York.

Stanislaw, in spite of his flowing locks, be-ribboned tam-o-shanter and baggy trousers—all of which he continued to affect in strange contrast with the luxurious Walker apartment on Chicago's "gold coast,"—apparently has passed the inspection, as there has been no indication of parental objection, and the marriage, it is understood, will take place soon.

"It will be the quietest kind of a wedding," declared Miss Walker, who is a close pal of Mary Landon Baker and was to have been Mary's only attendant at one of the elaborately planned occasions when she left Allister McCormiek "waiting at the church."

Wedding Day Near.

Miss Walker denied the wedding would take place this week. "Not unless I change my mind," she said, intimating, however, that the day was near.

"I don't know anything about the details of the wedding, except that there won't be many details—just as quiet as possible, and only a few people. We shall go to Canada for a honeymoon and then we will return to New York. I am not going to make any elaborate preparations. Of course, I intend to go on with my work in art."

Art was the occasion of the first meeting of the couple. Their romance sprang and budded in Greenwich Village, New York, where Szukalski was in his element in "individualism," and for many years his motto has been:

"I detest civilization and all its ways."

This attitude was recognized by Sir Rabindranath Tagore, India's mystic poet, who, on meeting Szukalski, immediately asked him to come to India, because, he explained, to others "he is not yet civilized."

Recognized as Genius.

Many artists and critics have recognized Szukalski as a genius His sculptures led the van of the futuristic and impressionistic, but he has always been given high honors for certain symmetry and accuracy of line which other artists of his tribe have failed to attain.

This is the first opportunity the Walkers have had to see their daughter's choice. Their 'gold coast" neighbors, following the arrival of such a bizarre appearing figure to claim Miss Walker's hand, are reported to be all of a twitter.

TO MAKE THREE BOXES OF BERRIES FROM TWO.

Dealers Take Advantage of Different Sized Containers

OTTAWA, June 7.—Given favorable climatic and soil conditions with a little cultivation, the strawberry has been known from time immemorial as an abundant bearing plant, but the recent experience of a number of Ottawa housewives would indicate that there are dealers who can improve on nature and "plant" two berries where one grew. A close scrutiny on the part of some purchasers of the luscious little red fruit has brought to light what appears to be a case of sharp practice. The whole trouble hinges around what is considered a high price for a small-sized box of strawberries.

Investigation has revealed that so long as there is a disparity in the standards of American and Canadian berry boxes, the trouble will persist, and until Parliament enacts legislation which will overcome the anomaly in the sizes of the containers, the consumers will have to make the best of the situation. Imported strawberries come to Canada in the American standard box, which is larger than the Canadian standard box. The American berry box has a content of 67.2 cubic inches, while the Canadian box has a content of 55.5 cubic inches. The difference of 11.7 cubic inches in the standards of the American and Canadian boxes is at present the cause of the whole trouble. It is not noticeable to the average consumer unless he scrutinizes his purchase closely.

Some unscrupulous dealers have seized upon the difference in the sizes of the boxes to increase their turnover on sales by transferring the berries from the American boxes to Canadian boxes, and selling them at a lower price than the American boxes are sold. Cases are reported where a handsome profit is being reaped by dealers taking the contents of two larger American boxes and filling three smaller-sized Canadian boxes. They can afford to sell the Canadian boxes "shop-filled" at a lower price than the berries in the original American container and reap a handsome profit. Retail grocers throughout the city who sell the berries in their original containers have been suffering from the unfair competition due to the fact that all consumers do not readily discern the difference in the sizes of the American and Canadian boxes.

Mr. C. W. Baxter, the Dominion Fruit Commissioner, when questioned regarding the practice of transferring berries from the American standard containers to the Canadian container, stated that the inspectors of the fruit branch of the Department of Agriculture were specifically instructed to keep on the lookout for violations of the act amending the Inspection and Sale Act. The fruit branch had jurisdiction over Canadian berries at points of shipment and sale, and inspectors were instructed to report all infringements of the act, such as under-filling, with a view of prosecuting the violators. The clauses of the act governing sale and packing of fruits such as strawberries read:

"No person shall sell, or offer, expose or have in his possession for sale, at original point of shipment, any fruit in any package unless such package is well and properly filled.

"No person shall sell, or offer, expose or have in his possession for sale, any fruit in any package that has been repacked, unless such package is well and properly filled."

Frequent inspections are being made by fruit branch officials to insure that the packages or containers are properly filled or refilled.

CANADIAN FORD PAYS DIVIDENDS

Two Fifteen Per Cent. "Splits" Expected

NEW YORK, June 6.—Two fifteen per cent. cash dividends may be expected by the stockholders of the Ford Motor Company of Canada during 1922, it is predicted in a special dispatch to the Wall Street Journal from Detroit. The approach of June 15, the date on which the company last year paid a 15 per cent. cash dividend, has led to much speculation as to this year's situation, the dispatch declares.

It is expected that results for the current fiscal year, ending July 31, will show material improvement over the preceding year, the Wall Street Journal continues. "The company has maintained an almost uniform production of more than 200 cars a day since December 1921, the greater part of the time turning out 225 a day. While from December 1920, to December 1921, production averaged about 150 a day. The increase in the current fiscal year, it is estimated, will bring the total out put to 60,000 cars against 46, 832 in the preceding fiscal year."

On the estimated 60,000 production the paper declares, there should be a net profit of about $4,000,000 "The company has no prescribed dividend policy," says the dispatch "Nothing official has been given out but on the basis of past performances at least two 15 per cent. cash distributions in 1922 are expected."

KING SOLOMON AND HIS CARPET OF MAGIC QUALITY

The story of Prince Ahmed tells how the magic carpet of Tangu would transport any one who sat on it to the place he wished to reach.

Its counterparts appear in the Koran. King Solomon it is told, had a carpet with the same magic quality. It was made of green silk and on it was placed his throne when he wished to travel. Spirits stood on the left hand of the King, and on his right stood men and women. Then Solomon told the wind where he wished to go, and immediately the carpet rose into the air with all who stood upon it, and travelled swiftly to its destination, while birds with outstretched wings flew overhead to screen the royal presence from the sun.

The World's Plagues.

Some suggestions for remedies for all these things had been advanced by various scholarly men. Sir A. Conan Doyle recommended Spiritism, Mr. H. G. Wells advocated the introduction of a new Bible, to be edited, presumably, by himself, and the Christian Scientists threw a blanket over these things, and said they did not exist at all.

The Gospel the Remedy.

The remedy, according to Mr. Moore, was "the Gospel of Jesus Christ, for there is no other name under Heaven by which men may be saved." Financiers in the United States and Canada, and politicians, were beginning to see that only a recourse to higher things would provide a remedy for the abnormal conditions of the world of to-day.

"We hear much," said Mr. Moore, "about the Golden Rule and living according to the Sermon on the Mount, and much of that talk is froth, because it isn't giving place to the principal condition—that before the Sermon on the Mount can come into the lives of men, there must come into their hearts the love of the Lord Jesus Christ and the power of the Holy Spirt."

Moderator's Address.

The Moderator's address last evening, delivered by Rev. H. Wood, B.A., B.Th., of Port Hope, was made very brief owing to the late start of the session.

Rev. Mr. Wood said that the churches of to-day in their work were laying the emphasis on the wrong place. "We hear more about the church than we do about the individual, and the ordinary person joining a church looks upon it as uniting with an organisation rather than being an organism that will help to bring about a great deal of the work himself." The ancient churches interpreted the will of God as being a command to go and preach the Gospel to every creature, differing from the procedure of to-day, where few church members have any idea of their responsibility to Christ. "We are saved to serve. The emphasis is placed wrongly. Many of our members think their responsibility ends with the joining of church societies and helping to supply the finances for the church's plans, forgetting the real object of our salvation and the real purpose of Jesus Christ, which was Kingdom Building and going out to win souls to His service."

The address of welcome to the visiting delegates was extended in a few cordial, well-chosen words last evening by Dr. W. D. Scott, with asknowledgment by Rev. W. H. Wallace, of Belleville.

Devotional exercises were led by Rev. H. S. Bennett, of Campbellford, with prayer by Rev. T. Rich, Norwood.

A Concise Statement.

At last evening's session, Miss M. A. Nicholls, Peterborough directress of Mission Circles and Bands, presented her report, a clear, concise statement of work and finances for the year.

The 36th annual report of the Women's Circles and Bands recorded a good year's work by officers and members. In the Circles there are 775 members in the 16 churches. The amount contributed to Home Missions in 1921 was $830.70, in 1922 $594.366. To Foreign Missions: In 1921, $1,006.48; in 1922, $871.84.

The Mission Bands, in 11 of the churches have a membership of 311. They contributed to Home Missions, in 1921, $133.15, and to Foreign Missions, $148.29. Miss Nicholls closed her report by an appeal to mothers to aid the Bands by sending their children to join, and to the young women of the churches to hear the Master's call to service in church work.

Separate Meetings.

The opening session of the Conference yesterday afternoon was occupied by separate meetings. The Women's Mission Circles and Bands met in the church, with the president, Mrs. W. D. Scott, in the chair, and Miss M. A. Nicholls as directress, and Mrs. R. C. Weston, of Campbellford, acting as secretary. Devotional exercises were led by Mrs. A. J. Vining of Toronto. A nominating committee was named as follows: Mrs. Jas. Young of Gilmour Memorial church (convenor), Miss Annie Walton ,of Murray street church, and Miss J. Jackson, of Port Hope.

A sincere and cordial welcome was extended in a few eloquent words to the visiting ladies by Mrs. J. R. Webb, replied to by Miss J. Jackson, of Port Hope, and minutes of the last meeting read by Miss M. A. Nicholls. The roll call of Circles and Bands was responded to with reports from senior and junior members from Belleville, Cobourg, Colborne, Campbellford, Haldimand, Gilmour church, Lakefield, Norwood, Port Houe, Cramahe, Picton and Peterborough's two Baptist churches.

Mrs. W. L. Kingdon, of Toronto, delivered a fine address on "Home Missions" at the afternoon session of the Mission Circles and Bands. Christ gave the command to do home evangelism, declared Mrs. Kingdon, when he said "Begin at Jerusalem and then go into Judea." The chief claimant in this branch of the work is the foreigner, of whom many people decline to speak in this connection, "but what is the use of us trying to hide our heads, like the ostrich, and deny that his presence amongst us is a challenge to every Christian who has an opportunity in most of the cities and towns of this land to be a missionary to the foreigner, coming here to the land of liberty, to escape grinding poverty, and it is heartless and selfish of us to grudge him a place in our midst." The foreign-born element may come here uncultured and illiterate, said Mrs. Kingdon, but they do not remain so. They are ambitious and persevering, and the speaker quoted the chief librarian in Toronto's Public Library as saying that, while the majority of Canadians usually took from the shelves only the lightest sort of reading, the demand of the foreigners was for educational literature; books of travel, science and biography appealing to them most. "They have the natural ability and the desire to learn, but their development opens up a great danger to our country, if we do not teach them the Gosped, for if they remain pagan, or heathen, or Roman or Greek Catholic, and forge ahead, it is impossible to say what their influence will be in our country. The three claimants on us in this connection are Jesus Christ, the foreigner whom God has brought to our doors, who are at present in ignorance of the Gospel, and our country, whose safety we must provide for."

The lack of workers and of money was characterized as the two great drawbacks to the advancement of the church's work, and the speaker urged earnest prayer "(that God may remove the obstacles of prejudice that exist in some of our churches, where the people do not want to be mixed up with foreigners."

A Forceful Address.

Rev. M. L .Orchard, M.A., B.D., of Toronto, gave a forceful and eloquent address on Foreign Missions, made most interesting by illustrations from his own actual service in the foreign fields in India. Mr. Orchard recounted the example of Hezekiah, who prayed that his bodily ailment might be cured, and was commanded to make a "poultice of figs" before it might be healed. "The Great Physician hears our prayer and prescribes our poultice, and the prayer is never fully a prayer until the poultice accompanies it," said the speaker, referring particularly to the "great open sores" of the Indian mission fields, and the poulticing that must be done to remedy the conditions existing there. The position of women was particularly emphasized as an evil to be remedied, the speaker declaring that the problem of the British government comes right back to the character of the people and their homes and that, "although St. Paul's Cathedral may be built on quick sand, you can never give responsible government to people with ignoble households, and you will never get noble households with an ignoble womanhood." The problem, which is not a social one, but essentially religious, has its beginning in the peculiar beliefs of the land; where the doctrine of transmigration and of Kharma teaches that an endless series of births, stretching out to 8,400,000 reincarnations, must be endured by mortals, whose sufferings in this particular phase of existence will determine their status in the next cycle. Punishment received now, whether of a physical or mental nature, is, according to this theory, only a just retribution for sins committed in a previous existence, and there is no possible use in trying to escape an inexorable Fate by attempts at alleviating one's miseries. Women are regarded as inherently inferior in every way, child marriage is allowed everywhere, and education is forbidden to the feminine sex, but the stronghold of the Hindu religion is in the minds of the Hindu women, who will not allow deviation from their ancestral modes of worship.

Mr. Orchard made a strong plea for lady missionary workers in the Indian field.

Officers Nominated.

During the afternoon session, the report of the nominating committee was presented and adopted, as follows: President (re-elected) Mrs. W. D. Scott, Vice-President, Mrs. A. Afleck, of Belleville. Directress, (re-elected), Miss M. A. Nicholls, of Peterborough. Assistant directress, Mrs. Wm. Wood, Port Hope.

An hour's ride closed the afternoon session, enjoyed by the ladies in motors provided by members of the church. Music was rendered during the afternoon by a vocal solo by Mrs. George H. King, accompanied by Miss Ida Sanderson, with Mrs. C. S. Browne at the organ for the hymnal services. In the evening, the choir with Miss Sanderson playing, gave some beautiful selections, and Mr. A. Everitt rendered a vocal solo.

The men's afternoon session was presided over by Rev. W. E. Morrow, with devotional exercises led by Rev. T. L. White, of Lakefield. A paper on "The Culture of the Spiritual Life" was given by Rev. T. Rich, of Norwood. Spiritual life, said the speaker, is in its essence divine, and a result of the regenerative work of the Holy Spirit, hence cultural methods must also be divine. Progress is made through suffering, by conformity to the image of Christ.

Church Discipline.

"Church Discipline and Roll Revision," was the title of an address by Rev. W. H. Wallace, of Belleville, who emphasized the necessity of prayerful and Biblical treatment. "Evangelism" was dealt with by Rev. E. Butcher of Brighton. He said that the church should be evangelistic, rather than evangelical, and spoke of the necessity of emphasis on individual need of the church, not for organization, but for evangelism; "not better methods but better men."

Rev. L. H. Coles, of Colborne, spoke on "Requirements of Candidates for Baptism and Church Membership." Regeneration was a prerequisite for church membership, and baptism in admitting members tells of the change that has taken place.

The Pastor's Visiting.

"The Pastor's Visiting and Study" was the subject chosen for a fifteen minute address by Rev. J. R. Webb, who said that the minister must give serious study to the pressing problems of the age. In order to do this, he must centralize his efforts, and abandon side issues. God is still fulfilling Himself in many ways, there is still much light to burst forth from His word. Visitation is important in itself and important in its contribution to the pulpit.

BUREAU OF STANDARDS PERFECTS RADIO RECORDER FOR VARIED SERVICE

Experts of the U. S. Bureau of Standards announce the perfection of another radio device in their laboratories.

It is the radio relay recorder.

Use of this instrument, it is maintained, would mean the elimination of an experienced radio operator, accuracy in receiving signals, operation of another moving body by radio, reception of two messages simultaneously and reduction of atmospheric interference.

Sturdiness.

According to the description by F. W. Dunmore, of the Bureau of Standards, the new recorder is the result of a search for a more rugged and powerful device than those in existence. For its operation, currents of five milliamperes or more are used and the feeble radio signals received are amplified by an electron tube amplifier.

"With a current of five milliamperes or more available," writes Dunmore, "it is possible to use an ordinary telegraph relay, which possesses rugged construction and does not require careful and repeated adjustment."

This relay is so constructed that the electron tubes may take their power from an ordinary home electric lighting wire.

Applications.

Among the applications to which the instrument may be put, says Dunmore, are:

"1. Code messages, news, market and weather reports may be received on tape at fairly high speed and read off by an operator of comparatively little experience.

"2. A call system may be used, thus avoiding the necessity of a constant watch by an operator.

"3. In line-radio telegraphy a sounder may be operated from the signal transmitted by radio-frequency currents, so the operator may not read signals received on the telephone receiver.

"4. The relay can be used for controlling an automobile, boat or airplane.

"5. Two recorders in series can antenna at the same time.

receive two messages on the same

"6. Atmospheric interference is somewhat reduced."

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK, June 7 (Canadian Press). — Market improved during the first hour on buying of minor motors, steels, and oils. Long account was encouraged by cheap money.

Call loans opened at 3 1-2 per cent., the lowest initial quotation in a fortnight.

Much of the improvement was cancelled before noon when offerings of such leaders as Baldwin, Studebaker, Mexican Petroleum, and Standard Oils of New Jersey and California caused reactions of one to two points. Coppers were lower and good specialties receued on selling of American Sugar.

Speculation quieted down in the early afternoon, and contraction in offerings encouraged some of the pools to resume operations. Cosden was run 2 points to a new high record for years. Recoveries from the low prices of the morning of a point or so were made by various other oils, Studebaker and Retail Stores.

STERLING EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, June 7 (Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange steady; demand rates — Great Britain, 4.50 1-4; Canadian dollar, 7-8 of 1 per cent. discount.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

CHICAGO, June 7 (Canadian Press). — Initial wheat prices, which varied from 1-4c to 11-8c higher with July 1.12 1-2 to 1.13 and September 1.12 1-2 to 1.13 1-8, were followed by slight further gains.

Corn was firmer with wheat. After opening 1-8c to 1-2c higher July 60 1-4 to 60 1-2, the market continued to harden.

Oats were neglected and inclined to sag. The market started 1-8c to 3-8c lower July 36 1-8 to 366 1-4, but afterwards rallied somewhat.

MONTREAL STOCK MARKET.

MONTREAL, June 7 (Canadian Press). — Very little trading occurred on the local stock exchange this morning, and the few leaders that were traded in appeared practically unchanged at their yesterday's closing levels.

TORONTO STOCK MARKET.

TORONTO, June 7 (Canadian Press). — Morning session on the local stock market to-day was very dull. Mackay sold ex dividend 1 1-2 points this morning, and by noon had more than regained its dividend closing at 97 1-2 ex dividend compared with 95 3-4 yesterday. Toronto Rails sold off to 71, loss of 1 1-2 points from last night. Brazilian was off 3-8 at 48, and Twin City closed unchanged at 55. Bonds were quiet, as were also bank stocks.

TORONTO CATTLE MARKET.

TORONTO, June 7 (Canadian Press). — Receipts, 629; trade was strong. Quotations: Heavy beef steers, $8.50 to $9.25; butcher cows, medium, $5.00 to $6.00; butcher steers choice, $8.75 to $9.25; calves, $10.00 to $11.00; lambs, $16.00 to 19.00; hogs, selects, 14.25 to 14.40.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH FOR EIGHT YEARS

The cause of this trouble is the fermentation of food in the stomach which generates a gas that is very frequently belched up. There is also a rumbling of the bowels and a discharge of gas therefrom, here is a constant retching, and the meals are frequently vomited. There is a burning pain in the stomach, the appetite is fickle, the tongue coated, the breath bad, constipation is generally present and the sufferer becomes weak, nervous, depressed and exceedingly miserable.

The blame lies with a sluggish liver. It holds back the bile which is so necessary to promote the movement of the bowels, and when the bile gets in to the blood a badly disordered condition of the stomach, liver and bowels will surely follow.

Keep your liver active and you will always enjoy good health.

Mrs. Agnes Gallant, Reserve Mines, N.S., writes:—"I had been a great sufferer for eight years, from catarrh of the stomach. I tried several, so-called, catarrh remedies without relief until a friend advised me to try Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills which I did, and four vials completely relieved me. That was six years ago, and I have had no return of my old trouble."

HE ADVISES ALL TO STUDY THE FRENCH TONGUE

Lack of Its Knowledge a Great Barrier Between French and English Canadians.

MORNING SESSION OF BAPTIST ASSN.

This morning's session of the district meeting of the Peterborough Baptist Association was held in the church, the Moderator, Rev. H. Wood, B.A., B.Th., of Port Hope, presiding. Devotional exercises were led by Rev. L. H. Coles, of Colborne, followed by appointment of committees and reading of church letters from the district.

An exposition of the work of the Grand Ligne Mission in Quebec, was given by Rev. S. F. Farmer, B.A., of Ottawa, Moderator of the Ottawa Association. Referring to the "peaceful penetration" of the Province of Quebec, evidenced in the strong desire of Anglo-Saxon Protestants to move out, and the equally strong desire of French Catholics to move in, Mr. Farmer prophesied that in a few years, the entire province, with the exception of a few centres, including Montreal, would be under the supreme control of the Frnch-Canadian race, and he regarded the situation as developing in Lower Canada as a challenge to the "Anglo-Saxon Protestants of this far-flung Canada of ours." Of the 2,361,199 people in the province of Quebec, fully 83 p.c. were of French birth, and 86 p.c. of the population of the province were Roman Catholic. The French were a brilliant race. They had produced staesmen who were unrivalled in quality, such as Laurier, Lemieux, Lapointe and Beland.

The speaker declared that he was not maligning any other religion, but Protestants believed that the Roman Catholic religion was a perverted form of Christianity, distinct from the clear and spiritual teaching of the Protestant religion. He mentioned being present in a Catholic church where the priest read in French a long list of requests made to St. Anthony and acknowledgment of favors received through such prayers, including requests for wayward children, for restoration from hell, to get work, as being an example of the difference in the teaching of the Roman church to the "simple and spiritual religion of Our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ."

The French Tongue.

He believed that a great barrier between the races, and a bar to the releasing of "liberal thought to the French race," was the lack of knowledge of the French tongue, "of which they are so proud," and declared that if he were starting his education all over aagin, he would pay more attention to the study of the French language, and less to that of Latin and Greek.

"Quebec holds within itself a wonderful, self-contained empire. Mr. Crerar has said that the United States has its eye on Quebec for the establishment of manufacturing there, on account of the stable liquor conditions which prevail. It is a province of great natural resources, of wonderful water power and capable of tremendous strides industrially." Alluding to the liquor traffic as carried on there, the speaker said that "Quebec forget that alcohol is a race poison, and for the sake of a few millions of revenue, is willing to blight the bodies of millions of unborn generations." The disgust of the treasurer of the province, himself a Baptist of strong prohibitionist tendencies, was pictured by Mr. Farmer, as the money from the sale of liquor comes rolling it. It was true that British Columbia still tolerated the liquor interests, but the speaker felt that if Quebec were once in line, British Columbia would fall in also, and felt that it was a problem for Christian men and women to settle, "for the more I see of the politicians at Ottawa, the less confidence I have in what they are going to do."

A Great Opportunity.

"The Grand Ligne Mission looks upon this challenge as a great opportunity for carrying the Gospel in to that great province," said the speaker, referring to the hostile Roman church, "which would fairly engulf Protestantism everywhere in that province, were it not for the Mission." "We thank our Heavenly Father," said Mr. Farmer, "for the 125 French people who have come into fellowship with the church of Christ."

Speaking of the splendid evangelical principles enunciated by the Mission, Mr. Farmer said: "There is no use of carrying a discredited Bible into the work of Romanism. A radical critic would last about as long in the Grand Ligne work as the proverbial snowball in another place."

The work of the schools was referred to, particularly at Feller Institute, where, out of 191 students, 119 of whom were French, there were 25 or 30 Roman Catholics reclaimed by the Baptist educational work. The speaker also referred to the opposition of the Roman heirarchy to the Bible, and said: "I covet that great province for Jesus Christ," concluding with an appeal for funds to carry on the work, and saying that, although work in the foreign mission fields and among the Bolivians, "whose country is also Catholic," was a worthy endeavor, evangelism amongse the Catholics in the French province of our own country should not be overlooked as a means of advancing the Kingdom of the Lord.

Inspiring Address.

Rev. M. L. Orchard, M.A., B.D., of Toronto, followed with a forceful and inspiring address on the work in the "non-Christian side of the world," particularly in India, where the speaker labored for many years in the foreign mission field. Referring to the vastness of the Pacific Ocean, and to the vastness of the Empire included in India, he said that we had learned from experience that the bigness of anything did not constitute its size; it was the inside measurements that counted every time. Mr. Orchard described with realistic emphasis the methods employed by the farmers of India, who, with "a patient persistence and dogged endurance unequalled by the western race" plant, almost entirely by hand, and with the aid of a "plow such as that used in the time of Abraham," their 81 millions of acres of paddy fields, year after year.

In the 325 millions of British subjects native to India, it has been said there are not 100 atheists or infidels, for India for generations has been a non-materialistic nation, "an other-world people searching for God." But through three generations and more, England has been giving them material things, some of which were enumerated by the speaker, in the 30,000 miles of macadamized roads, the railroad mileage which places India fourth in this classification in the world; the 45 millions of acres of irrigated land; the 28 millions of bushels of wheat produced in a year. The biggest university in the Empire, with a roll equalling that of Oxford and Cambridge combined, is in Calcutta; her coal fields and iron ore beds are of unlimited capacity; she is a tremendous grower of cotton and cattle, and rice.

With the thousand millions of inhabitants of India and China clamoring for admittance to our continent; with the material advantages offered them making them seek for further gain; with our slogan broadcast amongst them for "self determination"; with our own coast line of British Columbia empty; with the realization that they were invited to help us out in the Great War, and did so; "owing to the help of Gandhi," how, the speaker asked, "how are we going to keep them out. We don't want them here, but how are we going to keep them out."

The Yellow Races.

The only solution, declared Mr. Orchard, lay in the Christianizing of the yellow races: "so that we will be brother and brother. Give them Christian civilization, and the Hindu and the Chinaman will not want to come here, for

"In Christ there is no East nor West,
In Him no south nor north,
But just a fellowship of love,
Throughout the whole broad earth."

The eight millions of Baptists on this continent, if united for foreign missionary endeavor, said Mr. Orchard, should be able to win the great land of India for Christ, with the help of the Methodists, "who are almost as good as the Baptists, if they behave themselves," of the Presbyterians, "who have done such a wonderful work in the foreign mission fields," and of all the Protestant denominantions, animated with the same desire.

Referring to the statement of the Mission Circles, that the women's organiaztions were going behind in their gifts to foreign missions, the speaker said that the entire work in those fields should not depend upon Circles and Bands, and appealed for money to carry it on, saying, "Let us pray, let us pray, and give our sons and daughters, and God will give us that people and land for our inheritance."

An invitation from Lakefield to hold the annual meeting there next year, was accepted by the session. Nominations for the different committees were made as follows: Nominatig committee, Rev. R. M. Fraser, of Gilmour Memorial church, Rev. L. H. Coles of Colborne, Rev. E. Butcher of Brighton. Committee on Arrangements, Rev. J. R. Webb, Rev. J. P. McLennan, Cobourg, Mr. Alex. Scott, of Gilmour Memorial. Resolutions, Rev. W. E. Morrow, of Park street church, Dr. W. D. Scott, Wm. Telford, of Gilmour Memorial. Obituary, Rev. T. L. White, Lakefield, Rev. T. Rich, Norwood, Mr. L. J. Pettit, Peterborough.

Interesting Letter From Woman in South Africa

Johannesburg, South Africa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness and because I felt run down. I tried a lot of medicines before I tried yours. One day I was standing on my stoop when a boy came up to me and handed me one of your little books. I read the book and the next day my husband went to the chemist's and bought me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have taken the medicine ever since and I feel quite strong and well now as I am on the sixth bottle. I have written to my sister and told her all about the wonders it has done for me, and I am quite willing for you to use my name as I can not thank you enough for what it has done for me."—Mrs. W. F. Rush, 128 6th Ave., Mayfair, Fordesburg, Johannesburg, South Africa.

It is this sort of praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, given by letter or verbally, one woman to another, that ought to commend this splendid medicine to you.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine for women's ailments (in use nearly fifty years), and the fact that it has helped thousands of other women, should cause you to give it a trial now. It can be safely taken by any woman—young or old.

Diamond Dust

The Adanac-Lakeview game tomorrow evening will be some old battle.

Doughty pitched a good game for the Y.M.C.A. last evening. The wet grass made the ball very slippery and difficult to handle but after the first frame he was able to control them.

* * *

At the time of going to press the following imported pitchers of the Central Ontario League have been given their bumps. Gallagher, of Oshawa; Ward, of Leaside, Derry and Piper, of Cobourg; and Deer of Port Hope, have all been waved to the bench. Will some person kindly page Mr. Heckman of Peterboro?

Toronto won at last.

Port Hope will be here with all their war paint 'n everything on Saturday. Sandy's gang have intimated that they would like to give Al Heckman a real try out. They seem to think they can hit his offerings.

* * *

Both the Rotarians and Kiwanis teams were out for practice yesterday in preparation for this evening's game.

* * *

We wonder if Jake has got anything up his sleeve for Saturday.

* * *

What's the matter with Oshawa that they practically turn over the management of the baseball team to strangers. There are four Kingston men on the lineup, Gallagher in the box; Evans doing the receiving and Saunders at second and Twigg at third. Bert Booth of Kingston is the Manager and Saunders is Captain. The position of mascot is still held by an Oshawa resident.

Here's a Circuit Swatting Quintet

READING FROM LEFT TO RIGHT — HORNSBY, WILLIAMS (ABOVE), MILLER, RUTH (ABOVE) AND WALKER.

BY BILLY EVANS.

Ken Williams, the spring sensation of the American League as home-run hitter extraordinary, had best look to his laurels.

Williams first jumped into fame by whaling out three home runs in one game. He continued his mad hitting spree for about ten days during which time he piled up 10 home runs.

At one time those 10 home runs made his performance stand out much better than Ruth's 1921 record, when Babe amassed a total of 59. At one stage Williams had his 10 home runs a week in advance of Ruth's record of last season.

Williams at once was hailed as Ruths successor as the home-run king of 1922. Critics and fans were united in the opinion that Ruth couldnt spot so good a hitter as Williams a six week's start.

The first nine home runs made by Williams were on the Browns' park at St. Louis. The club started on its invasion of the east, first playing a series at Detroit.

In Detroit Williams raised his total of homers to 10 by hitting one into the right field bleachers, which is a real home run swat.

In the east Williams has failed to continue his home-run orgy as the fans hoped he would.

In four games at Washington he failed to come through with any homers. However, the breaks were against him in that series. Two of his drives, which netted only two bases, failed to clear the right field wall at Washington by a scant margin. Either of them would have been home runs at St. Louis or on the Polo grounds.

Coming into Philadelphia Williams hit one over the right field wall at Shibe Park and later in New York he scored still another, bringing his total up to 12. In two games at Boston nothing happened, nor did he produce the action that was hoped from him at New York in the way of a batting duel with Ruth.

Williams has been in a home-run slump. Probably he has been trying to hard too live up to his Ruth reputation. In the games I umpired with the Browns in the east Ken was cutting a little too hard at the ball, with the result that he was losing some of the accuracy of his stroke.

Williams, however, is a natural hitter and will make many a home-run before the close of the present season.

At the present time Bing Miller of the Philadelphia Athletics is basking in the home run spotlight. He has 11 circuit swats to his credit and soon hopes to overtake Williams.

Miller is a right-handed hitter who takes a nasty cut. He was secured by Mack from the Washington club in the trade that involved Peckinpaugh of New York and Dugan of the Athletics.

Other hitters who are on the heels of Williams are Hornsby of the St. Louis Cardinals and Walker of the Athletics.

Williams is not discouraged at his slump in the home-run market. He aims to hit 40 home runs and is confident he will turn the trick. He thinks such a total will lead the American League in that department.

RAYBESTOS EASY FOR Y.M.C.A. NINE

The Y.M.C.A.-Raybestos set to at Riverside Park last evening started out to be a ball game but soon developed into a slaughter. The Y. boys carried everything before them and hung up the Raybestos scalp on their belt to the tune of 19 to 5. Sixteen runs were accumulated in the first four innings which fifteen men hit safely for the "Y" and four were walked. Numerous errors contributed greatly in helping to roll up the score.

"Muggy" Bartley started the pitching for the Raybestos aggregation, but a wet and slippery ball proved to be conductive to many errors and difficult to control. In the second inning the Y.M.C.A. nine got next to him for four hits and six runs, eleven men facing him before the side was retired. In the fourth frame it was even worse he was hit to all corners of the lot for a total of eight hits and the same number of tallies. Twelve men faced him in this inning before the required three were sent to the bench. He was relieved by Wolff in the fifth who did much better holding his opponents scoreless for two innings. In the seventh however, a succession of errors sent three more runs across the plate.

Doughty who did the twirling for the Y.M.C.A. showed a slight wildness in the first of the game when he walked two, after which he tightened up and pitched a first-class game. He fanned ten men and after the first inning issued but one complimentary.

The players were:

Y.M.C.A.: Doughty p, Bergoine c, McQueen 1b, A. Butcher 2b, Sheehan 3b, Thompson ss, Camp lf, Pidgeon cf, Kitchen rf, G. Butcher cf, Kendry rf.

Raybestos—Bartley p, 3b, Prosser c, Nicholls 1b, Russell 2b, H. Wolff, 3b, p, Lundy ss, Coursey lf, Deanard cf, C. Wolff rf, Osier cf.

TEAMS ANNOUNCED FOR SEASON'S BEST JUNIOR BALL GAME

Adanac - Lakeview Game To-Morrow Evening is Expected to Make History in Local Baseball Circles.

THE PLAYERS.

The Adanacs and Lakeviews are all set for the great game tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock which the fans consider the classic event of the Junior City League. Both teams are right on the edge for the battle and it looks as if the fur would fly when they lock horns on the diamond.

The Lakeviews will have either Gilchrist or Whitehouse on the mound, with Huff or Rogers on the receiving end. The infield will consist of Lew LeBarr on the initial sack, Mowat at second, Sage at third, and Ranger short stop. Ash, Whitlow and Warde will look after the outer gardens.

None of these boys need any introduction to local fandom. The games they have played so far this season have been of the A1 order, and it will not be very many seasons before many of them will be wearing the uniform and upholding the name of Peterboro in the Central or a greater league.

Alex Kay will be the umpire-in-chief, with "Curly" Le Barr handling the basese.

Lessons in Golf

After the "forward press" the clubhead is drawn back on a straight line along the ground for a distance of some six to eight inches. Then it lifts upwards and backward with a curving swing. The hands lead up till the turning point, which is at the beginning of the turning, or pivoting, at the waist. For a fraction of a moment hands and club head at that point are on the same line. They do not again come into this position until the instant when the ball is struck. In making the drive try to imagine you are describing a circle with the clubhead as a gigantic pencil. The upward and backward swing are one arc, and the downward and forward swing the other. Both these arcs are the same. However, you need not be concerned about the downward sweep of the club if you have taken the club up and back properly. Your muscles have a wonderful and automatic sense, so that your clubhead will come down in exactly the same line in which you took it up if you do not fall into any of the errors which operate to throw it off the line. How to avoid these erors will be detailed later.

In the picture today one common fault of the driving stroke is shown. The arms have been drawn in too close to the body. Watch that you keep your left arm straight. Let the elbow curve slightly, but do not let the elbow break, as has been done by this player.

FIRST CLASS MAN BUT STILL HOLDS DOWN THE BENCH

Tough on Louis Guisto, Who is Better Than Most, But Stuffy McInnis is Best of Them All.

PINCH HITTER.

It is pretty tough to be a cracking good ball player, yet to be forced to remain on the bench simply because the same club is some player who is just a little better.

That is the situation in which Louis Guisto, first baseman of the Cleveland club of the American League, finds himself.

On probably any other major league club, with the exception of St. Louis, Guisto would have the call at first base. Because Cleveland has "Stuffy" McInnis, one of the greatest frist sackers in the history of the game, Guisto is forced to play the role of substitute.

"Only the fact that Cleveland has McInnis keeps Guisto from being a regular" says Manager Tris Speker of the Indians.

"Guisto is a great hitter. He takes a natural cut at the ball. He is a fine fielder, a great target for the infielders to cut loose at. For a big man he is mighty fast.

"Guisto is certainly is a victim of circumstances. If we would try to give him out of the league I'll wager every other club would claim him.

"However, he will earn his salary as a pinch hitter this season. It is also pleasing for a manager to know he has a capable man on the bench in case of injury."

The case of Joe Evans and Jamieson, also of the Cleveland club, is not unlike that of Guisto.

Evans is a great ball player. Jamieson is also a great ball player. Evans murders left-handed pitching, Jamieson does the same to right-handers.

PROTEST FROM COBOURG TEAM

Claim Players Evans and Twigg of Oshawa Are Not Eligible Under the Residence Rule.

The following open letter addressed to the President of the Central Ontario League by the Cobourg Ball Club will be of interest:

"Cobourg, June 5, 1922.

"Mr. E. Parsons,
"President C.O.A.B.L.,
"Oshawa, Ontario.

"Dear Sir,—As you are doubtless aware, the Cobourg Ball Club have protested the eligibility of Players Evans and Twigg of Oshawa under the C.O.L. residence rule.

"We desire herewith to protest most strenuously against our club having been forced to take this step. At an executive meeting of the league, at which you were present, in Port Hope on May 16, Secretary Nott declared these men not eligible to play in Oshawa, due to the fact that they were not residents of Oshawa and their certificates, therefore, were withheld. You are aware that in spite of this fact these men have played regularly with the Oshawa club without any explanation to the other clubs in the league, and we feel it decidedly unfair that Cobourg, or any other club, are forced into the rather unsportsmanlike position of protesting a ball game, fairly lost, in order to protect themselves and the other clubs in the league from being further imposed on by the Oshawa club.

"Cobourg in the past have fairly earned for themselves the reputation of being "good sports" and this reputation is dearer to them than a goodly number of ball games won, and that they should be called on to jeopardize this reputation at this time to secure justice is, to them, a serious consideration.

"We repeat, we feel that the Cobourg club have been done a grave injustice, by being fored into their present position of having to protest a ball game in order to secure justice for themselves and the other clubs in the league.

"Yours very truly,
"COBOURG BASEBALL CLUB."

BASEBALL

The Fire Hall Falcons won their fourth game Tuesday night, when they defeated the fast Black Caps the score being 10 to 8. The Black Caps led the counter attack by scoring 6 runs in 2 innings to the Falcons' 1, but later the Falcons gradually drew away from them. Cheu's work on the mound for the Fire Hall was exceedingly good, he having 12 strike-outs. Batteries:

Fire Hall—Cheu, p.; Feely, c. McNeely, c.

Black Caps—McDonneugh p.; McDougall c., Bacon c.

Score by innings:

Fire Hall.. .. .. ..106 300 000—10
Black Caps.. .. .. ..330 111 000—8

Roy Lewis will likely be the slab artist for the Fire Hall in the opening game of the Corner Lot League against the Beavers at the Oval on Thursday night.

Alf. Griffin, formerly manager of the Campers' team 1921, will hold the keystone sack down for the Fire Hall team this season.

BIG BALL GAME AT NICHOLLS OVAL

Kiwanians and Rotarians Will Demonstrate How the Game Should Be Played.

The big ball game of the year is announced for Inverlea park at 5 o'clock to-morrow evening, when teams representing the Peterboro Kiwanas and Rotary Clubs will clash. The Rotarians won the hockey match last winter but the Kiwanians expect to extract their revenge to-morrow. At all events they have been practicing faithfully and will have their strongest line-up in action. The Rotary Club crew are not saying much ,but those on the inside state that Chris Graham will pilot a real baseball machine tomorrow. The Ontario Motor League has been requested to place signs on the bases in order to direct the traffic as there is danger of some of the players running direct to third base instead of the first. Alex. Dick is billed to play first for the Kiwanians and it is not expected that any throws will get over his head. A large number of people will see the two clubs battle and the proceeds will be turned over by Kiwanians to the Health Association's Camp at Jackson Park.

PORT HOPE WILL BE HERE WITH A STRONG ARRAY.

Ontarios Would Enjoy Beating Petes As Much As They Would Winning the Central Pennant.

Hillcrests Coming.

The visit of the Port Hope team to Riverside Park on Saturday for a Central Ontario League game should be productive of a bunch of excitement, for the Ontarios and the Petes always battle from gong to gong and there is no love lost between them. Port Hope were boasting a few days ago that no right hand pitcher in the League could stop them. Since then, of course, Mr. Oulette, of Lindsay, who throws them from the starboard side, tied them in a knot, but they are not the least bit discouraged by that, and they are coming here Saturday determined to fatten their averages at the expense of Al. Heckman. If they succeed in their ambition they will be the first team in the Central loop to do so, and local fans are in a Missouri mood. They have to be shown.

At all events it will be a spicy struggle, made all the more so by the fact that the Petes cannot afford to lose. To stay up the first division they have got to clean up on the Ontarios Saturday. To keep the team on edge Manager Solomon has his crew stacked up against the Deloro team in Marmora to-day.

There will be plenty of baseball here on July 1st, as the Cobourg team will play a Central League fixture in the morning, while it is expected that the Hillcrests of Toronto will meet the Petes in an exhibition game in the afternoon. The Hillcrest crew are prime favourites here, because they always bring their full battle array with them when they come to Peterborough.

TRUE DETECTIVE STORIES

THE SECRET OF HOLMHURST

(Copyright 1921 by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

The discovery of the body of B. F. Perry in his house at 1316 Callowhill Street, Philadelphia, by a man who had come into see about securing a patent did not cause any sensation at the time, for the coroner's jury gave a speedy verdict of "death from accidental causes." There was clear evidence that some sort of an explosion had taken place. A shattered bottle which had manifestly contained some sort of inflammable material, a broken pipe, filled with partly burned tobacco and a charred match lay beside the body.

An autopsy showed that Perry had died from congestion of the lungs caused by the inhaling of flames or chloroform the latter having presumably formed the contents of the broken bottle. So, as there were no claimants for the body and no estate, Perry's remains were interred in the Potter's Fields. There they would have remained undisturbed if it had not been for the evidence of a convict in the St. Louis prison—evidence which not only indicated that Perry had been murdered but that his death was one of many crimes committed by a master-murderer, a man totally devoid of conscience or human feelings.

Shortly after Perry's death, the Philadelphia branch of the Fidelity Life Insurance Company received a letter from Jephtha D. Howe, an attorney in St. Louis, stating that "B. F. Perry" was really Benjamin F. Pitezel, who had carried a $10,000 life insurance with the Fidelity Company. The only person who could be found to identify the body was a man named H.H. Holmes of Wilmette, Ill., who willingly came to Philadelphia to superintend the exhuming of the body. Holmes and Howe met in the office of the company, presumably as strangers, and the former clearly identified the body of the dead man as that of his friend, Pitezel. Satisfied, the insurance company paid the insurance to Howe, Fitzel's attorney, and reimbursed Holmes for his expense.

The details of the case were reported in the St. Louis newspapers, and a few days later, Marion Hedgspath, a convict serving a sentence ofr train robbery, informed the governor of the prison that she would like to give him some information which she considered most important.

"If you will examine the records of the prison," said Hedgspeth, "you will find that there was a man here last summer by the name of H. H. Howard. He was in for fraud, I think, but was released on bail. While he was here, Howard asked me if I knew any lawyer whom I could recommend in connection with a swindling scheme which he had in mind—a plan which ought ot not at least $10,000 without any trouble. He promised me $500 for my information and I gave him the lawyer's name, but I never got my five hundred."

"That's all very interesting," said the governor of the prison. "But why is it important?"

"Don't you read the papers?" retorted Hedgspeth. "The name of the lawyer I recommended to 'Howard' was Jephtha D. Howe and 'Howard' is undoubtedly the man named Holmes who is mixed up with that insurance case in Philadelphia. The details of the case agree exactly with the scheme, as Howard outlined it to me last summer."

As soon as this information reached Philadelphia, the insurance company detailed an experienced detective named Geyer to arrest Holmes and to investigate his antecedents, for it was clear that Pitezel had not met his death through accident, but had been deliberately murdered. After a month's search, Holmes was traced to New England and finally arrested in Boston.

This, however, proved to be practically the beginning of the case, for the further back Geyer went into the Holmes' history, the more gruesome details he discovered. In endeavoring to discover what had become of Mrs. Pitezel and her five children, Geyer found in the celler of a house in Toronto—a house rented by Holmes under the name of Canning—the bodies of two children later identified as Alice and Etta Pitezel. From Toronto the trail led to Indianapolis, by way of Detroit and Cincinnati, and it was in Indianapolis that Geyer discovered the body of Howard Pitezel, aged 10, jammed into the chimney of the furnace in a house which had been rented some time before by a man who answered to the description of Holmes. Evidently the plot had included the destruction of the entire Pitezel family, in order that Holmes might collect the insurance without opposition.

It was in the course of his search through Indiana and Illinois that Geyer came upon the most startling discovery of the entire case —the mysterious building in Chicago known as "Holmes' Castle," or Holmehurst. The prisoner had personally superintended the erection of this structure and investigation proved that it contained an air-proof, sound-proof vault, communicating with the cellar by means of a secret staircase. Buried in the cellar floor and half consumed by quicklime were found the remains of at least five persons who had been lured to Holmhurst and there murdered.

All of these crimes had been committed sometime before the Pitezel affair and, had it not been for the fact that Holmes overlooked the promise which he had made to a convict in the St. Louis prison, it is quite possible that he would have remained at liberty, a constant and deadly peril to everyone with whom he came in contact.

But Detective Geyer returned to Philadelphia with more than enough evidence to secure conviction and Holmes paid the penalty for his crimes on the gallows.

"Across the Continent."

How a racing car, speeding over the highway at lightning pace, is thrown from the road and ditched, or otherwise hampered, blockaded or held up in its race for victory, is shown in several sequences of "Across the Continent," the new Paramount auto race picture, starring Wallace Reid, which will be shown at the Capitol Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Walter Long, Lucien Littlefield and Betty Francisco, play a family of villains—father, son and daughter—in this picture. They compose the rival faction in the cross-continental race wherein Wallace Reid, as Jimmy Dent, drives a much-ridiculed "flivver" manufactured by his father, played by Theodore Roberts, to victory, finishing ahead of all contestants. Seeing the progress of the little car, the unscrupulous rival manufacturer, through his agents, resorts to all sorts of trickery to stop the little car in its dash across country.

One consists in setting fire to a long stretch of straw on a sandy roadway. Another is to dig deep ruts in the road and curve them so that they will land the wheels of a fast car off into the ditch at the side. Another is the seemingly accidental blocade of a highway tunnel by a huge truck from which a wheel has been taken.

This was intended, in the story, to hold up and delay the winning car until the car entered by the rival faction could catch up. But Wallace Reid, as Jimmy Dent, driving the "flivver" racer, thwarts the plans of the villains by turning off and driving through the railway tunnel, emerging therefrom just in time to escape a fast limited train which pursues him through the tunnel.

The picture was directed by Philip Rosen and contains a goodly amount of thrills, speed, romance and good, spirited drama. Mary MacLaren is leading woman and Theodore Roberts and others are in the cast.

WHY.

Why are we destined oer lifes problems deep,
To ponder and puzzle our brain,
Seeking to find out the wherefore and why
Of mysteries that unsolved remain?

Fain would we know why the bird that was plumed
Far aloft in bright sunshine to soar,
With light pinion broken, a captive is held,
To wing her flight upward, no more.

Some would have us believe that an innocent bird
Is doomed ,sadness and suffering to bear,
A scapegoat for some other, who by her fate warned
May escape the same treacherous snare.

Why a native of air should be fettered to earth,
Heart broken with longing and pain,
Oh, wherefore be given the will and the wing
To mount, when all efforts were vain.

Why does fortune so often auspiciously beam
On the wrong, with fair favoring smile,
And flourishes like a green bay tree in bloom,
The votary of guilt and of guile?

Why Right must unaided, against mighty odds,
Contend, or be crushed, trodden down,
And instead of a kindly, encouraging smile
Receive but a chill, adverse frown?

Why, dear friends, congenial, with spirits akin,
Hearts tuned in accord with our own,
Death or distance, now severs from us, to our loss,
Or, perchance, false, or far estranged grown

But God reigns and rules, in both wisdom and love,
In Heaven above and below,
And what now, we know not, all as noonday full clear
Will the light of Eternity show.

—Mrs. A. F. Calder.

CUT-OUT NUISANCE.

The latest section of the Motor Vehicles Act that the police are determined to enforce is that relating to driving with open cut-outs. Residents in the western part of the city complain of the unnecessary noise created by drivers in this way, and the police have taken the numbers of some of the offenders. If the complaints are renewed summons will be made out and the fine is likely to be stiff. The provision allows the Magistrate to fine as high as $50. The offence has been more common here than in other cities. Many amateur drivers taken particular joy in leaving the cut-out open, but the police have resolved to take the joy out of it.

Detroiter Must Pay the Penalty or Go to Jail

For reckless and negligent driving on the Lakefield Road on Monday, alleged to have resulted in $300 damage to an automobile owned by F. H. Sanderson of this city, Frederick F. Gadd of Detroit, driver of a heavy roadster was fined $40 by Magistrate O. A. Langley, in the police court this morning, and ordered to pay the fine, and costs of $14.90, within a day.

"How long would you like to pay?" asked His Worship.

"One month," Gadd promptly answered.

"If it's not paid to-day you'll go to the County Jail for a week's imprisonment," said Magistrate Langley, who was not inclined to be partial, as a result of grumblings and comments by Gadd when the fine was announced. The convicted driver murmured something "about not having a chance."

"Look here, now; I'm not going to have any comments. I'm not going to have this court made a beer garden. You have been guilty of an offence under our law. You have been given every opportunity. You said you were ready to go on this morning. I asked you distinctly about that. If you have anything else to say you will have to say it in a court of appeal or some other place. I won't have any more remarks here," concluded His Worship in a rising voice.

The accident took place 800 yards from the gooseneck on the Lakefield road, about 3 miles from the village. Gadd was driving north to the village and Harold Sanderson coming south. Sanderson was travelling at a moderate rate of speed, said George Seabrook, a farmer, who saw the smash from the side of the road, and Edward Dale, a farm hand, corroborated the farmer's statement. Gadd they said was travelling 35 or 45 miles an hour, and attempted to reach the bridge before Sanderson. Dale who claims to be an expert and a motorcycle racer, said he could judge the speed of a car within 2 miles an hour, and declared that Gadd was driving 45 miles an hour. The roadster was damaged but not to the extent of the other car, which was stripped of the wheels and running board. The prosecution, which was conducted by Jos. O'Brien, maintained that Gadd would not give an inch from the centre of the road. The Detroiter claimed that the road was too narrow for two vehicles.

Other Delinquents.

Morris Leonard, for driving a motorcycle past a street car discharging passengers at the corner of Edinburgh and George streets, was fined $5. A drunk contributed the usual allotment of $21.50 for fine and costs, and two boys for riding bicycles on the G.T.R. station platform, were assessed $2 and costs of $4.25.

SIDE DRAPES ON NEW DRESSES.

Just by way of varying the straight silhouette the newest dresses show side drapes drawn to a precarious point on one hip. Soft folds of the material break the straight line in the front panel and are gathered in under a flower of the cloth—usually the dress' only ornament.

Other trimmings used are silver and gold metal flowers or grapes or silk bouquets in brilliant colors. Hair wreaths to match either colored or metal dress trimmings are shown in all the shops.

Moire, which is having an astonishing vogue, is most in demand for these new draped dresses for evening. It is satin-backed—very soft and shimmery. Afternoon and street frocks also show side drapes.

A-BATTERY — A low-voltage battery, usually of the storage variety, 1 1-2 to 6 volts. It is used to light and operate the filament of the detector and amplifier tubes.

Baptist Convention Notes

Reports from the Baptist churches in the immediate district were presented in the women's section yesterday afternoon by Miss Mary Stratton for Murray Street, Mrs. Booth for Park Street Church, and Mrs. Blewett for Gilmour Memorial Church.

Rev. W. H. Wallace, of Belleville, replying to the address of welcome last evening, made a humorous reference to the pronouncement of Rev. J. R. Webb, when acting at one time as chairman of the pulpit supply committee at an association meeting in Montreal. Mr. Webb announced that this committee would "meet in the pantry," and Mr. Wallace considered that the ladies in charge of refreshments had followed out this advise, considering the quantity of good things supplied by them. The Ladies' Aid Society of Murray Street Church, with Mrs. V. Eastwood as president, has charge of the arrangements, by which substantial meals are served to the visitors in the basement of the church.

The floral arrangements in the different church rooms have been beautifully carried out. Ferns and baskets of mauve and cream iris, with lemon lilies, decorate the church. The waiting-rooms and tables downstairs are done with peonies and bridal wreath.

Mrs. W. D. Scott was re-elected to the presidency of the District Mission Circles yesterday afternoon, for the eighteenth consecutive term.

The exhibit of work by Mission Bands, which is on view in connection with the association meeting, in charge of Mrs. Jas. Young, of Gilmour Memorial Church, is very interesting. Exhibits of posters made by the juniors include a novelty made entirely from pictured vegetables; there are photographs of the men and women workers in foreign mission fields; folders of the Christmas cards and seed packet coverings sent out by the children to their little heathen brothers and sisters; and models of small native things, such as a complete and delicately-executed model of a house-boat in India, an Indian hut, and bed. A blackberry pie, each bird with a text attached to its hidden feet, is another curiosity; there is the basket with the Easter egg offerings, collected on Good Friday, sold on Saturday, and the money deposited in the fund on Easter Sunday; and the descriptive ladder in red and blue showing the advancement or retrogression in attendance. In the anteroom of the church, also, there is plenty of literature on subjects of interest to the association.

Norwood's motto for the year, as inscribed in their church letter, is "Something more for God."

"I believe that when a man is converted, his car should be converted also," was the comment of the gentleman who read the letter from Murray Street Church, referring to the practice of motor car owners in using their machines on Sunday to bring home bound members to church.

WEDDING BELLS

FOSTER—SIMS

A quiet wedding took place in South Congregational Church, Chicago, Illinois, on June 2nd., when Miss Evelyn Sims was married to Richard Foster, both formerly of this city. Rev. T. Y. Williams performed the ceremony. The happy couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Garris of Chicago. After spending a few days at South Bend, Indiana, Mr. and Mrs. Foster are living at 644 Woodland Park, Chicago.

CRIDLAND—MELTON

A pretty wedding took place at St. Johns' Church at 12.15 to-day when Lillian Melton, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Melton of this city, was united in marriage by Canon Fornier, to John Henry Cridland, only son of Mrs. Frank Cridland also of this city.

About 49 guests were in attendance. The bride was attired in ivory pussy willow silk, with silver lace panels, and carried crimson roses. She was attended by her only sister, Miss Winifred Melton, who wore sunset yellow with hat to match and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. The groom was attended by George Barrell of Toronto.

The wedding marches and the musical accompaniment to Miss Annie Pollard's solo during the signing of the register "My World" were played by R. J. Devey, who came down especially for the occasion from the Anglican Synod meeting in Toronto.

The happy couple left on the afternoon train for Toronto, and on their return will reside in this city. They were the recipients of many beautiful presents, notable among these being a walnut table and reading lamp the gift of employees of the Canadian Woollens Company.

VOL. L., No. 133 PETERBOROUGH, THURSDAY, JUNE 8, 1922 PRICE THREE CENTS

REGULATE THE WIRELESS FOR THE PROVINCE

The Owners of Amateur Stations Must Be Good or Inspector Duncan Will Get Them.

"SPLASHING OVER"

TORONTO, June 8.—(Special.)—Owners of amateur radio transmitting stations in Ontario will have to "mind their P's and Q's from now on. The government has appointed an inspector, and will be appointing others, to investigate complaints against amateurs who persist in causing interference.

In other words the government has decided there should be certain more strict regulations in the ether, just as there are on public highways and on the high seas.

Cameron Duncan, B.A., Sc., is the first "ether cop." His jurisdiction extends all over the province but he will act principally in Toronto.

Mr. Duncan is a part time inspector, being engaged in private duties as well. Besides being empowered by the government to make an investigation into all amateur sending stations against which there are complaints from time to time, he will issue licenses for receiving stations and examine candidates for the government certificate of proficiency in the operation of radio equipment.

Should special complaints be made against commercial broadcasting stations, to the effect that they are "splashing over" their wave length, etc., Mr. Cameron has authority to look into these matters as well on instructions from Ottawa.

Will Be Penalized.

"The intention is not to put any clamp on amateur sending stations," Mr. Duncan stated, commenting upon his appointment, "Rather, the purpose of the government is to try to harmoniously settle all complaints. Co-operation between all parties interested in radio is the objective. If there are any complaints sent to me about amateurs causing interference, these complaints will be gone into, and if found justified the offender will be cautioned not to break the regulations again. Should they persist in so doing, however, we will see they are stopped in quick style."

Mr. Duncan was born in Toronto, and has been educated at Varsity, graduating to-day with the degree of B.S., C.S., in electrical engineering. He has been an ardent enthusiast for some years and during the war served as a naval wireless operator.

REV. SAMUEL BOAL DEAD WAS WELL KNOWN HERE

The Rev. (Captain) Samuel Boal, dominion representative of the British ...d Foreign Sailors' Society, and late of the Navy League, died in Toronto on Wedn day morning. In Peterboro he had made quite a number of friends through his activities in behalf of the Navy League speaking at public meetings, and also soliciting the goodwill and financial assistance of the county and city council.

When the county council meets this month their agenda will not include an appeal from the amiable old advocate of the men of the Merchant Marine. His power of oratory more than once moved the patriotic emotions of the members of the county council, who had a warm regard for Mr. Boal.

Some Local Dealers Claim Sale Of Cigarettes Show Falling Off

On account of the tax placed on cigarettes by the Government there is considerable variation in the price of smokes in the city. Most of the shops have raised 15-cent. cigarettes to 20, 18-centers to 23, and correspondingly increased the price on other sizes. High-grade English ones that formerly sold at 30 are now 40, and double packages that were 35 are 45. The United Cigar Store and several other shops, however, have not increased their prices to this extent, and claim that the increase made by the others is not justified as the tax and the sales tax is met by the tobacco company, the wholesale price lists are adjusted to meet the conditions and the retailer must figure on his profits in the same manner as before.

When a popular brand sold for 18 cents they cost over $14 a thousand. At any rate the profit on a thousand was over $3.00. Now the companies have increased their prices to about $17.00 a thousand, and by selling at $20.00 a thousand, or 20 cents a package, the retailers make practically the same profit as before. In adding to this price a 2½ per cent. sales tax, the retailers who are charging the higher prices are making the smoking public pay this tax twice, it is claimed. The United Cigar Stores are selling former 15-cent. packages at 18 cents and 18-cent packages at 20 cents, and English ones, which the others are charging 40 for, at 35. Double packages are up 5 cents.

"It is no wonder they complain about a falling off in business when they charge a five-cent profit on each package where they formerly made three," one tobacconist told The Examiner. "Moreover, they increased their price the minute the tax was put on, while we never shoved ours up a cent till Saturday. I would say that our trade has only fallen off about 10 per cent."

One of the dealers who is charging the higher prices declared the cigarette sale had fallen off as much as 25 per cent. A big increase in the sale of tobacco and pipes was noticed. Sam. Ray, for many years in the business here, declared "the increase didn't fizz on the trade." He had not noticed any decline, and he thought the cigarette smokers would pay whatever was asked.

PETERBORO' BAPTIST CONVENTION CLOSED

WESTERN MISSIONS

The 120th annual meeting of the Peterboro Baptist Association closed to-day with a small attendance, most of the delegates having departed for their home last night. The reading of reports occupied the attention of the session, which was opened by devotional exercises, led by Rev. R. M. Fraser, B.A., B.D., of Gilmour Memorial Church.

A report of work at the Grand Ligne Mission was read by Rev. T. L. White, of Lakefield, giving figures showing progress made in evangelical work amongst the Roman Catholics of Quebec, with progress also reported in the Maritime Provinces. Mr. White appealed for increased interest in this branch of home mission endeavour, saying that it was one of the most important aspects of the church's work. Figures were given, showing a decrease in many instances in the amount contributed by different churches of the Peterboro district towards the funds of the Grand Ligne Mission.

A report on B.Y.P.U. work, prepared by Mrs. Jas. Young, of Gilmour Memorial Church, was read in her absence by Rev. W. E. Morrow, pastor of Park street church. Activities of the different Young Peoples' Unions of the district included reports of conversions brought about by their efforts; missionary funds collected and improvements to church grounds and properties. Norwood, Belleville, Senior, and Gilmour branches support native pastors in India; Belleville, Junior Club, supports a student; Campbellford branch installed an organ in their church building, and Gilmour Memorial was responsible for the piano in their Sunday School while Norwood helped in painting the church buildng. Park street reported a good deal of work done in visiting the Childrens' Shelter and the Protestant Home.

For[e]ign Missions

An infomal report on Foreign Mission work was given by Rev. L. H. Coles of Colborne, who said that all the churches of the district showed an encouraging interest, financial and otherwise, in the work of the Foreign Missions. This state ment was borne out by the Clerk's assertion that an increase of $455.20 was shown in Foreign Mission giving in this year's returns. Rev. Mr. Coles also referred to the work in Bolivia, which was encouraging, "although, as this is a Roman Catholic country, progress is necessarily slow."

Rev. T. Rich of Norwood gave report on Western Missions, also showing an encouraging outlook, with many churches reopened in the different provinces. In Saskatchewan, with its one million population 460,000 of whom were non-English, representing 53 nationalities, speaking 89 languages and dialects, and conforming to 73 different religions and creeds, good work was being done, but Russellism, Mormorism and hotbed of other vipers are in evidence there, who may win out with their pernicious systems, unless an aggressive policy is maintained." The work among the Scandinavians was advancing at a rapid rate, with that among the Hungarians also, and progress at the Brandon College was being made. "In order to do the requisite work," declared the speaker, "from $60,000 to $70,000 more is needed annually than is now available." The three-fold commission: "pray ye, go ye, give ye" had never yet been contradicted.

Closing Reports

A report on Educational work, prepared by Rev. W. H. Wallace, of Belleville was read by Rev. R. R. M. Fraser, of Gilmour Memorial Church, and gave figures showing attendance at McMaster University, Moulton, Brandon and Woodstock, noting also the preliminary

MAKE AN END OF TITLES

LONDON, June 8.—Canadian Press Cable—Discussing opposition in South Africa and Australia over the bestowal of certain titles the Manchester Guardian says it looks as if the Kings advisors would do well to make an end of bestowing such titles upon citizens of the Dominions. A hint of this was plaigly given, it continues when Canada politically requested that the practice be ended as far as Canada was concerned and the trouble has now spread to Australia and South Africa.

RELIGIOUS FAITH SAVED ENGLAND FROM DISASTER

So Declared Rev. J. J. Coulter at the Opening of Methodist Conference To-day.

EARLY METHODISM

TORONTO, June 8.—(Special to The Examiner.)— Rev. Dr. S. D. Chown, head of Canadian Methodism, could not be present at the opening of the Toronto Conference to-day, so he sent an inspirational address which was read for him to the clergy and laymen.

The General Superintendent told the delegates that this is the day of the church's supreme opportunity, and if it cannot rise to it now it will sink into dissolution.

Rev. J. J. Coulter, pastor of Danforth Methodist church, gave the conference this morning its preparatory address, taking as his theme "The Soul of the Conference" and telling of the first Methodist conference ever held, in London in 1774, attended by four laymen and six ministers.

"It was those early conferences that started a great stream of religious faith flowing through the Anglo-Saxon world, and probably saved England from national disaster. The soul of our conference is the vital matter now, and what the conference is in its annual assembly, it is likely to be throughout the year in the various fields of battle and service," he said.

Methodist Traits.

Mr. Coulter then reviewed the characteristics of Methodism in its earliest days, and asked if these characteristics still filled the soul of the conference.

"Early Methodism," he continued, "was marked by gladness and praise. It was a spring time of religious experience, in many ways it was Puritan but not Dour. It passed the frothy days of sensuous stimulation, for it had found the better joy of inner harmony and peace. Is the soul of our conference still full of the joy of the Lord "

The speaker called for first emphasis upon the spiritual element in sermons, music and prayers in the modern life of the church.

A negro who had read the words of St. Paul, 'I keep my body under and bring it into subjection,' forgot the words but retained the thought when he said, "I keep my soul on top." "This," said the speaker, in concluding his address, "should be our purpose in this conference. I keep my soul on top, the lesser things beneath."

WEDDING BELLS

GERTLEY—KILLINGBECK

A quiet but prettty wedding took place yesterday at Knox Church Manse at 12.30 when Reliene Mary, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Killingbeck of this city was united in marriage by Rev J. A. Mackenzie to Cecil George Gertley, eldest son of W. J. Gertley of Toronto.

The bride daintly gowned in silk crepe de chine of Princess Mary blue, trimmed with maize-color satin, wearing a large picture hat, and carrying Ophelia roses, was attended by Miss May Robinson of this city, who wore pink embroidered organdy lace-trimmed, with hat to match: Mr. Clifton Nixon supported the groom.

Many women are buying bedroom suites of unfinished wood and painting it themselves in pastel colors to suit their tastes.

Says Canada in a Perilous Position

"Canada is in a perilous position," said Mr. J. H. Burnham to-day. "If she exchanges her privilege of public control for the public ownership policies of Mr. Crerar and Mr. Meighen, it is not hard to say where this unfortunate country will bring up. The National Conservative Convention in September will certainly not endorse public ownership. Why should we take all the risk when others will do it, and we can control the rates, duties, etc.? Opposition makes strange bed-fellows. Drury is fighting against this very idea at present at any rate."

SNAPPY DRILL LOCAL FIREMEN

Entire Department Practised Life-Saving Under Chief Gimblett's Instructions.

Yesterday afternoon the two platoons of firemen were put through the snappiest drill held so far by Chief George Gimblett. For an hour the men gave an exhibition with ladders, hose and fire net that showed an increased smartness over the last drill and gave an indication of what may be accomplished by consistent work with the equipment. The drills in raising and lowering the ladders is arranged so that each man becomes acquainted with the different positions. Eight men were used on the 55 footers, and the men were not advanced until they had acquitted themselves satisfactorily at each station.

Life Saving.

The entire department practised life saving, carrying their comrades down the 24 ladder from the roof of the addition, to the ground. There was no excuse from this drill. Two of the heavyweights on the department, each weighing over 200 pounds, had to do it the same as the featherweights of the brigade. Chief Gimblett showed the men how to carry a person down a ladder in the most approved manner, and the exhibition was interesting and showed the anxiety of the chief to develop the brigade into a highly efficient organization.

The Net Work.

The platoons were given a net drill, the Chief explaining to the men the tension to give the net and how to sustain the shock of the falling object. Until the men become proficient in handling the net the Chief will not attempt jumping into it or asking any of the men to. Sandbags were thrown into it and Fireman Archie McDonald was ordered to go to the roof. The Chief did not ask him to make the jump, however, although McDonald showed his grit in being ready to take the hop.

German Smoke Helmets.

To end up the afternoon's instructions, B. B. Morden showed the men how to work a pulmotor and explained the fine points of the German smoke helmets. Chief Gimblett stood by the British service helmet used in France, but Mr. Morden said they would not be of use in a closed room. One of the men declared he had used one in a burning stable and found it satisfactory.

EXAMINING PROPOSED IRISH CONSTITUTION

LONDON, June 8. — (Canadian Press).—Legal experts representing the British Cabinet and the Irish Free States to-day examined clause by clause the proposed constitution for Ireland to ascertain whether the document squares with the provisions of the treaty, and it is understood that negotiations are proceeding satisfactorily.

PROBLEM MAY GROW WORSE.

LONDON, June 8. — (Canadian Press). — Right Hon. C. A. McCurdy, member for Northampton, Chief Coalition Whip in the House of Commons, in a speech yesterday, hinted that the Irish problem might become worse, and consequently circumstances might arise which would make it only right that the Government consult the people.

CANNOT PROHIBIT SALE RACING FORMS

TORONTO, June 8.—(Canadian Press).—J. Walter Curry, K.C., in Legislature this morning drew from the Attorney General by reading a morning paper editorial demanding that government pass legislation to prohibit sale of racing forms, a statement that the Provincial Government had no authority to prevent sale of such publications in province.

The Thursday afternoon holidays so far as Dry Goods Stores are concerned will not come into effect until July and August.

THE AUDITORS REPORT SHOWS A BIG INCREASE

Where the City Obtains Some of Its Revenue—Costs $300 a Year to Light Hunter St. Bridge

LICENSE REVENUE

The auditor's report of the city of Peterborough, fresh from the printers, and packed with information relating to the financial condition of the city, lies at City Hall in a pile as large as any other years, although only 100 copies have been printed as a measure of economy. Last year there were 200 and they were not all used so the Council decided a saving could be effected by cutting down the number printed.

On account of combining an abstract statement of the Utilities Commission in the report this year, its size has been increased from 128 pages to 193. The net debt of the city is shown by the statement to have been $1,578,241.19 on December 31st last with the total sinking funds on hand and invested, $979,973.42. A comparative statement of assessment and taxation from 1905 to 1922 shows that the population has increased from 14,175 to 21,439; assessment from $5,854,264 to $20,810,485; the tax rate from 18 to 36 mills; the amount levied by taxation from $114,611.27 to $701,344.04. Assessment per capita in 1905 was $414 while now it is $970. The taxes per capita show a climb from $8.08 to $32.71. While there has been an actual reduction in the tax rate this year the figures show that this does not mean a decrease in per capita tax, for on account of the increase in assessment each person will have to pay nearly $2.50 more than they did in 1921.

Sources of Revenue.

Although the city gets most of its revenue from taxation of land and buildings, the report shows many other profitable sources of revenue. For instance the dogs of the city were responsible for $641 coming in via the dog tax. Licenses for various businesses netted $5,574.50. The market resulted in a small profit, receipts being $655.03 and payments $566.65. Police court fines are important from a financial standpoint, bringing in $8,418.51 which amounted to about one-third of the cost of police protection.

Revenue from Queen Mary Hospital was $2,983.42, which from the fact that it cost $15,291.65 to keep up, evidently stamps it as a municipal charitable institution. The year started out very poorly with only a revenue of $63.30, but ended up in December due to epidemics of scarlet fever and diphtheria with $955 received.

The administration of justice which is separate from the police estimates, cost the city $9,816.12. The Board of Education received $191,000, the Public Library Board $8,000, the Protestant Home $4,599.11, the Nicholls Hospital $9,600 and the Mothers' Allowance $6,295.50.

Street Lighting.

Lighting the city streets last year cost over $15,000, the market clock now that it is illumianted, burns about $60 worth of juice and providing illumination on the Hunter street bridge last year meant over $300. Upkeep of the park requqired $1,615.10. Fees paid the official dog catcher for the year can not, however, be challenged as exorbitant remuneration, for James Gates is credited with having received but $11.25 for his services.

Although the winter of 1921 was exceedingly mild, the city had to cough up $2,137.51 for snow removal. The snow plough made a few appearances on the street, but the majority of citizens are inclined to think the contractors earned their money pretty easy.

Oiling and watering the city streets last year cost $10,468.20, of which $7,400 is represented by the initial cost of oil used. The Suburban Road Commission spent $13,013.88 for the city and this year the bill will be just as large, according to rumors. The year's payments in connection with the Hunter street bridge total $62,383.44.

BELLEEK OCCUPIED BY BRITISH TROOPS

BELFAST, June 8. — (Canadian Press.)— Belleek was occupied today by British troops, which advanced this morning to take the salient from the Irish irregular forces holding it.

Artillery in Action.

An engagement between Irish regular forces in the Belleek district and British troops, which advanced this morning in that area, began at one o'clock this afternoon, when signals were sent up indicating that the British troops were being fired upon. The British artillery then opened up, landing two shots near Belleek fort, in Free State territory.

At Newtownards, military headquarters, it was stated that the town was retaken without loss of life, and that no prisoners were taken.

Deputation Went To Ottawa Today

OTTAWA, June 8.—(Canadian Press).—Claiming that the proposed stamp tax on cheques would work a hardship to municipalities, both rural and urban, throughout Canada, and stressing the fact that municipalities were not organized or operated for profit, a large delegation representing the Union of Canadian Municipalities waited on the Minister of Finance this morning and asked that municipal corporations be exempted from the effect of the tax.

A BUMPER BERRY CROP PREDICTED

Prices of Strawberries May Range Around 15c a Box.

Whether the 1922 strawberry crop will be a success or failure depends on the weather man, according to berry growers who supply the local trade. If a rain comes within the next few days the crop will be a record-breaker, and berries will be more plentiful than in several seasons, but if Jupiter Pluvius is unkind the berries will dry completely up on the vines.

This is the way Frank Kitney, the well-known Otonabee market grower, and George Moncrief, North Monaghan, regard the situation; but A. F. Stenson, North Monaghan, one of the largest growers in this district, was confident there was enough moisture in the ground to carry the crop over. A good rain would be helpful, however, he admitted.

The berry season this year is a week ahead of other years, and as is unusual, is as advanced as in the Western berry sections, according to Walter Oke, wholesale fruit merchant. If the local supply is large enough to meet the demand, the Niagara District growers will be up against a competiton they have never had to figure on in other years.

Berry growers say the crop is unusually large, and already a few boxes have been picked. Mr. Kitney said he noticed to-day that a large number of vines were wilted, and Mr. Moncrief thought the fact that the berries were ripening up although only half developed, was an ominous sign. The warm weather was ripening the berries prematurely, and generous rains were needed to balance the growth, he said.

A. F. Stenson regarded the conditions for a bumper crop optimistically, and thought that there was little cause to worry for a few days yet. His berries are not wilting, he said, and next week they hope to put on the market one of the largest and finest crops in their experience. There will be some berries on the farmers' market on Saturday, Mr. Stenson expected.

Mr Oke does not look for cheap berries on acount of the small acreage of berries in this section, and the freight rates and labour costs make imported berries high.

Mr. Oke predicted prices around 15 cents, with possibly two boxes for a quarter offered when the season is at its height. Imported berries are selling at the present time at 35 cents a box. Mr. Oke declared the season was earlier than in years, and it was most unusual for the Western growers not to start picking at east a week ahead of here.

General Fruit Outlook.

With the exception of raspberries, the fruit outlook in this district has never been surpassed, fruit growers say. On vines, bushes, and trees there was an immense bloom, and conditions to date have been excellent. The rains have occurred at the time they have been most needed, and prospects are encouraging. The truck farmers all report heavy winter kills in the raspberry bushes on account of frost.

Mr. Moncrief estimated that 50 per cent. of the stalks were killed, and the fact that the winter was not unusually severe puzzled him to explain the wide killing.

Mr. Kitney remarked on the loss in berry bushes, and Mr. Stenson said he had noticed it.

From all parts of the country Mr. Oke said he had received optimistic reports on the fruit crop. Niagara looks for bumper crops of every kind of fruit. The cherry crop will be large, and although there are very few cherries grown in this district, what there are will be plentiful and of fine quality, judging by conditions now.

WINNIPEG, June 8.—(Canadian Press).—With new Moderator, Rev. Dr. W. J. MR. G. N. GORDON IS IN FAVOR OF THE STAMP TAX

Says It Will Be Paid Largely by Financial, Banking and Brokerage Concerns.

DEPUTATION TODAY

Mayor W. H. Taylor and Ald. N. E. Phelan, chairman of the Finance Committee, went to Ottawa last night on the midnight train to take part in a deputation that is waiting on Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, to-day, urging that the proposed graduated stamp tax on cheques be not imposed, as it would be a serious burden on the municipalities. The deputation has been arranged by the Union of Canadian Municipalities.

Appointment Arranged.

In the above connection, replying to a telegram from Mayor Taylor, dated June 7, asking the Federal member for West Peterborough to arrange with Hon. W. S. Fielding for an interview with the deputation in question, Mr. G. N. Gordon, M.P., wired immediately as follows:

"Mayor Taylor,

"Peterborough, Ont.

"Telegram received this afternoon, which is very late to arrange appointment with Minister of Finance, but will do the best I can for you and delegation to meet him. My own view is that the bankers and brokerage houses should be the last persons in the world to object to a stamp tax, in view of usual twelve per cent. dividends paid by banks with the large reserves, and the extensive profits made by brokers and financial houses from Victory Loan sales."

Detrimental to Commerce.

That the proposed graduated stamp tax will re-act seriously against the best interests of Canadian commerce is the view of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, and the conclusion reached by them on Monday, June 5, in the following resolution, which they at once transmitted to the local member, Mr. G. N. Gordon, at Ottawa: (The local chamber asked Mr. Gordon to support the principles conveyed in their resolution).

"Whereas, we believe the proposed graduated stamp tax announced in the Budget will be detrimental to commerce; will hinder banking and inflate currency by encouraging a large circulation of currency in place of cheques.

"Therefore resolved that we, the Executive Council of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, strongly urge that the proposed graduated stamp tax be not enacted and in substitution thereof respectfully recommend:

"(1) That the present excise tax collected by manufacturers and wholesalers and jobbers of two and a quarter per cent. be increased to two and one-half per cent.

"(2) That the present excise tax of three and three-quarter per cent. collected on goods imported by manufacturers and wholesalers be increased to four per cent.

"(3) That in respect of sales by manufacturers to retailers or consumers, the present excise tax of four and one-half per cent. be increased to five per cent.

"(4) That on goods imported by retailers or consumers the present excise tax of six per cent. shall be increased to six and one-half per cent."

Mr. Gordon's Views.

In reply to the above, Mr. Gordon defines his position in favor of the graduated stamp tax in the following communication to the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, from Ottawa, under date of June 7:

"Leon Frazer, Esq.,
Secretary,
Peterboro Chamber of Commerce,
Peterboro, Ont.

"Dear Mr. Frazer,—I beg to acknowledge your favor of the 5th instant, in which you enclose a resolution unanimously passed by the Executive Council of the Peterboro Chamber of Commerce.

"My reason for supporting the graduated stamp tax is briefly as follows:

"It will be paid largely by financial institutions, and banking and brokerage concerns, and will weigh less heavily upon the person of small means, than the man of large means.

"Three hundred and thirty-three million dollars require to be raised, to pay for the liabilities caused chiefly through the war, and it is the duty of every citizen to assist in assuming that burden, according to his ability to respond, and for that reason, I think the tax should be made as light as possible on the man of small earning power; while the man of means should bear a greater share.

"The objection I have to increasing the sales tax on manufactured goods, and imported goods, is that this would appear to me to increase the cost of living to the ordinary man with a family, and would be shifting to him a greater burden of taxation, than is his fair share; while the large financial concerns would be escaping practically free, except the income tax, with a business profits tax they are required to pay.

"I have discussed the question of increased income tax, and the question of reducing the sales tax, with Mr. Fielding, and members of the Cabinet, and I am strongly of the view that any increased tax on business should not be imposed along the lines you suggest, because I feel it will have a tendency to injure business, instead of improving it, and would add to the already heavy burdens of the man of small earning power.

"I am pleased to receive your representations, but, on the other hand, I must support the stamp tax, because I feel it is not only equitable, but it places the burden upon those who can bear it most easily."

CRIMINAL COURT ACT IS LAID OVER TO NEXT SESSION

Senate Wishes to Watch Working of a Similar Bill in England.

OTHER MATTERS.

OTTAWA, June 8. Canadian Press. — In the S..e yesterday the bill of Senator McMeans creating the Canadian Criminal Court of Appeal was laid over until next session, awaiting information fr.. England as to the success of a similar court there.

Considerable time was spent in discussing the legality of an amendment to the Salaries Act and the Senate and the House of Commons Act. This amendment has for its object the lessening of the restrictions on the attendance to secure complete sessional remuneration. It is claimed that the act of last session worked a hardship on senators living at the extr.. ends of the Dominion. Objection was taken by Senator Tanner that the amendment was not in order, not being relevant to the bill before the Senate and also that it was legislation beyond the power of the Senate as it dealt with money appropriations. This view was contradicted by many of the Senators and finally Mr. Speaker Bostock reserved his judgment until to-day.

So far one hundred petitions for divorce have been heard by the Divorce Committees and have been presented to the Senate.

RUMOURS ARE UNTRUE THAT PONTIFF IS ILL.

LONDON, June 8. — (Canadian Press.)— A despatch to the Times from Rome says the best proof that the recent rumors that the Pope was ill are unfounded is the fact that the Pontiff is granting daily audiences as usual. He received Cardinal Bourne yesterday morning.

The correspondent adds that he has been assured in authoritative circles that Pope Pius is in excellent health, despite the fact that he is paler and thinner than he was at the time of the election.

THE HIKERS BROKE UP THE GATHERING.

TORONTO, June 8.— (Canadian Press.)—General Riley and his hikers broke up a meeting called by veterans' organizations of the city last night for the purpose of formulating a resolution respecting adequate compensation for soldiers. Following an attempt by hikers to storm the band stand, in which they were beaten back by plain clothesmen and hikers, police reserves and mounted police arrived and put an end to the threatening attitude of the men. About a dozen of the men were beaten about the arms and bodies by the police.

FRANCE WOULD GRANT LOAD TO HELP GERMANY

But Will Not Countenance Any Reduction in the Amount of Reparations Due Her.

READY TO ACT.

PARIS, June 8. Canadian Press. —Premier Poincare told the Senate Foreign Affairs Commission yesterday afternoon that he hoped the negotiations would continue for an international loan to Germany, although he hardly expected any early tangible results.

In the meantime, he said, French authority, while awaiting German payments in cash, which could become important only through the aid of a loan must adjust itself to payments in goods.

M. Poincare said that this did not mean that an international loan was impossible; on the contrary a loan was altogether compatible with the rights and the interests of France, as well as the stipulations of the treaty and the schedule of payments. Article 248 permitted the Reparations Commission to approve a loan and all other methods of payment but he added it should be understood that the Reparations Commission has not and will not have the right to put a loan into operation, and the French government would always make it an essential condition that a loan would not mean any reduction in reparations due France.

Repeating previous declarations in the Chamber of Deputies as to France's determination to act alone if necessary in case of Germany's default in reparations, the Premier said that regardless of whether the need for imposing penalties upon Germany arose or not, France had studied and prepared all plans for various sorts of penalties and was ready for the day when the Reparations Commission might declare Germany in default.

PRINCE AAGE GUEST OF AMERICAN CLUB.

COPENHAGEN, June 8.—(Associated Press).—Prince Aage of Denmark, who, according to rumors, is to be the next Danish Minister to Washington, has been entertained at luncheon here by the American Club. Minister Prince, who presided, introduced his highness as "a great traveller, a great soldier fighting on the side of the Allies and one of Europe's finest middleweight boxers."

In his reply Prince Aage recounted the happy impressions which he had obtained of the Americans whom he met in France during the war, and he appealed to America to assist Europe through the darkest hour she had experienced since the Armistice with that same energy and intelligence she showed during the war.

SEPARATE SCHOOL BILL IS LOST IN COMMITTEE

Will Be Considered By a Special Committee at the Next Session of the Legislature.

BILL PERMISSIVE.

TORONTO, June 8.—(Canadian Press.)—After a lengthy fight J. A. Pinard's bill to permit a non-Catholic guardian of a Roman Catholic child of school age to be a Separate School supporter, was voted down in Committee of the House in the Legislature yesterday afternoon on the tentative understanding that the issue would go to a special committee of the Legislature next session for consideration along with other bills affecting the separate school question. Hon. R. H. Grant, Minister of Education when the bill was introduced immediately moved that it be not reported. He stated that the measure was against the principle of the existing school laws and that he, and his department officials, were opposed to it. "As the law now stands," he said. "A non-Catholic could not, under any circumstances, be a Separate School supporter. He felt that the number of cases that would come under the jurisdiction of the bill would be very few and he doubted whether there was any real cause or request for it.

Premier Drury took much the same view. He urged that the legislature should avoid "tinkering" with laws that involve such controversial questions. He, like Mr. Grant, did not think the number of case in the province warranted the legislation.

Mr. Pinard supported by Mr. Dewart, argued that the bill was purely permissive. He stated that the bill did not say that a Protestant guardian "shall" do such and such but "may" if he so desires.

W. F. Nickle, (Kingston), while not prepared to agree with the bill in its entirety thought that there was some merit in it. He suggested however, that it should have consideration and did not think there was sufficient time left to give it the necessary consideration. On this ground he proposed that the bill, and Z. Mageau's SeparateSchool debenture bill, should be re-introduced next session and sent to a special committee for consideration. This proposal was endorsed by J. Walter Curry, (South-west Toronto), and finally accepted tentatively by the Premier and Mr. Grant. Mr. Pinard however, refused to consider the bill in the interval between the two sessions.

On a motion of Hon. F. C. Biggs, a special committee of the Legislature, representative of all groups, was appointed to sit during the recess of the House and consider the consilidation of the various acts in connection with the ultimate consolidation of the Motor Vehicles Act. A splendid committee was also appointed to deal with the Government's anti-combine legislation which has been under consideration for some time.

GENERAL STRIKE ON EAST INDIA RAILWAY

Comes to End After 2 Months' Struggle.

CALCUTTA, June 8.—(Associated Press)—The general strike on the East Indian railway, after dragging on for more than two months, has finally come to an end. The strikers have accepted the offer made recently by the Agent of the railway, and are resuming work at practically all points along the line.

The conciliation between the railway officials and the workers have been fasciliated by the efforts of F. C. Andrews, who acted as mediator. Mr. Andrews is an Englishman, formerly engaged in missionary work. He now wears Indian clothing and has made himself prominent in upholding the Indians in their efforts to obtain complete home rule.

News of the ending of the strike has come as a great relief, for its continuance was proving distressing in many ways.

WEAK AND NERVOUS

IN this Condition the Blood Supply Should be Promptly Enriched.

Hardly any condition of ill health cause more worry to the sufferer than that for which there is generally least sympathy. Men and women with nerves out of gear often become irritable and are blamed for ill temper, when it is not their fault. Their poor health is the cause. The tired, over-busy wife and mother, whose household cares have worn her out; the bread-winner whose anxieties have worried him until he is thin and ill are among the nerve sufferers who become run down. Their nerves like all bodily organs, ned rich, red blood. In such cases the best and simplest treatment is a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which enrich the blood and tone up the nervous system and bring good health and cheerfulness. Proof is given by Mr. Donald McLellan, Bay street, Lawrence, N. S. says:—"I was nervous and run down and did not sleep well. As I grew older I became worse, and suffered from the nervousness more than can be readily believed. A friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I began a treatment of this medicine. After taking five boxes I felt like a new man; could eat well and sleep well, and felt improved in every way. I think very highly of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and recommend them to any person who is run down and in want of vitality."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TIRED OF PAYING HIGH RENTALS.

Tenants of Mexico Have Formed a Union.

MEXICO CITY, June 8.—(Associated Press).—Tired of paying high rentals, tenants of Mexico City have formed a union and are even threatening a general strike of all industries in the capital unless their demands for a 75 per cent. decrease in all rents is not met by the landlords.

The union is recruited from the lower classes, but is being led by well-known labor organizers who have already staged a number of demonstrations and have announced that they will resort to violence if necessary to achieve their ends. Streot parades are held at least three times a week and several have been so riotous that police reserves were called out.

The newspapers El Universal and Excelsior, which have consistently opposed the union, have been threatened numerous times and several nights ago a rowdy gang of low rent advocates attempted to set fire to the newspaper buildings. Police were necessary to drive them off.

The tenants are not at all modest in their demands. Besides asking that their rents be reduced 75 per cent., they also insist that the landlords be forced to make all sorts of repairs and installations on their properties. The landlords assert the demands are impossible to meet if present high taxes are maintained by the Federal and district Governments.

The idea of lower rents is catching hold in other cities of the Republic, and there is talk of organizing a tenants' party to compete in the national and State elections.

KINGSTON, June 8.—(Canadian Press).—At this morning's session of the third annual meeting of the Ontario Association of Managers of the Homes for the aged and infirm, the separation of married couples was discussed. A vote showed that three managers favored keeping married people together and four did not. It was pointed out that in such institutions men invariably outnumbered the women.

PLUMBERS STRIKE HAS BEEN SETTLED

St. Catharines Workers Refuse Cut of 15 Cents But Accept 7½ Cents Reduction.

ST. CATHARINES, June 8.—(Canadian Press.)—Local plumbers' strike, in existence since April 1st, was settled here yesterday afternoon and the men will return to work today. The wage rate had been 90 cents per hour. The men refused to accept a reduction to 75 cents an hour and went on strike. Three weeks ago the employers made a compromise offer of 80 cents which the men refused to accept, demanding 82 1-2 cents. The employers announced an open shop two weeks ago. Yesterday they accepted the proposition of the men on a one-year agreement.

GREAT WAR VETERANS ARE DISAPPOINTED.

ST. CATHARINES, June 8.—(Canadian Press.) — Last night's meeting of St. Catharine's branch of the G.W.V.A. was the largest attended in some months and the most demonstrative in some time. Disappointment and consternation was very evident at a telegram from the Dominion secretary at Ottawa, who reported that the Parliamentary committee would next week bring in recommendations against any further re-establishment in the way of meeting the unemployment situation, also against any housing scheme and for the reduction of the pension list and also destruction of the insurance scheme. Authority was given for the despatch of a message asking for a new committee.

RADIOPHONE HELPS BED-RIDDEN INVALID

A J DE LONG, OPERATING HIS BEDSIDE RADIO SET.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., June 7.—Radio has proved a salvation for A. J. De Long invalid.

De Long has been confined to his bed for a number of years because of rheumatism which has affected both legs and the right arm. His condition kept him from entering college. He had little entertainment.

Now De Long has a radio set beside his bed. He operates it with his left hand.

Concerts, lectures, sermons, vocal music— everything he has been forced to miss—he is now enjoying.

But he didn't stop with education and entertainment for himself. Realizing the possibilities of radio, De Long invited in any persons who would care to listen to his radio concerts.

The result was a boom in the business that has kept him out of want. He has been gathering magazine subscriptions faster than ever.

DAIL EIREAN WILL BE ASSEMBLED TO-DAY

Last Meeting of Present Dail—Many Candidates For Seats in New Body.

TO MEET JULY 1.

DUBLIN, June 8. — (Canadian Press.)—With little or no information given out regarding the progress of the conventions between Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail Eireann, and the British Ministers at London, interest in the session of the Dail, which begins at three o'clock this afternoon, centres on the status of the De Valera-Collins pact and the prospective elections contests.

In Mr. Griffith's absence the task of leading the House falls on Michael Collins, and in the present state of national affairs the people will concentrate on the declaration of the leaders and the debate among the rank and file in the Assembly in order to find some light on the situation, which, to the average person seems to remain one of doubt and darkness.

Mr. Collins is expected to review the general relations between the North and South, with special reference to the Pettigoe affair, but it is understood that the topic of most ardent appeal will be that of observance of the coalition pact in the coming elections. Opposition to the panel candidates, as shown in Tuesday's nominations, came as a distinct surprise, and the greatest umbrage seems to have been taken at the advent into the lists of certain candidates, in violation of the panel arrangement.

When the business of the Dail is concluded at this session it is not expected to meet again, but will be replaced by the new Dail now in the course of election. The date of summoning the new body has been fixed for July 1 by arrangement between the Lord Lieutenant and the Provisional Government. Confirmation of this arrangement will be asked at to-day's meeting.

The Republicans protest against the declaartion of Winston Spencer Churchill, Colonial Secretary, that all members of the new Irish Government, in writing, accept the treaty. Their idea is continued maintenance of the Dail Cabinet, in which, by the De Valera-Collins pact, they would have four seats, while leaving the provisional government as a separate body.

If, however, ther is only one government, the De Valera-Collins pact cannot be carried out, for by the Free State Agreement Act, all members of the responsible ministry must accept the treaty, which Mr. De Valera and his colleagues have declared they will refuse to do.

The main business of the new parliament after passing the constitution will be consideration of the franchise bill establishing universal adult suffrage and authorization of a new register on which the Free State elections will take place.

The feature of the completed returns of the nominations in the certainty that in twenty of the twenty-seven electoral areas, 47 independents will oppose the 90 coalitionists of Collins and De Valera. Of the independents, 18 have been named by the Labor Party, 12 by the Farmers' Union and 14 by associations representing ratepayers and business and commercial interests, while three are unattached.

In seven constituencies, panel candidates numbering 34 will be returned unopposed; half of these are in favor of the treaty, and the other half opposed to it. Of the 90 panel candidates who will go to the polls, 48 are for the treaty, and 41 against — while one has been selected by both sides. The total nominations Tuesday for 124 seats, number 271. The candidates representing all sections going to the polls again number 137. Nominations for the four seats for Dublin University are due to-day.

NEW REGULATIONS FOR EXPRESS WILL SOON BE IN EFFECT

Shipments From United States Not to Be Prepaid After June 15.

FREIGHT RATES.

WINNIPEG, June 8.—(Canadian Press).—George E. Carpenter, Secretary of the Prairie Division, Canadian Manufacturers' Association, announced yesterday that the American Railway Express Company had cancelled the requirement that charges on express shipments from the United States to Canada be prepaid, the change to become effective June 15.

Efforts of the Association to secure the withdrawal of the surcharge on freight rates had been unsuccessful, Mr. Carpentier said.

The freight surcharge and the express prepayment order were caused by unfavorable exchange rates against Canada.

MONTREAL, June 8.—(Canadian Press.)—The acceptance of Dr. M. Desaulnier, M.L.A., of an appointment to the Quebec Liquor Commission, recently vacated by A. L. Carson, has created a vacancy in the legislative assembly, adding Chambly to a list of four vacated constituencies.

THE UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM.

In referenec to the recent articles on unemployment relief which have been appearing in thes columns, a reader complains that the Examiner has said that everybody who accepted the relief offered during the past winter, was a pauper. The Examiner, of course, has said nothing of the sort, but has remarked, and does so again, that the repeated acceptance of such assistance has a pauperizing effect upon many people. There have been men who have been demoralized by the fact that the city supplied them with the necessaries of life without them having to work to earn them, and if the dole system were to be continued another winter the number of such men would be increased. That is why the substitution of a better system of dealing with those out of employment has been urged by The Examiner. No matter how reluctant a man may be at first to apply for relief, the acceptance of such assistance becomes easier and easier as time goes by and eventually many arrive at a stage when their self-respect is gone, and they regard it as a matter of right that they should be housed and clothed and fed without any obligation on their part to work for these things. The providing of work of some kind or other is the antidote for the insidious poison of the dole system, and it is the duty of the council to consider this whole matter without delay, in the hope of arriving at a solution that will restore the morale of those who are in need of such restoration.

THE COOPER BILL.

The Cooper Bill, designed no doubt with the best of motives, but decidedly dangerous in its tendency, has been killed in committee, and the Legislature will have no further trouble during the present session from this measure which proposed to give the Ontario Railway Board wide powers in connection with the agreements between municipalities and electric railway lines. There should be no mourning over the fate of the bill, and its slaughter at the hands of the ocmmittee is decidedly in the public interest. Had the measure passed present agreements existing between the street railways on one hand and the municipalities on the other would have been practically scrapped, and the question of rates and other similar matters, would have been left to the Railway Board, with the municipalities powerless to protect their own interests. To the majority of the committee there seemed no reason why the present agreements should be treated as scraps of papers, and this feature of the Cooper Bill impressed them so unfavorably that the measure was ruthlessly rejected. It is to be hoped that there will be no attempt to resurrect the measure which contains nothing that is of value to the public.

PROTECTING THE PUBLIC.

A Government bill introduced during the present session of the Legislature that seems a step in the right direction is intended to protect the public against the unscrupulous gentry who sell villainous concoctions purporting to be good whiskey. Heavy penalties are prescribed for the use of bogus labels and for the sale of imitation liquor. It is high time that such legislation was put into force. The idea that because the sale of liquor was prohibited there would be none sold, and that therefore there would be no need of safeguarding the public against imitations of the banned beverage is pretty well dissipated by this time. It is recognized that not only is there considerable selling of whiskey but, in addition, there is a still more objectionable form of bootlegging carried on by individuals who do not care how long the victim lives after he drinks what they sell, so long as they have received their pay. The new legislation aims at the men who have been carrying on the poison traffic, and there will be scant sympathy in any quarter for those found guilty under this Act. Selling genuine liquor is an offence against the law of the Province, but it does not begin to approach in gravity the sale of "dope" and poison disguised as liquor. We have not, fortunately, gone as far in this direction in Ontario as have the "poison rings" of the United States, who have not hesitated to sell on a large scale a brand of illegal liquor composed chiefly of wood alcohol, and causing blindness or death. But nevertheless there have been some dangerous brands passed out to the public, and the new Act is necessary to prevent the traffic from increasing.

AN UNFAIR CUSTOM.

In ruling that the amendment to the amendment introduced into the Budget debate by Hon. T. A. Crerar was out of order, the Speaker, Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, was undoubtedly following the custom and practice of the House of Commons which has always been that only one amendment could be submitted to a Budget resolution. Unfortunately, however, no matter how suitable such an arrangement may have been under the old two-party system, it appears to be out of joint with the present condition of politics. In fact, it is not foo much to say that the adherence to old precedents in this case works a manifest injustice upon the Progressives, who, as a political unit, should have an equal opportunity with the two old parties of expressing their opinion by means of a resolution. The followers of Mr. Crerar are in the unfair position of not being able to vote for an amendment of their own, while they disagree with the Government's resolution and with the amendment introduced by Sir Henry Drayton. This is a handicap upon the Progressives that could easily be averted by modernizing the rules of Parliament. The understanding that there should only be one amendment to a resolution was formed at a time when it was never contemplated that the House of Commons, instead of being divided into parties, one the Government and the other the Oppositon, would contain three separate and distinct parliamentary groups. The Progressive party has as much logical right as the Conservative opposition to move an amendment, and yet Parliamentary custom handed down from a day when political conditions were entirely different, bars them from so doing. It is an injustice that should be corrected.

THE DRUG TRAFFIC.

According to information made public by Hon. Dr. Beland in the Federal House a few days ago, there were 1765 convictions in connection with the illegal use of drugs last year, says the Hamilton Spectator. The sum of $115,565 was asked for by the government to cover the estimated cost of enforcing the law in regard to the suppression of the trade. That is a sizeable sum of money for the Canadian people to put up in order to fight the peril, but it is money well spent if it succeeds in its object. For it is absolutely essential that an unflagging battle be waged against the menace, and there must be no let up, but rather an intensification of the effort to destroy the underhand traffic which is being conducted, and to save the present and potential victims from their awful fate. The most disquieting thing about the official statement is the admission that in spite of all that has been done, the number of addicts is increasing, and this in spite of the fact that importations of drugs have been very materially reduced. This points to an organized method of illicit smuggling, and suspicion rests strongly upon the Chinese.

Fully 66 per cent of those convicted last year under the act, it is stated, were Chinamen, and British Columbia has the worst record in the matter of illicit sales. These facts point to the Orient as the great offender against Canada's laws. One cannot help comparing the conditions to-day yith those which prevailed a decade or so ago. Then it was China who was pleading pathetically for the suppression of the opium trade which was ruining the moral fiber of her countrymen. That trade was carried on openly, deliberately, frankly, for the sake of gain. The position is reversed to-day. A secret importation of the perilous stuff is going on, and this time it happens to be men and women of British blood who are the victims.

The suggestion has been made that the offense should be punished by deportation, which, in the case of Chinamen, especially, would constitute a strong deterrent. Again the relation of the drug habit to the enforcement of prohibition has been brought to the fore. But surely no one who gives the matter any thought at all can attribute the increase in the number of addicts to deprivation of alcohol. The mere fact that countries where there are no liquor restrictions are troubled to as great if not a greater extent by the same grave problem is sufficient answer to those who advance such arguments. There is a disposition in some quarters to place the blame on druggists, doctors, veterinary surgeons and other legitimate dealers in drugs. For the sake of the big profits to be made, it is charged, an unscrupulous minority of professional men do not hesitate to supply the habitues. But the fact that the quanity of drugs regularly imported into the country is diminishing, would seem to prove that there is no great delinquency of this nature. It is in the smuggled goods that the great evil lies, and those engaged in that nefarious traffic are a class of persons who deserve, and should receive, the most drastic treatment at the hands of the authorities.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

About the only thing the Budget debate has done is to demonstrate that there are three parties in the House.

Horse racing may not be all that it should be, but so long as the Province can pick up half a million dollars from two meets, it is not likely to be unpopular with the Ontario Government.

LITERARY GEMS

BOTH HAVE THEIR PLACE.

Idealist we must have. It is the idealist who holds up the lamp and guides the wandering feet of man in the paths he should tread. But the materialist, too, has his place in the scheme of things. He is a sort of brake and serves to check the headlong flight of the fanatic. But the man who accomplishes all things, who saves us from the idealist on one hand and the crass materialist on the other, is the sane, sound, practical man.—Los Angeles Times.

THE SPHINX

The Sphinx looks out across a glowing land
Steeped in rich history and rare romance,
Where Kings have left strange footprints in the sand
That fade not, through the centuries' slow advance.

Through burning noon and blue Egyptian night,
The arid winds, across the desert blown,
Caress with lingering touches soft and light,
That hoary head and face of graven stone.

Unnumbered peoples journey o'er the sea
To pay admiring tribute at its shrine,
But, if a welcome for such hosts there be,
What heart, may know what intellect divine?

Remote, beyond the memory of mankind,
That steadfast gaze has ever sought its goal,
Yet who shall live to fabricate, or find
The key to solve the mystery of its soul?

HEADS THAT ACHE AND PAIN

It is hard to drag along with a head that aches and pains all the time.

In nine cases out of ten, persistent headaches are due to poisoned blood, the blood being rendered impure through some derangement of the stomach, liver or bowels, but no matter which organ is to blame the cause must be removed before permanent relief can be obtained.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS, which has been on the market for the past forty five years, removes the cause of the headache by starting the organs of elimination acting freely, and when the impurities are carried off from the system, purified blood circulates in the brain cells, and the aches and pains vanish.

Miss Clara Murphy, Centre Dummer, Ont., writes: "My system was greatly run down and my blood out of order. I suffered a great deal from severe pains in my head which made me feel very miserable. After having tried other remedies I purchased a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and was very glad to notice a decided improvement in my health. I took another bottle and it has done me an enormous amount of good. I have recommended it to some of my friends who were in a similar condition and they all say it is a wonderful remedy."

LIGHTS ON BOATS.

Editor Examiner.

Regarding the editorial that appeared in Tuesday's Examiner condemning the practice of running power boats on the river without the proper lights, a law was passed some time ago making it necessary for everything except a canoe to carry a light, and I believe that that law is still in force.

Would it not be well for all canoes and others who do not carry lights to keep out of the main channel after dark. Many, in fact the great majority of the canoeists, are only out for pleasure, and have no definite destination in view. Can they not play their banjoes and run their little gramaphones as well in the shallower water, where they will be away from the danger of being run down by a motor boat?

BY PERSONS UNKNOWN

(Copyright 1921 By The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

"It is absolutely essential," said the Secretary of the Treasury, glancing across his desk at the short, ruddy-complexioned, rather stout man who sat opposite him, "that the persons responsible for these lynchings at Versailles be arrested, tried and convicted. I don't think it is over-stating the matter to say that this case is more important than any counterfeiting plot or smuggling scheme which the Department has ever worked on, for the governor of Indiana has applied to the Federal government for troops to handle the uprising which threatens to sweep over that part of the country and the entire nation is taking sides in the matter.

"Naturally, we do not wish to send these troops to Versailles unless it is absolutely necessary. It would only lead to additional bloodshed and disorder. What we need is someone who has the nerve to go out there, investigate the case from every possible angle and make a report as to persons responsible for the lynchings. That's why I sent for you."

The man on the other side of the desk smiled and tapped thoughtfully with the forefinger of a hand which indicated strength and determination of character.

"Of course," continued the Secretary, "I must warn you that the case is one that is apt to prove very dangerous. More so, in fact, than anything you have ever attempted. Compared to it the round-up of a gang of moonshiners is child's play—for here you will have to work entirely in the dark, one man against practically an entire state. A single slip would mean your death and would force the Government to take steps which might lead to protracted bloodshed."

"In which case," replied the other, "it would be well for me to go out to Versailles as soon as I can. The longer we wait, the less chance there is of success. Don't make any attempt to hear from me or to locate me for at least a month. If, at the end of that time you haven't received some kind of a report, you will know that they've got me. But somehow, I've got a hunch that they won't."

It was two days later that the train stopped at Versailles, Indiana, halted just long enough to permit a single passenger to alight——a man who was short and rather plump and with a ruddy complexion, a man who registered at the local hotel as "James M. Beck" and who allowed it to become known that he was an insurance agent, representing one of the best known companies in the country. Those whom he approached upon the subject of insurance noted that he spoke with all the ease and familiarity of one who had been in the business for years, backing this up with credentials from the home office of the company in New York—letters and documents which were creased and folded as if he had carried them for many months.

But Versailles, as Beck soon discovered was a poor field for life insurance at that time. There was only one topic of conversation in which the natives were interested: the lynching of the five prisoners who had been taken from jail and murdered by an infuriated mob. This, coupled with open threats of defiance against the governor's edict that the guilty men must be punished, kept the town in a continual state of simmering, seething unrest—punctuated by frequent statements that any State or Government official who tried to find out the names of the men implicated in the lynching, would be shot at sight.

Beck, apparently, wasn't in the least interested in the local turmoil. He had been sent to Versailles to sell insurance and he was determined to sell it, no matter how many people he had to interview. The fact that he was a stranger led, of course, to immediate suspicion of his motives and some two weeks passed before he was able to allay this. Even at the end of the fortnight he was still conscious of being followed, and every time that he approached a gathering or entered a saloon the conversation at once changed to a discussion of the weather or some other harmless topic.

About the end of the third week matters were brough to a head by reason of a wire which Beck sent to New York, a despatch which was in code, and which caused the operator to spread the report that the life "insurance agent" was a detective in disguise. Getting wind of this, and realizing that he must take some radical step to offset suspicion, Beck approached the man who appeared to be the leader of the trouble-faction. The agent explained to him that he was getting tired of the quarters at the hotel and wondered if it would be possible to secure lodgings in some private house where he would be a little more comfortable.

"Certainly," said the native, "I reckon we can put you up all right." And he smiled, at the thought of this man whom he suspected, placing himself entirely in his power. That, however, was precisely what Beck wished, and it only took a couple of days of clever acting to convince the local leader that he was only what he appeared to be—a slow, plodding and conscientious insurance agent. It was in the house of the most dangerous citizen of Versailles, under the very eyes of his associates, that the stranger secured the information he wanted and put it together, piece by piece, until he had the entire story.

It was precisely a month to the day after the conversation in the office of the Secretary of the Treasury, when that official received a wire from Chicago stating that "all facts about Versailles lynchings now in hand. Complete list of men implicated follows by mail."

The name signed to the wire was "William J. Burns, Chief of the United States Secret Service."

Poor paint looks streaked to the naked eye.

It's the Valleys in Paint That Make it Poor

The Valleys are the thin streaks
The Hills are the thick streaks

PAINT streaks are caused by the brush marks. No matter how much it is brushed, if the paint is cheap the brush marks are bound to show.

Good paint levels up to a smooth surface. Cheap paint dries with hills and valleys that are alternately strong and weak.

Just as a chain is only as strong as its weakest link, so is a film of paint only as good as its thinnest places—the valleys.

Most paints are made of only three things. Lowe Brothers High Standard is made of six—three more ingredients that exhaustive laboratory and practical tests have shown to be necessary to make good paint.

Add to this the fact that these ingredients are more finely ground, and you can understand why High Standard will always smooth out to a uniformly thick surface. Which is also the reason it lasts longer, and looks betier as long as it lasts.

Come in and see the sample panels and ask for literature.

A cross section of a cheap paint film looks like this.

THE DAY'S DOINGS AS RECORDED BY THE EXAMINER'S STAFF OF CORRESPONDENTS

Orillia Lacrosse Team Failed To Appear at Campbellford

DIVISION COURT.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 8.—The lacrosse club and the citizens generally were keenly disappointed yesterday by the failure of the Orillia lacrosse team to appear here for an exhibition game which they had suggested some time ago. It had been fully advertised and everything was set propitiously when at 10 o'clock yesterday morning a telegram broke the news that the Orillia squad had decided not to come. It transpired that the entire team did no turn up at the station, although there had been several weeks to arrange this detail, and they left Campbellford to do the worrying.

And it was a day of worry aggravating the disappointment. Telephone messages were sent to all the neighboring towns as far as Deseronto announcing that the game had been called off. In the meantime, Mayor Meyers and other staunch supporters of the team succeeded in arranging a friendly game with Havelock. It was started at 5.30 p.m. Campbellford winning by 7 goals to 5. Blake and Copperthwaite filled out the visiting team as follows:

Havelock—Goal Davidson, points Pacey and Bedford, defense McKenzie and Buchanan, centre, Plunkett, home Brennan, Blake and Copperthwaite. Only nine men a side were used.

Campbellford — Goal Garrison, points Montgomery and T. Thomas, defense Gannon and Sommerville, centre Holmes, home Ackers, Harte and Heagle. Spares Nesbitt and P. Thomas.

Referee— Dick Cole.

The management of the Campbellford team while appreciating the co-operation of the Havelock men wish it understood that in future game gurantees will be secured that the games shall be played as advertised.

The local team were not pressed hard and took it leisurely most of the way. Havelock presented a good team Brennan and Plunkett being particularly effective.

DIVISION COURT IN CAMPBELLFORD

W. J. Connor Case Disposed of—Nine Cases on the List.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 8. — A list of nine cases was laid before Judge Huycke in the Division Court here in Wednesday. One of them was the town suit against W. J. Connor, former chief constable of the town, for the sum of $54.25 covering the value of a revolver, hat and other articles which is was alleged he took after the time he discontinued his work here. This case had hung fire for months, and defendant again failed to answer yesterday either personally or through counsel. Judge Huycke consequently gave judgment for the full amount of the claim.

Two claims against the National Cooperage Co. Ltd. of Hastings went by default, the company being unrepresented. The first was W. B. Sherwin's account for $38 for hauling gravel and the plaintiff in the other case was the Ketchum livery for similar work.

Judgment for $107 against N. Said, a merchant of Hastings, was awarded the Minor Rubber Co'y., whose total claim was for $142.99. Certain shipments of footwear were in dispute in this case in which I. A. Humphries appeared for plaintiff.

Against Adolscent Act.

A petition from the Chatham council urging the repeal of the Adolscent Act was received at the Council meeting Monday night and referred to the Committe ofEnquiry for a report. The objection raised in the letter with which Chatham is evidently circularizing the municipalities of the province is that this Act imposes an excessive tax burden for the construction and maintenance of new schools at a time when obligations accruing from the war is still heavy.

Report on Sewer.

In the report of A.E. Caddy, engineer, on the cost of a sewer on Kent street and a sewer main on Wellington street the cost was estimated at $12,500. A resolution authorizing the town solictor, Mr. I. A. Humphries to prepare a by-law for this work and that notice be published of the Council's intention to proceed with this work was adopted unanimously. All the members were presnt except Councillor Wiggin and Moore.

Mr. John Linton has purchased a new Maxwell car, and Mr. Ald. Merrill, a new McLaughlin.

Councillor Walter S. Wiggins is again able to be around after an attack of tonsilitis.

The arrival of a son was recently reported at the home of Thomas Dope, Trent Bridge.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble, Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid" indigestion.

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

ASPARAGUS DISHES

IF you have ever eaten asparagus absolutely fresh from the garden you know that the taste is very different from that which has been cut for 48 hours. But if the woman who is dependent on city markets for her fresh vegetables will take a few precautions she will find herself well paid.

As soon as the asparagus comes from the market unwrap it and wash it carefully. Do not trim for cooking. When the water the asparagus is washed in is clear, lift the stalks from the water and wrap loosely in a soft towel.

Let stand in a cool place for several hours. This will freshen and crisp asparagus in a truly remarkable fashion. When ready to cook snap off the tough ends and remove the coarse scales from the stalks.

Sand and dirt lodges under the scales and it is impossible to make asparagus perfectly clean without removing them.

Creamed Asparagus on Toast.

Two bunches asparagus, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper.

Snap off tough ends of asparagus. Tie in four small bundles. Stand the bundles with the heads up in a deep stew pan. Pour in boiling water. Do not cover the heads. Let them remain about an inch out of water. Add one teaspoon salt and boil 10 minutes. Add enough more boiling water to cover the heads and cook 10 or 15 minutes longer, till tender.

If asparagus is cooked this way the heads are tender, but not mushy and broken. Remove from water and place each bundle on a square of hot buttered toast. Cut and remove string and pour over the sauce. To make the sauce, melt butter. Do not let the butter bubble.

Stir in flour and cook and stir over a slow fire for five minutes. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly. Season with salt and pepper and pour over asparagus on toast. If this is being served as a company luncheon dish, garnish with strips of pimento.

Plain Boiled Asparagus.

Prepare asparagus as in preceding rule. Cook in boiling salted water for 20 minutes, allowing the heads to stand out of water for the first 10 minutes. Remove from water and put each bundle in a lemon ring. Cut and remove string. Pour over melted butter and sprinkle with asparagus. This is perhaps the most attractive way to serve asparagus as a dinner vegetable.

Asparagus, Country Style.

Wash asparagus and cut in inch lengths. Cook in boiling water for 20 minutes. Add one-half teaspoon salt for every cup of asparagus. Cook in just enough water to prevent burning and do not add the salt until the last 10 minutes of cooking.

When the asparagus is tender and the water is nearly boiled away add one-quarter cup cream. Heat to the boiling point and serve in side dishes. All the minerals are preserved in asparagus cooked this way. This dish is especially good for invalids and children.

When preparing asparagus for an invalid extra care should be taken. Use only the tips and the tenderest portions. One tough, stringy bite may spoil an otherwise delicious and nourishing dish for an ill person. The tougher ends should be used for soup.

Before Cortez Reached Mexico

When Cortez landed in Mexico with his band of Spanish warriors he found that not only was chocolate used as a staple food, but that cocoa beans were the recognized form of currency in the country.

These native Mexicans were quite familiar with the nutritious value of chocolate. Yet it must have been a crude affair compared with the coating used to-day by Moir's on their chocolates.

The Cocoa beans used by Moir's are imported from the West Indies, Ceylon, Java and South America; blended by their own secret process and ground for 78 hours between steel rollers. They are then sweetened with pure granulated sugar and flavored with the essence of real vanilla beans. This smooth, creamy mixture forms the coating for the luscious cream, nut, fruit and nougatine centres, which you can buy in Moir's handsome boxes at your favorite store.

CARROTS--THEY MAKE YOU SLENDER RABBITLY!

By MARGARET ROHE.

Lo, the lowly little carrot
Has acquired a wondrous merit;
As an aid to health and beauty, this carrot can't be beat.
You just take it up and pare it,
Eat it raw, and soon, I swear it,
You'll be beautiful and slender if a pound a week you eat.

NEW YORK.—All our very best yeast manufacturers are putting an awful curse on the carrot crop. They are beginning to look on this simple little denizen of the kitchen garden as a yellow peril and a menace to their corner on vitamines.

You see, carrots are just full of vitamines and beauty specialists and health culturists all over the country are hailing this uncooked rabbit food as the latest scientific first aid to bright eyes and girlish contours.

Can't you remember in the good old days how grandma urged a carrot diet on you as a sure enough guarantee of a peaches and cream complexion. Alas, how you spurned the simple old soul's tip—and also the carrots—little recking that an ounce of them then would have saved you pounds of them now and a peck of trouble besides.

Not a Skin Game.

The merits of carrots go much further than the mere surface, however. Their's is not only a skin game by any means.

One pound of the little old raw garden vegetable is guaranteed to tone up the little old system, make you sweet and pure—but not too pure—fill you inner of pep than a goat gland, make superfluous flesh do a fade-away and even keep silver threads from among the gold.

It stands to reason carrots ought to be good for the hair. Just look how the Belgian breed thrives on 'em.

Anyway, the carrot craze means a lot in the life of Miss Lotta Tonnage. The poor plump thing has tried rolling and starving and rubber lingerie. She's had enough electric baths to be a radio, swallowed thyroid and counted calories till she took the count.

She's "daily dozened" to the strains of music till the strain was too much and eaten Bunky Bread till she was positively crusty. Still the scales climbed up when she climbed on.

Look at Her!

Now, after five weeks and five pounds of carrots in the raw Miss Lotta has actually lost two ounces and a half. Can you blame her for becoming a confirmed carrot rooter? Her mission in life has now centred on snatching carrots unscathed from the stew for the betterment of mankind.

The carrot craze is indeed spreading rabbitly over our fair land. Everybody is getting the raw carrot habit. A munch is as good as a lunch. The hand that reaches for the hip pocket nowadays nine times out of ten comes away with a carrot instead of a flask. The nibble is succeeding the tipple.

With the ever increasing cry for more carrots it is plain to be seen that the demand will soon exceed the supply. Hence a corner in carrots will mean a corner on Easy Street and modern busy alchemists will find the easiest thing they do is turning carrots into karats.

There is just one sad side to the carrot cure—one bit of pathos amidst the golden glow. Just think of all the poor little bunnies that are bound to be deprived of their favorite fruit.

INTERESTING TALK ON CHILD WELFARE.

Inculcation of Obedience to Mother Stressed.

At the regular meeting of the King George Home and School Association, held on Tuesday evening of this week, a very interesting talk on child welfare was given by Mrs. Arthur Stevenson, who spoke of the care of the child, from the first of pre-natal instruction to the mother, on through the home life, when obedience was regarded as the chief virtue to be inculcated, with constant attention to the nourishment of the growing body, and to the life of the boy or girl in school Mrs. Stevenson regretted the action of the City Playgrounds Association, and spoke of the projected innovation of dentists in local schools, for work among the pupils Mothers requiring care and instruction for their infants were recommended to attendance at the Well Babies' Clinic.

After the address, the business session was resumed, with Mrs. Victor Hamilton, president of the Association, in the chair, and arrangements were made for the annual school picnic, to be held at Nicholls Oval on the 17th of this month.

THE WOMAN'S WAY.

A somewhat amusing situation developed at yesterday afternoon's sesion of the district Baptist Association convention. The ladies had retired to a separate room to have a conference on Mission work, while the gentlemen occupied the church in general conference. When preliminary proceedings were completed, and the gentlemen wished to move on to the next item in the programme, a consideration of Sunday school work the objection was raised that the ladies should be present. After much humming and hawing, it was suggester that a resolution be drafted, asking the women to join the general conference, for business occupying general attention, the gentlemen evidently feeling that the ladies' place was with them at the moment, instead of with consideration of matters of separate interest. One of the reverend members accordingly satdown and drafted a resolution, which he was advised to "be careful with the wording of that" and, amidst general laughter, the Clerk departed with the politely-worded request to the ladies to come along and join in the consideration of Sunday school work. He returned a moment later, and then the wait began. The ladies' voices could be heard in the distance, gently rising and falling, but it was almost ten minutes before they began to drift in, as un concerned as if twenty-five men were not waiting impatiently for their appearance.

ICED TEA FOR SUMMER DAYS.

THERE is no more refreshing drink for a hot day than freshly brewed iced tea.

Plain "green" tea does not make good iced tea. A mixture of green and black teas makes a very acceptable drink and any good black tea can be used.

Iced tea must be brewed as carefully as hot tea. Too strong tea, allowed to cool and weakened with cold water, tastes no more like properly made iced tea than this same concoction, reheated and served hot, would taste like freshly brewed tea.

Iced Tea.

Four teaspoons tea, 4 cups boiling water, cracked ice.

Put tea in tea ball. Pour boiling water in teapot to heat thoroughly. Pour out water and hang tea ball in pot. Pour over freshly boiling water. Let stand five minutes to steep.

Fill glasses with cracked ice. Pour tea directly upon ice.

Tea made this way is clear and fragrant as hot tea. When tea stands to cool the infusion becomes cloudy and loses its sweetness.

A syrup is economical to serve in place of sugar with iced tea. Sugar dissolves slowly in a cold liquid.

Many delicious drinks are made with iced tea as basis. Lemonade made with half water and half tea is more refreshing than plain lemonade.

Tea and grape juice, tea and ginger ale, tea and orange juice, tea and fruit juice combined with lemon juice—all these combinations are refreshing and economical.

Small crisp cookies or tiny plain bread and butter sandwiches are suitable to serve with a simple drink on a warm afternoon.

No other kind will do for Baby.

Try Doing Next Week's Washing with Rinso

Find out for yourself why hundreds of thousands of women say that they could not face another wash day without it. The two easy steps below will save you hours of back breaking rubbing.

First: For each tub of clothes dissolve a half a package of Rinso into a little cool water until it is like thick cream, then stir in two quarts of boiling water. If the water is hard, or the clothes extra dirty, use more Rinso.

Then, pour into tub—of cool or lukewarm water. Mix well. Keep adding the solution until you get a rich, lasting, soapy suds, even after the clothes have been put in. Do not pour the Rinso direct from the package into the tub.

Soak the clothes for one hour, two hours, overnight, or as long as convenient. Then rinse to remove the loosened dirt, until the water runs clear. Hang them out to dry.

There's no rubbing—no boiling. Rinso is not a washing powder, but a scientific combination of pure cleansing materials that loosen and dissolve the dirt from even the heaviest pieces. It soaks clothes clean in a few hours without injury to a single fabric.

IF YOU USE A WASHING MACHINE

Follow the regular directions given here. Soak the clothes. Then, before operating the machine, add fresh Rinso solution using the same amount of Rinso as you used for soaking. No other product is needed when Rinso is used.

54 HAVE BECOME BRIDES IN OLD WEDDING GOWN

Fifty-four brides have worn this wedding gown, which is 210 years old.

It was recently sent from the Dardanelles to a Turkish family in Cincinnati, and was worn to the altar for the fifty-fourth time by Miss Rebecca Holo.

The gown is made of bright blue satin and is elaborately embroidered in gold thread and spangles. The cut and embroidery are decidedly Oriental.

In its well preserved shape and conservative cut it offers a subtle reproach to the fragile gowns and changing styles of our generation.

and pinch the edges together with thumb and forefinger.

The cup in the centre collects the juice and prevents "boiling over" during baking.

WHITE LACE COATS.

Coats of white lace are new and very smart. They are worn over all-white costumes and are guiltless of belting or ornamentation.

WHITE AND RED FROCKS.

At New York's most fashionable hotel recently a dinner dance revealed that nearly every woman present was dressed in all-white frocks or bright red. It is easy to figure which was the choice of the blond and which of the brunet.

COSTUME FOR BRUNET.

A brunet, lunching at the Ritz recently, looked very attractive in a three-piece costume of pale grey satin and a close grey turban. About her neck she wore a large strand of cloudy amber beads. She wore a wide carved bracelet of the same material.

TAFFETA BLOUSE.

A white taffeta blouse, joined to a much draped and puffed black taffeta skirt, makes a Frenchy little outfit that delights the brunet who wears her hair very plain and dangles long pendants from her ears.

PERFUME BURNERS.

Perfume burners are fascinating indeed. They look like small vases, fitted with an electric light, but they provide a novel decoration for a room, as well as a novel method of burning incense.

RECIPES

MOST men prefer pie to any other dessert.

When you pare apples for pie take just as thin a paring as possible. It may take a little longer to cut the peeling thin, but it won't take as many apples. Cut out any bruised spots. They will not cook tender.

Deep Dish Apple Pie.

Line a deep pie dish or shallow pudding dish with rich pastry. If a pie dish is used the crust must be built up around the outside edge.

Pare, cut in eighths and core apples. Fill shell with fruit, heaping it up in the centre. Mix one tablespoon flour with three-quarters cup sugar and sprinkle over apples.

Dot with bits of butter. Form a lattice work over the top of the apples with strips of paste.

Bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve with sugar and cream or whipped cream sweetened with shaved maple sugar.

Another way:

Line shallow pudding dish with pastry. Put a small cup upside down in the centre. Fill dish with fruit. Sprinkle with sugar and add one tablespoon cold water if the fruit is not juicy.

Cover with a top crust and bake 45 minutes in hot oven.

Dampen the edge of the lower crust before putting on the top crust. Run the rolling pin around the edge, trim with a sharp knife

Terrifying Ordeal of Daring Lady Mackenzie

Rescued Just in Time When Trapped Under Water in a Treacherous Coral Crevice and Surrounded by Hideous Marine Monsters

It Was Necessary to Send Down an Expert Deep Sea Diver to Rescue Lady Mackenzie from Her Submerged Prison.

How Lady Muir Mackenzie Looked Wearing the Glass-Faced Diving Helmet.

LADY MUIR MACKENZIE, British society leader and sportswoman, who was recently entertained extensively in America, has written back to friends, telling of her complete recovery from what she calls "the most terrifying experience of my life."

The first woman to dare the dangers of deep-sea diving, she was caught like a trapped animal in a crevice of coral rock forty feet beneath the ocean surface, off the Bahama Islands, and was only rescued, after an hour of nightmare horrors, when, at the risk of immediate drowning, one of the leaden shoes was torn from her imprisoned foot.

Lady Mackenzie has an international reputation for bravery. The young widow of Sir John Muir Mackenzie, former Governor of Bombay, she has hunted tigers and elephants in India, and has been a member of several big game expeditions in the interior of Africa.

Little did she think, when she stopped for a few days to visit the quiet, semi-tropical port of Nassau, on her way home after a round of social activities and lectures in the United States, that she was on the threshold of an ordeal that would bring her nearer to death than any of her former experiences in the African veldt or the Indian jungle.

Perhaps it was the very tranquillity of the lazy social life in sunny Nassau that tempted her to an adventure which no other woman had dared undertake. The ocean floor off the Bahamas is a coral formation, teeming with bright colored submarine life, and Lady Mackenzie went one day with a party of friends to enjoy its beauties in a glass-bottomed observation boat. Peering down through the translucent water, she was fascinated by the moving panorama—rainbow-hued tropical fish, waving fronds of vegetable growths like submerged palms or giant ferns—queer phosphorescent little creatures that moved like fireflies in the semi-darkness—and now and then a great, gray shadow flitting beneath the boat, torpedo-shaped and sinister.

"Oh, how I should like to go down there," sighed Lady Mackenzie. "My dear! You'd never dare," shuddered the other ladies. And such an idea did seem absurd as they sat there with their dainty French frocks and gay parasols among the silken cushions of the luxurious pleasure boat.

"But why not!" said the intrepid Englishwoman, rather to herself than to the others. And the next morning bright and early, Lady Mackenzie was telephoning around Nassau for a competent deep-sea diving crew.

The professional divers—when Lady Mackenzie found them—were as much opposed to the idea as her friends had been. They pointed out that no woman had ever been down in a diving suit—it was a dangerous occupation that only the strongest men engaged in—and even then there were often accidents.

But Lady Mackenzie was insistent—and when one has the combined power of social position, wealth, feminine good looks, and political prestige into the bargain—one usually gets what one wants.

So it was arranged that Lady Mackenzie was to make her "debut"—the first of her sex—as a deep-sea diver.

And the following morning out they went, Lady Mackenzie, with six expert divers and divers' assistants in a big, flat-bottomed motor-driven diving barge, which anchored in forty feet of water, off the coral reefs.

Air-pumps, ladders, tackle, oxygen-tanks and special emergency equipment were all in readiness—a complete diving suit for Lady Mackenzie—weighing more than she did by a hundred pounds—and another diving suit for one of the men in case anything went wrong—for the Englishwoman insisted on going down alone.

She was dressed in knickers and flannel shirt—no room for skirts and frills in such an adventure—and was helped to don the diving suit of heavy sheet-rubber covered on both sides with thick twill. The cuffs were adjusted to fit tight around her wrists and rubber bands slipped over them to render the "joints" water-tight. The trousers of the suit encased her feet and ended in leaden-soled boots, each weighing over twenty pounds.

The suit ended at the neck in a heavy metal breastplate and collar on which the helmet was to be tightly screwed down. Around her waist was a leather belt, to which the "life" or "signal" line was fastened, and fastened again through a ring in the breastplate.

The hose through which the air was to be supplied was connected with the pumps, the helmet adjusted and screwed down, and everything was in readiness.

The equipment also included two weights hung from the shoulders and hanging at the breast and back, and the entire outfit was so heavy that Lady Mackenzie could scarcely stand or move without assistance. It had to be heavy in order for her to be able to sink to the desired depth. No room for grace or agility of movement. Supported on each side, she was helped down the ladder until the waves closed over her head. As she descended, the weight of the equipment became less cumbersome because of the increased pressure of the water.

After climbing fifteen or twenty feet down to the end of the ladder she gave a pre-arranged signal with the line, dropped off, and sank slowly to the ocean-bed forty feet below the surface, the men on the barge paying out the air hose and life line, a bit at a time, so that the transition to heavier and heavier pressure would not be too violent. Even so, she said afterward, she felt pain in the ears and above the eyes, an experience common to all divers below a depth of twenty-five feet. It soon passed away.

For a little while all went well. The sea was smooth, the pumps were working perfectly. Lady Mackenzie soon learned the "trick" of moving around comfortably in her ponderous armour. For more than an hour she wandered in a dim-lit fairyland of jeweled forests, fish as beautiful as gaily colored birds, queer monsters and goblins. If a great hammer-headed shark sometimes nosed by, or a cuttlefish came prowling with its serpent-like tentacles and shunted off quickly into the darkness, she was not unduly frightened, for she knew what sort of monsters she should encounter, and had been told that not once in a million times would one of these creatures venture to attack a moving human figure in a diving suit.

From time to time she signalled, by jerking the life line, that all was well, and finally decided it was about time to signal to be hauled to the surface.

To do this she turned to face the direction of the barge, and in turning, her foot caught in the crevice of a coral rock. With a slight tug and jerk, she sought to release herself—there was a sharp twinge of pain, but the foot remained imprisoned.

Beginning now to be frightened, she knelt as well as she could on one knee and tried to disengage herself with the aid of her hands.

It was no use. She was caught, like an animal in a steel trap. Her foot was jammed in the crevice in such a way that she couldn't get at the buckles of the heavy lead-soled boot.

Besides, to tear it off would have been dangerous, for a rip in the rubber suit, even as far down as the foot, would have let in the water and drowned her before she could have been dragged to the surface.

She was trapped, fettered as securely as if her ankle had been fastened with an iron chain—forty feet beneath the ocean.

The thought of drowning filled her with terror. But not with so great a terror as the presence of the sharks and writhing creatures, which seemed to sense her helplessness and to be coming closer than they had dared before.

An enormous cuttlefish, emboldened by her immobility, approached and advanced one of its snake-like tentacles toward the terrified woman's neck. When she threw up her arms to defend herself, the monster sluggishly moved away.

No tortured movie heroine in a serial "thriller" ever went through so horrible an ordeal in make-believe as Lady Mackenzie endured in reality beneath the waves.

She had signalled "trouble" on the life rope, but she didn't dare to give the signal to be hauled up, for fear the rope would break or the diving suit be torn apart.

All she could do was continue signalling that she was in distress, and wonder, with trembling horror, what the end might be.

Meanwhile, on the barge, the men were moving with feverish but efficient speed. Despite the fact that no signal to "pull up" had been given, they tried tentatively to draw her to the surface, and realized at once that either she or the line had become stuck.

As quickly as the other suit could be adjusted, a professional wrecking-crew diver was in the water, groping his way along the life line to Lady Mackenzie's side. It took him only an instant to realize her plight—but releasing her was not so quick a matter.

After tugging as much as he dared to release her foot without risk of tearing the suit, while she watched with anguish-drawn face through the glass of her helmet, he made signs for her to wait, and had himself drawn to the surface.

In less than ten minutes—each one of which seemed hours of agony to her—he was at her side again with a sort of torniquet of heavy rubber, which he fastened and tied tight above her foot. Then, with the aid of a knife, he ripped off the heavy shoe and she was free.

She was haggard and half fainting when they lay her on the barge and unscrewed the huge helmet from her head, but she smiled pluckily and assured the men—who were now more frightened than she—that everything was all right.

And so it was. Except for the nervous shock, she was fully recovered within twenty-four hours, and to-day her physicians assure her that she experienced no permanent ill-effects whatever from her terrifying experience.

Lady Mackenzie may renew her tiger and elephant hunts in the Indian jungle. But her friends have her own word for it that she will never again go diving in the deep blue sea.

Afternoon Session of The District Baptist Convention

Interesting Address By Prof. J. G. Brown, McMaster University—New Buildings Required — Clerk's Statement.

The afternoon session of the convention of the district Baptist Association was occupied mainly with reports on the Sunday School Board and the Local Home Mission Board and Conference and the address of Prof. J. G. Brown, D.D. of McMaster University, Toronto.

Prof. Brown gave a brief and interesting history of the Baptist educational movement in Canada. He contrasted the condition of affairs in Baptist denominational circles between Ontario and the Maritime Provinces. The latter, with a population of only about a million people, as compared with Ontario's five and one-half millions, has a total Baptist membership which exceed the membership in our own province, and they have 583 churches to our 500. This was due, in the speaker's opinion, not to the neighborhood in Ontario of the great Roman Catholic province of Quebec, for he said that Roman Catholics were strong in the three Maritime provinces, but to the preparation made nearly a hundred years ago in the sea-going provinces for the future, in the way of educating candidates for the ministry, and sending them out to "stud the land with Baptist churches." Baptist preachers were the first on the ground there, and seized the opportunity with settlers from the old Old Land, "just as Methodists did on the shores of Lake Ontario a hundred years ago." The Baptists of that district were "seized with the importance of a trained ministry, and remembered that education is the great handmaiden of religion.'

Movement. Reviewed.

A review of the movement that culminated in the establishment of a Baptist college in Ontario was given with an allusion to the pioneer service rendered by Rev. John Gilmour, "the founder of this church" who journeyed across the Atlantic to help collect funds for the purpose, returning with 1600 pounds. The choice of a site was "unfortunate', Montreal being selected where thestaeenhlbm is thth hmmm where the establishment was closed after ten years, and "is now a Roman Catholic school for boys." In 1881, McMaster Univcrsity was built, and in 1890, the Arts Department was added. In 1922, 43 students were graduated in Arts, and 7 in Theology

From the years 1800 to 1861, the Baptist church had no educational centre for the training of its ministers, and "in those years, we lost what we can never regain in this province." Thousands of families declared the speaker, came out from the British Isles, believers in the Baptist tenets, who were ultimately lost to the church and drifted into Presbyterianism, Methodism and the Anglican communion, because there were not ministers to preach to them In the Maritime Provinces, the work of education for the ministry was begun in 1829. "They had their men ready, and they made the most of the opportunity."

"The neglect of an educational policy is the most fatal that any denomination can make" ,said Prof. Brown, referring to the grants now made in the foreign fields for educational purposes. The change that McMaster University has made in the "life" and calibre and personnel of the Baptist denomination" since its establishment, was also referred to by the speaker, who has been indentified with the life of the Institute for a long term of years, and who quoted Mr. S. J. Moore of Toronto as saying that "McMaster is the greatest denominational asset possessed by the Baptists today".

Number of Students.

During the past year, there were 231 students in the Arts department; 147 men and 84 women; with 40 men in theology and 44 in graduate courses. Brandon College, which is affiliated with McMaster, had 122 students in arts and theology, making a total registration altogether last year of 413. At Woodstock College, 109 students were in attendance and at Moulton, 175.

New Buildings.

The speaker referred to the pressing necessity of new buildings and the need of removal in the near future, to the possible establishment on Eglinton Avenue, in Toronto, where 30 acres of land are owned by the Institute authorities; and to offers made by the municipality of Hamilton for establishment there. The need of a new Chancellor was also vital, Dr. McCrimmon resigning recently on his physician's advice; and there was pressing need of a larger endowment. The new departure which had been made lately in establishing a year's preliminary course in English for men who were desirous of entering the ministry and had not the necessary educational requirements was enlarged upon with an acknowledgement to an unnamed member of the convention who has made the new precedure possible.

Prof. Brown referred to the pronouncement made in a late issue of the British Weekly, to the effect that in the Anglican churches of the British Isles, there were 2,000 less ministers than in the year 1914, and to the need in hundreds of Baptist pulpits at the present time of men to preach the Gospel The speaker regarded as one of the binding ties between Canada and the United States the fact that many prominent pulpits in that country were occupied by Candian Baptist ministers and alluded to the fact of Lloyd George having honorary degree in McMaster University, to the treasurer of the province of Quebec, and to the minister of educating the province of Alberta, both of whom are graduates of the University. He concluded with a request for the names of young men desirous of enrolling in these preliminary courses, and asked the Association to remember the need of money for keeping up such an establishment, reminding them that their eleven per cent. assessment in the Budget last year, amounting to $627.55, had been met with a response of only $250.92.

Clerk's Statment.

Devotional exercises for the session led by Rev. T. Rich, Norwood were followed by the Clerk's Statement, read by Rev. J. P. McLennan, of Cobourg. Statistical returns showed the Association's givings for Home work last year as being $33,421.79, and in 1922, $32,893.94. For outside work, 1921, $12,376.75; 1922, $12,831.98. A grand total for all purposes amounted in 1921 to $45,798.54, in 1922, to $45,725.92, with an average giving for all purposes in 1921 of 25.87, and in 1922 of $22.2o.

The report of the Sunday School Board, by Rev. D. M. Fraser, B.A., B.D. of Gilmour Memorial Church, revealed the fact that out of 17 churches interrogated for reports regarding Sunday school work, only 8 had responded, as follows: Belleville, with a membership of 275, and an average attendance of 158, had a total giving of $1018.28; Brighton, 67 and 45, $58.03; Cobourg, 34 and 22, $66.35; Gilmour Memorial church, 97 and 69, $490.70; Indian River, 32 and 13, $25.00; Lakefield, 32 and 27, $55.87; Murray street, Peterboro, 260 and 148, $661.44; Park street, Peterboro, 230 and 189, $427.-00. Mr. Fraser was somewhat wroth about the treatment accorded him by Sunday School superintendents, who had neglected to answer his requests for statistics in this regard, and some discussion followed. A humorous turn was given to the proceedings by the declaration made by Rev. W. E. Morrow, of Park street church who is in charge of information regarding B.Y.P.U. work He asserted that he had writen Mr. Fraser for information in this regard, and only recived an answer from him at a very late date.

Mission Board.

Discussion also followed the report of the chairman of the Local Home Mission Board, Rev. J. R. Webb, who recorded a satisfactory condition of affairs on all sides. Rev. L. H. Coles, of Colborne, supported by Rev. E. Butcher, of Brighton, declared that the richest material for future development of the Baptis church lay in the solid rural communities. Possibilities for openings in two or three country district, including Trenton, were mentioned, to be brought to the atttention of the local Home Mission Board.

In connection with a discussion of Sunday school matters, Rev. Mr. Fraser brought forth a suggestion as to making efforts to establish a connection with the parents in the home and the Sunday schools, that both might be linked up in an endeavor to impart Christian education to the children in the home. He remarked that parents who often paid little attention to religious education of children in the home expected the Sunday school to make "little saints" of them, and Rev. R. J. Webb advocated careful attention and thought to the appointment of Sunday School Superintendents.

In connection with Superannuation matters, the Moderator, Rev. H. Wood, B.A., B.Th. of Port Hope, reported that fund available through the Forward Movement now made it possible to grant aged ministers a larger share in the gifts of the denomination.

Resolutions Committee.

The report of the Resolutions Committee dealt with two resolutions, both commenatory of the legislation enacted, against strong opposition, by the Provincial Government, with regard to the Ontario Temperance Act and its enforceement, and also with regard to Social Service enactments, including Workmen's Compensation Funds, Mothers Allowances and acts in connection with Child Welfare work. Dominion-wide prohibition was regarded by the Association as the next step

The report of the Nominating Committee, which was adopted, resulted as follows:

REVISION COURT OF MILLBROOK MET.

A Number of Assessment Appeals Disposed Of.

MILLBROOK, June 8. — The Council met as a Court of Revision on Monday evening—the Reeve, Mr. W. T. Wood, being in the chair.

Appeals re their assesments were heard as follows:

Mr. A. Hunter and Mr. G. Wallace that their livery assesment of $100.00 be cancelled.—Granted.

Mr. A. Hanna requested that a reduction of $100.00 be made in his assessment, and Mr. H. Trick that his assessment be reduced from $650.00 to $600.00.—Granted.

Mr. James Hunter also asked that he be granted a reduction in the amount for which his property is assessed, and Mr. J. Eastcott that $100.00 be taken off the amount against his land. In both cases the assessment was confirmed.

A reduction of $200.00 on the amount levied on the Hydro. Commission, for which Mr. G. H. Harrington made appeal, was granted.

A communication was read from Miss Watson re the amount levied on her property on Bank Street, but the assessment was not considered excessive, and as Miss Watson is non-resident, and has refused either to rent or sell said property, it was confirmed.

Immediately following the conclusion of the Court of Revision business, on the motion of adjournment, the Council then met for their regularlar June session.

Mr. B. Raper brought up the question of having the present dumping-ground changed, and Councillors Eakins and Lang were appointed a committee to look into the matter and consider what had best be donc in making the proposed change.

The matter of widening and otherwise improving Allen's Hill, and the going forward with other necessary street work, was deferred until after the Reeve returns from the County Council to which he goes next Monday. The amount of the grants to be received by the village will then be definitely known.

Councillors Sayles and Lang were appointed a committee to inspect the new gravel pit on Mr. Paterson's farm, which it is proposed to reopen, and report on the advisability of using it.

The usual accounts were ordered paid, and on motion, Council adjourned to meet again at the call of the Reeve.

LADIES! LOOK YOUNG, DARKEN GREY HAIR

Use the Old-time Sage Tea and Sulphur and Nobody Will Know.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous and you appear years younger.

NERVOUS BREAKDOWN COULDN'T SLEEP NIGHT

To those on the verge of a nervous breakdown the following symptoms present themselves: nervous headaches, a feeling of depression, fitful, disturbed, restless and unrefreshing sleep, often troubled with frightful dreams, avoidance of crowded places, dread of being alone, horror of society, etc.

When the nerves become affected in this way the heart generally becomes affected too, and on the first signs of any weakness of the heart or nerves, flagging energy or physical breakdown do not wait until your case becomes hopeless, but get a remedy that will at once quieten the nerves, strengthen the heart and build up the entire system.

This you will find in

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS.

Mrs. M. Damgand, Young's Cove Road, N.B., writes: "I was bothered very much with my heart and nerves; had nervous headaches and dizziness, could not sleep at nights, and my appetite was all gone. I was on a nervous breakdown when a neighbor told me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. This I did, and before I had the second box used I was better and would advise anyone who has nerve trouble to take them."

HERE'S WHAT PARIS SAYS THAT YOU WILL WEAR IN THE FALL

But that is all very well, for she has a good reason.

She wants us to see just how decorative the back of a gown may become when Poiret exercises his creative genius in that direction.

A PRESENTATION TO MISS MARY MASTERS.

Remembered by Girl Friends On Eve of Her Nuptials.

A number of the girl associates of the Y.W.C.A. gathered in Miss Master's room before her leaving the institution on the eve of her marriage and presented her with a berry spoon and the following address. Mrs. Morrison, superintendent of the Y. W. C. A., also presented a Pyrex baking dish:

"Dear Mary,—

"We, a few of your friends and associates of the Y.M.C.A., are gathered here for a few minutes this evening to tender to you our heartiest congratulations and to wish you every joy and happiness in the years to come. If you are as great a help and joy to your future husband as you have been to us girls, he need have no fear for his welfare, for we all join in singing your praises. Mary dear, we wish you to accept this small gift to show our appreciation of your help and as a remembrance of the joyous and happy times we have spent together; and we hope you will always have plenty of berries to serve with it so that we shall always be in your mind.

"So again wishing you joy and prosperity for years to come, we are ever your friends, the girls of the Y.W.C.A. Signed, E. Worrall, R. Shortt, Fannie J. Blacklock."

SHE DIDN'T WANT TO LIVE

"I felt so ill and wretched that I didn't care whether I lived or not."

This was Mrs W.'s experience. If you are not feeling well you should read every word of her letter. She says, "Unless you have actually experienced what it means to be ill, really ill, you don't know what suffering is. I felt so ill and miserable that I didn't care whether I lived or not. I am naturally of an active temperament and as a result I must have overworked myself, because I began to feel tired and weak after the least exertion. At times my face took on a deathly pallor. I was sore all over. I was troubled with dull pains which at times produced nausea. My body felt as if somebody had been pounding it—every bit of it pained. When I laid down at nights I could not get into a comfortable position and the consequence was I got very little sleep. The pains, which followed sleeping in one position for any length of time, gave me frightful dreams from which I awoke weak and perspiring. I consulted doctors and they told me that I was completely run down and needed something to build me up. Their prescriptions only helped me for a while. One day I found a circular about Carnol and the statements in it sounded so honest and true and free from any exaggeration that I decided to try it. In six weeks after taking the first bottle I was as well as ever. If any one had told me that Carnol would do what it did for me I wouldn't have believed them."

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. 7-122

Radio's First Prodigy, at 8 Years

By JACK JUNGMEYER.

LOS ANGELES, June 6.—In Bobbie Garcia, radi has produced its first youthful prodgy.

At eight he is the world's youngest licensed operator and instructor—distinctions resting lightly on his blonde trouseled head.

Bobbie is the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Garcia. The three are known here as the "radiant radio family" because of their joyous combination of domestic and professional life.

I found them, busy as beavers, in the garret of their home, converted into laboratory and workshop, fashioning shiny materials into tongue and ears of the ether.

The boy, full-fledged business partner of his parents in the manufacture of radio instruments, was making a two-step amplifier which had to be finished before he could play a game of shinney with the neighborhood youngsters.

"I'm going to specialize in making sets for boys," he volunteered, "and then I'm going to corner the business among the kids.

"I'm going to put 'em up in nice boxes so the mothers will not say, 'Get that old trash out of here!'"

Radio Leader.

Barefoot and bareheaded, he had just come home from grammar school where he is in the high fifth and where he is president and instructor of the pupils' radio association.

A normal, playful, mischievous lad, without any of the profound airs of so many precocious children, alternately engrossed in marbles and baseball and aerial chatter.

Young Garcia had hardly turned seven when he won his operator's license by passing an examination which worries many applicants thrice his age. He did it after five weeks' study and before he had entered school. His mother, a trained instructor, had taught the boy reading and arithmetic. And from his father he had imbibed electrical lore since babyhood.

"I thought it would be fine if a boy of seven could get a radio station of his own," he confided as he tapped a panel. "I didn't want to wait until I became a man. Kids can do lots more things than old people think they can, can't they, daddy?"

Father an Expert.

Daddy confirmed it by citing his own progress in the electrical world. At 10 Allan Garcia, then in San Francisco, was an expert at house-wiring. At 16 he was chief electrician on the steamer Nebraskan. A short time later he erected the first commercial radio station on the Pacific coast. Today he's one of the country's recognized experts.

"The boy comes naturally by his love for the work and his aptitude," he explained.

Is Bobbie Garcia bowed down by his learning and responsibilities, or puffed up by his amazing achievements?

"Whoop-ee!" he shouted. "Come on and play a game of ball!"

BOBBIE GARCIA AND THE GARCIA 'RADIO FAMILY."

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK, June 8.—(Canadian Press.) — Gains and losses mainly within narrow limits attended dull opening of to-day's stock market. Traders evidently were disposed to wait on impending developments before extending their operations for long or or short account. Rails were neglected but street was not inclined to attach much importance to prospects of railroads strike. Atlas Powder was conspicuous among the specialties, rising four points. Foreign exchange eased on advices from Paris regarding attitude of Reparations Commission towards German loan.

Although call money opened at unusually low rate of 3 1-4 per cent., dealings diminished steadily during the morning. Instances of market's speculative character included an extension of rise in Atlas Powder to 6 1-2 points and an abrupt decline of 8 1-2 points in Dupont. Sugars were strong on rise of refined product. Independent Steels and obscure equipments held or increased early gains. Losses of 1 to 3 points were made by Electric Storage Battery, Willys Overland Pfd., Consolidated Gas and American Can. Rails became more irregular.

Quite varied list of stocks changed hands at variations of 1 to 2 points either way after mid-day. In general there was a better tone to active shares, but with marked contradiction in dealings in issues which have recently been responsive to pool operations. Inquiry for Oils and Sugars was supplemented by some demand for Studebaker, Crucible Steel, United Fruit, American Writing Paper Pfd. and Delaware, Lackawanna and Western which improved 1 to 3 points.

STERLING EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, June 8.—(Canadian Press.)— Sterling exchange heavy, demand rate Great Britain 4.49 3-8. Canadian Dollars 7-8 of one per cent. discount.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

CHICAGO, June 8.— (Canadian Press.) — Opening wheat prices, which varied from unchanged figures to 3-8 lower with July and September both 1.13 1-2 to 1.13 7-8, was followed by slight rallies, but then by a setback all around to well below the initial level. Corn and Oats were firmer owing more or less to talk of probable smaller receipts of Corn. After opening 1-8 off to 3-8 to 12c. up, July 80 7-8 to 81. Corn market scored slight general advance. Oats started 1-8c. lower to a like advance, July 36 5-8 to 36 3-4 and later hardened a little for all deliveries.

MONTREAL STOCKS.

MONTREAL, June 8.—(Canadian Press.) —This morning on the local stock exchange very few sales were registered and prices were uninteresting. No variation of importance were recorded, the tone being generally firm.

TORONTO STOCK MARKETS.

TORONTO, June 8.— (Canadian Press.)—Trading in Toronto Rails was much in excess of any other issue on the local stock exchange this morning, closing at 74 1-4, a gain of 3 points, Twin City with sales of 55 5-8, gained 7-8. MacKay sold as high as 99, which is 4 1-2 points above yesterday. Brazilian was steady at 48 1-8. Abitibi on moderate sales advanced 1 1-2 at 52 1-4 at close. Unlisted stocks, bonds and banks were very quiet.

REV. J. R. WEBB GAVE ADDRESS

Evening Session of the Peterboro Baptist Association—The Resolutions.

The evening session of the 120th annual meeting of the Peterborough Baptist Association was marked by two addresses, one by Mr. S. J. Moore of Toronto and the annual sermon, preached by Rev. J. R. Webb.

Mr. Webb's text was taken from the Second Book of Kings, the eleventh chapter, thirteenth verse, "He took up the mantle of Elijah, that fell from him." Reviewing the circumstances which led to the friendship between the Prophet Elijah and the young farmer, Elisha, Mr. Webb drew a parallel for workers among the young people of the church. First, that an ideal must be suggested to the young people by the throwing of the mantle about their shoulders; second, that a personal choice must be made by every individual, and third, we must take upon our own shoulders the mantle that has fallen from the shoulders of our predecessor.

Elijah discerned certain qualities in the young man, Elisha, and expected great things of him, but Elisha had to accept the responsibility for himself. "There is a symbolism in what Elijah did to Elisha. We Baptists never baptize unconscious infants. We decline to do this until that person has made a personal decision for himself or herself." Neither mother nor father, minister nor Sunday School teacher has any authority to make such a decision for the young life, for, as Elijah saw possibilities in the young man, so does the church with its junior members, but it must be the spirit of God that woos the heart, and "it is here that the pole star of this convention swings into view in the great matter of evangelism. We should go knocking at the heart's door and ask each individual, 'Are you not ready now to say what your choice shall be?'"

Speaking of the possibilities that lie in the young minds of the children, along spiritual lines, Mr. Webb said: "I would rather offend every deacon I have than one of the children of my church." To the young people, however, he declared that the mantle which has been borne worthily by the father should be worn in just as worthy a manner by the son. "We are living in days when men are conjuring with the word 'service,' when it is fashionable to be altruistic. Wherever you fly a flag or spread a table, you can get men to do great things. And they are great things. I honor the men and women who, under any inspiration, o thde thing that should be done, but I fear there is a danger of men and women becoming ashamed of doing things just for Chtist's sake. There is a danger of our lowering our standards in this regard, and coming down and being satisfied with something less than the greatest and best thing."

Appealing Talk.

Mr. S. J. Moore, of Toronto, gave an impressive and appealing talk, mainly on thoughts inspired by work of the convention during the past two days. He said, 'I want to suggest to you some of the powers that are in the possession of the church to which you belong," emphasising in particular the "simultaneous and unanimous expression of thought" as expressed in reports of conferences and synods of different communions with regard to the tremendous importance of directing "the morning of young life in our churches and our homes." Anxiety is expressed in many of the conferences and laymen's gatherings, acording to Mr. Moore, because so many of the young of the young people are drifting from the churches, and it is said that the young people are becoming tired of Christian Endeavour and other like societies, and are beginning to demand a church that is more like an athletic institution. The speaker then went on to commend, in this regard, the efforts of the young people's societies of the Baptist Church, and particularly those of Mr. Fred Reynolds, of Brockville, a leader in young people's work, and a previous speaker of the evening, "whose sanity, intelligence, and spirtual-mindedness along these lines have had splendid support." There was a strategic importance in the proper training of the young life in our homes and churches to-day which should not be neglected, and the speaker commended to his hearers the "wonderful work" that might be performed by a Sunday School teacher in the prosecution of his labours, "in stamping on the young mind the likeness of Jesus Christ."

"If you young people have not yet come into that close and sweet communion with your Saviour that makes Him a very dear and delightful companion, you have much yet to learn in your Christian life, for it is possible, in the midst of the busiest days and the most complex problems, to be in close communion with the Lord Himself." Prayer was the great lever. "If the church to-day could go through some of the spiritual experiences it has had in the past, there would be a spiritual awakening and a spiritual revival that would simply rock the world."

In a word to parents, Mr. Moore adjured them to remember that the Lord might call one of th sons and daughters of any household to do His work. If the mantle fell upon the shoulders of such a loved one, 'do not be rebellious, but make the surrender in the spirt of love for the Master."

Rev. J. R. Webb voiced the appreciation of the congregation in a few words of thanks to Mr. Moore for his attendance at the conference and the two splendid addresses given by him, words which were endorsed by Rev. J. P. McLennan, of Cobourg.

Mr. More acknowledged the tribute, and remarked on the pleasure afforded by attendance at the conference, and on hearing the reports of the district, particularly those of Cramahe and Norwood.

B. Y. P. U. Work.

The first item on the evening's programme, following devotional exercises, which were led by Rev. E. Butcher, of Brighton, was the consideration of B.Y.P.U. work in the different churches of the district. This was presided over by Rev. W. E. Morrow, of Park Street Baptist Church—Mr. Alan Doughty reporting for Murray Street Church, and Mr. Neil Porter for Park Street—and included a brief but pithy talk on the work, delivered by Mr. Fred Reynolds, of Brockville.

The Resolutions Committee submitted additional resolutions — the first embodying a strong request to ladies attending conferences of this sort to refrain from assembling in separate bodies at the time when the general session is proceeding, and the second a hearty appreciation of the hospitality extended by Murray Street Church to its visitors, mentioning particularly the work done by the ladies in charge of refreshments, by the choir, and the Decoration Committee, and commenting on the beauty of the church building generally.

Mrs. V. Eastwood, convener of the Noon and Evening Meals Committee, acknowledged the thanks of the association.

Mr. J. A. Raddon rose to move a vote of appreciation to "our hard-working association clerk," Rev. J. P. McLennan, of Cobourg, for the painstaking labours performed by him, in connection with the clerical business of the association.

A unanimous response to the mover's suggestion was replied to in a few words by Rev. Mr. McLennan.

Music was rendered during the evening by the choir, and Mr. Asa Huycke sang, in fine voice, "Abide With Me."

JUDGE ISSUES REBUKE

MONTREAL, June 8.—(Canadian Press).—Justice Monet delivered stern rebuke and warning to-day in reference to interview published last Saturday regarding an alleged confession in Delorme case. "It is certain," he said, "that Delorme mystery excites public to such an extent that I think newspapers should show greatest possible prudence. Report to which I refer might easily prejudice public opinion against either crown or accused and public opinion includes opinion of jury."

CAR DAMAGED IN COLLISION

Automobile and Street Car Crashed on Park Street at Noon.

Street car and automobile collided at the corner of Simcoe and Park Streets at noon to-day, with serious damage to both participants.

The automobile, owned and driven by A. C. Hawley, Charlotte Street, was rounding north from Simcoe into Park Streets just as the Jackson Park car, in charge of Motorman Wm. Shea and Conductor Donnolly, was proceeding south on Park Street.

The radiator of the automobile was crushed in, the lett front wheel was smashed, and it was also believed that the engine was damaged.

The street car did not come through unscathed, part of the vestibule floor being torn up the front step struck off, and the front bars bent.

Mr. Hawley was bleeding slightly at the mouth, but was able to walk home, apparently onty slightly injured.

Makes Women's Clothes Suit Their Complexions

NEW YORK, June 7.—"Women would be happier and more efficient if they selected their clothes with reference to colors that harmonize with their type—blonde, near blonde or brunette."

This is the theory used by Mrs. Bertha Holley, well-known New York artist, in her efforts to make woman's attire a frame for her personality and individuality rather than just "clothes."

She spent some time in France before the war, and, failing to find the inspiration for designing there that she sought, come home and started to put some of her own ideas for woman's dress into effect.

Type and Color.

Since then she has designed frocks, suits and hats for many of the noted actresses, society women and others.

"I base my scheme for woman's dress," Mrs. Holley explained, as she showed various designs, "on type and coloring.

"Real blondes should always wear blue or grey, or combinations of those shades; near blondes should wear neutral tones of grey-blue; brunettes should always wear some tint of gold or brown. Auburn-haired women should wear green, gold or brown.

"I do not think of the prevailing mode in dress when I design a garment," laughed Mrs. Holley. "Why should I? It might not fit the woman I am dressing at all.

Simple Attire.

"I try to make her attire simple, conform to her type and of good material and along lines that will always be in good taste.

"Above all, I enjoy designing for the intelligent business or professional woman wanting to look her best and yet not having to bother eternally about clothes.

'For such type I usually plan a slip with over and under tunics—that makes it a dress fit for any occasion.'

"Mary" is Mary Vittitoe, 18. In Hollywood, field of her activites, she is as well known as her movie neighbors. They've even named a street for her.

She credits her phenomenal success to an instinct for advertising, a studied desire to give buyers just the property they're seeking, square shooting, an ... emphasis on her striking personality.

"But I don't rely upon my sex to make sales" Mary explains. "If I couldn't deliver the goods I'd quit.

"A high school education, observation and a serious study of human feelings, foibles and conduct complete my equipment

"My advice to business women is: Make your town talk about you. Don't be a shrinking violet.

"Indentify your personality as closely and strikingly as possible with your work.

"Get a slogan—something that sticks in folks' minds—something snappy and provocative that rouses curiosity. Curiosity promotes contacts. The rest is easy if you have the goods.

"A happy hunch prompted me to adopt 'See Mary'—which I use on billboards, in newspapers and every possible channel. It has brought thousands to my office and given me the start of a fortune."

REV. M. L. ORCHARD DEFINES WOMEN'S STATUS IN INDIA

Sacred Book of the Hindus Considers Crime of Slaying Three Women Equal to Crime of Killing One Cow.

The address delivered at the opening session of the Baptist conference this week, given by Rev. M. L. Orchard, M.A., B.D., who is a returned missionary from India, and spoke eloquently on some of the customs of the land, was primarily a consideration of the "woman question" in India. The speaker referred to the writings in one of the sacred books of the Hindus, which considers that the crime of killing three women is equal to the crime of killing one cow; to the regulation which forbids that women be taught from any of the religious books; or educated in any way, so that not one woman out of a hundred in India is educated.

Mr. Orchard spoke of the occurrence witnessed by him, of a woman walking along a dusty road, in the heat of mid-day, carrying her baby, and, on her head, provisions for the noon meal, to be cooked later, while she held a sunshade over her lord and master, proceeding leisurely with no luggage whatever to bother him in the heat.

Another instance was that of the Brahmin mother, who pursued her son, desirous of becoming a Christian, until he finally relinquished the notion. Ancestral worship in India demands that a son perform his father's funeral obsequies on the occasion of the actual burial, and on the anniversary every year thereafter. Failing to do this, the soul of the father cannot remain in Paradise, and, moreover, none of his family who have died may stay there, nor any who may die after him. The turning of a son to Christianity, therefore, was a serious thing to this woman, who followed her boy to the missionary's house, and called down all manner of curses on the luckless missionary's head. A penetential performance which included the burning of his tongue, the shaving of his head, and the filling of his stomach with a vile mess of offal was demanded of the boy before he might be considered clean once more, in the sight of a Hindu. The shaving of the head is a more serious matter than we might think, as the Hindu religiously preserves a long lock of hair at the back of his head, declaring that his god dwells beneath it, and, at the moment of death, he will be plucked into eternity by this lock.

LAKE OF WOODS BILL IS THROUGH

TORONTO, Jun. 8. Canadian Press. — Resisting all amendments to his Lake of the Woods control bill Premier Drury successfully piloted the controversial measure through the Committee of the Whole House last night after three and a half hours discussion. Amendment of Hartley Dewart would have made the actions of the Control Board with respect to some sections subject to the aproval of the Governor General in Council and the Lieutenant Governor in Council.

This the premier declared was "cumbersome, uworkable and impossible."

HOW BONNY, MY FLAPPER PAL MAKES MISTAKE IN LOVE

Another incident stands out in the performance of "Skoal."

Bonny's pet affectation is being perfectly honest about her feelings. She applies her theory indiscriminately, mercilessly.

Bonny insisted upon kissing Jack every time she greeted him at the Little Playhouse.

"I like kissing people I like," she explained to Jeanne, who had reproved her. "I kiss my relatives and girl friends because I like them. I kiss Peg. I like her. Why shouldn't I kiss her husband? I like him. It's the same thing."

"I guess that's the whole trouble with flappers. They can't see reasons for conduct—but reasons exist just the same," said I to me. "Girls have been granted the power and influence of adults nowadays, but they haven't any backgrounds of experience and sense. I wonder if she is trying to make me jealous?"

Then it dawned on me suddenly that Bonny was kissing Jack in order to make Bart envious!

Bart was handsome, a regular movie hero. Girls of all ages were crazy about him. He was obliged to hold a reception on the stage every night.

"Peggins!" he would plead. "Keep between me and the flappers!"

"Don't you like 'em, Bart? Why not?"

"Young men don't," he replied. "Because the old men have manufactured the modern cuties. Old wasters, like George Bradshaw, like ignorance in girls. But their idea of the perfect flapper looks silly to me. And to lots of the boys."

Said I to Me:

"This is news for Bonny!"

"Peggins, does the vamping flapper think young men are blind and deaf? Haven't most of us grown up with sisters? Haven't we observed the ways of girls from infancy right at home?"

"Can't we distinguish the natural from the artificial? Why, we're not one bit imposed upon! It's silly for a flapper to think she can fool us because she can fool the old men so easily! See?"

I nodded. I could see Bonny was making a terrible mistake. She adored Bart. Nevertheless, she made herself odious to him by her cutie ways.

I was dying to tell my husband how Bart Elliott had been "framed" by Mr. Tearle, but I knew he wouldn't understand. Whoever heard of a millionaire father scheming to catch a poverty-stricken youth for his daughter?

It was the queerest case of match-making on record, but it was altogether Mr. Tearle's affair. Jack would hate to be told about it. That information would ruin the auto tour for him.

Nor Trotsky Either, Says the U. S. Solicitor-General.

LONDON, June 8 (Canadian Press). — "If England decides it is in her interest to promote the economic welfare of Russia under its present form of government, it does not follow that if you are right in this respect and we are necessarily wrong when we say that, so long as Lenine and Trotsky dominate the fate of that unhappy people, by the living God we will have nothing to do with it," declared James M. Beck, United States Solicitor-General, at the Pilgrims' dinner last night.

What Ptolemy Did With his Taxes

Amazing Record Found Telling of Way in Which Egypt's Most Mysterious Ruler Mourned for Beautiful Sister-wife by Giving Wildly Extravagant Festivals

NO news of recent explorations in Egypt has caused the widespread comment that is given to a startling announcement of Dr. Clarence Stanley Fisher, Egyptologist of the University of Pennsylvania Museum, who has found ancient papyrus on which are recorded the tax secrets of the most mysterious of all the old Egyptian rulers, Ptolemy Philadelphus.

Egypt has given the world a centuries old record of many strange romances, tragedies and other interesting dramas of the time when Cleopatra lured Mark Antony; of the age of the despotic rule of the Pharaohs; of the weird worship of strange gods and goddesses; but none of these records of this old and marvelous civilization has been as startling as the disclosures Dr. Fisher is on the eve of making.

There is no doubt that it is to Ptolemy Philadelphus we owe our present system of raising taxes, and we are about to learn, it seems, how this Ptolemy, the greatest of all tax gatherers, supported his mysterious era of Oriental magnificence, and just what that magnificence was.

Civilization has changed many times since that wealthiest and most powerful monarch of the eastern world ruled, but only slightly does the method of fixing taxes on the people to-day differ from that of his reign. Of course to-day we could raise money for national improvements—Ptolemy raised money to support temple girls and to pay for a monuments built to his lovely sister-wife.

Not only will the discoveries made by Dr. Fisher reveal the extraordinary method by which the great ruler was enabled to confiscate for his coffers about 90 per cent. of the individual, property and finances of his subjects, but also it will be possible for the first time to know just how the tired business men of old Egypt were persuaded to help support the dancing girls who helped them relax even while they ornamented temple ceremonies.

To understand just what it is Dr. Fisher is on the eve of revealing to us one has to visualize the use to which this little known Ptolemy put his great collections from the people.

Students of the Bible remember that when Joseph interpreted the dreams of Pharaoh and foretold the seven years of plenty to be followed by seven years of famine he advised that Pharaoh take one-fifth of the grain produced during each year of plenty and store it up for the years of famine that he might keep the people alive. When the years of famine came the people came pleading for grain to Joseph, and when their money was exhausted he took horses, cattle and sheep in exchange for grain; and when these had all been handed over he took the land belonging to the people and made it the property of Pharaoh. After this Joseph gave the people grain to eat and seed for planting and made them agree to pay one-fifth of the produce to Pharaoh for the use of the land, thus establishing a tax rate of 20 per cent. of their income. (Genesis xlvii.)

This was far back in the seventeenth century before the Christian era. Ptolemy Philadelphus ruled from 284 to 246 B. C. But we may be sure that the process of taxation had persisted for all these centuries and very probably was developed still further, as will be known more specifically when the leaves of papyrus, all written in the popular Demotic script, have been translated. The Demotic writing was used by the people generally, as distinguished from the hieroglyphic or hieratic which were used as the learned language and script by the priests.

The Romantic Story Of Ptolemy Philadelphus

But it was in another way as well that the Ptolemies, especially Ptolemy Philadelphus, revolutionized the life of Egypt. Ptolemy had married Arsinoe, daughter of Lysimachus of Thrace, when young, but finding that his wife was plotting his overthrow with Amyntas and his physician, Chrysippus of Rhodes, he put the men to death and banished her to Koptos. He then married his own sister, daughter of his father, but having a different mother, also named Arsinoe. She was called by the Greeks "Philadelphus," brother-lover, and this name was later transferred to her husband as an addition to that of Ptolemy. Ptolemy and Arsinoe were alike patrons of the arts and lovers of learning, encouraging the philosophers, writers and artists of their time.

Ptolemy resolved to have in his library at Alexandria a copy of every book in the world, and had his agents gathering them in every land. In order to get a copy of the Hebrew Scriptures he sent a special embassy to the high priest at Jerusalem, and seventy scholars were appointed to make a translation of the Bible into Greek, because that was the language of culture in that time. These scholars divided the work among themselves, met and passed upon the completed work, and it was the means by which the Bible became known to the learned world then. This version was called the Septuagint, because of the seventy translators, and is still highly regarded for the version of the sacred text, as it was the first translation made from the Hebrew into a current language.

With all the encouragement given to literature and art Ptolemy Philadelphus was unsurpassed in his love for luxury and pleasure. He had many mistresses, Greek and Egyptian, and boasted that he had found a way to live forever, but when he was suffering from an attack of the gout he looked out upon the beggar digging up the garbage on the banks of the Nile and envied him his appetite. When ill he devoted himself to reading and the joys of philosophy, for he could not otherwise. He had a fleet of eight hundred barges with gilt prows and poops and scarlet awnings upon the decks, which were used in the royal processions and religious shows.

Ptolemy superintending the measuring of the taxes; reproduction of a painting found on the walls of one of the royal tombs at Thebes.

Under his rule, notwithstanding the heavy taxes, the people seemed to prosper, and trade grew with all the civilized world. Trade down the Nile increased and all the shores of the Mediterranean sent ships to Egypt. The people were rich and happy. He had a happy faculty of controlling all the various groups of nationalities and keeping all satisfied. The Egyptians were ruled by their own laws and the Greeks at Alexandria enjoyed liberty under the Macedonian laws. His navy controlled the eastern half of the Mediterranean Sea, and Alexandria had become the metropolis of the world. He drew the greatest poets of Greece to his court, and many of the Greek sculptors were glad to dedicate their efforts to so liberal a patron. His was a Golden Age indeed for Egypt and the Egyptians.

Wild Extravagance Cause Of Egypt's Heavy Taxes

We already know that the method of taxation by the Egyptian Government was different from ours in that it imposed direct and heavy taxes upon the masses, while the priests and princes were allowed to keep their land and paid comparatively little to the cost of government.

Why did Ptolemy need so much money? For the most intimate picture of the extravagance of the Ptolemy, made possible by the superabundant influx of wealth from his heavy taxes, we must turn to the amazing narrative told by Prof. Lowell, the British explorer, after his excavations at Thebes, reproduced in a series of graphic pen portraits, the strange, weird ceremonies of old Thebes, then known as "Thebias," and of Alexandria.

Of course Prof. Lowell, after his exhaustive study of the ancient papyrus of Egypt and of the hieroglyphic and Demotic script inscribed on the slabs of marble left us, has rightly concluded that in no other form would the data he could furnish be as interesting to the reader as in the form of historical romance, and although he has had to draw largely upon his imagination in reconstructing the scenes of the Ptolemic reign, still from comparison with the material furnished by other leading Egyptologists the pen sketches of Prof. Lowell might very well have been written at the time described. He gives us then general scenes, as he reconstructed them, presenting a very clear view of that voluptuous extravagance which made it imperative for Philadelphus to find some new methods of increasing taxation and new sources of revenue.

Describing a temple ceremony, for example, Prof. Lowell gives us a vivid picture of the erection of the famous temple built by Dinochares in honor of Arsinoe, wife of Ptolemy Philadelphus at Alexandria.

The long shadowed streets of Alexandria formed a fitting background for the gorgeous pageantry of the Ptolemy's procession as it wound its way to the river's edge, where the temple was to be erected. Seated among the silken cushions of his litter, which was borne by twelve gigantic Nubians, their black, nude bodies gleaming in the fitful flashes of the sun, the delicate figure of the great ruler could be discerned behind the curtains of silk net. His sorrowful eyes gazed vacantly at the cheering crowds of his subjects; their acclaims and huzzas failed to bring a smile to his face. All of his thoughts, all of his pleasant and happy memories dwelt upon the past; upon the scenes of his married life with Arsinoe, his beloved wife.

Never before in the history of Egypt had a woman assumed so great an influence over the country. Ptolemy loved her devotedly, and despite the fact that she forfeited all right to his love because she bore him no children, still he loved her, and although she had died and left him a widower at 30, he refused to marry again.

Pliny tells us of the temple in Alexandria, of the wonder and amazement caused by its erection throughout the civilized world. Not only had the great Ptolemy commanded Dinochares, the leading architect of the world at that time, to build the temple in his most skillful and elaborate manner but also he ordered the erection of a bridge made entirely of loadstones so that the iron statue of Arsinoe might appear as if it were suspended in midair.

But to return to the description furnished from the interesting study of the ancient papyrus by Prof. Lowell:

"At the side of the litter bearing the sacred body of the Emperor marched standard bearers and trumpeters and men with drums and colored banners. Immediately behind the royal attendants walked priests carrying emblems in representation of the Vulture and the Asp, the signs of the goddesses Nekhabi and Buto of the south and of the north, who crown the Pharaoh with the Pschent—the crown of the rulers of Egypt.

"The temple was to be built of white marble surrounded by a number of other buildings inclosed in great walls, and gardens and palaces for the priests and priestesses, and further off the gleaming white villas of rich nobles. Entering at the big pylon gateway, to the right of which would be built a sanctuary for the high priests of Arsinoe, one would enter into a large hall supported by numbers of carved pillars and lighted over the center aisle by slotted clerestory windows. The walls would be gorgeously adorned with painted sculptures and beautiful carvings and the statue of the goddess Arsinoe would be studded with the most famous jewels in the possession of the Ptolemy. Underneath all the halls and rooms spacious secret underground chambers would be built for the storing of the treasures which would be brought to the goddess as offerings, but also which would be used as dwelling places for the priests and magicians connected with the temple."

The erection of the Arsinoe Temple at Alexandria became the sensation of the eastern world. And then Ptolemy Philadelphus further sought to pay homage to the memory of his wife by the striking of coins bearing her effigy; by the erection of the Arsinoite nome, the ruins of which have been recently unearthed and which bear a testimonial of the love of the Emperor for his lost wife in their magnificent pillars; in the elaborate wood carvings adorning the walls and in the inscriptional paintings which tell of the great and widespread influence of the Egyptian Princess.

To-day whenever the question of the building of a municipality is brought before the public the first thought is that of taxation and of whether or not the people will respond to the pressure of the taxes. From the evidence of the great prodigality of Ptolemy Philadelphus it is little wonder that he was constantly devising new methods of increasing the source of his revenues and new devices for stressing the already overpowering taxation of the people.

But it may have been that he was driven to find solace for himself on the death of his wife, and it may have been that his sorrowing for her incessantly urged him on to commit new follies and unheard of extravagances. Stories of great feasts which cost millions of dollars, devised as a means of paying tribute to some anniversary of his married life; extracts from papyrus which tell of what was perhaps the origin of our modern circus, that is the importing of strange wild beasts brought from far distant, barbaric countries by his sailors and which were displayed in his luxurious gardens for his own amusement and for the jaded tastes of his nobles, and then as a sort of penance for his extravagant folly the further enlargement of the Alexandrian library.

At upper right—The tomb of Egypt's most famous tax collector, Nakht, the "Supervisor," who served Akhnaton in one of the early dynasties. The tomb is at Thebes and has given us our deepest insight so far into the secrets of old Egypt.

Ptolemy Philadelphus and his sister-wife. One of the extremely few decorations so far unearthed which may be thought to be representative of this little known ruler.

Ruled Over Many Lands By Virtue of His Armies

It is admitted by all students of Egyptian history that at no other time in the knowledge of the country did the intellectual and literary splendor of the Alexandrian court exceed that of the reign of Ptolemy Philadelphus. Not only was he the richest sovereign in the world but also he dominated the naval power of the East. The splendor of the court at Alexandria became known throughout the world, and has been of recent times compared to that of Versailles under Louis XIV. for the heights of extravagance and brilliancy it attained.

But while Philadelphus may have amused the nobles of his court with devising new means of spending the taxes constantly pouring into his coffers, still the figure of his wife was ever in his memory, and it is now agreed that undoubtedly due to her influence was the appointment of Callimachus as keeper of the Alexandrian library, and the installing of Theocritus at the head of a group of famous poets.

Ancient Khemi, overflowing with the mysterious lore of vanished races, has always been the background of all that means the beginning and origin of the world. The land of many temples has been our source not only of the earliest history of the race of man but also of the innumerable volumes on the romance of the East. No other word in the vocabulary expreses so much of all that is alluring as the word "Oriental," and while the reign of Ptolemy Philadelphus is the one of all others about which the least is known, still the progress of Dr. Fisher's excavations will be watched with intense interest by the eyes of the world.

Spinster, Old Maid, Bachelor Girl

The titles applied to unmarried ladies should not be used indiscriminately. There is a difference in meaning between spinster, old maid and bachelor girl. The difference is not one of age entirely, as generally accepted opinion considers it.

Used to be that "old maid" meant unmarried girls from 30 "up". About 50 they became spinsters. Then the bachelor girl made her appearance and usurped the feminine kingdom through the more youthful ages of the old maiddom. In the beginning she held her title by favor of years only; now she rules by reason of her laterness, her independence, her modern ways of living, moving and having her being—in other words, by the degree with which she preserves her girlhood. She may be of any age whatsover, from 30 to 60. She dresses youthfully; she is intelligent; her mind and her manners are modern; she has her own apartment, if she can acord it, lives alone in her glory without family or chaperon, without criticism or comment.

The bachelor girl is never an old maid. She steps directly from her girlhood kingdom into spinisterhood—directly from her 'flapperish' dress into the lavender-and-old-lace class, retires from business life into educated gentility, and lives modestly on what she has acquired, assisted by a little that she can earn now and then by bits of ladylike work that she is able to accomplish with the relics of her bachelor ability.

culine trend of mind from her days of independence, that has become second nature to her, she limps along on her business road to the end.

Old maiddom is not a matter of age or single bl. sedness—just mentality. A girl or woman of any age, married or unmarried, may be an old maid. It is purely a question of general viewpoint of things.

The old maid is eternally in a shocked mental condition. The world is just a place in which to avoid things that are spoken of only in whispers. Modern dress and manners are purely matters of censure. Etiquette is a matter of moment. Living alone not to be thought of. She may be gentle in personality or aggressive—but she's always shocked.

Rev. Mr. Rich of Norwood read the report of the Obituary Committee, for which only numbers of deaths, without names, had been supplied, except in the case of Murray street church, which commemorated the memory of its three deceased member during the year; Mrs. E. Pilling, Miss Lottie Smith and Mr. T. G. Gillespie.

A report by the clerk, Rev. J. P. McLennan of Cobourg, on finances, the annual period for which does not expire until September of this year, was followed by a few humorous remarks make by him in the difficulty of obtaining figures for statistical returns. One church, he claimed had omitted to record any expenses in connection with running the church for the year.

Rev. Mr. McLennan also spoke of the courtesy and kindness of this year's Moderator, Rev. H. Wood, of Port Hope, and repeated expressions of gratitude towards Rev. J. R. Webb and the members of Murray street, who helped to make the Association's stay so pleasant, expression which were endorsed by Rev. Mr. Wood, in the chair. The session closed with devotional exercises.

WHAT I MADE FOR $10--BOY'S OUTFIT

THE FOUR SUMMER GARMENTS $10 GOT FOR A GROWING BOY.

With only $60 an economical housewife has made summer wardrobes for herself, her younger sister and her small son. In this, her third article for The Examiner, she tells how $10 provided a summer outfit for her son.—Editor.

Junior's clothes are a problem. He is just 6 and I found this spring he'd grown out of nearly everything. I had to begin at the beginning to fit him out again.

Because I was in a hurry to get him at least one set of everything he'd need I planned and made these summer clothes for him. I was astonished myself when I found that for $10 I had bought materials for two suits, a blouse, pair of knickerbockers and a light coat.

That's enough even for a very active small boy to start the summer on, and he won't have a chance to grow out of them.

Middy Suit.

Most practical and most becoming for a small boy is the middy suit. It can be made up in any one of half a dozen durable wash materials that will staud repeated tubbings. Colored suits are rather more practical than white ones, so I bought blue poplin.

The bolero suit I made of pongee with a blouse of batiste. It is light and cool and most satisfactory.

When for really hard wear I chose cotton corduroy knickers and made a separate blouse of colored shirting.

The coat wasn't at all the problem I expected it to be. I made it of light tweed and lined it with good sateen. It will serve him all summer for the cooler days and evenings.

What They Cost.

Here's a list of the materials used:

Middy suit—Two yards of 36-inch poplin at 50 cents	$ 1.00
Bolero suit—one and one-quarter yards of 36-inch pongee at $1	1.25
One and one-quarter yards of 36-inch batiste at 75 cents	.94
Blouse—One and three-eighths yards of 36-inch shirting at 38 cents	.53
Knickerbockers—One yard of 36-inch cotton corduroy at 50 cents	.50
Overcoat — One and three-eighths yards of 54-inch tweed at $2.50	3.44
One and three-eighths yards of 36-inch sateen at 75 cents for lining	1.04
Five patterns	1.50

IF THIS PLAY COMES UP

The batsman in striking at a pitched ball is always in foul territory. If he hits the ball into the ground, and it rebounds and strikes him before he leaves the batter's box, it is always ruled a foul ball, since it came into contact with the batter while in foul territory.

WILL NOT UMPIRE FOR OSHAWA

Mr. J. M. Rosevear has notified Secretary Nott that he will not officiate as umpire in any future games in which the Oshawa team participates. The continual fault finding by Manager Booth of Oshawa during the last Saturday's game at Cobourg was responsible for Mr. Rosevear's withdrawal. Mr. Rosevear is one of the leading umpires of the league and his withdrawal means a district loss to baseball in this district. Rather than accept Mr. Rosevear's resignation the executive should bring Manager Booth on the carpet and make it plain to him that the chief object of this league is to develop real sportsmanship rather than win games by unfair methods.—Port Hope Guide.

OTONABEE FAILS TO STOP KEENE SLUGGING MATCH

Manager Wellman's Keene ball tossers, 1921 champions of the East Peterborough ball league, piled up a big score against Otonabee in a league fixture at Riverside Park last evening, Keene winning the game by the count of 2 0to 7. The Otonabee team got away to a bad start, the infield falling down badly on the defence and they did not get into their stride until the game was far advanced and Keene had a safe lead.

The teams had big contingents of rooters, and honors were about even. The Keene supporters had a regular field night counting the runs, and followers of the Otonabee team made much of the results of Dick Rice's pitching, for the tanned twelve of the opposing batters and in the fourth the side was retired after six pitched balls.

O'Dette, heaving for Keene, fared much better. His team mates backed up his good pitching, faltering only in the fourth when Otonabee tallied seven times. George Close was the hero of this frame, hitting for three bases when all cushions were loaded, completing the circuit on a wild heave to third base.

LACROSSE GAME IS POSTPONED

Hastings Consent to Shift in Schedule—Here June 20

Peterboro's opening lacrosse game with Hastings in the junior O.A.L.A. series which was to have been played this afternoon has been postponed until Tuesday, June 20th at the request of the local team. A number of junior lacrosse players are also prominent in the junior city baseball league, and because of the conflict of scheduled lacrosse game with the Adanac-Lakeview bill at Riverside this evening it was decided to ask Hastings to defer their visit until some other convenient date. The Trent boys acceeded cordially, and will be here on June 20th, Dr. Sutton having arranged for the game by telephone last night. In the meantime Peterboro goes to Havelock next Thursday and they will have to produce their best wares to hang one on Doug Brennan and his gang.

TENNIS SEMI-FINALS.

LONDON, June 8. — (Canadian Press.)—Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory yesterday won her way into the semi-finals of the women's tennis singles in the Gipsy Tournament at Stamford Hills. She defeated Miss M. E. Dix, 7-5, 6-3. The other players in the semi-finals are Mrs. Beamish, Mrs. Edgington and Miss Head.

Lessons in Golf

It is well to fix an imaginary line, in your mind, with this line passing through your ball toward the green ahead. Judging the line of flight is not so easy as one might think. I have seen old, experienced players step back of their ball and make a slight mark in order to get the clubhead properly lined up back of the ball. I advocate that practice for beginners. Then make both the upstroke and the down-stroke within the imaginary line of flight direction. The blow, for the drive, should be snappy—a crisp swishing away of the ball. The whole down-stroke movement should flow rhythmically along the body, arms, hands, shaft, and clubhead to the ball. Strive constantly for this easy flow of muscular rhythm. Hitting the ball hard is to no avail whatever if you do not attain this muscular ease and rhythm. If you hit hard, with the body, you take work from the clubhead and timing is lost. I will explain timing later on. It is easy to accomplish, but first you must attain a bodily ease and rhythm.

The picture shows the raising up fault. This player was in too great haste to see his ball flying. His elbows also are too close to the body, indicating that he had no follow-through. He only slapped the ball. No distance can be obtained with such a drive, and usually no direction either. Keep the eyes on the ball.

Football

Two league games are scheduled for Saturday, at the Oval, Owls will again clash with Lakefield. Mr. J. Clark is referee.

C.P.C. and Comrades, are the attraction at King Edward, with Mr. J. L. Howarth, referee. This should be a close game, both teams are on the same mark on the table, although Comrades have the credit of a win, with the Packers still waiting for their first.

There seems to be a bit of a struggle as to which team is going to capture the "dark horse" it is whispered that C.P.C. are favorites, but the others are still hot the trail.

The leading goal-getters in the P. and D. League are:

How many players in the district know the rule on throwing the ball in from touch? The number of foul throws prompts the question.

The player complies with this rule if the ball is thrown in over his head with both hands. Any part of both feet should be on the line.

GIRLS' GAMES.

Games scheduled for tomorrow in the girls' Playground Ball League are Centrals vs Queen Alexander at 5.30 and P.C. vs C.G.E. at 6.20.

OSHAWA A TIE SECOND PLACE

OSHAWA, June 7.—(Special.) — Geo. Patterson's hosiery tail-enders from Bowmanville came to Oshawa this afternoon and after Patton, who worked on the slab for the local team, finished up with them, they went deeper into the League cellar, while the win put Oshawa a tie with Lindsay for second place.

Bowmanville scored two in the third and another brace in the 8th, while Oshawa got one in the second and drove Wingeau to cover in the fourth, scoring seven runs. Chambers then took up the heaving end and after getting a poor start, allowing 2 runs in the fifth and one in the sixth, he straightened away and held Oshawa scoreless. The runs against the ex-Lindsay boy were mainly responsible through errors. The score by innings:

ANNOUNCEMENT!

The Management of the Capitol Theatre takes great pleasure in announcing that special arrangements have been made with the Universal Film Company, to bring to this city the Million-Dollar Motion Picture, "Foolish Wives." The picture is now being shown at Pantages Theatre in Toronto, and is doing the greatest business ever done by this popular institution.

The picture will be shown only in the largest cities of Canada, for many weeks, and Peterboro is fortunate in being listed as one of the first cities to be visited by this Mammoth Photoplay.

"Foolish Wives" is the first motion picture that actually cost more than $1,000,000 to produce. It was two years in the making and more than 100,000 people took part in it.

Further interesting announcements regarding "Foolish Wives" will appear in this newspaper within the next few days.

PORT HOPE ARE DANGEROUS LOT

Gave Lindsay a Terrible Scare Yesterday and Expect to Beat Petes Saturday.

The battle put up by the Port Hope team against Lindsay yesterday, when they were only nosed out 4 to 3 by a ninth innings rally, shows that the Ontarios are a dangerous crew and that the Petes will have to be at their best on Saturday when the Deer-Chalk-Hills combination will appear at Riverside Park. The game promises to be a fight all the way, and as it is the last home game for some time for the Petes, there will undoubtedly be a big crowd out to see the old rivals clash. The Port Hope team declare that they will surprise the Petes on Saturday and they have always had a habit of bumping the Solomon outfit just when a defeat would hurt them the worst. The Petes have two hard games away from home next week and they must win on Saturday to keep them up with the leaders. The game is called for 3 o'clock, and "Lefty" McDonald, of Toronto, who once upon a time pitched for Peterborough in the old Canadian League, will be umpire-in-chief.

BRITISH CONTENDER IN MODEL YACHT RACE.

NEW YORK, June 8.—(Canadian Press.)—Where Sir Thomas Lipton with a man-sized yacht failed, another Britisher, William J. Daniels, with a toy-sized boat will try to-day to regain for England some prestige in nautical competition by winning two out of three model yacht races in the quiet waters off Bayside, Long Island.

Daniels is staunchly confident that he will defeat E. A. Bull, of Brooklyn, the United States defender.

After final trials in the Sound yesterday the two skippers lifted their boats out of the water last night and placed them on their accustomed shelves in the boathouse, tying up their skiffs, from which the models will be handled, to posts at the end of the pier.

JUNIOR LACROSSE RESULTS.

In the Junior City Lacrosse League Wednesday evening, Strathconas defeated Riversides by 6-1 at the Oval, with Walter Smaill as referee, and Athletics won from Crescents by 4-2 at King Edward Park, George Robertson being in charge of the game. The youngsters are putting up a good brand of lacrosse, and all four teams are quite evenly matched, although Strathconas and Athletics appear to have a slight advantage.

The Charm of Peterborough

I am fresh from the Old Country. I arrived here less than a fortnight ago on a visit to some friends, and now that I have had a day or two looking round, I am prone to confess that I have never in all my life been in a prettier town. It seems to come as near to the ideal in environment, communal facilities, housing and general planning as anything I have ever read of. It is the cleanest, sweetest, daintiest and prettiest town one could imagine.

I know nothing of its origin. Its history is a sealed book to me. I am not even sure of the size of its population, its chief industries or its place in Canadian life. In short, my judgement rests entirely upon what I see around me, and with that I am more than content. I have been in the Library a short time, where I have read a little, and walked out again without exchanging a word with a single soul. I have visited the famous Lift Locks, the largest in the world I am told, and have viewed with interest the notable achievement in engineering. I have played upon the bowling green, where, for the first time in my life, I tried to "kiss the kitty" under the electric rays. And truth to tell, I who thought myself something of a player in the Old Country, have been soundly trounced by Peterborough bowlers. I have also been to Jackson Park, where in my loneliness beneath Nature's green mantle, I caught the full meaning of the Byronic expression, "There is a pleasure in the pathless woods." But, above and beyond all else, I have revelled in the beauty of the Otonabee River. I have sat on its banks speechless with admiration, and tried to vision how it appeared long before the eye of a white man had ever scanned its waters. I have pictured it as the scene of many sanguinary struggles between opposing Indian tribes. In fancy I have heard the blood-curdling war-whoop, and seen the sweep of the tomahawk. I have also mirrored in my mind a thousand love scenes amid the bewitching glamour of its surroundings. And I have endeavoured to sing of it in the following strains:

Otonabee.

CHORUS:
Otonabee! Otonabee!
A vision fair thou art to me;
When far away, I'll dream of thee,
Otonabee! Otonabee!

Beside thy waters winding sweet.
Oft trod the soft mocassined feet;
Oft Indian lovers sang of thee,
Otonabee! Otonabee!

Like some fair mirror thou dost gleam,
When sunlight dances o'er thy stream:
Thou art a Paradise to me
Otonabee! Otonabee!

And when the moon with soft caress,
Enhances thy rose loveliness:
Thou singest then a lullaby,
Otonabee! Otonabee!

There is a magic in thy smile
That doth my yearning heart beguile;
My thoughts arise, my soul goes free,
Otonabee! Otonabee!

And though I have not known thee long,
Thou art the the burden of my song:
Long as I live, I'll worship thee,
Otonabee! Otonabee!

A few more years and I must rest
In some green spot, God knoweth best;
But ever, always, thou shalt be,
Otonabee! Otonabee!

Wallace Reid has a chilly time on hot desert. Star of "Across the Continent" caught in cloudburst while screening picture.

The great American desert is not such a hot, dry sandy place, as it often pictured in story books, that it, at certain seasons of the year, according to Wallace Reid, Paramount star, who, with his supporting company, under the direction of Philip Rosen, spent several days on the edge of the Mojave filming road scenes for "Across the Continent" a new Paramount picture in which he stars and which will be shown at the Capitol theatre tonight Friday and Saturday.

It happened that Wally arrived on the "burning" sands in January, in the midst of a cloudburst, which had cooled the sands considerably. The company worked in water up to their knees, and shivered with the cold.

"Mary MacLaren, the leading wo man, shivered so much we couldn't take close ups of her", observed the star, on his return to the studio.

After working for about a week the scenes, which should have required only three days, were secured and the company returned to sunny California to make the road scenes.

AT THE ROYAL.

FOX STUDIO ECHOED TO SOUNDS OF JAZZ

In these days, when many motion pictures are spoken of in terms of huge sums of money expended in their production, it is difficult to excite the public by telling them that a certain scene cost many thousands of dollars. However, there is a brilliant cabaret scene in Pearl White's new William Fox picture, "Thee Broadway Peacock," which is unusual, not solely for the large amount of money it cost, but because, in spite of this expenditure, it is flashed across the screen for not more than five minutes.

Under the direction of Charles J. Brabin, the big Fox studio in New York became a veritable fairyland during the filming of the cabaret scenes. The sounds of the jazz orchestra, especially engaged for that portion of the picture, echoed over the entire upper floor and the music could be heard occasionally on the floors below. Impromptu dances held between scenes became popular, and every participant voted Miss White a genius in the art of entertaining.

The multi-colored and gorgeous gowns worn by the girls lent an air of brilliance at noon to the restaurant at the Fox plant.

"The Broadway Peacock" will be the attraction at the Royal for the balance of the week.

PEARL WHITE IN NEW FOX SUCCESS

Pearl White's new picture, "The Broadway Peacock," which opens tonight, is one more of the many good reasons why William Fox productions have enjoyed so many years of success unsurpassed by that of any other motion picture producer.

"The Broadway Peacock," delightful in its success of gaiety, overwhelming in its dramatic moments, unfolds a strange tale of New York's Gay White Way, in which Miss White fits perfectly. Her rare beauty never was more in evidence in any picture than in the cabaret scenes which lend an air of brilliant distinction to this production. One of the gorgeous gowns she wears, often described in the newspaper accounts of this well-known picture, is a revelation to the women of every audience. This is the gown which created much comment among New York society women.

Miss White enacts the role of Myrtle May, a hostess in a celebrated Broadway cabaret. She becomes infatuated with a wealthy young man, son of an aristocratic mother, who would have "nearly died" at the thought of such a woman as the cabaret hostess having designs upon her blue-blooded heir. A member of the superb cast is Doris Eaton, known as the girl who can weep real tears at will. Charles J. Brabin directd the picture.

This Girl Fills Two Jobs

FREIDA INESCORT.

By MARIAN HALE.

One job at a time is enough for most of us. But Frieda Inescort thinks you miss a great deal of the zest and excitement life can be made to yield if you confine your activities to one line of work.

That's why she edits ship news and writes an encyclopedia by day and acts by night.

"Now, wouldn't I be bored sitting around all day, if I just acted, and what would I do with my evenings, if I just worked during the day?" she asks.

"I can do a number of things, so it wouldn't bother me if a show closed the week it opened. I can write, I can type, I can operate a switchboard, take dictation, and I've adored being an 'information department.' And these things are always ready money.

"The reason so many girls have a hard time on the stage is because they believe they injure their prestige as actresses if they clerk in stores or work in offices between engagements. I have no such sentiments.

"I have no illusions about the stage, or about anything else being pleasant forever. Success in any line is a hard game. I'm not sure I would want to work hard enough and exclusively enough at any one thing to be a great phenomenon.

"Specialization is not my aim. Not being bored is."

Miss Inescort is almost 21.

"When I was 16, just out of a convent, understudied my mother, an actress in England—I thought I could trust mother not to be ill—and I taught myself stenography.

"Then I took a job—I was secretary to Lord Astor two years. And I used to write for London newspapers.

"Then I came to America and got a job as secretary over here. I found myself sort of bored, so I went to Winthrop Ames and told him I would like to act.

"He told me he would let me know if he had anything for me, and I considered the incident closed. Then I got this splendid job to write the encyclopedia and edit shipping news an I got all excited about Abyssinia and forgot Broadway.

"Then Mr. Ames came back, offering me a good part in 'The Truth About Blayds.'

"So I took five weeks off for rehearsal, then came back to my job. And for several months I've been doing both, and I'm not tired a bit.

"I get home every night before midnight, have a glass of milk as a midnight supper, and go to bed. Then I'm ready to get up by 8 and to work by 9.

"The grand part of it is that I'm saving money and buying bonds, and I may burst into a capitalist any of these days."

THURSDAY HALF HOLIDAY TODAY

Grocers Were Afraid to Allow One Member to Remain Open Thursday

The Thursday half-holiday was observed in the city to-day at City Hall, by the groceries and in various places of business, including dental and law offices. Excepting for the offices of the Tax Collector and City Assessor, the City Hall was shut up as tight as an oyster. All the groceries in the city were closed, although Leonard Fraser, secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association strongly urged the grocerymen at a meeting on Monday to keep at least one store open each week as he claimed the country general stores were getting the business that usually comes into the city.

The grocers would not hear of the proposition, and the suggestion that at least one store in each line stay open next month when all the shops close was also turned down. Mr. Fraser pointed out that it was the custom in practically all other cities for one store in each line of business to remain open, but the merchants were afraid of the one that was open seizing the half-holiday to put on a special sale and get a big share of the week's business. The merchants stood pat on the policy of all open or all shut.

IN MEMORIAM.
LILLICOE.—Verses written by Mrs. Bert Tully for Everett, in loving remembrance of his mother, Minnie Lillicoe, who departed this life in 1919.

Come, Oh my mother, come,
Dark are the clouds that riseth on our hearth,
Dim are the joys of this my childhood's home,
Sad is each household path.

We wait at eventide for thy soft
Blessing breathed in slumbering ear,
We see thee in our dreams at each bedside,
Thy loving voice we hear.

We waken with a start,
The vision melteth in mornbeams away;
Grief comes as surely to the Stricken heart as light cometh with the day.

Sadly thy flowers bloom,
Opening their glories to thy sealed eyes;
The spring birds warble o'er thy closed tomb,
Their softest melodies.

But thou art passed away
As a bright bird of passage from our land,
Oh, gentle spirit of my mother,
Say thou wilt not forsake our band?

If from the world above the
Ministering saints and angels come,
Thou wilt, Oh mother, spread
Thy angel wings of love o'er this our home.

—Mrs. Bert Tully, R. R. No. 2, Peterborough.

PROHIBITION OF LIQUOR TRAFFIC GREAT BENEFIT

Intoxicated Men Are Rarely Seen Now on Streets of Cities, Towns and Villages.

LICENSE BD. REPORT

TORONTO, June 9.— (Special to Examiner.)—The success of prohibition is proclaimed in the report of the Ontario License Board for the the year 1921. "It will be generally admitted," it is declared, "that prohibition of the liquor traffic has brought great benefits to the people of Ontario. Intoxicated men are rarely seen upon the streets of our cities, towns and villages. And countless families, whose bread-winners formerly wasted their earnings on drink, are now able to live in comfort. While the police court records still show too large a number of arrests for drunkenness, it is to be remembered that under prohibition, well enforced, fewer intoxicated men escape arrest.

Revenue is Large.

One schedule accompanying the report shows the revenue accruing to the province under the Ontario Temperance Act from fines imposed there under by license districts, the total revenue from this source for the license year being $811,087.56. The previous report showed a total under this head of $273,647.14.

There is also shown the expenses for enforcing the Ontario Temperance Act by district inspectors for the license year 1920-21, the total being $253,357.24 as compared with $144,211.58 in the last report.

Another schedule summarizes the sources which go to make up the total revenue from this branch for the fiscal year ending 1st October, 1921, $663,886.76, as compared with $785,-788.99 for the previous year. Against this total of $663,886.76 may be placed expenses of law enforcement, including salaries of provincial and local inspectors, law costs, salaries and disbursements of members of the Board and office staff for the fiscal year, amounting to $482,084.28 leaving a credit balance of $181,802.48.

Dispensary Prices.

The report says: "Some complaints have been received as to what are called excessive prices charged at the dispensaries, but these prices are largely beyond the control of the Board.

"Through the sympathetic co-operation of the physicians of Ontario, liquor prescriptions on dispensaries are on the decline, these having been reduced in 1921 by approximately 25 p.c. compared with the previous year. At present they are being filled at the rate of about 600,000 per annum. The reduction is reflected in the returns of profits which, in 1920 were $860,017 and in 1921 $691,598. We may confidently look forward to a still further reduction in the number of medical prescriptions."

Confiscated Liquor.

The value of confiscated liquor which was sold to the dispensaries during the fiscal year ending October 31st, 1921, was $118,277.32. A considerable quantity of confiscated liquor was donated to provincial and other hospitals for medicinal uses. No liquor of doubtful quality has been assigned for medicinal uses, either in hospitals or on prescriptions in stores of vendors under the Act.

The value of confiscated liquor on hand 15th January, 1922, was $200,-032.33. Quantities of confiscated liquor received at the dispensary warehouse from May 1st, 1920 to April 30th, 1921, were: Cases of liquor 21,486; gallons of liquor 2,683; cases of beer 897; barrels of beer 90.

Commitments to Jail.

Some interesting figures are furnished, showing the number of commitments to jails for drunkenness during the years 1911 to 1921. The totals are: 1911, 5,827; 1912, 6,613; 1913, 8,363; 1914, 8,848; 1915, 6,235; 1916, 5,968; 1917, 3,907;; 1918, 2,595; 1919, 3,415; 1920, 4,511; 1921, 4,719.

IRISH-CANADIANS IN DIGNANT.

MONTREAL, June 9.—(Canadian Press.)— Lindsay Crawford, president of the Self-Determination for Ireland League of Canada, has sent a telegram to the Governor-General requesting him to convey on behalf of the Irish race in Canada to the British government the feeling of deep indignation which has been aroused by the failure to afford protection to the Catholic minority in Belfast.

Doctors Inspect The New Hospital

On Wednesday evening, prior to the general opening of the new wing at St. Joseph's Hospital, the doctors of the city, about twenty-five of whom were in attendance, made a tour of inspection of the new premises, followed by a banquet in the sunroom on the first floor. His Lordship Bishop O'Brien, presided, with Mons. McColl, Father J. J. O'Brien and Father P. Costello also in attendance. Discussion of standardization of hospitals took place, the majority of the doctors present voicing their approval of the system.

TRENT INTERESTS TO HOLD MEETING

Delegates Will Meet in Lindsay on June 21st

The annual meeting of the Trent Waterway Development Association will be held in Lindsay, Wednesday, June 21st, it was announced to-day. The meeting will be held following a lunch at the Benson House at 12.30 noon. President G. K. Fraser will preside. The business of the meeting will be expedited to alllow the delegates to return to their home the same day. A large representation from this city is expected to motor up, and on account of the central location of Lindsay the attendance should be large.

Reports that will be read will show the past year to have been successful. The government will probably be urged to complete the construction of the Severn Division of the canal as soon as possible and the Department of Railways and Canals will be requested to expedite the publication of the navigation charts showing that section of the waterway from Peterborough to Georgian Bay.

Local committees will probably be formed in each municipality to look after the local phase of the association's work. The advertising policy for the next year will be discussed and each municipality will be encouraged to do as much work along this line themselves as possible. It is likely that the names of towns, villages and cities along the route will be placed at an advantageous point that all who run may read. It has been suggested that the names could be made up of whitewashed rocks on a grassy slope and boats that are in strange waters would have no difficulty in getting their bearings. This matter may seem inconsequential to people who live in this section, but it has not been found so by summer visitors who have complained of the various places along the route not being advertised in this way and the embarrassment occasioned them in having to ask the natives what town they are in.

WARM RECEPTION FOR DAN SIMONS

Week's Engagement at Lovesick Lake Was Cut to a One-Night Stand, and a Long Night it Was

The first flights of mosquitoes around the Kawartha Lakes have been so numerous during the first ten days of June that there hasn't been much pleasure for the early cottagers. Until the middle of the month the little stingers usually have complete command of the scenery, but this year they are said to have exceeded all past assembly records, and also ran up a new standard for activity and voraciousness. Already the worst of the plague is over, but Dan Simons tried a night of it while the mosquitoes were at their lustiest, and like owls found their element in the dark. Dan went up to Lovesick Lake the guest of Walter Metheral, one evening recently for a few days in the most beautiful section of the Kawartha waters. They left here about 6 p.m. expecting to spend a few days or a week back with Nature, but somewhere about 6 o'clock the next morning they were knocking on the city's door again.

"I wouldn't stay up there while they're like that for the whole lake and all the property around it," said Peterborough's comic opera star. "Not even for another night." From which it is inferred that the holiday venture wasn't exactly all that it might have been. The Lovesick mosquitoes with their new-sharpened blades still unfleshed, made the night a lony torture, and the one experience was a rout.

HE THANKS GOD THAT DRURY AND RANEY IN POWER

Rev. John Coburn Says Men of Their Calibre Needed These Distressing Times.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

TORONTO, June 9. (Special.) — "There is not an evil influence in the country which does no hate this department," was the proud boast of Rev. John Coburn, reporting to the Toronto Methodist Conference this morning on behalf of the Department of Evangelism and Social Service. "There is not an evil influence which would not rejoice in its destruction."

Lack of Sympathy.

He regretted also that there were those within the church who for various reasons were not in hearty sympathy with the work of the department. "But surely in these distressing times the church and the world need more than ever a work of this kind carried on.

"Without regard to political affiliation of any kind," said Mr. Coburn, "we have occasion to thank God that in this trying time two men of the calibre of Hon. F. C. Drury and Hon. W. E. Raney are in the place of power.

"Perhaps the outstanding social question of the hour is that of law enforcement, especially in its relation to prohibition. A desperate and determined attempt is being made by the friends of the liquor traffic not only to break our prohibitory laws, but to create a spirit of contempt for law and of opposition to all who are endavoring to enforce the law

Treasonable Methods.

"In spite of this attack to discredit prohibition by these treasonable methods, one has only to study the criminal statistics of the province of Ontario and compare conditions with those, say, of British Columbia which is under a system of government sale, to be convinced that the Ontario Temperance Act is one of the most beneficial pieces of legislation ever placed on the statute books of the province."

SCANT SYMPATHY WITH RILEY'S VETS.

Should They Attempt a Second Hike to Ottawa

KINGSTON, June 9.—(Special to The Examiner).—Kingston has practically no sympathy with the reported action of Riley to march again to Ottawa with an army of unemployed veterans. The action taken here when the last veterans reached this place was purely out of charity, and the City Council supplied bread and potatoes as its share of the food supply, the remainder being contributed by merchants and others. Public opinion is that the action of Riley is very ill-advised. Every municipality has its unemployment situation to meet, and this city is of the opinion that the Government at Toronto and Ottawa have done all possible to help the unemployed under conditions that are world-wide. Another march to Ottawa, in the opinion of the local authorities, would lead to no good results.

NOTHING TO GAIN.

OTTAWA, June 9.—(Special to The Examiner).—Mayor Plant, of Ottawa, does not view with enthusiasm the prospect of another visit from "General" Riley's army of unemployed veterans. The Mayor told The Examiner that the city felt that Ottawa had done all that could fairly be expected of the municipality in extending the generous hospitality accorded the army here this week. His Worship does not feel very cordial toward the prospective visitors, largely because he cannot see what the veterans can gain by coming to the capital again. It is not expected in Ottawa that the second expedition will ever reach here, at least for some time.

New Addition to St. Joseph's Hospital

NEW HOSPITAL WAS INSPECTED BY THE PUBLIC

Formal Opening of the Addition to St. Joseph's Hospital Took Place Yesterday.

STANDARDIZATION

From two o'clock until nearly ten in the evening of yesterday, throngs of people from every section of the city and surrounding district visited the new premises at St. Joseph's Hospital, inspected the completed building, and joined in the unanimous chorus of approval and surprise which was heard from all sides, over the splendid appearance, in detail and general effect, of the new wing. The feminine contingent was especially enthusiastic. 'What a lovely place to be sick in", remarked one woman, who had just stepped from an upper corridor, after inspecting the minute preparations for surgery in the operating rooms, out to the roof garden, a spacious, low-walled enclosure looking to the south, where the beauty of the landscape, the surety of pleasant breezes in summer and revivifying sunlight through winter days, gives promise of peaceful seclusion to convalescing patients.

Perhaps the general impression received from an inspection of a new wing might be described as one of soothing, comforting efficiency and absolute spotlessness. A patient coming to this abode of calm whiteness would have a little to desire, in the way of service or peaceful surroundings, whether he or she lay in one of the beds in the wards, whose wide balconies look out to the green countryside, or in the more luxurious private rooms, with their own baths, their rugs and artistically-designed furniture.

Lots of Light

Light, bright and plentiful through the daytime, soft and glowing through the dark hours, penetrates everywhere, the long, airfilled coriridors have pleasant arched alcoves for nurses' tables, footfalls are lost on the noiseless flooring, that "is so easy on the feet," as one of the nurses remarked, and little, overhead, rose-tinted electric lights mark the signal in the corridor when the patient calls for his nurse, through the electric push-button system.

Everything is softly-tinted, a soft appealing color scheme that rests the eye; white walls, white beds in the wards radiators painted in light greys; whiteness immaculate, and spotless in the bathrooms, the enamel-fitted diet kitchens, with their complete electric equipments, white in the sterilizing rooms, white brick-tiled walls and white marble showers in, the upper rooms for doctors use; white in thespecial examination room; in the X-ray department, and in the laboratory, and a white Christ looks down on sufferigg humanity from the crucifix that dominates the walls and corridors. But there is color in the private rooms, browns and blues, cream tints and rose in the daintily-embroidered dresser scarfs and pillow-slips in the extra special compartments. Walnut features the dainty furnishings in the men's and womens wards, and there is cream-tinted ivory woodwork in the maternity ward, where a charming little room is devoted to the night nursery, and the day room is fitted up with the cutest of little cribs on rollers. In this section, also, is the special washing table for infants, with such an attractive look as to make the most cantankerous child long for soap and water.

Smaller Profits For the Dealers

Owing to Price Cutting They Have had to Absorb Sales Tax in Profit on Cigarettes.

Local tobacconists were up in arms to-day over the intimation that they were charging a sales tax they were not entitled to. They explained that they have to charge this tax, but on account of one store cutting prices have had to absorb it in their profit. On account of one store refusing to charge more than 20 cents for a popular brand, the others have had to follow suit. Invoices produced by local dealers show that they are only making $2.30 a thousand, whereas when they sold at 18 cents they cleared $3.75 a thousand.

LOCAL CHAMBER VOICES PROTEST

Peterboro' Chamber of Commerce Held a Meeting—Matters Discussed

After considerable study being given the matter the executive council of the Chamber of Commerce has recommended to the Dominion Government further suspension of the Crow's Nest Pass agreement which, if re-enacted they believed would by giving cheap freight rates in the west tend to aggravate freight costs for the rest of the Dominion. At a largely attended meeting the following resolution was therefore adopted by unanimous vote:

Whereas, it is our belief that the transportation costs of to-day are directly responsible for the retarding of the industrial productivity and the return of normal trade conditions.

And whereas, by the re-enactment of the Crow's Nest Pass Agreement a discriminatory condition with the freight rate fabric of the country will be brought into operation contrary to the principles of the Canadian Railway Act.

And whereas, the abrogation of the Board of Railway Commissioners General Order No. 308 will again establish rates as effective immediately prior to September 13th, 1920.

Therefore Resolved, that we, the Executive Council of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, strongly recommend to the Dominion Government that the re-enactment of the Crow's Nest Pass Agreement be further suspended over a period of three years, and that the Board of Railway Commissioners General Order No. 308 be permanently abrogated.

And Further Resolved, that the rates as effective immediately prior to September 13, 1920, be again established for a period of one year, during which period a study of the new conditions should be made and submitted to the Board of Railway Commissioners for consideration.

Council Protested.

The Council protested against the Provincial government establishing the maximum hours on female labor in the trade, occupation or calling in Ontario until representatives of interested parties are given an opportunity to express their views.

Thirty-eight applications for the position of assistant secretary were received and Fred Holmes, 255 Reid street, was appointed. The life membership in the Chamber of Robert Stewart of the Quaker Oats com-

MANY NOTABLES LAND AT QUEBEC FROM OLD LAND

Included in Passenger List is Sir Herbert Ames, Financial Director of Nations' League.

SIR HERBERT'S VIEWS

QUEBEC, June 9.—The Canadian Pacific liner, "Empress of France," from Hambourg, Cherbourg and Southampton, in command of Capt. E. riffith, R.N.R., arrived at Quebec at 3.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon with four hundred and thirty-nine passengers, including two hundred and sixteen in first-class.

Captain Griffith reports a gorgeous summer passage from the ship's departure at Hambourg until the time of her arrival at Quebec. There were a number of Americans on board, who were simply delighted with the trip, especially the scenic effects visualized on the way up the St. Lawrence.

Among prominent passengers were Lady Margaret Boscowen, London, England, sister of His Excellency Governor-General Lord Byng; Sir Herbert Ames, financial director of the League of Nations, on leave of absence to Canada; Sir William and Lady Price, of Quebec; Lady Davis, of Montreal; Mr. and the Misses Dunsmuir, of Victoria, B.C.; Major R. O. Furse, C.S.D., London, England; Hon. N. Perodeau, Montreal; Miss E. Reid, of Prescott, Ont., daughter of Hon. Dr. John Reid, former Minister of Railways and Canals, who met Miss Reid on her arrival. Lady Margaret Boscowen was met on the ship's arrival by Captain Joliffe, A.D.C. to the Governor-General, and Lt.-Col. Papineau, A.D.C. to Lieutenant-Governor Sir Chas. Fitzpatrick, and she will remain in Quebec for several days as guest of Sir Charles and Lady Fitzpatrick at Spencerwood.

Charming Personality.

Lady Margaret Boscawen is a lady of charming personality, and captured the hearts of all the saloon passengers during the voyage. She will make a tour of Canada, which has been especially arranged in advance over the Canadian Pacific Railway, and as she takes a great interest in agriculture, she will visit a number of farms and up-to-date dairies in Ontario and the West. Speaking of agriculture, Lady Margaret is full of the subject, saying that she loved farming, and as a girl of ten years of age, used to spend a good deal of her time on the farm and in the making of butter.

Sir Herbert Ames, ex-M.P. for St. Antoine Division, Montreal, and since the organization of the League of Nations, financial director and administrator of the League's expenditures, is now on leave of absence to Canada. In the course of an interview he said he would first proceed to Ottawa to attend a meeting on League of Nations matters there and confer with Prime Minister Hon. Mackenzie King.

Sir Herbert was averse to say anything of a political nature, remarking that he was now in an international subject. He said after spending a short season with his wife at the seaside, after he got through with his League business in Canada, he would return to Geneva. He said there were fifty-one natives embodied in the League of Nations, and that Geneva was the watch tower from which they visualized the political and economical section of the entire world. They were kept well posted, as they received four hundred and thirty newspapers, besides clippings from the press of the whole world, and printed in various languages.

Hated the League.

While Sir Herbert would not discuss European politics, he said that the Russian Soviets hated the League of Nations, and would not have anything to do with it, because they looked upon the League as a representation of the Bourgeois.

He said that many of the countries were recovering their economic difficulties as a result of the war, while there were many others that were not.

He instanced Roumania as one of these countries not recovering very fast, and said, literally, France would take three years before they would show healthy signs of recovery. On the other hand, he instanced Czech Slovakia as one of the countries which was fast coming back to normal. As to England, he was pleased to say she was recovering her commercial and industrial

H. H. Stevens to Be The Speaker Tonight

OTTAWA, June 9.—(Special) Mr. G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., telegraphed to-day that the opportunity of hearing the Hon. H. H. Stevens, former Minister of Trade and Commerce, was a privilege to the people of Peterborough. The speaker will deal with the subject of Oriental immigration before the Kiwanis Club to-night at 6.30 o'clock at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Gordon said that Mr. Stevens yesterday gave one of the best speeches in the House of Commons that had been presented on the Budget; and the subject of Oriental immigration was one upon which there was no higher authority than the Hon. Mr. Stevens.

OTHER HOLDINGS

TORONTO, June 9.—(Special to The Examiner).—The will of the late Sir John C. Eaton, who died on the 30th day of March, 1922, is being filed for probate. From information supplied The Examiner, it disposes of an estate valued at $13,098,622.82.

One of the principal items making up the estimate is his interest in the T. Eaton Co., Ltd., which is valued at $4,832,845.00. Other holdings include 156 shares of the Dominion Bank valued at $30,342; 250 shares in the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, valued at $36,000; shares in the T. Eaton Life Assurance Co., valued at $60,000; shares in the T. Eaton Drug Co., valued at $6,000, and a number of other holdings in clubs, charitable organizations and institutions, making a total of stocks, $4,973,837.

The bonds of the estate includes Dominion of Canada War Loan Bonds, valued at $2,841,677.68, Province of Ontario Bonds and stock valued at $1,674,701.33, and other miscellaneous securities valued at $33,185.79, making a total of $4,-549,564.80.

The real estate includes Sir John's residence in Toronto, known as "Ardwold," which is valued at $300,000, and a number of properties in different parts of the city, including practically all of the two blocks lying south of College Street and west of Yonge Street, the total amounting to $3,329,155.15.

A number of bequests are made to certain members and ex-members of the "Ardwold" staff, amounting approximately to $69,000.

The executors are authorized to form a fund not exceeding $800,000, to be used either for investment or in the purchase of the Hamilton factory of the T. Eaton Co., excluding the real estate, and to pay such of the income therefrom to Sir John's brother, Major W. F. Eaton, as the trustees may decide.

The residential property known as "Ardwold," in the city of Toronto, is to be maintained as a home for Lady Eaton and the children living with her.

Lady Eaton is given outright all the contents of "Ardwold" and of the Muskoka residence. She is also to be given an annual sum of $100,000 for her support and maintenance and for the support, maintenance and education of the children.

MRS. CHERRETT TOOK OWN LIFE JURY DECIDES

Suicide By Drowning Was Verdict on Evidence Presented Before Coroner Dr. T. N. Greer.

GAVE FEES TO WIDOW

A verdict of suicide by drowning was brought in last night by the jury that investigated the death of Mrs. Agnes Cherrett.

"From the evidence furnished we find that the deceased came to her death on or about May 28 or 29, 1922 in the Otonabee river, by drowning. Your jury are of the opinion that it was a case of suicide" was the report submitted to the corner Dr. T. N. Greer. The personel of the jury was: W. H. Nelson, Paul Trebilcock, H. C. Huffman, H. C. Sherwood, D. Hennessy, J. Malane, S. Touchburn, M. J. Maher George Evans, Fred McFadden, Ward Patterson and J. E. Fowler.

The jurors contributed their fees, amounting to $24, to Mrs. Roy Cherrett who was the principal witness of the inquest. It lasted less than an hour i. the taking of the evidence and the juro.. were half an hour preparing their verdict.

Dr. H. M. Yelland and Dr. A. W. McPherson, who performed the autopsy, testified that death was caused by drowning. Water in the windpipe and smaller passages of the lungs indicated that Mrs. Cherrett had breathed under water. Two small wounds were found on the head but they were superficial.

Mr. Aruthr Rountree.

Arthur Rountree, of the Grand Central apartments, who was called next, said he had known Mrs. Cherrett for twenty yeairs. He recalled having seen her about May 1 on the Wednesday following the marriage of her son Roy.

"She talked about her son making such a mess of himself, and said he was crazy the way he was acting." Mr. Rountree testified. She said that if she could take her son and go to sleep and never wake up she would be well pleased. She said she thought he was roped into the marriage. She had always looked on the bright side of life and, I told her there was lots worse than that and it would soon blow over."

Mr. Rountree said Mrs. Cherrett appeard different from ever before. To Mr. J. F. Strickland who conducted the examination for the Crown he said she appeared as if she was going to throw up her hands and quit. He didn't pay much attention at the time to her remarks but thought she made them "just offhand". He had met her several times after ard, and on both occasions she said that the best thing that could happen would be for her and Roy to fall into an eternal sleep. She had told witness that Roy had "got his life in trouble."

Spoke of River.

Mrs. Margaret Scott testified that on Saturday night May 27th she

Hydro Amendment Is Held Far Further Investigation

Would Allow Rebate on Cost of Construction of Radial Lines to Rural Municipalities.

OTHER BILLS.

TORONTO, June 9—(Canadian Press—After much discussion following the introduction of an amendment by Hon. Howard Ferguson. The Legislature yesterday afternoon allowed to stand over for further consideration the bill introduced by Hon. Col. Carmichael, Minister without portfolio, to amend the Hydro Electric Power Commission Act to empower that body to allow, through the government, a rebate of 50 per cent. on the cost of construction of primary transmission lines to rural municipalities when power is developed by the municipality.

Hon. Mr. Ferguson's amendment, which caused much discussion but which was not finally dealt with, was to permit the extension of such aid to private corporations that developed power in order to lesson the ultimate cost to the consumer. Mr. Ferguson's plan was to extend such assistance to the private concerns if they supplied power at cost.

Casselman Agrees

W. H. Casselman U.F.O. (Dundas) who is nearly all the time at variance with the Government's hydro policy supported the suggestion of Mr. Ferguson. "I have always steered an independent course since I entered this house," stated Mr. Casselman when Premier Drury accused Mr. Ferguson of catering to the independent U.F.O. "Although Mr. Ferguson is the hardest working member in this house he has no political influence over me," he added.

Col. Carmichael thought that the bill should stand over until the Government should have ample opportunity to decide on Mr. Ferguson's amendment. He stated that there would be time enough to bring the bill up again even although the house might possibly conclude its session tonight or to-morrow. The house concurred in this.

Hydro Purchase

The Legislature in committee approved of the bill authorizing the Hydro Electric Power Commission to purchase and operate on behalf of the City of Toronto the Toronto Surburban Radial Railway.

By amendment made in committee enumerators or others persons willfully leaving off, altering, or incorrectly entering names on the votors' lists will be subjected to be rather serious punishment on conviction according to the slight revision to the Voters' List Act. Penalties of a mimimum fine of $500. and a maximum fine of $2,000. with imprisonment not exceeding three months are provided.

Public Health Act

The committee also approved of two amendments to the Public Health Act which were introduced by Hon. Walter Rollo. One of the bills gives power to any municipality to appoint nurses and doctors for doctors to render accounts to persons suffering from venereal diseases by addressing the bills by number so that no name will appear on the account. This comes as an amendment to the Venereal Diseases Act and is expected to encourage the medical profession in not making public in any way the cases of such patients.

Introduced by Hon. W. E. Raney the Legislature also approved of a bill to create a Territorial and Provisional Judicial District of Cochrane. The bill will become law when so ordered by the Government in-Council in order that these Department of Justice may have time to make some investigation.

SPOTTERS DRUNK CASE DISMISSED.

ST. CATHARINES, June 9.—(Canadian Press.)—Evidence being given of two policemen that two government spotters were drunk before they visited the home of a man they afterwards charged with illegal selling, Magistrate Campbell yesterday afternoon dismissed the case, refusing to take evidence of men who were intoxicated. The two men were Arthur Ward and Edward Blundell.

OPPOSITION RAISED TO NIAGARA BRIDGE.

Senator Robertson Suggests That Present Bridge Be Improved to Accommodate Increased Traffic.

OTTAWA, June 9. — (Canadian Press.)—In the Senate yesterday on second reading of the bill to incorporate the Buffalo and Fort Erie Public Bridge Company, Senator Robertson said that he was in accord with the project but opposed to the methods adopted. The proposal was for a private company to build a second bridge across the Niagara River between Fort Erie and Buffalo, the present bridge having been found inadequate for the traffic. Two years ago this project had been placed before the then Minister of Railways, and with him he had investigated it and had come to the conclusion that the right course was to improve the present bridge, double track the railway on it and provide for pedestrian and vehicle traffic, charging the same tolls as at Niagara Bridge. The present bridge was owned by the Grand Trunk Railway, now the property of the Crown, and was a paying proposition. He believed that the State should continue to control and that private enterprise should not be permitted to interfere. The improvements would meet the traffic requirements and the revenue would make the bridge continue to be profitable.

Senator Belcourt, who is in charge of the bill, said that he would give all the necessary information in committee.

COMMUNISTIC PLAN FOR THE DOUKHOBORS

PRINCE ALBERT, June 9. — (Canadian Press.) —According to a report which has reached here, Peter Vergin, Doukhobor leader, is endeavoring to induce sect at Blain Lake to associate itself with Brotherhood and adopt communistic plan. It is said that women favored adoption of the proposal which reduced clothing to a minimum, adoption of standard style of dress, simple living and trading with common purse, but that it was solidly opposed by men.

PREMIER WANTS CO-OPERATION TO AID UNEMPLOYED

Mackenzie King Addresses Fourth Annual Meeting of Employment Service Council.

CENTRALIZATION.

OTTAWA, June 9. — (Canadian Press.)—Closer co-operation between the Dominion and Provincial Government and the better co-ordination of employment machinery already established were pressed by Right Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King, Prime Minister yesterday, in addressing the second session of the fourth annual meeting of the Employment Service Council. Mr. King expressed the hope that out of the deliberations of the council recommendations would arise upon which the Government could take action by way of legislation.

Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, indicated the various issues of handicapped workers that were applying to the employment service and suggested that if at all possible all phases of employment works should be centralized in the Employment Service of Canada.

Hon. H. S. Beland, Minister of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, stated that 33,000 disabled ex-service men had been placed in employment by his department during the past three years.

Two committees were appointed—one for the consideration of the problem of the placement of the handicapped and another to report on the general unemployment problem.

The council is holding its deliberations in private.

KIDNEY TROUBLE

Is quite common, gradually becoming more severe, and if prompt action is not taken, serious results will follow. The symptoms are headache and pain in the back, sleeplessness, ashen complexion, white coated tongue and frequent urination. If a puffy swelling is noted in the feet or ankles the disease is well established and you must give the kidneys all the help possible by stirring the liver and bowels into action. Take Henderson's Herb Tablets every night according to directions, watch the digestion carefully, drink plenty of cold water between meals.

Mrs. T. Bevington, 303 Wilton ave., Toronto, Ont., says:

"I wish to express my gratitude for the great benefit I have received through Dr. Henderson's Herb Treatment. I suffered for a number of years with kidney and liver trouble and at times could scarcely do my work with the pain in my back, and cramps in my muscles. I am now 67 years of age and after using one box of Dr. Henderson's Herb Treatment I feel like a new person.

BIG CROP YIELD IS EXPECTED IN UNITED STATES

THE FIGURES.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—(Canadian Press.)—Larger indicated crop yields, due principally to splendid growing conditions thus far this season, promise more abundant production this year than harvested in 1921, despite smaller acreages, especially in wheat and oats.

The department of Agriculture's June crop report, issued yesterday, and based on the condition of crop June 1, forecasts a winter wheat crop the fourth largest in the history of the United States, with a total of 587,000,000 bushels. During May the indicated production increased 22,000,000 bushels, of which 11,000,000 bushels was credited to Kansas.

The spring wheat crop will be 49,000,000 bushels larger than last year's, with a total of 247,000,000 bushels, placing the country's total wheat crop, winter and spring combined, at 855,000,000 bushels, or sixty million bushels more than was produced last year. Production of oats is forectast at 1,305,000,000 bushels, or 244,000,000 bushels more than last year's crop.

An apple crop of 179,800,000 bushels was forecast, compared with 98,000,000 bushels last year and 223,600,000 in 1920.

MISS FONTAINE REGAINS WEIGHT AND FEELS FINE

Popular Girl Had Almost Given Up Hope of Recovery, But Tanlac Brought Her Complete Relief From Alarming Stomach Trouble.

"I am so happy to be in good health again that I just can't praise Tanlac enough", declared Miss Anna Fontaine, popular young lady of St. Agathe, Man.

"I had been in very poor health for two years and had been getting worse all the time in spite of everything I could do. My trouble started with influenza which kept me in bed several weks and left me almost helpless. My appetite was poor, I couldn't get the proper nourishment and was so weak and worn out I couldn't do any work. I had begun to think I would never get any better.

"I could tell Tanlac was going to help me as soon as I had taken a dose or two. A few bottles have built me up ten pounds and made me feel like a new person. I think Tanlac is simply the grandest medicine made."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

CIVIC WELCOME FOR REPRESENTATIVE OF INDIAN GOVERNMENT

LONDON, June 9. Canadian Press —Srinivas Sastri, the representative of the Indian government, who is on a tour of the British dominions, to advocate equal rights for Indians throughout the Empire, was tendered a civic welcome on his arrival at Adelaide, Australia. He was the guest of honor at a luncheon at the Commonwealth Club, and also dined with the Lieutenant-governor of the State of South Australia.

FORMER EDITOR OF "JOHN BULL" SELLS INTEREST

Horatio Bottomley Parts With His Interests in Famous English Paper.

SENT TO JAIL.

LONDON, June 9. — (Canadian Press.)—W. Grant Morden, presiding at a meeting of Oldham's Press, which owns the paper "John Bull," said the directors were much concerned over the grave charges against their former editor. The directors, before legal action was taken against Horatio Bottomley, decided they could not jeopardize the company's good name by retaining a man, however brilliant, whose actions were the subject of such charges. Arrangements were therefore made whereby Bottomley accepted £25,000 for his life interest in 'John Bull.' It was, said Mr. Morden, a bold course, but the directors had then no idea of the extent of the prosecution and the subsequent results. Mr. Bottomley was recently sentenced to a long prison term for fraud.

A RECEPTION TENDERED NEWLY MARRIED COUPLE.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Welbourne Recipients of Tokens of Esteem.

On Monday evening, June 5th, a reception was given for Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Welbourne by the groom's parents. Mrs. F. J. Fife, grandmother of the groom, Keene, and Mr. C. E. Milton, grandfather of the bride, Grafton, beside several relatives of town were present. Later in the evening the Gleanor's Bible Class, of which Mrs. Welbourne was a member, W.W.T. Club of which Mr. Melbourne is a member, and the League of St. James Methodist Church, gathered and presented Mrs. Welbourne with a small musical clock, Mr. Welbourne with an electric toaster and iron, while the League presented Mr. and Mrs. Welbourne with a beautiful landscape picture.

Two Addresses.

The following are the respective addresses:

Dear Mary:—To-night we have gathered here to spend a little social evening and have a little visit with you.

We have enjoyed your companionship and cooperation in our class at all times and we trust that though your name is different you will still be the same faithful worker in the Sunday school and Church.

As a small token of our apreciation, and with our best wishes, for the future, we ask you to accept this little clock.

Mary Masters, was you maiden name,
You heard it at every turn,
But don't forget, to greet us the same
When we call you Mrs. Welbourne.
We've summed it up from all fours,
And this is our closing wish,
May Peace, and Happiness, be yours,
As you accept this little gift.

THE GLEANORS BIBLE CLASS

A Little Humour.

Mr. Herschel Welbourne:—It is with deep regret that we, the members of the "W.W.T." Club learn that you have joined the Society of Benedicts.

We cannot understand why you should have taken such a serious step without consulting each one of the class, however we find that this is the first time you have ever committed such a serious offence and we trust it will be the last.

And we ask you to kindly accept this Toaster and Flat Iron as a token of our respect and sympathy. We trust the Toaster will keep you warmed up in the Winter Time and the Iron will smoot out any wrinkles in your disposition.

With best wishes to your good wife and yourself.

(Signed on behalf of the class) Lewis R. Parks, William McLaren, W. E. Wright, Ernest Lee, E. A. Rowe.

THE FAIR WAGE POLICY MUST BE CARRIED OUT

Contractors on Government Works Must Pay Wages Prevailing in Locality.

SUB-LETTING.

OTTAWA, June 9. — (Canadian Press.)—On the recommendation of the Minister of Labor, more effective measures have been taken by order-in-council to secure the observance of the Fair Wage Policy. This policy is based on a resolution adopted by the House of Commons in 1900 declaring that all government contracts should contain such labor conditions as will prevent abuses through sub-letting and secure the payment of fair wages.

In conformity with this policy, a fair wage clause has since 1900 been inserted in Government forms and contracts. Examination has shown, however, that the labor conditions inserted in the forms of contract in use in the government departments differed in various respects. The present order-in-council emphasise the desirability that the labour provisions in question should be as nearly uniform in terms and administration as possible. To that end the Government has approved of two sets of labor conditions for insertion in Government contracts.

The term "current wages" and the term "hours of labour fixed by the custom of the trade" in the fair wage clause are defined in the order-in-council as meaning respectively the standard rates of wages and hours of labour either recognized by signed agreements between employers and

THE WRONG WAY.

To those who sympathize with the cause of the returned soldiers, and who are anxious to see that justice is done in cases where more equitable treatment is indicated the disturbance caused in Toronto the other night by the members of Riley's "army," is disquieting. The Ottawa hikers deliberately broke up a mass meeting called by the Toronto veterans' organizations, refusing to allow any of the speakers to be heard. The wrongs of the ex-service men will never be righted in that way, nor is it easy to see why Mr. Riley and his associates should believe that they, rather than the various veterans' societies, represent the men who fought. Great harm was done to the cause of the returned soldiers by the action of J. Harry Flynn, whose insolent demands for a cash gratuity for everybody who went overseas, only succeeded in disgusting the ranks of the Veterans, and preventing that unity that is necessary to ensure a successful prosecution of their plans. Flynn has gone, but it is to be feared that the new agitation started by the Ottawa hikers will have the same effect as the Flynn campaign. It will further hamper the organizations of veterans in their efforts on behalf of the men who fought, and it will fill some of the former soldiers who do not think very deeply, with false notions as to what they may expect of the government.

THE STAMP TAX.

The stamp tax on cheques as it affects the municipalities of Canada forms quite a problem. Undoubtedly the new tax will hit the municipalities and hit them hard. In the larger centres the money used for various civic activities is handled through the city treasurer, who has been accustomed to pay it out by cheque to the various departments, who in turn make their payments by cheque. The result of course is a large number of cheques, some for considerable amounts, and on every cheque the new tax would have to be paid. It is estimated that the city of Toronto would be faced with additional expenditure of $42,000 a year as a result of the increased tax, and it is not to be wondered at that the municipalities using the argument that they are not operated for profit, are asking the Government that they be exempted from the operation of the tax. That of course is all right from the viewpoint of the municipalities. But how about Mr. Fielding? He needs a lot of revenue and somebody has to pay it. Probably the news that Toronto will have to contribute $42,000 from this form of taxation will strike the Finance Minister as a proof that his tax is functioning along the lines upon which it was designed. And knowing that the tax paid by the municipalities will be distributed over the entire body of ratepayers, Mr. Fielding is likely to consider that its effect will be so well distributed that it will not be particularly burdensome to anybody. A deputation saw him yesterday, but from present indications there is little likelihood that the municipalities will succeed in their campaign.

THE PROGRESSIVE INDIAN.

"Lo, the poor Indian," in Pope's oft-quoted lines, will have to be modified so far as the adjective is concerned; for it now transpires that the only genuine American Indian is fast taking his status as a producer and a man of considerable substance, says the Ottawa Journal. An official report places the aboriginal population in Canada at about 100,000, and assigns to it $68,502,140 worth of real and personal property. For many years the numbers had been slowly dwindling; but births and deaths now balance among the less civilized tribes, while among the groups that have met and withstood the shock of contact with the palefaces there is a distinct gain in both numbers and physical standard.

The principal source of income is farming, and the total value of farm and livestock products in 1921 was $3,945,174. In addition, the Indians received $2,726,773 for labor, $284,863 from land rentals and timber, $1,046,760 from fishing, $860,494 from hunting and trapping, $702,575 from annuities and interest on the Indian Trust Fund, as well as $1,103,910 from other sources. With a total income of $10,670,549, and average per capita possessions of $682.06, it will be seen that the red man is asserting both his original nobility and adaptability to the habits and social conditions of his white brothers.

Government still maintains a parental attitude toward these picturesque children of the forest and plain. In 1921 there were 326 schools in operation, among which 58 were of the boarding type and 15 industrial. There was an enrollment of 12,558 pupils. This school system cost 1,112,409 to the Dominion, toward which the Indians made a contribution of $47,296. It will be remembered that thousands of Indians served in the war, and many of them took advantage on their return of the offer of farming land made through the Soldiers' Settlement Board. All this is cheering information.

MORE UNNECESSARY NOISES.

June 7, 1922.

Editor, The Examiner, City.

Dear Sir,—Your editorial June 6th, "Unnecessary Noises," was very timely. Another nuisance which is very annoying to the public, to the sick, to those who go to bed at reasonable hours, is that of motorists who operate their cars with the cut-out open. Quite a number of the motor delivery rigs are offenders.

Surely it is time this nuisance was put a stop to.

Yours truly,

SLEEPY.

The nuisance complained of by our correspondent is one that certainly calls for attention. The practice of driving cars with cut-outs open is far too common, and if there is any way of getting after the offenders who make the night air hideous and break in upon the rest of many citizens, the public would be glad to hear that it was being effectively used. The unmuffled motor car, and the early-rising individuals with the noisy lawn mowers are in the same class as flat-wheeled street cars so far as making sleep impossible is concerned. It begins to look as if The Examiner's suggestion of an inspector of nuisances and unnecessary noises is not so far away from the mark after all. Meanwhile motorists who are abroad late at night are reminded that the majority of citizens are trying to sleep.

RAILWAY WAGES.

It was perhaps inevitable that the announcement of the United States Railway Board of an all-round reduction in the wages of employees should be followed by a declaration by the executive of the seven Brotherhoods that the matter will be submitted to the men in the form of a strike vote. The United States Board must have foreseen this when their decision was promulgated, and it lends weight to their decree that in the face of such a possibility the Board did not hesitate to act.

It is never a popular move for an employer or an employing corporation to decrease wages, and it could not be expected that the Union leaders, who hold their position by virtue of the suffrage of the men, would agree to any drastic reduction without a protest. When the ballot of all the affected railway men is taken it is probable that the majority will vote to strike, because to cast their ballots otherwise would be a tacit acknowledgment that they agree that such a cut is justified. It is not in human nature for an employed man to accept a wage reduction without a murmur.

Nevertheless even if the majority of ballots are cast for a strike it is doubtful if the whole system of transportation in the United States will be tied up as a result. The men may vote to strike as a protest against the lowering of their wages, but they will not be likely to cut off their noses to spite their faces by translating their protest into action. The rate of wages rose during the two years after the Armistice by leaps and bounds. A wave of prosperity and of excessive extravagance made work plentiful, sent wages rocketing and encouraged the belief that the conditions which prevailed then would always continue. The inevitable slump brought an all-round lowering in the cost of the essentials of life, and this was bound to be reflected sooner or later in wage reductions. Almost every wage earner has felt the slump, some in unemployment or in partial employment where full time and overtime ruled before, and others in large cuts in their rates of pay. If railway employees have been the last to feel this reaction it was nevertheless bound to come, and it is just as futile to protest the readjustment as to challenge the economic law of supply and demand.

The responsibility which rests upon the leaders of the railway Brotherhoods in this matter is a serious one. If they are uncompromising in their attitude and go so far as to advise the men to persist in their action even to the extent of abandoning their work they will not have with them the sympathy of the general public, without which no strike can be successful. If the men walk out and paralyze the transportation system of the country they will lose far more than the amount of the proposed reduction. There could be no excuse for a strike, unless some vital principle was involved. In this case the only issue at stake is that railway deficits shall not be borne in unfair proportion by the companies, the shippers of goods or the public at large. Employees in other trades and callings have accepted the inevitable. The railway men cannot claim exceptionable terms.—Montreal Star.

THE BANKS OF THE NEW WORLD.

There are visible straws in the world of finance that show us that favorable breezes are beginning to blow while the barometer of business is slowly but certainly climbing to "Set Fair." British exchange, which has been rising steadily for some months past, Tuesday reached its highest point since 1919. What has been the dynamic factor in the last upward movement must be a matter of speculation, although it is reasonable to believe that the reduction in the income tax made by the Chancellor of the Exchequer has stimulated foreign trade, especially with the United States. The effect of this gradual return to the normal pre-war rate is to inspire renewed confidence in British financial institutions and to restore London to her proud position as the clearing-house of the world.

Coincident with this rise comes cable news from Germany that the revenue from the coal tax and from Customs duties shows continued improvement and a distinct advance over last year and that this is having a stabilizing influence in the financial world. France announces that the Banque de L'Indochine, the great French banking concern in the Far East, whose financial vagaries brought about the downfall of a French Ministry, is again sailing in smooth waters and has increased its dividend, while there has been a general advance in banking, railway and industrial shares.

In Canada the peak of the period of unemployment seems to have been passed and both in the Dominion and in the United States there is a renewed feeling of confidence. The world crisis is not yet passed, yet there is pretty clear evidence that the nadir of our post-war depression has been left behind and while the process of recovery is bound to be slow, yet the reaction is steady and persistent. One thing at least is certain, that the banks, the foundation stones of our industrial life, are sound and healthy.

After the Napoleonic wars England went through two bad crises, due largely to the rottenness of many of the smaller banks. In 1815 eighty-nine banks failed, while again in 1825 seventy banks went under, to the great detriment of the community. Yet after the Great War, which taxed Britain's resources to the utmost and robbed her of the flower of her man-power, there has been no general dislocation of banks and this in spite of the fact the process of readjustment has been complicated by unemployment, political unrest and unprecedented taxation.

* * * * *

American banks, which show a greater willingness to shoulder industrial risks, have also weathered the storm satisfactorily. There were a few failures owing to the rapidity with which the fall in prices took place, but the banking system proved equal to its task. This was of particular interest, as it was the first time that the Federal Reserve Bank system had been put on trial.

In Germany the test of the banks has been more severe. The falling mark has kept the pot boiling and the banks are groaning with money. Just so long as the inflation game continues all will go well. When it stops there is bound to be a sudden collapse, for a community does not pass through six years of war and catastrsophe with impunity. The mad lust of pleasure, the frenzied stock exchange speculation and the frequent breaches of contract show how the morale of Germany has been affected.—Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

So long as returned soldiers quarrel as to what they expect of the Government it is not likely that the Government will be encouraged to try to please them all.

Westerners to Take Possession on July 1st--Has Been Here for 16 Years

Mr. Louis Yeotes, who has been in business in Peterborough for the past fourteen or fifteen years, has disposed of his cigar and pool room business on George street to two westerners, who will take possession on July 1st and carry on the enterprise conducted by Mr. Yeotes. The latter came to Peterborough some sixteen years ago and has occupied the premises where his business is now located, for fifteen years. Until three year ago ths business was conducted under the name or Yeotes Brothers, but since that time Mr. Louis Yeotes having purchased his brother's interest, has carried on under his own name and has built up an extensive trade. He intends to remain a resident of Peterborough and will embark in a new line of business in the near future. He has disposed of his interests in Montreal and Toronto, and having purchased a home in East City, has decided to remain in the city, where his business success was scored. Mr. Yeotes has been a patron of sport and has freely donated to every good cause while in business in Peterborough.

His disposal of his business means somethnig to the public, for he intends to dispose of a large amount of surplus stock between now and the end of the month at bargain rates. His advertisements will be found of great interest to all who use tobacco and appreciate bargains.

For your Silk Sweater

Your silk sweater can be made dainty and clean, and as smart as new if you wash it in the gentle Lux suds.

Make a rich suds by whisking a teaspoonful of Lux into half a bowlful of very hot water. Add cold water until lukewarm. Dip the sweater up and down, pressing suds repeatedly through soiled spots. Rinse in three lukewarm waters. Squeeze water out—do not twist or wring. Roll in a towel, and when nearly dry, press with a warm iron—gently pulling the garment into shape as you do so.

The thin, white, satin-like flakes of Lux are made by our own exclusive process, and quickly dissolve into a rich bubbling lather.

A CLEVER DRAMA BY KEENE TALENT.

"The Country Minister" Staged in Victoria Hall, Peterborough.

"The Country Minister" was a clever little comedy-drama put on by the Keene Dramatic Club in Victoria Hall last evening. The actors took their parts splendidly, and afforded a good example of amateur talent for a rather small but appreciative audience. The play has five acts, staged respectively in Mullenville and in New York, and has an interesting action, centreing around the adventures of the Country Minister, in his effort to help a forlorn waif, "Roxy a Fresh Air Kid," and to win the love of Helen Burleigh, "from the city." After numerous exciting episodes, everything finally works out to a satisfactory finish for all concerned.

Character parts were well taken by Miss Lillian Chapman, "as Granny Grimes," in specs and Paisley shawl, with a cane and an abiding love for a glass of whiskey, but still retaining a human spot in her withered heart. Granny is associated with a band of crooks; Jude Pardoe, "a wreck on the ocean of life," an escaped criminal, who plays the part of Roxy's father, takes the girl away, and places her under the care of Granny, in an effort to obtain the money which will eventually come to her. Roxy, in a gingham gown, and with hanging locks, is played by Miss Hazel Brown, while 'Jude's' accomplice, Gregory Heath, 'o't the world at large," gives a good opportunity to Stanley Braden, to exhibit his powers. Rev. Ralph Underwood, the Country Minister, has Hugh McFee in the title role, and Helen Burleigh, the attractive heroine, is played by Mrs. Hugh Fee. Other characters are David Edwards, as Deacon Potter, "Just a trifle deaf"; Wilbur Watkins, as William Henry, Wilfred Fletcher, as Tom Sparrow, J. Taylor as Mr. Tilkins, an officer, Mrs. W. R. Wedlock, as Joshia Jane Judkins, the Postmistress, and Miss Alice Chapman, as Fanny, a Maid.

Between acts, pretty vocal solos were rendered by Miss Margaret Price of Keene, and little Miss Irene Wright gave several loudly-encored readings. Miss Wright is a dainty little elocutionist, who gives her selections with entire un-self-consciousness and fine dramatic emphasis.

CANADIAN RYE FOR EUROPEAN LANDS.

Alberta Expects to Have a Surplus of Two Million Bushels to Sell Overseas

EDMONTON, June 9. Canadian Press. — Possible markets for Alberta's surplus rye crops are being looked up just now by the Department of Agriculture. It is expected there will be in the vicinity of two million bushels for export this year, and W. J. Stephen, Superintendent of field crops, has already written to the Trade Commissioners of France and Russia with a view to selling some of it in those markets. Both countries, it is reported, have rye crops failures and will need considerable supplies from other sources to carry them through.

The matter will also be taken up with the Canadian Trade Commissioner's branch in Ottawa by Hon. George Hoadley, who is going east on Government business shortly.

SHERWIN—ANDERSON

ROSENEATH, June 9.—A pretty but quiet wedding was solemnised at the Methodist parsonage, Roseneath, on Wednesday, 31st May, at 4 p.m., by Rev. H. A. Bunt, when Miss Grace Anderson, of Warkworth, was united in marriage to Mr. Leslie Sherwin, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sherwin, Roseneath.

The bride was attended by Miss Elva Sherwin, sister of the groom, and the bridegroom by Mr. Edgar Braithwaite.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Sherwin left by motor for Cobourg and Eastern points, the bride travelling in a suit of navy, with hat to match. On their return they will reside in Roseneath.

She Hikes Way to Beauty

By MARIAN HALE.

Irene Delroy, Chicago girl, has been declared physically perfect by Haig Patigan, sculptor. She is 20 and has been a toe dancer four years.

Was Irene born perfect? Oh, no; she had a good start, but she had handicaps to overcome just as you have.

She conquered them by literally climbing over them and hiking her way to beauty, as she tells you herself today.

Read her story and you'll learn how you, too, can achieve grace, charm and beauty.

IRENE DELROY DOING THREE SIMPLE EXERCISES SHE RECOMMENDS TO BRING WOMEN BEAUTY AND HEALTH.

By IRENE DELROY.

There is no royal road to slenderness.

There is even no good motor road. To make the trip, you have to put on your sweater and hike it!

MISS DELROY.

To many women, particularly those addicted to chocolates and late sleeping, the thought of exercise is abhorrent. No wonder, they make such hard work of it.

To exercise is really interesting if you can just sell yourself the idea you are having a fine time.

Besides my stage dancing I have a few playful antics I hustle through each day that develop my muscles and keep me healthy as well as slender.

To keep the thigh and leg muscles shapely I use the knee stoop—which includes rising on my toes, then bringing my body down until I sit on my heels.

To keep my hips reduced and strengthen the abdominal muscles I stand with feet slightly apart and hands clasped behind my head and twist my body in a circular motion.

For a strong, supple back I let my hands touch the floor without bending my knees.

Of course, these are only makeshifts for vigorous play or outdoor activity.

I eat only two meals a day, one about noon, the other in the evening. Occasionally I have a light repast after my night performance. I eat no starchy foods, smoke no cigarettes and get lots of sleep.

There's nothing very exacting about my schedule, but these simple things are considered too great a sacrifice or too much trouble by many who are only wishers for bodily well-being.

Girls who only yearn for lithe, handsome bodies, want something for nothing. Flabby or scrawny bodies are usually indications of laziness—nature's punishment for the disuse of what she has provided.

YOU can't keep long what you don't value and use. What you are, therefore, in most cases, is what you are really satisfied with.

ARE YOU A MOTHER?

Mrs. Dalton tells of a Well-known Doctor's Prescription that is safe for Young Mothers to take as a Tonic and Nervine because it contains no harmful ingredient.

London, Ont.—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription saved my life years ago and for that reason I am most enthusiastic in my recommendation of it to women who are ailing and weak. I was taken with the measles when in an expectant condition; then blood poisoning set in and my family became greatly alarmed. The doctor advised them to give me Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and I took several bottles of it and was restored to absolutely perfect health. I later took Favorite Prescription as a tonic and nervine and received great benefit from it. As a woman's medicine it is unequalled."—Mrs. Jennie Dalton, 767 York St.

HEALTH BRINGS BEAUTY

Your Health is Vital to You

Barrie, Ont.—"I was suffering from a rundown system some time ago, was unfit to perform my daily duties, and was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I tried it, took two bottles, and was restored to my natural strength. I cannot praise Dr. Pierce's medicine too highly and will be willing to write to any one sending stamped envelope."—Mrs. A. H. Bishop, R. R. No. 1.

You'll soon feel better if you obtain this "Prescription" of Dr. Pierce's at your nearest drug store, in tablets or liquid, or send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory in Bridgeburg, Ont., for trial pkg. tablets and write for free medical advice.

Cherries owe their name to Cerasus, a town in Asia Minor.

ELDERLY people, whose stomach muscles are relaxed from advancing age, find themselves chronically constipated and tormented by headaches. Strong physics react and make matters worse. Miss Jenny McDonald of Parkhill, Ont., writes that her mother found Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin ideal for constipation. It proved effective, yet acted mildly and gently and did not gripe. Increased doses were not necessary.

DR. CALDWELL'S LAXATIVE SYRUP PEPSIN

FOR CONSTIPATION

After using Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin for a short time you can do without medicine. Test it on the most stubborn constipation. A dose costs less than a cent. The formula is on the package. Get a bottle!

SAYS WAGERS' TAX IS "PETER'S PENCE."

TORONTO, June 9.— (Canadian Press.)— The corporation tax act amendment was given a second reading and committee approval in the Legislature yesterday. The House had much fun christening the proposed stamp for tickets in collection of the five percent. on race track wagerings. Mr. Dewart suggested putting the head of the Attorney-General on the stamp with inscription 'Raney rampant," and Dr. H. A. Stevenson referred to the tax as "Peter's pence."

Meet in Stirling.

A meeting of the dairymen of this district will be held in Stirling in the afternoon of June 17th. This meeting is one of a special series of dairy meetings being held in the different counties of the Province with a view to organizing a sales organization for dairy products.

Hon. Manning W. Doherty, Minister of Agriculture, has introduced a bill known as an act to incorporate the Ontario Co-operative Dairy Products, Ltd., which provides for organizing the producers of milk and cream throughout the Province on a democratic basis for effectively marketing dairy goods. The affairs of this company will be directed and controlled by a board of directors elected by representatives appointed by the factories which agree to sell their output through the one channel. The plan of organization has been modelled upon those which have proven so successful in California. Full particulars as to the methods of organization will be given at the meeting, and those in attendance will be afforded an opportunity of expressing their views regarding the methods proposed. Representatives of the different factories will be asked to sign contracts on behalf of the factories represented. The co-operative marketing organization will not begin operations until a large percentage of the factories have agreed to sell through the company.

Mr. Aaron Sapiro, of San Francisco, California, who is recognized as one of the most reliable authorities and active forces in co-aperative marketing of farm products of this continent, has been secured to address this series of meetings. It is a great privilege to Ontario dairymen to have the assistance and co-operation of Mr. Sapiro at this time in placing the marketing end of the Ontario dairy industries upon a business-like basis.

The meeting for Peterborough County will be held in the Town Hall of Norwood on June 17th at 7.30 p.m.

"In childlike innocence, back came the response, 'Well, I hope you live as long as I do, Daddy.'

"Like a dart the reply pierced through to my heart."

Saturday "On the Stroke of Nine" A Sale of Utmost Importance to You

There's a Splendid Growth These Days—Business and All! Everything Prospers Under the June Sun

TO-MORROW MORNING ON THE STROKE OF NINE our doors swing open and make entry to a fine array of specially-priced goods for Saturday buyers. Hour Sales will be strong features of the morning's selling. All commence on the stroke of nine—some for one hour, some for two hours and some for three hours. Their good value is unmistakable. The merchandise is such that you'll require. In addition the Great Annual Summer Sale of Hosiery will be in progress. Hosiery for Women, Men and Children. The price appeal in this one sale alone makes a visit to the store worth while. Be on hand on the first Stroke of Nine and participate in the sale when ranges are complete.

There Is a Plant That Blooms for Just a Few Hours Each Year

It is called Night Blooming Cereus, because it comes out in all its glory, to live its short life, in the evening. But ere morning dawns it is wilted and dead.

It's a poor thing to blossom just once a year, and for the other three hundred and sixty-four days to present the same staid appearance.

It's our endeavour to make this Store attractive and bloom every business day of the year.

The bright new merchandise and fair prices are meeting with favour from many these days.

DELORME TRIAL AGAIN POSTPONED

Proceedings Will Formally Open Thursday Next

MONTREAL, June 9. (Special to the Examiner.) — As if in contradiction of Mr. Justice Monet's statement that the church authorities had taken away from him the use of the title "Reverend," or "Father" (Abbe) Adelard Delorme stood in the prisoner's dock in the Court of King's Bench this morning wearing his Roman collar once again.

Ever since he had been held responsible by the coroner's jury for the murder of his half-brother Raoul Delorme had discarded his cassock and Roman collar. In all his previous apeparances in either the magistrate's court or the Court of King's Bench, he wore civilian clothing, a low collar and a black tie. This morning the civilian clothes were in evidence as he was not wearing the cassock, but the Roman collar replaced the civilian one.

This morning's proceedings were brief, a final adjournment having been made till Thursday next, when the trial will proceed to a definite decision.

To-day the alienists who will examine the accused were appointed, and once more Judge Monet said he would brook no delay in despatching the case. Between now and then medical men will make their examination and will be ready to report when called upon.

The stage had been set for the final opening of the trial this morning, but immediately after Justice Monet took the bench Joseph C. Walsh, K.C., M.P., Crown prosecutor, requested an adjournment, explaining that Dr. J. E. Devlin, the Supt. of the Longue Pointe Asylum, who will act for the Crown, had been unable as yet to examine the prisoner. The defence alienists, Dr. G. Tetreault, an Dr. De Bellefeuills, who are also of the Longue Pointe Asylum staff, have completed their examination and their reports are ready.

FARMER'S WIFE REGAINS HEALTH

Gives Credit to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Fork River, Manitoba.—"I saw in the newspapers where Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was doing so much good to women, and as I needed something I began to take it. I used to be very sick but I am not now. I live on a farm in the homestead district and we have to do all our own work. I tell all the women I see what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound does for me. I think it saves me from going to a doctor and is the best medicine women can take."—Mrs. Wm. Coultas, Fork River, Manitoba.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine for the ailments peculiar to women. It is prepared from medicinal plants, with care and accuracy. It can be taken by women of any age.

Women make a serious mistake in allowing themselves to become so weak and nervous that it is well-nigh impossible for them to attend to their necessary household duties.

Such symptoms as pains and irregularities, all gone feelings, backache, headache, hot flashes, nervousness, with a general run-down condition, indicate some form of female trouble.

The Vegetable Compound has brought relief to thousands of women suffering from such ailments. Let it help you.

SEEKING THE OPINION OF BEST DRESSED MEN

In the olden day a clothing designer was credited with the artistic temperament, and he kept his new designs well hidden from the public until the opening of each season. The Chief Designer of Semi-ready clothes has sought the verdict of the public on his new creations through the Special Order Department, where suits are tailored to measure in four days. He wants a quicker verdict, and opened a little shop on George street in Peterboro. The best dressers are especially invited to view and criticize each new model as soon as it is finished.

MRS. CHERRETT TOOK OWN LIFE

had met the deceased. She seemed depressed.

"I ask her what was the matter and she said everything.' She said 'I'll end up in the river'. I thought she was only fooling. I knew her son had been married recently. She didn't say what was the matter."

Mrs. Mary Curtis, sister of Mrs. Scott, corroborated her evidence.

Mrs. Roy Cherrett.

Mrs. Alice Cherrett testified that she and Roy were married on May 1st.

Mr. Strickland: "Before your husband went out at 9 o'clock Sunday night what had taken place?" "Nothing unusual. He got ready as he always did."

Witness said she had gone upstairs about 8 o'clock to go to bed. Roy went up to talk to her, and was upstairs two or three times.

Mr. Strickland: "Did your husband say anything about going out?" "He asked me if I would be nervou staying alone for a couple of hours or minded him taking his mother to Galbraith's."

"Was there any conversation between Mrs. Cherrett and you" "No only when I said good night.'

"Was there any feeling between your motherin-law and yourself"i "No, we were always good friends from the time I met her."

"You three lived together from the time you were married" "Yes, I was not there very long. I was in the hospital two weeks.'

"Did you see much of your mother-in-law after you went home from the hospital?" "Yes. She was there all the time."

"Were you on friendly terms?" "Yes."

"Was she remonstrative? That is did she make a fuss over you?" "She used to kiss me as if she were my own mother.'

"Was there anything in her attitude out of the way on the 28th, (Sunday)" "No. She was not feeling well. She called me back to kiss her."

"It wasn't a usual practice?" "No. She had done it some times."

"It appeared unusual to you?" "Yes."

"Was there anything else unusual?" "No. I didn't think about it at the time. I thought at first she kissed me because she was going out and didn't like to leave me alone."

"After it struck you in a different light?" "Yes."

"How did it strike you then?" "I just thought it was queer."

Joked About Returning.

"Did your husband say anything about when he would be back?" "He joked about it at first and said he would be back about 12 o'clock. I said 'You'll be back before that won't you' and he said 'Yes about 11.'"

Witness said she called her sister about 8 a.m. on Monday, May 29th. "I thought something might have happened to Mrs. Cherrett. She hadn't been well."

"Did she visit you while you were in the hospital?" "She came to see me only once while I was there. She took sick while I was in the hospital."

"What were the relations between your husband and his mother?" "They were always good pals. They thought an awful lot of each other."

"It was an unusual attachment even for mother and son?" "Yes."

"Was there any disturbance of it your marriage?" "No she said ed us to get married."

Glad of Marriage.

"Did she express any opinion of your marriage?" "Yes. She said she was glad we were married."

Dr. Greer: "You say Mrs. Cherret wasn't well. Did you ever notice her despondent at times?" "No. She worried a little for awhile about money matters.'"

"Nothing unpleasant happened between supper time and when they went out?" "No.'

"When did you hear Mrs. Cherret had been found in the river?" "Dr. Carmichael told us Monday afternoon."

"Could you form any idea as to why it happened?" "No".

Coroner Greer and Mr. Strickland were studiously considerate in their examination of Mrs. Cherrett. She gave her testimony sitting at a table close to the stenographer in the police court room. Her replies were in a low subdued voice that caused the jurors to lean forward intently to catch her words. She was a pale, pathetic little figure of mourning, her new black dress and hat accentulating her pallor, the nervous movements of her hands revealing the strain of the ordeal of recalling the tragedy of only a few days ago might have broken the stoutest spirit. Her sister and an elderly woman were with her.

Drinking a Glass of Hot Water is a Splendid Habit

Cleanse and sweeten the system each morning and wash away poisonous, stagnant matter.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise—splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, lame back, can instead both look and feel as fresh as a daisy always by washing the poisons and toxins from the body with phosphated hot water each morning.

We should drink before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to flush from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract before eating more food.

The action of limestone phosphate and hot water on an empty stomach is wonderfuly invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a fine appettie for breakfast. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate, costs very little at the drug store, but is enough to make anybody who is bothered with biliousness, constipation, stomach trouble or rheumatims an enthusiast on internal sanitation.

TRUE DETECTIVE STORIES

SHADOWS OF EVIL

(Copyright 1921 By The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

"I'll be back in a few moments," said Henry Goudie, cashier of the Bank of Liverpool, to one of his associates. "I'm just going across the street to get a bit of lunch."

An hour later the officials of the bank began to wonder where Goudie was, but the fact that his hat still remained upon accustomed peg indicated that the cashier wasn't far away and that he would soon return. But at the closing hour atht afternoon Goudie was still missing—and when an auditor went over his books it was discovered that a hundred and seventy thousand pounds (some $850,000 had also disappeared!

Inquiry at the house where Goudie had lodged failed to bring to light any trace of the missing cashier who had left home that morning as usual, apparently without any intention of being away overnight. His clothes were in their accustomed position and even his toilet articles were untouched. In fact, if it hadn't been for the disappearance of the money from the bank, the police would have searched the hospitals on the theory that Goudie had met with some unexpected accident.

But, as Frank Froest, superintendant of Scotland Yard, pointed out, it was hardly likely that a bank official and $850,000 would vanish at one and the same time without some connection between the two events.

"As luck would have it," continued Froest, one of the ablest detectives in England, "Goudie has chosen the simplest manner in which to make his escape—the easiest from his point of view and the most difficult from the standpoint of the police. It is comparatively a simple to trce a man who lays his plans in advance. You can usually trace his baggage or his railway tickets. Bur Goudie just walked out to lunch and lost himself somewhere. He only left one clue behind him—his hat."

Therefore, working on the assumption that a hatless man would be quite conspicuous and that Goudie, knowing this, would immediately purchase another hat, Froest made the rounds of the shops near the Liverpool bank. From the clerk in one of them he obtained the information that a man answering to the description of the missing cashier had purchased a cloth cap of a distinctive pattern only a few moments after noon on the day that Goudie vanished.

By means of this clue and a detailed report on Goudie's appearance, Froest soon had every man connected with Scotland Yard searching for the absconding cashier. But it was several weeks before he was located and captured in a lodging house in the north of England.

However, the arrest of the man who had looted the Bank of Liverpool did not by any means close the case.

Even before he was discovered, Froest had found out that Goudi had been in the habit of playing the races—patronizing a clique of "hand-book men" who had played upon his cupidity in such a manner, that they, and not he, had secured the benefits of his dishonesty. In order to recover the money Froest therefore had to round up the members of this gambling ring and force them to disgorge—a task which appeared to be almost impossible, owing to the ramifications of the plot.

It developed that the leader of the organization, sensing a way in which to make a lot of easy money without running any risk, had approached Goudie with an account of a "fixed race" which was to be run at Epsom Downs, and that the cashier, believing that he could clean up a fortune in a single day, had taken twenty-five thousand pounds from the bank, falsifying the accounts to conceal the shortage. The man's credulity is evident from the fact that he placed this money at odds of 20 to 1, which meant that he stood to win half a million pounds, or $2,500,000, if his horse came in first. Of course, no bookmaker could afford to pay a bet of this size—but Goudie overlooked this fact and cheerfully wagered his "borrowed" capital. The horse naturally failed to win, and, in an effort to recoup his losses, the cashier commenced systematically to loot the bank's funds.

One of the odd features of the case which Froest discovered was that, by blind luck, Goudie one day placed a big bet on a horse that won. When he went to collect his bet, with the firm intention of squaring his accounts with the bank, he was casually informed that the wager had not been placed in time, and he was advised to put it on another "sure tip," which lost. When his defalcations reached the point when it was hopeless to attempt further concealment from the bank authorities, Goudie "went out to lunch" and then disappeared.

It didn't take Froest long to discover that, in planning a round-up of the gambling gang, he was tackling one of the most difficult jobs of his career. The tentacles of the orgainzation reached even into the houses of Parliament and the men behind the movement—the shadows of evil who had been responsible for one of the greatest bank robberies in the history of Scotland Yard—were determined to spend thousands of pounds to save themselves from the consequences of their act."

One by one, Froest picked up the various threads of the tangled case. One by one he followed the various clues, at least one of which led to the suicide of a member of the bookmarker's clique. But, in addition to seeing that Goudie was sent to prison for ten years, Froest secured evidence which forced the return of but a small amount of the money which had been taken from the Bank of Liverpool and placed upon horses which, save in a single instance, had no chance whatever to win. It is doubtful if Superintendant Froest's complete success in this most difficult case—one which took years to bring to a conclusion—has been duplicated in the annals of detective history.

CHAPTER LIX

MRS HERROD KNOWS JACK'S TASTES BETTER THAN I

By this time Mrs. Herrod had come back. At once she began to pay considerable attention to us. Ostensibly she came to see me, but in my heart I believed she only wanted to be free to come and go in Jack's home.

She began to make me feel like an adopted daughter. She advised me as if I were her only child. And before many weeks had passed I admitted I couldn't help liking her.

Mrs. Herrod was so superior. She knew about art, music, the latest books, she had met many important persons. I saw why I couldn't cope with her: she was finished, complete.

"And she doesn't need Jack—she has so many resources," said I to Me. "Her life has been crammed with extraordinary experiences, and she has been industrious I can see why Jack likes her.

"But she has so much in herself to fall back on, why does she infringe upon my poor little happiness—taking Jack away from me—hours at a time!"

Quite unfairly, I forgot Jack had loved chess long before he had loved me.

Mrs. Herrod developed the most astonishing way of dropping in at unexpected moments.

For instance, the day I cooked rice for the first time, Mrs. Herrod arrived and before I realized what I a goose was, I had taken her into my kitchenet.

"You see rice can be used so many ways," I chattered, as if she never had kept house. "For breakfast with cream, in small cakes with cheese sauce for luncheon, or a pudding with raisins, or as a vegetable with chicken or lamb! So I decided to boil a quantity."

While Mrs. Herrod stayed, the quantity of rice I had allowed for two swelled until it overflowed my largest kettle, until I had dishes of boiled rice covering all my kitchen shelves!

She was lovely. She just laughed with me. But just as she was leaving she said she had an idea Jack didn't care about rice!

After she had gone I sat down and cried.

And I was grieved twice over, when Jack sat down to dinner.

Rice, he admitted, was the one thing, the only thing, he never had been able to eat. So sorry, but not even to please his new wife, would he touch a grain!

Then I wept violently, wept the harder because I would not explain the reason to Jack.

Why should Mrs. Herrod know more about my husband's tastes than I?

There was one thing I hoped she hadn't discovered about my man. She hadn't any right to know how much he loved babies! Lately I had begun to think a good deal about babies. That very morning we girls had been to Mary Smith's to saw for her third, the new one.

And Jeanne, our confirmed spinster, had held up a tiny slip, regarded it lovingly, and had murmured:

"This is the most thrilling morning of my life!"

I could have cried for Jeanne.

Or was it for myself I could have cried?

THE HOME CIRCLE

The conventions no longer exercise the same tyranny which they formerly did. The growing generation does not respect them, but is rather inclined to scoff at their demands. It goes its own way, heedless of the paths marked out for it by society. It sees the injustice and wrong which conventions have often worked in individual cases, and consequently it condemns the whole system.

It should not be forgotten, however, that conventions are not laws arbitrarily laid down by some outside force, but are rules of conduct which have grown up in order that the greatest good may result to the greatest number. In some instances individuals are caused to suffer undeservedly, but these cases are greatly overshadowed by the many instances in which evil and harm are prevented and good is insured.

It is well to realize that conventions are not infallible, but this should not lead to wholesale destruction of the rules built up. If someone suffers through the application of the rule, we should be wise enough to endeavor to help the sufferer without condemning the system. As to our own conduct, it is always best to live up to the standards set by our associates, unless, as may occasionally be the case, our conscience dictates that some other course be pursued. Then, and only then, are we justified in setting aside the principles which have been formulated, generation by generation, for the good of the greatest number.

Formerly when thieves broke into liquor stores and saloons and stole wet goods and money, the liquor men would promptly invoke the aid of the sheriff and police in running down the thieves and bringing them to justice. Do we see any of the brewers or liquor men nowadays making complaint to the authorities, about the violations of the prohibition law? No. All one notices are the sneers in the wet newspapers and a contemptuous pointing of the impossibility of enforcing prohibition. With the great demand on the Federal government for money, it is impossible to get much for use in prohibition enforcement, and only a conparatively small number of law violaters are brought to account. However, the drys must not get discouraged. It would be a tragedy if the open saloon were again inflicted on the nation, and vigilance is necessary if we are to keep what we have gained. The liquor business never was an advantage to anyone except the brewers and distillers, and we should not be influenced to vote for light wines and beer simply because a few law breakers and men howlers in each of the big centers are denouncing the prohibition law as a failure.

Occasionally when we are forced through a failure of the electric current, to use lamps or candles, we make a fearful to do about it. We cannot see to work, we cannot see to read. In fact, the world fairly stops moving until we have our electric lights back again.

At such a time we can appreciate the fearful odds that our grandfathers worked against when electricity was only one of the modern conveniences which they did not have. And they certainly did not lead mediocre lives but became great in spite of odds.

Some of our young people would do well to reflect up the trials which Abraham Lincoln had in the matter of studying and reading. Many times without even a candle he did his work by the open grate fire. Would our young people today get as far as they do under the same conditions that Lincoln worked? Well, yes, they probably would but they would undoubtedly waste at least a year talking about their troubles. No doubt they have troubles today but the ones they make the greatest fuss about turn out to be not the real troubles after all.

March is the month most to be dreaded by the would-be immaculate housewife who is the proud but discouraged mother of boys to whom the spring mud clings with affection,—until after the threshold is crossed.

TASTY RHUBARB DISHES

HERE are many delicious ways to prepare rhubarb for the table. Use it often in the early spring, but try to vary the way of serving it to prevent monotony.

If you serve rhubarb for breakfast do not serve a cereal. A rhubarb dessert is specially good after a fish dinner.

These seven rhubarb rules are simple and economical. Try 'em!

Stewed Rhubarb.

Wash and peel rhubarb. Cut in inch lengths. Put in a colander and pour boiling water through it. Drain and put in stew pan with a very little water. Cook until tender when pierced with a silver fork.

Put one cup of granulated sugar for every two cups of stewed rhubarb in a bowl and pour the boiling rhubarb over the sugar. Stir with fork until sugar is dissolved. Serve cold for breakfast.

Baked Rhubarb Pudding.

Two cups stewed and sweetened rhubarb, 1 cup bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 egg.

Add butter and well beaten egg to rhubarb. Mix well. Put a layer of bread crumbs in a well buttered baking dish. Add rhubarb. Cover with remaining crumbs, dot with bits of butter and bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven.

Cover the dish with buttered paper for the first 20 minutes of baking to prevent the top from becoming too brown.

Rhubarb Marshmallow Pudding.

Two cups diced rhubarb, 1 cup chopped dates, 1 cup bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon butter, ½ cup sugar, marshmallows.

Put rhubarb in colander and pour boiling water through it. Drain and add dates. Put in stew pan with just enough water to prevent burning. Cook 10 minutes and remove from the fire. Add sugar, bread crumbs and butter.

If the rhubarb is too dry add enough water to absorb the crumbs. Turn into a buttered pudding dish. Cover with marshmallows cut in quarters. Bake in a slow oven until the marshmallows begin to melt. Then increase the heat and brown quickly. Serve warm.

Rhubarb Meringue Pie.

Two and one-half cups finely cut rhubarb, 2 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 3 tablespoons water, ½ teaspoon salt.

Pour boiling water over rhubarb and let stand five minutes. Drain. Mix and sift flour and sugar and stir into rhubarb. Beat yolks of eggs till thick and lemon colored with water. Beat in salt. Add butter. Turn into a pie dish lined with unbaked pie crust and bake in a moderate oven.

When the crust is baked and the rhubarb tender remove from oven and cover with meringue made with the whites of the eggs beaten till stiff and dry with four tablespoons of sugar. Brown in a hot oven.

Rhubarb Tapioca.

One-half cup pearl tapioca, 2 cups diced rhubarb, 1 cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt.

Soak tapioca over night in cold water to cover. Drain. Put in double boiler with one cup boiling water and salt. Cook until water is absorbed. Peel rhubarb and cut in small dice. Add to tapioca with the sugar. Mix well and turn into a buttered baking dish.

Bake until tapioca is clear. The juice from the rhubarb should be absorbed by the tapioca.

Rhubarb Jelly.

One cup prunes, 2 cups rhubarb, 1 cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 orange, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatine, ¼ cup cold water.

Wash prunes and put to soak in two cups cold water. Soak an hour. Cook in the same water till tender. Skim out prunes and add diced rhubarb. Cook till tender but not mushy. Remove stones from prunes.

When rhubarb is tender add salt and sugar and remove from the fire. Add juice and grated rind of orange. Soak gelatine in cold water 15 minutes. Stir into hot rhubarb mixture. Add stoned and chopped prunes and turn into a mold to chill.

CLAYTON CROFT IS SENT UP FOR TRIAL

BECOMES CORPORATION PRESIDENT OVER NIGHT

BY MARIAN HALE

From society woman to president of a large corporation sounds like a long journey, but Mrs. Isabel L. Wharff just made on overnight trip of it.

In just that length of time she was graduated from matinees, teas, and other feminine delights to the more sophicated type of entertainment offered by directors' meetings and business conferences.

Until she assumed the management of a large advertising business in New York, with branch offices in several of the larger cities, she had no business training.

She had never given much thought to the matter of a woman's place, taking for granted it was in the home.

So when she entered the private office that had been husband's and took up the business that had been his she had no theories as to how a business should be run and no prejudices against any new methods.

She possessed what we call the open mind.

"At first, I just sat at my desk, and absorbed the atmosphere of business about me", she says. "Then I began to learn the various department of work and I worked up a splendid enthusiasm for every detail of it.

MRS. ISABEL L. WHARFF

"Now I am devoted to my work, and would not leave it for anything.

"The foundation upon which I have built my business is this:

"We are in business to render service and it is by rendering service to the best of our ability that we make our success.

"I make it a point to see to it that everyone in my employ not only gives service, but courteous service. I can forgive mistakes of ignorance or even carelessness, but I cannot forgive discourtesy on the part of thse in my employ. They break down in a few minutes what I have tried for five years to build up.

"I have found a squareness about business, and the people who are in it, I did not believe existed. I believe thoroughly in the great American public."

In five years during which Mrs. Wharff has managed the business it has grown rapidly and its profits show a steady gain.

Recently Mrs. Wharff was married again, and now in private life she is Mrs. Rogers, but in business she retains the name under which she made her own success. She believes the good will it carries should not be sacrificed.

CITY SCHOLARS TO BUILD NOW

Manual Training Students Will Erect Rest Room at Jackson Park

The construction of a frame building 50 by 18 feet, to serve as a rest room, with a verandah ten feet wide and decorated in the most approved manner, is a fairly big job, but it is just this week that the public school manual training classes of the city, in charge of Instructor Albert Hope, will undertake next week on behalf of the Peterboro Health Association. The plans for this community effort by the classes are practically complete. The idea was promulgated by Instructor Hope even prior to the Kiwanis Club's erection of the dining room. Dr. G. S. Cameron, President of the Health Association, was grateful for the offer of the boys' labor, and agreed to supply the building materials, if they would do the rest.

Enthusiasm Reigns.

The manual training classes are enthusiastic over the project, and would have liked to start work this week. The manual training work for the year is practically finished, and the boys are anxious to get out in the open and try their hand at pretentious construction. Mr. Hope is confident of the work the boys can do and anticipates no trouble in building the rest room. He has had many years' experience in all branches of the mechanics' art, and excepting for the work of a few bcilders in putting up the posts the boys will do everything.

The Only Difficulty.

The only difficulty that presents itself in connection with the construction is the transportation of the classes to Jackson's Park. Some of the boys will be able to obtain automobiles and a large number have bicycles. The present system by which junior and senior pupils in the public schools obtain two hours' manual training each week will continue excepting that the classes will go to Jackson Park instead of to Central School or the Prince of Wales School.

The building will be finished in three weeks, the instructor expects. It will be situated near the dining room erected by the Kiwanis Club, and the two buildings will enable the Health Association to carry on its work more successfully than in other years, and will form the nucleus of a colony that through the generosity and public spiritedness of the citizens will be a big factor in developing sound bodies and strong constitutions in the underprivileged children of the city.

Woman Passes Last Milestone in Race for Equality--Finds Brains!

BY MAR[illegible] HALE.

The restless sex and the restless age have offered a fertile field for fictionists.

But Mrs. Mary Hamilton, New York's first policewoman, whose sympathetic understanding of women includes not only the normal and superwomen but the most degraded criminals as well, believes restlessness and social chaos are only symptons of our mental development.

"We cannot judge women of this age by any known standards because they are a rule unto themselves,' she says.

"We are now passing through a time not unlike the Renaissance.

"In Bible days woman was a temptress. She had rating on a par with the serpent. Men recognized only her physical side.

"Then came the Renaissance. The western world discovered woman had a soul and idealized her as a Madonna and a saint.

"The years 1922 finds men awakening to the fact that women have brains. This brings her up to a level with men. She has become a human being with a mind, a soul and a body. She is now ready to achieve and work side by side with men.

"For the first time in history you find women trying to get what they want by using their brains instead of their sex.

"You see them demanding a right to make laws as well as abide by them.

"You find them ready to share responsibilties as well as privileges.

"And, of course, you see some of them exerting their newly found power in a destructive way.

"It is perfectly natural that the crime wave is involving women. But I refuse to believe crime among women is increasing as much as reports say.

"The trouble is that we are treating as criminals many women who are sick, many who are only young, folish things, not developed under the proper surroundings.

"The neurotic woman, who resorts to drugs, may become a law breaker —but because she is a sick woman.

"The girl who runs away from home is a law breaker. But instead of shutting her up in a cell with hardened criminals she should be handled by a sympathetic woman who will protect and mother her until she gets a better perspective.

"To decrease crime among women we need first of all new laws, founded on an understanding of women, laws which women have helped to make.

"And we all need to Have a Heart."

MRS. MARY HAMILTON AND HER THEORY OF WOMAN'S PROGRESS.

COW ON TRACK HELD UP G. T. R. TORONTO TRAIN

Bovine Was Not the Least Scared of Iron Monster

A cow on the track held up the Toronto train on the G.T.R., No. 94, last night at 8.30, this side of Omemee. The glaring headlight of the flyer did not bother the bovine in the least, and the animal stood right in the centre of the roadbed watching the oncoming iron monster as nonchalantly as if it were an innocent piece of farm machinery. The train drew closer and closer, and it soon became apparent that somebody or something was going to be hurt. The engineer, who was leary about any smashups, having seen four horses fall from in front of the cow-catcher in the last week, pulled up the special, and passengers gazing out of the windows saw the unusual and moving spectacle of the train crew chasing the animal off the track. A special wire was sent to train No. 99, bound for Lindsay, to be on the outlook for the cow which, next to a pig, trainmen say, is the worst object to strike. A pig is sure to wreck a train, and the chances with a cow are just fifty-fifty.

THE MARKETS

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, June 9.— (Canadian Press.) — Brazillian and Toronto Rails accounted for bulk of trading on local stock exchange this morning. Brazilian closed at 48 3-4, unchanged from last night. Toronto Rails however, furnished little variety with sales as high as 75 1-2 and close within 1-8 of low at 74, making net gain of 1-4 for morning. C. P.R. was weak, closing with two point loss at 138 and Mackay was also lower, close at 97 3-4, being 1-2 under last night. Abitibi and Can. Bread were each off 1-2 at 51 3-4 and 33 respectively, while Twin City gained 1-2 at 56 3-4. Dullness prevailed elsewhere.

MONTREAL STOCK MARKET.

MONTREAL, June 9.—(Canadian Press.)— Prices were firm on local stock exchange this morning and several fractional advances were registered. Abitibi and Brazilian both strengthened a quarter to 51 and 1-2 and 49 respectively as did also second preferred stock of British Empire Steel to 34 3-4.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, June 9.—(Canadian Press.) — Three per cent. opening rate for call money evidently offered little incentive to traders on either side of market. Business during the morning was very light and more substantial changes were confined to obscure issues. Among these were Dupont debentures, Remington Typewriter, Fairbanks, Mallinson, Sterling Products and United Drug, these gaining one to almost three points. Modcrate offerings of Canadian Pacific, Rutland Preferred and Norfolk and Scuthern caused irregularity among rails.

GROWING BEAR SENTIMENT.

NEW YORK, June 9.—(Canadian Press.)—Although domestic business conditions continue to reflect improvement, and money for speculative purposes is available at lowest rates in years, the course of the market indicates growing bear sentiment among professionals. Bullish activity in selected stocks was offset by steady selling elsewhere. Low priced Railroads, Coppers, General Asphalt and Mexican Petroleum were depressed sharply.

SUGAR GAINS A POINT.

NEW YORK, June 9.—(Canadian Press.)—Buying and selling orders in the stock market seemed to be quite evenly balanced at the irregular opening of to-day's session. Only issues to show more than nominal changes aside from Sugar which gained one point, was Speculative or Selected Specialties. Rails, Steels, Equipments and Motors were fractionally higher or lower, Oils showing a firm tone. Prospects of easy money over the week end added moderately to the activity of early dealings. Foreign Exchange continued to react to latest developments in the German situation. Mexican Bonds again weakened, fours declininf two points and the fives 1 1-4 points.

EXCHANGE EASY.

NEW YORK, June 9.—(Canadian Press.)—Sterling exchange easy, demand rates Great Britain 4.49 5-8. Canadian Dollar 7-8 of one per cent. discount.

There are 20 separate islands in the Hawaiian islands.

SHOT BULLET INTO BABY GIRL'S HEAD

Accidental Shooting in Ennismore--Child Will Recover.

When shooting pigeons with a 22 rifle at the farm of Vincent Murphy, Ennismore, at 3 p.m. yesterday, a farm hand accidentally discharged the gun in the direction of Mr. Murphy's two-year-old daughter, and the bullet lodged in the child's skull. The youngster was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital, and Dr. F. P. McNulty performed the critical operation of removing the lead from the skull.

The baby came within an inch of being killed, but unless complications set in, will be none the worse for the shooting accident in its baby days. To-day the child was resting quite easily at the hospital.

PRINT REPORT TIMBER COMMISSION IN FULL

TORONTO, June 9.— (Canadian Press.)—To the surprise of everyone in the Legislature, the report of the Public Act Committee, which found that Attorney-General Raney was not guilty of the allegations of Herbert Lennox, M.L.A., caused no comment from either side of the House when tabled to-day. Col. Lennox was present. Hon. G. H. Ferguson moved that the report of the Timber Commission be printed in full when submitted, but the Attorney-General protested on the grounds of cost. "You haven't spared any expense in the inquiry," retorted Mr. Ferguson. The entire report will be printed.

THREE DROWNED IN THE WISCONSIN RIVER

WAUSAU, Wis., June 9.—(Canadian Press).—Three young women and a man who went to their rescue were drowned yesterday in the Wisconsin river, during a picnic of the graduating class of the Marathon County Normal School.

The dead are: Thel. Generch, Wausau, Margaret Bradley, Stratford, Dorothy Bawke, Abbottsford and Martin Hannemann of Wausau.

CHURCH UNION.

WINNIPEG, June 9.—(Canadian Press).—Recommendation that necessary steps be taken to get Legislative effect given to Church union decision made by the 1921 General Assembly at Toronto, is expected to be made in the report of the Church Union Committee which will be presented to the Assembly here this morning. The report will be unanimous, it is understood, and contains no mention of another referendum of the membership of the Church.

Peasant Embroideries

Peasant embroideries are all characterised by the use of brilliant colours—chiefly red and blue, helped out with touches of orange, purple, green, and yellow. Odd-looking fruit, tulips, bellflowers, and bizarre birds are the favourite patterns.

Sometimes the designs are embroidered, but more often they are appliqued to a garment in some strongly contrasting colour.

LIVER TROUBLE

BAD BILIOUS ATTACKS

When your liver becomes sluggish and inactive your whole health suffers. Your bowels become constipated, the tongue coated, the breath bad, the stomach foul and sick, and bilious spells occur on account of the liver holding back the bile which is so essential to promote the movement of the bowels, and the bile gets into the blood instead of passing out through the usual channel.

The only way to keep the liver active and working properly, and thus get rid of the nasty bilious attacks, is to keep the bowels regular by using

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS.

They are purely vegetable, small and easy to take, work smoothly and gently, and there is nothing of the griping, weakening and sickening effects of the old fashioned purgatives.

Mr. John S. Caron ,Donavon, S. writes: "I was troubled with my liver and had severe bilious attacks. A friend advised me to try Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills so I took two vials and have had no more attacks."

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS

are 25c a vial at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Lessons in Golf

The head must be kept in a fixed position. The player should flex his knees slightly which will keep him from swaying the body. Let the weight rest on the right foot, mostly on the right heel. The nearer the left heel is kept to the ground the better off the player will be. Do not start the club down with a jerk. You must get the club up there so that at the top of the clubhead feels like a small weight pulling against the muscles of your thumb and forefinger. Imagine it is a stone on the end of a string, and that you are about to swing the stone down to make it hit the ball. You would not, of course, start the stone down with a jerk. Do not rush it or you will get your hands ahead of the ball which will cause a slice. Keep your eye intently on the ball until—and AFTER—the clubhead has passed through the ball. Learn not to lift You will have plenty of time to see the ball in flight.

MILLBROOK NINE TRIMS OMEMEE

Community Sport Day Held Millbrook Proves a Decided Success. Big Auto Parade.

MILLBROOK, June 9.—The first Community Sport Day to be held was a decided success yesterday, not only financially but in every other respect. Ideal weather prevailed and it was estimated that over 1,200 persons turned out for the doings.

The celebration was opened with monster auto parade which started from the Armouries and ended at the fair ground. Here the main attraction of the afternoon was a base ball game between Omemee and Millbrook, the latter winning 28 to 3. The locals took an early lead which they augmented at every opportunity, hitting Pogues deliveries to all corners of the field.

The players were:

Omemee—Pogue p, A. Clemett c, E. Corneil 1b, S. Clement 2b, Bradley 3b, Mitchell ss, R. Corneil rf, Brookes lf, Granby cf, Armstrong sub.

Millbrook—Edmunds p, McCorry c, Sayles 1b, Richards 2b, Nattras 3b, Neddler ss, Lancashire cf, Thorn lf, Grey rf, Russell sub.

A basketball game was also staged between two girls high school teams. The Bolsheviks, captained by Helen Syer defeated the Sein Feiners, captained by Dorothy Armstrong, 7 to 6.

Racing and other sport were also enjoyed.

Prizes were awarded for the best decorated cars in the auto parade which preceded the game and were won by the following:

The prize for the best car from Millbrook went to G. W. Sayles, who had his car decorated in pink and white to represent the bride and groom.

The prize for the best decorated car from Cavan, Manvers and South Monaghan was won by Miss Pearl Burnham who had her car decorated in the Rebekah Lodge colours of pink and green.

R. H. Edmunds won the prize for the best decorated ford. He turned out in a sedan with the interior banked with flowers.

The best farmers car from Cavan and South Monaghan produced Vernon Hunter who had his car decorated with grain and pumpkins with grotesque faces.

George Stout of Toronto was the judge.

The parade was led by a military band and on arriving at the exhibition grounds a short speech appropriate to the occasion was given by J. Lockie Wilson, provincial superintendent of fairs.

The affair was staged under the joint auspices of the Agricultural Society and R.O.O.F. No. 308.

IF THIS PLAY COMES UP

If a coacher standing at third base shall run in direction of the home plate while a fielder is making a play on a batted ball, or a thrown ball, and draws a throw to home base, the runner entitled to third base shall be called out by the umpire because of the coacher's interference with or prevention of a legitimtae play. For example if with none out and a runner on third, the batsman hits the ball to the shortstop and on fielding it he notices a player dashing for the plate. Believing it to be the runner on third the fielder throws wildly to the plate the runner on third scoring and the batsman reaching second. In such a case the umpire should declare out the runner on third who had scored and grant the batsman only first base, sending his back to that base from second.

ROTARY-KIWANIS STAGE A BATTLE ON THE DIAMOND

Even Jake Solomon is on Hand to See How the Great Game Should Be Played.

SCORE DOUBTFUL.

The much heraided Rotary-Kiwanis baseball match was played at the Nicholls Oval yesterday afternoon before a large crowd of spectators which were most of the time torn between tears and cheers. Rotary won 8 to 5 according to the official scorer. Secretly they maintain the real score was about 15 to 5. Jake Solomon who was umpire did not give them their dues. The Kiwanis Club on the other hand put up a similar alibi for not winning and it was pretty well agreed that next week the whole thing will be fought out again at Riverside Park. The Kiwanis Club has no doubt about winning and the Rotary feels the same way.

The game was a battle from the drop of the hat. The nine men trotted out although most of them had been out of the game for years made a pretty well balanced outfit and when the Kiwanis Club gets its batting average up a notch or two the Rotarians will have to look to their laurels.

If the Kiwanians could have done for Bob Abbott they would have been well away for Bob was Rotary's King pin on the willow. The first time up he knocked the ball so far the game was held up for several minutes till it was returned. Kiwanians found they had a real fielder in Jack McKone who pulled one down from deep right like a professional. Charlie Cummer started in the box for Kiwanis but developed writer's cramp and Bob Neil replaced him in the fourth. He held them scoreless in his first innings but in the fifth they got on to the southpaw and touched him for three runs. Russell Widdifield hardly recognizable behind much armour acted as backstop. Space does not permit of further mention of the notables on the Kiwanis fine-up other than to say that Captain Craig officiated at first and later short stop and was a thorn in the side of Rotary when he appeared at bat.

Gordon Matthews heaved for Rotary and the gentleman at the rear of the batter looked a lot like Jack McHardy. The resplendent uniform made it difficult to distinguish features, but the shining dome could not be mistaken. Bob Abbott on first Rotary had a snappy trio that proved a difficult combination for Kiwanis. Not only can Abbott hit but he can field and Doug. Lawrie did wonders at second and with the willow. He worked so well in fact that Alex Dick intervened by throwing his 250 pounds on him at second base when the opportunity came and it looked like a case for Walter Belleghem who was handy in right field. Leon Fraser at short was in a state of excitement practically all the time on ccount of the admiring an envious glances directed at his Apollo-like form shown off by the only other uniform the Rotarians had beside Catcher McHardy.

The approximate lineups were:

Rotary—Matthews p, McHardy c, Abbott 1b, Lawrie 2b, Fraser ss, Smaill 3b, Belleghem rf, Killaly cf, Primeau lf.

Kiwanis—Cummer p, Neill p, Widdifield c, Craig 1b, Cummer 2b, Phillips ss Neill ss Craig 3b, Hamilton rf, Whitehouse cf, McKone lf, Dick lf.

The sporting event was brought to a close by cheers all round. Rotary cheered the Kiwanis and vice versa. The umpire was forgiven by both sides and came in for a hearty ovation.

OWLS OUTPLAY THE LAKEFIELDS

Second Semi - Final Football Game in the Peck Cup is Won By the Owls.

A fair sized crowd saw Owls and Lakefield play the second semi-final of the Peck Cup series at King Edward Park last night, Owls winning 3 to 0. The start of the game was delayed half an hour owing to the late arrival of the Lakefield players. Right from the kick-off Lakefield bore down on McFadden who saved his charge at the expense of a fruitless center. Lakefield defence was playing when the goalkeeper in particular saving several swift shots, after Lakefield had finished a bust up field. Owls retuned and Burgess scored, a well taken goal beaten Aitken. There was no further scoring at half time.

In the second half Owls got down to business, and playing a close passing game it came as no surprise when Hulton scored his teams second goal.

Close on this Ted Hotston scored a third goal, a fine run down the wing seen the Lakefield defence beaten, the outside left tapping the ball into goal. Failing light caused the game to be preliminary finished, over 3 minutes remaining for play when the final whistle sounded.

The teams were as follows:

Owls—McFadden, Hosker, Frost, Burrows, "Wag" Hotston, Edwards, Bills, Hutton, Willis, Burgess, Ted Hoston.

Lakefield—Aitken, Charlton, S. Trude, W. Trude, Darling, Walden, Nicholls, R. Summers, B. Summers, E. Bell, Robertshaw.

NO SCORE, NO GAME SO THE JUDGE SAYS

Case is Dismissed Against Sunday Golfers Who Did Not Keep Any Scores.

BOSTON, June 9. — (Canadian Press.)—The golfers who appeared in the East Boston court yesterday charged with violating the Sunday sport by-law in Winthrop were discharged, after they had testified that no scores had been kept.

Judge Barnes rendered his decision of not guilty after consulting a dictionary which, he said, defined a game as "a contest according to set rules in which scores are kept."

After the judge had made his finding Chief of Police McNeil of Winthrop declared the finding would make it impossible to enforce the Sunday sports law.

NEW FACES ON PORT HOPE TEAM.

Several of Kingston Athletics Will Be With the Ontarios Here To-Morrow.

Tomorrow's game at Riverside Park between the Port Hope Ontarios and the Petes in the Central League series will be called 3 o'clock and as it is the last Saturday home game this month the fans will be out in droves. Port Hope and the Solomon outfit always stage a scrappy battle and the fixture tomorrow is not likely to be an exception to the rule. The Petes need the game to keep up near the top of the procession by the same token the Ontarios need it to prevent them from dropping cellarward With so much at stake the interest is likely to be keen all the way through. Port Hope has some new talent to introduce to Peterboro fans, including a couple of the Kingston Athletics and they are confident of tying a knot in the local gang The Peterboro fans cannot see it that way.

BENNY AND JOEY LEONARD

BY BOB DORMAN.

Most fighters, when they get to be champs, think of nothing but who to hold their titles—not to whom they can leave them.

But Benny Leonard, premier light weight, believes in keeping the championship in his own family. A championship is an assest to family he says. He admits he can't be title-holder forever, but he wants his successor to be named Leanord too.

So he has been training his brother Joey, up in the way he should go.

"Joe's never yet faced an opponent in the ring" he said, "but Billy Gibson and I are sure he's about ready now and we expect to start his out in a few weeks.

"I've worked on and with Joe for tricks. He's game and cool and four years. I've taught him all my strong. He's 19 years old, he weighs 132, he's 5 feet 8 inches tall and has a very long reach.

"We Leonard's have all been fighters—Willie, Charley and myself. Joe will make the fourth. I believe he'll be the best of the lot."

Benny had just finished a stiff workout in the gym with his brother, who hadn't been by any means on the receiving end alone.

ADANACS GET WALLOPED ALL OVER THE DIAMOND

Lakeviews Sew the Game Up in the First Frame With Ten Runs From Nine Hits.

BAD ERRORS.

The Lakeviews had some excellent batting practice in the so-called game with the Adanacs at Riverside Park last evening and came out on the long end of a 15 to 6 score. Shaughnessey, who started the twirling for the Adanacs, was touched for nine hits in the first frame. Seven of them came one arter the other, almost as fast as the opposing batters could step to the plate, and after two men already had been retired. The seven hits were followed by three errors and another hit, ten runs crossing the plate before the slaughter was finished. Fourteen men faced the pitcher in this frame beore Whitlow was put out at the plate to retire the side.

Adanacs went to bat first and in their half of the first frame, and owing to the wildness on the part of Gilchrist who walked the first two men up, managed to get two tallies on the score board. Things did not look rosy for them for very long, for the Lakeviews soon got into their hitting stride in their hali and the results were disastrous.

Jeff Hardill relieved Shaughnessey for the second inning and the change was certainly for the better. Of the nine men to face him in the next three innings seven were sent to the bench via the strike-out route, and two more went the same way home in the sixth, but he had a bad time in the fifth. Things all went wrong again in the fifth for the Adanacs. Two men were out when Sage sent an easy one to Jeff Hardill, who tossed it to first and it looked as if the inning was over. "Hip" Hardill, on first, however, caught the ball, held it for a moment and dropped it. It looked as if the man were out and Hardill had dropped the ball to pull off his glove and come into the bench. The ump, though, called him safe and four more runs came in before the side was retired.

The only frame in which the Adanacs assumed a dangerous attitude was in the sixth, when Gilchrist walked one man, hit another and a single and an error scored two runs. Fanning, the next man up, hit into a double play and though one other man scored, the danger was over when the third man fanned, retiring the side.

Stolen bases were also the order of the day. Adanacs pilfering seven, while the Lakeviews took nine.

RIVERSIDES PLAY CRESCENTS TO-NIGHT

Lacrosse Game at King Edward Park Called for 6.15 o'clock.

Riversides appear for the first time at King Edward Park to-night for their game with Crescents. A victory will put them up in first place, but if the south end boys show anything like the form of their last game they will give the Ashburnham clan a strenuous argument. There is no admission charge to these games, but the crowd usually responds generously to the silver collection. The game is called for 6.15 o'clock.

NEW HOSPITAL WAS INSPECTED

Operating Rooms

The operating- theatre is simple and wonderful; with its especially contrived, picot-swinging table, nickle-plated and enamelled, fitted with pedals and attachments that permit of a change of position on a moment's notice, and there is another operating-room for septic cases. Already several operations have taken place in the new wing, the laboratory has been in use, and the X ray room had its first commission in the plate that showed the dual break in a small boy's leg, and the whorl-like lines of the lung tissue of another patient.

The sun-rooms, to the south of the new wing, one on the men's floor and one on the women's, are particularly attractive, with their bright outlook, their airy spaciousness, and dainty furnishings. Long green curtains, wicker furniture with soft-toned upholstering and plenty of ferns drew many admiring comments yesterday from patrons of the solarium in the women's ward.

The new wing was officially opened yesterday morning when, Mass was celebrated in the chapel by His Lordship, Rt. Rev. M. J. O'Brien, Bishop of Peterborough, assisted by Rt. Rev. Monsignor McColl, Monsignor Whalen of Toronto, Monsignor Murray of Cobourg, Rev. F. O'Sullivan, Port Hope, Rev. J. McAuley, Ennismore, Rev. J. O'Sullivan Wooller, Rev. Father McCarthy, Norwood, Rev. M. McGuire, Douro; Rev. K. Corkery, Cobourg; Rev. Father Scanlon of Grafton, Rev. J. J. O'Brien, Rev. Father McHenry, Rev. P. McGuire, Rev. Father Power, Rev. J. Guiry Rev. P. Costello, Rev. Father Gillogly, Rev Father Cantillon.

Following the celebration of Mass the entire building was solemnly blessed by Hs Lordship.

The Catholic Women' League acted as hostesses at the opening of the new wing and The Christian Mothers of St. Peter's Cathedral had charge of the third floor and were kept busily employed all through the day with thronging crowds, serving light refreshments n the first floor sun-room, where lemonade and biscuits were dispensed from a long table, centred with a large bouquet of rich red peonies.

equilibrium quickly, though slowly, in comparison with the situation.

No More War.

Sir Herbert Ames ridiculed the idea of any desire in Europe for another war. He said the conditions in Europe were in such a deplorable state, generally speaking, that made it impossible for another conflagration that would only mean making matters worse and misery and starvation augmented to a much greater degree.

Canada and the League.

Sir Herbert gave many reasons why Canada should remain in the League of Nations, and said by helping the League to bring about international co-operation, Canada is gaining in her own interests and at the same time strengthening the power of the British Empire. He said what Britain is working for today in Europe can be summen up in two heads: peace and prevention of European difficulties by war. He said Canada was on an equal footing with the independent nations of the world as to her voice and vote, and he hoped that at the next and third assembly of the League of Nations, to be held in September next, Canada would send some of her Ministers to the League meeting, and, if possible, the Prime Minister himself, and among those who would go, a French member of the Cabinet, inas much as French was the official language of all meetings of the League of Nations, and a French-Canadian member of the Government from Canada would be cordially welcomed.

CAPITOL—Wallace Reid, Theodore Roberts and Mary MacLaren in "Across the Continent", and balance of a premier Capitol program.

REGENT — MARJORIE RAMBeau in "The Fortune Tellers" and Charlie Chaplin in 'The Woman'.

One of the most popular male stars on the silver screen is at the Capitol this week, in person of Wally Reid, in a role that seems to be a favorite with him, that of a speed-mad gentleman who careers madly "Across the Continent' in a little "Dent" car, striving to break a record. It is the usual, something-out-of-the ordinary Reid picture, with the charm of the star and the popularity of Mary McLaren, an actress who is too seldom seen here, to make it interesting from start to finish, through the reels where Wally shoots madly over the desert sands to his goal, where he makes a complete wreck of his car in a thrilling interlude, right down to the last moment, with his sweetheart at his side, taking the place of a mechanician with a broken leg.

There is a Snub Pollard comedy, fantastic and laughable, all about the adventures of a maid and mistress who exchange places, and the Jackie Coogan pictures are being repeated for Peterboro audiences.

SOCIETY WOMEN COPY PEARL WHITE'S GOWNS

Pearl White, the Fox star, whose popularity with the motion picture fans of the worl is second to none, has long been a guide to whom many fashionable women look in the matter of dress. It is well known that certain social leaders of New York and other large cities are regular attendants at the first showing of each new Pearl White picture, just to learn from the actress what the women of the nation will wear during the subsequent months in order to be well dressed.

Requests are often received at the offices of William Fox from society women who seek permission to witness pre-release showings of Miss White's pictures. Many strange excuses for such requests have been given. Finally one woman admitted that she and her modiste were eager to see what Miss White wore, so she could order similar attire from Paris and outshine the other members of her set.

In "The Broadway Peacock," at the Royal to-night, Miss White wears a gorgeous evening gown made in a two panel effect, the skirt foundation being of gold satin which forms an under-drape for the panels, one back and one front. The panels, which cost a thousand dollars each, are shaped like butterfly wings, embroidered in multi-colored, brilliant beads which are worked into an Egyptian scroll patterns which surrounds the figure of Osiris, the ancient Egyptian god, which is also worked in beads.

The Practical Aspect of a Father's Love

TWO business associates were discussing their children and the problems connected with their upbringing.

Said one: "My whole life is bound up in that boy and girl of mine—they shall have a chance in life that I never had—I am spending every cent I can afford on their education".

Said the other: "I am doing the same for my two little ones. But I've done more than that to safeguard their careers".

"What more can one do?" was the surprised query.

"One can give them the protection of Life Insurance", promptly came the rejoinder—"and that is what I have done. Their education will go on even if I am not spared to see to it".

No man has completely fulfilled his obligation to those he loves, until he has extended to them such a practical application of his affection.

Let the protecting arm of Life Insurance be thrown around them.

Let the North American Life Assurance Company issue a Policy on your life—thereby creating an Estate sufficient to carry out your plans for the children's education.

It's not a matter that you can afford to delay. See to it now while yet you have the health that will enable you to secure Insurance.

A request for our "Child's Endowment Policy" Booklet will give you all information.

HUGH KANE MEETING

At the Gospel Hall last night was on Israel's marching orders. Teaching how God's children of today should learn from the ancient people in the wilderness of Israel, who were camped around the Tabernacle. Their standards were, first Juda on the East, second West Ephraim, third South Rueben, fourth North Dan. Juda means praise: So God's people should be a praising people. Mr. Kane scored the long faced Christian not not being a good testimony. Rueben means a Son, Behold a Son; so if a professed Christian is a praising Christian, the world will behold a son. Ephram means fruitful; thus the praising Christian will also bear fruit. Dan means judgment. He was on the north side, so after life his over, the believer appears at the Judgment Seat to receive his reward This is the outline of one of the most helpful addresses ever heard.

Mr. Kane will speak again to night. The Hall is cool and a good crowd was present last night.

WEDDING BELLS

BELL—HAMILTON.

One of the most attractive weddings of the June season was that which took place Wednesday at high noon at High Park Presbyterian Church, Toronto, when the Rev. Dr. J. H. Turnbull officiated at the marriage of Janet Somerville, only daughter of Mr. A. J. Hamilton and the late Mrs. Hamilton, and Dr. John Wycliffe Bell, only son of Dr. J. W. and Mrs. Bell, of Hamilton. The church was tastefully decorated with palms, bridal wreath and orange blossoms. The bride was given away by her father and attended by Miss Kaye Murphy, of Ottawa, as bridesmaid. The best man was Mr. Charles Raymond, of Hamilton, and little Misses Elizabeth Field and Mary Banfield, cousins of the bride, were flower girls. Mr. Harold Banfield, Mr. Arnold Banfield, Mr. Reginald Garner and Mr. James Lear were in attendance at ushers. The bride wore white canton crepe embroidered in cobweb design with silver and transparent beads, wide girdle of white satin brocaded in silver, the skirt being scalloped at the bottom. Her veil was arranged in cap effect, with a wreath of orange blossoms intertwining at the sides with a coronet of silver and pearls. Her bouquet was of Ophelia roses and lily of the valley in shower and she wore a platinum and diamond pin, the gift of the groom. After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's father, 219 Fern Avenue, Mrs. A. Field, aunt of the bride, assisting in receiving. A buffet luncheon was served, the rooms being artistically decorated in Ophelia roses, palms and bridal wreath. Dr. and Mrs. Bell left at 3 o'clock on an extended motor trip through the northern States, the bride travelling in a suit of navy blue and sand gabardine and a hat of navy blue mohair and French flowers. They will reside in Hamilton. Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. C. W. Gardner, Mrs. Percy Wadland, Miss Virginia Wadland, of Hamilton; Miss I. Hamilton, of Lakefield, and Mrs. G. Bendell, of Hamilton.

VOL. L., No. 135 PETERBOROUGH, SATURDAY, JUNE 10, 1922 PRICE THREE CENTS

REGROUPING OF DEPARTMENTS BY METHODISTS

Is the Aim of a Motion to Come Before the Toronto Conference Today.

ECONOMY MEASURE

TORONTO, June 10.—(Special.)—Merging of a number of departments of the Methodist church of Canada, entailing the lopping off of a few departmental heads, and also bringing economy in administration, is the aim of a motion which is to come before the Toronto Methodist Conference to-day.

It would regroup the departments by the following programme:

Unite the department of evangelism and the social service with the home mission department.

Merge the superannuation and the finance department into one. Education and young people's society.

This re-grouping is somewhat in line with the reforms so boldly advocated by Rev. I. G. Bowles, President-elect, in his presidential address. The laymen are almost solidly behind the move. They regard that the church machinery is getting too cumbersome, and that too many preachers are in administrative jobs instead of in the pulpit.

Rev. T. Albert Moore is head of the evangelism and social department, Rev. S. W. Dean is the finance head, Rev. R. J. D Simpson is secretary-treasurer of the superannuation fund, Rev C. E. Manning heads the nome mission department, Rev. Frank Langford is in charge of the religious education work, and the educational secretary is Rev. Dr. J. W. Graham. Just what changes will be made, and who will be two heads of the merged departments, provided the proposal is adopted by General Conference, remains to be seen. There is now power in the Toronto Conference to make the change—it can merely memorialize the General Conference to that effect.

The proposal is sure to rouse a lively debate in conference.

REV. JAS. ROLLINS WILL PREACH

At Both Services at St. Andrew's Church To-morrow.

The pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church who has been absent from the city for several weeks through indisposition has returned and will occupy his own pulpit on both occasions to-morrow to which the public is invited.

Dobbin and William K[illegible]ly, Jr., the consulting engineer of the Commission, recommended this equipment. At a previous meeting it was decided to purchase the pump and motor to enable the process of filtration to be continuous, and not likely to be held up if an accident occurred to the first pump.

RAIN WORTH THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS TO LOCAL CROPS

Prospects for an Abundant Harvest Have Rarely Been Brighter—Season for Fruit and Vegetables Ahead of Other Years.

Farmers interviewed to-day said last night's rain did thousands of dollars worth of good. The crops had suffered from lakk of moisture for several days and the rain came at the time it was most needed. Prospects for a splendid grain crop have rarely been better at this time of the year. The grains are beginning to head up, some sweet clover has been cut, the timothy is in splendid shape and wherever the farmer looked to-day he saw encouraging prospects. The rain covered a wide section from reports to-day. South Monaghan got a good share, Smith, North Monaghan and to the east. One farmer said that there was no rain around Cavanville, but on Thursday that section received a down pour that has cared for its immediate wants.

Saved Heavy Crops.

Truck farmers said the rain saved the berry crop, which had suffered almost enough drought to make it a failure. Prospects to-day for the harvesting of one of the largest crops in this section are good and next week the season will be at its height. A small number of boxes were offered to-day, representing the vanguard of the crop.

The Fruit Crop.

A well-known market gardener was of the opinion to-day that the raspberry crop would not be large, for winter frosts killed a great deal of cane. The outlook for the other fruit was good he said and vegetable stuff will come along nicely now. The season is ahead of other years, in his opinion, and if a happy combination of moisture and sunshine can be secured the rest of the summer fruit and vegetables will be plentiful and reasonable in price.

A Record Crop.

QUEBEC, June 10.— (Canadian Press.)—"Never before have I seen the province going through such a period of ideal conditions for crops as those which have prevailed for the last two months," declared Hon. J. E. Carron, Minister of Agriculture, yesterday.

SAYS CHERRETT NOT "ROPED IN"

Sister of Widow Asserts Roy's Marriage Had Mother's Approval.

That Roy Cherrett had proposed and become engaged to his wife a year ago and that the prospect of their marriage had the expressed approval of his mother at the time he was confined to the Nicholls hospital with an injury he had received playing baseball last summer, was the assertion, at last night's inquest, of Beatrice Woodford, the only and elder sister of the nineteen year old girl, upon whom the overwhelming shock of the double drowning of Sunday night, May 28 struck with pitiless force.

She had told the jury under examination by Mr. J. F. Strickland, who represented the Crown, of having visited the Cherrett home that Sunday afternoon between 3 and 5 o'clock. There was nothing unusual in the attitude of Roy she said, and Mrs. Cherrett senior was lying down.

"When I went in I think I disturbed her rest. She got up and said she had been resting. She laid down again. Roy said we'd better go into the kitchen and let his mother rest."

Miss Woodford gave her age as 22 and her sisters' 19.

Was Not Roped In.

Adverting to the testimony of a witness at the Thursday night inquest relating what Mrs. Cherrett, senior, had said about her son's marriage, Miss Woodford began: "It is said in last night's paper that Roy was roped in."

"He wasn't roped in," protested the sister in a level voice, whose very calmness emphasized the resentment she was repressing. "I went down there and asked Roy if he loved Alice and he said he certainly did. He spoke to me last year about marrying her, and asked me if I had any objection to his marrying Alice. I said no, and I told him I had always thought well of him. His mother told me she was glad he was getting married and that she knew all along he was going to get married from last summer. She told me that when Roy had his ankle broken playing baseball and was in the hospital. We were there together. She said she had always liked Alice, and she was glad Roy and Alice were going to be married. Roy asked Alice in June or July last year and spoke to me at the same time."

Only For Love.

"I wanted to be sure Roy was marrying her out of love," the elder sister asserted. "I said if he didn't love her I didn't want him to marry her. He said he always intended to marry her from the first time he met her."

After a pause, Miss Woodford said: "It was a case of being married before the time."

Witness herself first met Roy in March, 1920. To Mr. J. A. O'Brien she replied that her sister had been ill with appendicitis in the Nicholls hospital early in May, and had undergone an operation.

"When his mother talked about bills she said: "You will stand by us Beatrice," and I said "I certainly would."

Mr. O'Brien— "You are satisfied that if Roy had any worries, they were financial."

"Yes."

TRINITY SUNDAY SCHOOL RECITAL

Excellent Program Provided by Pupils of Mr. George King.

There was a good attendance at Trinity Sunday school hall, Reid street, last evening, for the recital by vocal and piano pupils of Mr. George H. King, organist and choirmaster of Trinity church. The programme was well balanced and pleasing, and appreciation for every number was manifested by the audience. The pupils in instrumetnal and vocal work acquitted themselves splendiddly, their execution of various difficult numbers proving a credit to themselves and to the teaching powers of their instructor. Voices of sweet tonal qualities were used to splendid advantage, with special interpretative powers exhibited in the different selections, and a particularly pleasing phase was the stage deportment of the pupils, and the absence of strain in their renditions, the vocal performers in every instance singing easily and clearly, without apparent effort, in a satisfying recital of pretty music.

Vocal numbers included "Love Sends a Little Gift of Roses," Miss Mollie McCullough, "On the Adrian Sea," Miss Hilda Broom, "Times' Roses," Miss Vera Bottrell, "A Rose in Heaven," Miss Ilein McKim, "Come, for Its June," Miss Crocker, "My World," Mrs. G. Thomas, "Smile Through Your Tears," Mr. Frank, "The Meadow Lark" and "Sonny Boy," Mrs. A. Burrows, "A Birthday," Miss Ethel Payton, "When My Ships Come Sailing Home," Mrs. E. Kitney, "Wait for the Sunshine," Miss May McKim, "Whispering Hope," the Misses Bertha Hill and E. Kemp, "By the Waters of Minnetonka," Miss Myrtle Fluke, "Same Old, Dear Old Place," Mrs. Wells, "Love's a Merchant," Miss Etta Kemp, "Up From Somerset," Donald Sanderson, "Friend O Mine," Miss M. Bridge, "Love, the Peddler," Miss Isobel Black, "Sleep and the Roses," Harry Murduff, "Because I Love You, Dear," Miss Daisy Murray, "Break O' Day," Miss Beulah Payton, "Sing On," Miss Ethel Reynolds.

The instrumental numbers, executed with fine technical ability and brilliant tone, were given by Miss Laura Collins, playing "The Myrtles," Miss Evelyn Tudhope, Godard's "Valse," Miss Lillian Brown, Borowski's "Mazurka," Miss Alma Blanchard, Beethoven's "Andante," and Miss Doris Phillips, with Kowalskis "Salut a Pesth."

COMMENTS ON MEASURES AID THE EMIGRANT

"Emigrant to Depend on Benevolent Assistance is Not a Very Desirable Type for Canada."

BRIEFS FROM WIRES

LONDON, June 10. Canadian Press. — The Saturday Review commenting on the Empire settlement bill, says that everything depends on the manner in which the act is worked. It is no use disguising the fact, the Saturday Review says, that the emigrant who takes advantage of benevolent assistance, is not the type who commends himself to the Dominions.

THE IRISH QUESTION.

LONDON, June 10. — Canadian Press. — After to-day's meeting of the British signatories of the Anglo-Irish treaty, it was stated that Arthur Griffith, the President of the Dail Eireann, would meet Prime Minister Lloyd George this afternoon and that it was likely that a settlement of the questions at issue would be reached.

THE CATTLE EMBARGO

LONDON, June 10. Canadian Press Cable. — The Evening News, alluding to the announced intention of Lloyd George to attend the Dominion Day dinner, says it will be interesting to see if he embraces opportunity of demonstrating on which side of the fence he intends falling in the matter of embargo on Canadian cattle.

VERY OPTIMISTIC.

LONDON, June 10. Canadian Press. — So much optimism prevails regarding the progress of the Irish negotiations here that it is believed Colonial Secretary Churchill will be able to make his statement on the position next Monday in House of Commons.

Main obstacles found in Free State constitution are understood to have been satisfactorily overcome.

WINNIPEG LAWYER DEAD

KENORA, ..June ..10. ..Canadian Press. — The body of Boston Tower, a prominent Winnipeg lawyer, was found floating in the lake here yesterday. He had been a resident of Winnipeg for 13 years and originally came from St. Catharines.

FINAL MEETING.

PARIS, June 10. Canadian Press. —The International Bankers' Committee held its final meeting this morning, adjourning sine die at noon after adopting its report to the Reparation Committee. Later the body called a special session for this afternoon to receive the report, which it is expected will be made public this evening.

LEECHES AND EELS FROM WATER TAPS

Starved Out Remnants From Old Conditions.

Many complaints have been made to the Waterworks department by citizens who have found in tap water leeches and even small eels. Other minute animals and growths have made their appearance and the ratepayers have become alarmed for fear more fearsome monsters should emerge from the faucets. Asked for an explanation R. L. Dobbin, superintendent, said that the quality of the water as it left the filter plant is excellent, but all the old water and accumulated dirt of years has not left the mains in spite of persistent flushing. The reason dead leeches and eels are found in the water is because the minute organisms that they formerly fed on have been taken from the water in the filtering process and the animals living in the mains literally starved to death. The flushing policy will be continued and the waer is expected to gradually clear.

Waterworks Busy.

"Just at present the department is experiencing the busiest time for some years. Workmen have difficulty in laying the number of new services required and there are more orders in sight. Work has started on the new 14 inch main on Murray street with a gang of 15 men on the job," said the superintendent.

J. O'Keefe has started work on sodding of the banks at the filtration plant and when this is complete the appearance of the grounds will be much improved.

THE WEATHER

The thunderstorm of last night brought a rainfall of over half an inch (.54). It will do good, as it was greatly needed. Some more is required, and, from appearances some more is coming.—W.P.

Tented Amusements Passing Up Canada

Unless some advance agents for the circuses and carnival shows appear on the horizon shortly, Peterborough will begin to think she has been forsaken by these gentlemen of the road, and that this summer there will be no amusements of this kind.

In other years the Grand Trunk has been booked up for transportation, grounds have been secured and the press agents have invaded the newspaper offices before June, but this year there have been none of these presages of the magnificence and splendour to follow.

Yesterday J. A. MacNab, local agent of the G.T.R., said he had not seen an advance agent, although in some years he had been interviewed by half-dozen by this time of the summer. President Roland Denne, of the Exhibition Board, declared their experience was the same, and he concluded the shows were passing up the Canadian business on account of the heavy taxes.

COMPLETE S.A. SCHOOL HALL NEXT OCTOBER

Construction Work is Proceeding at a Steady Pace. Cost Will Be $20,000.

FINE STRUCTURE.

The work on the new Salvation Army Sunday school hall is proceeding at a steady pace, and if the financial part of the undertaking is successfully cared for the building will be ready for opening about October. Brigadier and Mrs. David Moore of Toronto, Divisional commanders will be in charge of the services to-morrow and arrangements will be made while the brigadier is in the city for the laying of the corner stone.

The total cost of the work is estimated at $20,000. The double house at 348 and 350 Aylmer street, which is being converte into part of the hall, with the large lot behind, the total property being about 100 by 70 feet, was bought in 1918. The cost of building was at that time prohibitive, and it is only this year that the army felt itself capable of meeting the cost. With some $7,000 cash and plenty of courage the work has been launched, and the officers are confident of carrying it through to a successful consummation.

The growth in the Sunday School and the other branches of the work has made larger quarters necessary and the new hall with the old temple refinished and improved will give the Salvation Army splendid quarters and adequate for some time to come. "We will have most up-to-date building in town for handling boys and girls," declared Adjutant Wallace Bunton, whose term ends in August but who hopes to be able to see the completion of the work.

Imposing Structure.

The plans are comprehensive and indicate the imposing structure the army will have when complete. Except for certain alterations on the temple that will make a handsome and attractive new front, with new and beautiful leaded windows, it will look much the same from the exterior. The interior will present an altered appearance, however, for it will be completed refinished and hardwood floors will be laid through out. A new steam heating plant will be installed and the one unit will take care of both buildings.

The hall is being built at the rear of the temple running east and west towards Aylmer Street, where the entrance will be through the double house which will be completely altered to form a handsome entrance annex. The hall will have two floors the lower of which will be on the level with the basement of the temple ,and used by the boys and the upper which will be the girls' hall on a level with the main hall of the temple. Although doors will give entrance from the temple the main entrance will be from Aylmer street. Steps will go down to the boys' hall and up to the girls'. Arrangement are being made so the halls can be used as gymnasiums and the promotion of athletics among the young people will result.

Detention Ro[illegible]s.

Forming an integral part of the whole will be the rooms of the house altered into handsome meeting places and upstairs there will be detention rooms for boy and [illegible]l delinquents. Chief S. Newhall has commended the Salavtion Army taking steps to provide suitable accomodation for boys and girls to be brought before the Magistrate and providing direct relief from the present system whereby adolescents have to be locked up with other prisoners or watched by the police. The Salvation Army will have clean bright rooms and good meals for juvenile prisoners and surroundings will be such as to induce an improvement morally and spirtually in

THE DROWNING ROY CHERRETT WAS ACCIDENT

Verdict Reached at Inquest Before Coroner Greer to Inquire Into Cause of Death.

THE EVIDENCE.

We the undersigned jurors called for the purpose of inquiring into the cause of death of Roy Cherrett find from the evidence given that he came to his death by drowning in the Otonaebe river on Sunday evening, May 28 1922, and from the evidence adduced the majority of the opinion the drowning was accidental.

The above verdict delivered to Dr. T. N. Greer, coroner, last night was signed by eleven of the twelve jurors as follows: — David Fleming, foreman, Percy Rutherford, Gilbert Borland John Primeau Joseph Picard Jr., D. H. Hickey. Harry Cressman Ernest Warne, Edward Wright Herbert Routley and Fred Jopling.

Finch Miller the twelfth juror, refused to sign it even upon the Coroner's assurance that Mr. Miller's objection to the expression of opinion in the last clause would not be compromised.

"I wont' sign anything I don't believe in" said Mr. Miller when his name was first called in the concluding bit of formalism.

The jury were in deliberation about an hour. Several times they called in Dr. Greer for advice, and on the last occasion it was to furnish information as to whether a majority declaration answered the statutory requirement.

The coroner informed them that a majority of the jurors was sufficient for a verdict. They were all agreed that Roy Cherrett had died from drowning, but they divided 8 to 4 on the opinion in the rider that the drowning was accidental, the minority being Messrs. Fleming, Borland, Rutherford and Miller.

Merely Witnessed Verdict

At first these four declined to sign the verdict but it was explained that they were called upon merely to subscribe to or witness the fact that a majority of the jurors believed on the evidence presented that the drowning was accidental, and that their signatures did not commit them in any way to the opinion of the majority on that probability.

On the elucidation of this point, Mr. Fleming proceeded to sign the document and Messrs. Borland and Rutherford followed them. When Mr. Miller's name was called a second time by Detective Meagher after all the other jurors had affixed their names, he shook his head and said "Nothing doing".

Coroner Greer then accepted the verdict with the eleven names attached.

Stones in Pockets

The evidence which presumably influenced the majority jurors in their objecton to the supplementary clause in the verdict was the disclosure of the fact the police had kept secret that Messrs. Manson Comstock aind William Comstock, undertakers who had prepared the body of Roy Cherrett for burial, had found two stones each about the size of a man's fist in the outside pockets of Cherrett's coat.

Manson Comstock testified that he had removed one of the stones from one of the side pockets of the coat, and his brother had found the other in the opposite pocket.

Death From Drowning

Dr. A. W. McPherson, who had examined the body at the request of the Coroner for the purpose of giving expert evidence as to the probable cause of death said,—"As far as I could judge he was drowned. The appearance of the body indicated that it had been in the water several days from the time of death"

There was nothing else from an external examination to indicate the possible cause of death.

Mr. J. F. Strickland represented the Crown in the enquiry and Mr. J. A. O'Brien was present in the interests of Mrs. Roy Cherrett.

Repeated Evidence

Mr. Arthur Rountree, Mrs. Margaret Scott and Mrs. Curtin whose testimony was taken at the inquest of the death of Mrs. Agnes Cherrett, which resulted in a verdict of suicide by drowning, were called again last night repeating their stories of conversation with the mother to the effect that she had said "she would end it all in the river".

Dr. Greer consulted with Mr. Strickland as to whether it was necessary to call Mrs. Roy Cherrett in this case and Mr. O'Brien requested that her evidence be taken. It varied in no important particular from her previous examination, and at the close she said she could give the jury no further explanation of the deaths of her husband and her mother-in-law. In the end therefore the double tragedy that shocked and depressed the community of Peterboro and the district as few other comparatively similar fatalities still remained mysterious and baffling in all its principal elements.

Recalled That Sunday

To Mr. Strickland, Mrs. Cherrett said she had last seen her husband on Sunday night May 28 about nine o'clock. She had stayed in bed all morning, and with her husband had walked around in the afternoon.

WILL CANADA STAY WHITE OR BECOME PARTIALLY YELLOW

Hon. H. Stevens, M. P., Vancouver, Visualizes Danger of Canadians' Eventual Extinction by Oriental Immigration.

STIRRING TALK AT KIWANIS BANQUET

"It is a question as to whether Canada is to remain white or largely yellow, and this is not an extreme statement," declared the Hon. H. H. Stevens, M.P. for Vancouver, speaking to the Kiwanis Club banquet at the Empress Hotel last evening, on "Oriental Immigration and the Drug Traffic."

Mr. Stevens had an enthusiastic audience in members of the Kiwanis Club and their guests, that filled the large dining-room at the Empress to capacity, and his address was greeted with attentive appreciation.

Saying that it is the inherent right of any state to determine conditions upon which immigrants shall be admitted to that state, and that no person can be considered a useful or successful immigrant unless he is capable of assimilation into the normal life of the community, Mr. Stevens declared that the question of immigration was not an international problem, nor was it a question of brotherhood, to be considered from a religious standpoint. It was mainly a social and economic problem, and was not based on racial differences, but principally on the opposite ideals of education, moral concepts and religious training between the East and West, and arose from experience in the matter of intermarriage between the races, which had proved conclusively that the half-breed was an inferior being, with none of the good qualities of either parent.

Faced With Extinction.

Canada, with its eight million people, was faced across the Pacific with eight .hundred millions of Orientals, and from time immemorial it was realized that the influx of an active, virile race into any country meant the gradual extinction of the original inhabitants. Faced with the experience of the last twenty years, with their stringent regulations having no perceptible effect on the gradual influx of the yellow race; illustrated by the experience of one city, "east of here," whose Chinese population ten years ago had numbered two, and was now three hundred, the speaker asserted that the problem in a few years time would have assumed alarming proportions. In Canada and the United States, the Oriental market gardeners and dealers in small fruits were rapidly squeezing the whites out, by reason of the methods employed by them, in working their wives and families in the fields and living according to the lowest standards. "The Oriental is not, and has never been, a pioneer," declared Mr. Stevens. "He follows only in the footsteps of the white man, to make a living by cocaine and washing clothes."

Refuting the argument advanced by some that the Oriental immigrant would help to pay his portion of the taxes, Mr. Stevens quoted figures gleaned from records of Natal, in South Africa, showing the per capita tax for the white citizen as being at the rate of £30 per annum, that of the Oriental, on account of his low standards of living, being somewhere in the neighborhood of £1.

Not An Imperial Question.

Referring to the Imperial side of the problem, Mr. Stevens said: "I would never support any measure which would jeopardize the honor or the prestige of this old Empire," going on to prove, by extracts read from correspondence in 1905, between Canadian authorities and the British Secretary of State for the Colonies, that the British Government fully realized the rights of the British possessions overseas to place their own restrictions on immigration, also that the Japanese Government had virtually agreed to their rights in the matter.

"The birth-rate of Orientals in British Columbia, as compared with the white birth-rate, is about three to one, and there are in British Columbia perhaps about one Oriental to every white man. To-day, the yellow race controls the restaurants and cafes, the fisheries and the market gardens, most of the laundries, and about one-half of the retail business in Vancouver, and this in spite of all our restrictions." Their method is to come in and pay any price demanded for the key-site in the choicest district, to gradually freeze out their white neighbors by their low style of life, and, although it has been said that the Oriental makes a cheap, docile laborer, Mr. Stevens advanced the experience of employers of yellow labor in the West against this theory, saying that their demeanor, when they rise to power in any industry, becomes arbitrary and overbearing.

"What advantage is it for a man to make his fortune and in so doing sacrifice the choicest things in citizenship? Canadian citizenship in its highest sense is more a matter of moral and ethical principles than an economic problem."

Reciprocal Methods.

Quoting from the Manchester Guardian of April 20th, from an editorial dealing with the impossibility

OUTCRY AGAINST TRUE'S REPRIEVE

Attempt Will Be Made to Raise the Question in the House of Commons

LONDON, June 10. — (Canadian Press).—The outcry against the reprieve of Major Ronald True, who was committed to an institution for the criminal insane after having been convicted of the murder of Gertrude Yates, continues to-day unabated. According to the Evening Standard, an attempt probably will be made to raise the question in Parliament when it convenes on Monday.

A LONG RECORD.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10. — (Canadian Press). — Major Ronald True, whose reprieve from the gallows for murder brought a storm of protest from the British press yesterday, claimed to be Lord DeFreyne, of French Park, County Roscommon, Ireland, when he served a fifteen months' sentence in the Alameda, Calif., county jail in 1915 for forging stolen money orders.

The officer who trailed True here from New Odleans identified him through a belt, part of a uniform of the Royal Canadian North-West Mounted Police, of which body True was said to have been a member. True, according to the officer, was an adventurer and born soldier of fortune, having been at various times in addition to a member of the famous Canadian police force, a sheep rancher in Africa, aviator in Brazil, and prize fighter in San Francisco.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK, June 10 (Canadian Press). — Selling of the general list especially recent speculative favourites, was resumed on a fairly large scale at opening of to-day's short stock market session. Oils were the most vulnerable, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Cosden and Phillips, and Pan-American Petroleum soon easing a point or more. Crucible, Lackawanna, and U.S. Steels were lower by fractions to one point. Coppers, motors, and some of the rails were under distinct pressure. Coca Cola was weakest of the specialties, falling 1 3-8 points.

Paul Gliddon's Orchestra at Cobourg Pavilion To-night.

7-Roomed Frame, good garden, 2-piece plumbing, west side $2,700

CONDEMNED MAN DECLARED INSANE GRANTED RESPITE

Clemency in the Case of Major Ronald True is Severely Criticized in the English Press.

THE CASE.

LONDON, June 10.— (Canadian Press.)—Major Ronald True's respite from the recent death sentence for the killing of Gertrude Yates was the subject yesterday of much discussion by the London press and public. True was ordered removed Thursday to the Broadmoor criminal insane hospital by the Home secretary following a medical examination by three physicians who declared True insane.

The Home Secretary, Edward Shortt, was severely criticized by several newspapers for this act of clemency. The Evening Star terms the respite a scandal in view of the fact that the jury had not recommended mercy, while in the case of Henri Jacobi, the hotel pantry-boy, who was recently executed for the murder of Lady Alice White, the jury had recommended mercy and 1,000 people had signed a petition for reprieve, which Mr. Shortt had refused to grant.

The Pall Mall Gazette and Globe says: "The reprieve of True will have to be clearly explained, for there are persistent rumors that he was well connected, that names have been concealed, and consequently the assumption will be natural, even if unjustified, that influence has been at work.

"Jacobi was not well connected and he was hanged. True is reprieved."

The Daily Express in reporting the reprieve, quoted the following from a recent issue of the Sunday Express:

"The murderer, (True), is the son of Lady Blank. Her identity has been mercifully concealed, but it has been whispered all over London and if disclosed it would startle the whole world. Ronald True came into the world when his mother was a girl of seventeen."

SOVIET LEADER IS REPORTED TO BE NEAR DEATH

Premier Lenine is Not Expected to Recover From Stroke of Cerebral Paralysis.

HAS LOST SPEECH.

LONDON, June 10. —(Canadian Press.)—From sources which cannot be doubted it is learned that Premier Lenine's condition up to a few days ago was regarded at Moscow as critical, and probably hopeless, although there is no word as to what change the intervening days may have brought.

These advices state that the recent stroke of Premier Lenine was one of cerebral parlysis. He had lost speech entirely on June 1, and was expected to die any day, those about him being certain that the end could not be prolonged beyond a few weeks.

The Premier was possessed with a mania before the stroke came upon him, say those direct Moscow advices, and demanded that his villa outside of Moscow be furnished with iron bars. This nervous tension had begun to manifest itself in February, and had been progressive up to the time of this stroke.

No mention of the gravity of Lenine's case has been made in Moscow, and no bulletins had been issued up to June 1, although a later indefinite bulletin was issued.

Those at Moscow closely conversant with the political situation say it is impossible to determine as yet whether Trotzkyy would take control of the situation in the event of Lenine's passing, thus strengthening military communism, or whether there would be an increase in the prevailing movement towards the Right, or Moderate wing.

ONTARIO MAN WINS IN SUPREME COURT.

Dr. G. S. Howard of Carlton Place Gets Important Decision in United States Courts.

NEW YORK, June 10.—(Canadian Press.) — Dr. Granby Staunton Howard, of Carleton Place, Ont., yesterday won his fight in the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court to ignore a summons recently served upon him in actions brought by David I. Rogow and William Rogow, of New York, for $30,000 and the surrender of certain notes totalling $255,000.

The court sustained a decision that Dr. Howard, who is 90 years old, had been brought from Bermuda by a cablegram subterfuge and that the service of the summons was therefore invalid.

The action by the Rogows grew out of their purchase of 85 paintings for which they paid Dr. Howard $30,000 in cash and gave notes for the balance of the purchase. Counsel for the Rogows claim the paintings were represented to be by Rubens, Raphael, Gainsborough and other noted artists. Some time after the purchase, experts said the painting were only copies and worth about $10 each.

Mr. Edwards' lawyers denied that any misrepresentation had been resorted to in bringing about the sale.

FRANCE TO ATTEND HAGUE CONVENTION

PARIS, June 10. — (Canadian Press.)—France, in all probability, will be represented in the preliminary conversations at The Hague, beginning June 15, it was said in official circles here yesterday. It remains to be determined, however, whether French experts will take part in the negotiations after the Russian Soviet delegates arrive on June 24. French participation at this stage will depend upon whether the Russians have decided to withdraw the memorandum they submitted at Genoa, to which France objects.

Charles Benoist, Minister at The Hague, is likely to be the French representative in the preliminary talk.

Will Investigate the Legal Difficulties in Way of Church Union

Presbyterian Committee is Appointed to Make Enquiries and Report at the Next Assembly. Anti-Union Leader Presents Important Amendment Which is Accepted.

WINNIPEG, June 10—(Canadian Press.)— The Church Union Committee of the Presbyterian Assembly, was instructed at this afternoon's sederunt to investigate during the coming year the legal requirements of the Union question and present a draft of the executive bills to the next assembly, so that the commissioners may be able to study them and see how far the church could legally proceed in the division of church property. This met the objection of Dr. Ephraim Scott, D.D., of Montreal, the strong anti-Union leader, who had moved an amendment urging that the whole matter of union be dropped, or another referendum taken. He withdrew this, however and moved that the assembly agree to incorporate the following in the church union report which, together with the report was unanimously adopted:

"That those opposing union state plainly that the moment action is taken looking toward consummation of union, they will be bound in all conscience to break with those supporting union, but that they believe it inadvisable to make any break until the time for action comes."

Dr. W. L. Clay, Victoria, B.C., said the Presbyterian Church in the west, was solving the problem of "horrible overlapping" without surrendering anything of its life and energy. He recalled the words of Dr. J. H. Oldham yesterday that organic union was not good ecclesiastical politics.

Dr. W. T. Herridge Ottawa, Moderator in 1914, said the assembly was simply asked to continue the Union committee, and also asked the legal men to continue the work they had not yet completed. He spoke with diffidence he said, because he had occupied the pulpit of Grace Methodist Church, Winnipeg, for five Sundays now.

Another strong anti-unionist, Dr. Banks-Nelson, of Hamilton, declared the assembly was throwing the union question into politics and they were being asked to go before a number of bodies which they did not respect. It was not a question of majorities, but a question in whom the church property should inhere. The so-called minority who remained in the church was the blood-child of the original owners of the property. If the matter was going before the people before it went to the politicians, he would have nothing to say, but there was no assurance to that effect.

Dr. Nelson said that every time the matter was brought before the assembly the opposition increased. Why was there no minority report? It was because those opposed to union declared that the reason for their apparent acquiscence was that they "believed the law was on the side of the old church" and because the majority were taking that line of action which the minority, who opposed union believed would end in the collapse of the whole movement owing to the legal disabilities and because of the impasse that would be created in the legislature of the country. To drag the church into Canadian politics and to start lobbying in the legislatures would be undignified, he said. It would not be a religious movement.

"Consder the composition of the legislatures; Consider the composition of the Dominion Parliament with so many members from Quebec. Would you bring this church before a bar like that? I think better of you", said Dr. Nelson.

Rev. H. Young B. D. Stettler, Alta., said the people in the west were getting impatient at the delay. They were showing in a practicable way that they wanted union and that they were going to have it no matter what the assembly might do. He believed that was also the view of staid Ontario.

A plea for something quick to be done was also made by Rev. S. H. Sarkisisan, Melville, Sask. pastor of the First Union Church in Canada. Another request for the Presbyterian Church not to delay union was made by Rev. J. T. Gawthorp, Silton, Sask., who said the church would meet with greater success than if it went alone.

A WINDOW EXHIBITION THAT HOLDS ATTENTION

An attraction in one of the George street store windows causing a great deal of comment just now is the motor car that takes up most of the space in the central window of the Grafton Company's establishment, in a simulated lawn of beautifully cut artificial grass reposes a large sports model Oldsmobile, a twin four, 3,200-pound car, complete from the electric cigar-lighter to the leather-cased pair of tires strapped to the rear. With its stream-line effect, its heavy cream tinting and its immaculate, glistening appearance, it is a car to satisfy the eye. A strikingly turned-out young lady driver, who maintains her stiff pose regardless of all spectators, is accompanied by a lovely lady passenger, with a large bouquet of roses and a languid expression. These two young women, equipped with the latest ideas in sports clothes, were supplied by the J. C. Turnbull Company and the Cressman Company, Limited, and are guarded on the step which replaces the running-board by a very life-like cream colored pug dog.

The work of placing the car in the window was a matter of time and effort. The front and north sections of glass in the large window were removed to allow of its entrance, which was accomplished by the skilful manipulation of the large machine up a plank driveway, with a start direct from George street. Mr. Edgar Burnham, with offices on Hunter street, is the agent for this type of car.

KILLED IN ACCIDENT.

BETHEL, Vermont, June 10. — (Canadian Press.)— Miss Marjorie Hulbird, daughter of former Lieut.-Governor Hulbird, of Vermont, and Mrs. Arthur Mercer, both of Hyde Park, were killed when an automobile went over an embankment between this town and Royalton, yesterday. Mrs. R. S. Page, of Hyde Park, daughter-in-law of United States' Senator Carroll S. Page, who was driving the car, was seriously injured.

PRINCE OF WALES ARRIVES AT CAIRO.

LONDON, June 10.— (Canadian Press.) —The Prince of Wales has arrived at Cairo, where he was given a tremendous reception. He was received by the Premier, the high commissioner of Egypt and Crown representatives.

The last stop of the Prince on the homeward leg of his long journey, which took him to India, the Far East and the Philippines, will be at Gibraltar, where he is expected to arrive on the 17th. After a few hours' stay he will depart for Plymouth.

N. B. MURDERER IS DECLARED INSANE

Benny Swim, Who Was Sentenced to Hang For Double Murder, May Get Reprieve.

FREDERICTON, N.B., June 10.— (Canadian Press.) — Benny Swim, condemned to be hanged July 15 for the murder, on March, at Benton, of Harvey Trenholm, and Olive Trenholm, the latter's wife has been declared insane by Dr. J. V. Anglin, Superintendent of the Provisional Hospital at Fairville, an authority on insanity. Hon. J. H. Byrne, Attorney General of New Brunswick, gave out this information yesterday.

Dr. Anglin's report was forwarded to Hon. H. A. McKeown, Chief Justice of the King's Bench Division of the Supreme Court of New Brunswick and by him to Ottawa, where it is now under consideration by the Department of Justice.

Olive Trenholm was 18 years old and a cousin and former sweetheart of Swim's. She had been married to Trenholm a fortnight before she and he were found shot dead in their home.

REMBRANDT

STUTTGART, June 9.—(Canadian Press) — Rembrandt's well known painting, "St. Paul in Prison' valued at 5,000,000 marks, has been stolen from the Government Art Museum here. A reward of 50,000 marks has been offered for information leading to the identification of the thief and the return of the painting.

The stolen picture is an early work of Rembrandt's bearing the date of 1627.

BANKERS DECIDE TO ADJOURN FOR THREE MONTHS

International Committee Will Not Consider Loan to Germany at Present Time.

REPORT LATER.

PARIS, June 10. — (Canadian Press.)—The International Bankers, at a session held last night, virtually decided to adjourn for three months and then resume consideration of a proposed loan to Germany.

Although the Bankers' committee will meet again to-day to complete its answer to the Reparations Commission, the decision to adjourn was taken last evenmg after its members had agreed that in view of the situation created by the Reparations Commission's vote nothing could be done at this time toward arranging a large loan for Germany. The final decision is expected to be taken today by the bankers. No official communication was issued last night.

MENTORS PLAN FOR BOYS' CAMP.

Sixteen members of the Mentors Club held a picnic at Crawford's Grove last evening and discussed the matter of attendance at the Pine Tree Point Camp at Rice Lake and the Rotary Camp at Clear Lake. This association will have the use of the camp from July 12 to 24 and the Mentors plan to take from forty to fifty boys from the various Sunday School represented for twelve days good time in the open.

It was decided that at least four Mentors would have to be at the camp to act as leaders for the boys and a schedule of those available will be drawn up in order that the full number may be on hand at all times.

In addition to a big program of sports and recreation for the boys a number of well known speakers will be obtained to speak in the evenings on subjects of general interest.

A canvas will be made of the Sunday Schools to find how many boys wish to attend the camp.

About 17,450 buildings were destroyed in the Chicago fire.

BUILT BETTER than Cars that Cost More-

A CAREFUL analysis of the construction and complete equipment of the Light-Six will convince you that it has no duplicate in value in the light car class.

For instance, the machining of the crank shaft and connecting rods on all surfaces is a manufacturing practice that is found only on the costlier cars.

This particular operation is mainly responsible for the fine balance of the Light-Six motor and its remarkable freedom from vibration at all speeds. It also has an important bearing on the wearing quality of the car and on its long-lived, dependable service.

The exceptional values in the Light-Six are possible because practically every part that goes into the car is manufactured complete by Studebaker. Parts-makers' profits are largely eliminated. Important savings through better methods and bigger volume permit greater value to be given the buyer.

From the standpoint of shrewd investment you should find out why the Light-Six offers you so much more for your money in performance, service and economy.

This Is a Studebaker Year

STANDARD EQUIPMENT

Includes cowl ventilator operated from the instrument board; cowl parking lights at base of windshield; inside and outside door handles; large, rectangular plate glass window in rear curtain; ignition lock and a thief-proof transmission lock, reducing the rate of insurance to Light-Six owners 15 to 20 per cent; and cord tires.

Big Production That Lowers the Cost

Large scale production is one of the chief reasons why Firestone Tires are sold this season at such low prices yet give mileage greater than ever before.

Firestone resources have made possible the most economical buying of raw materials, reduced freight costs and more efficient manufacture.

The advantages are two-fold. Firestone is able to give more in the product—better materials and finer workmanship—and to sell at a closer margin of profit.

Investigate Firestone prices now in effect and ask any user about the mileage he gets from Firestones. That will convince you of the economy of using Firestone Tires exclusively.

JOHN CRANE,

...ONEST VIRTUE IN THE WORLD.

[illegible]ticularly difficult to pick it out, for it [illegible]ce every day. It is seen in the faces [illegible]en every morning as they start out on [illegible] of work, staying loyally by the same [illegible]ong and weary years for the sake of [illegible]pendent on them. It is lived out by [illegible]thers who deny themselves every-day [illegible] desire very much and pleasures which, [illegible]nly own up to it, they would give a great [illegible]e to enjoy—who deny themselves these [illegible] smile in order that the youngsters may [illegible]r and have plenty to eat and wear. It is [illegible] the lives of millions of people who stay [illegible]eir work for their work's sake. Surely we [illegible]e that the commonest virtue in the world [illegible] simple devotion to duty and to the tasks

[illegible]but because we meet it so often we are often [illegible]ed to forget that it is also one of the noblest [illegible]s in the world. It is easy to realize this fact [illegible]e see this virtue exemplified in some unusual [illegible]. When, for example, we see a picture of [illegible]e continuing to direct his men after he had been [illegible]tally wounded, or hear of Gordon staying heroically [illegible]the ramparts of Khartoum in the face of certain death [illegible]mply because it was his duty to stay there, we cry: [illegible]what a noble and sublime thing is devotion to duty!" [illegible]s we need to remember in ordering our own lives [illegible]dging the lives of others is that the virtue of [illegible]o duty is just as important and just as noble [illegible]arrow lives as in the lives of the heroes. We are [illegible] in the light of our actual tasks and our [illegible]portunities, and a mother loyal to her children [illegible]put [illegible] faithful to his responsibilities or a young [illegible] to the right is as noble in the light of his [illegible] and in the sight of God as was Gordon at [illegible]or Edith Cavell at Brussels. To be great is [illegible]ore or less, after all, than to be loyal to one's [illegible]n the words of Maltbie Babcock, "To be faith- [illegible]o fail, whatever the apparent success of earth, [illegible]be faithful is to succeed, whatever the apparent [illegible]of earth."

S[illegible] THE ONUS OF PROOF.

[illegible] are hundreds of veterans in Canada who [illegible]n denied pensions because of their inability [illegible]usively prove the relation of their disabilities [illegible]ervice. Deaths have occurred in the ranks of [illegible]n where there was every reason to presume [illegible] service was the primary cause of the fatal [illegible]but under existing regulations, or the interpre- [illegible] pension officials, no pension is pay- [illegible]ents.

bined with a comparative physical history of the individual prior to and succeeding the war, as sufficient evidence.

France has recognized these facts, and we find that the Act of March 31st, 1919, passed by the French Parliament has these important changes:

1. Not only disablements directly arising from the execution of service, but all those resulting from accidents, fatigues, or dangers arising out of or by reason of service, are recognized as attributable to service.

2. Origin has no longer to be proved. It is presumed. The onus of proving the contrary is on the state.

The stipulations relating to the conditions as to the origin of disablement are contained in articles 3, 5 and 6 of the act.

Article 3—The following shall create a right to pension:

1. Wounds ascertained to exist before the discharge of the soldier, unless it is proved that they did not arise from incidents of war or from accidents arising out of or by reason of service.

2. Disablement caused or aggravated by fatigues, dangers, or accidents arising out of or by reason of the service.

Article 5—All diseases from which a soldier or sailor is ascertained to be suffering during the period of his service, or during the six months following his discharge, shall in the absence of proof to the contrary be presumed to have been contracted or aggravated as the result of the fatigues, dangers or accidents of service.

The period of six months referred to in the preceding paragraph shall not commence to run in the case of soldiers already discharged until the date of the promulgation of the present act. Such soldiers shall be entitled to the advantage of the presumption referred to in the present article, provided that before the expiration of the period of six months referred to in paragraph 1 they shall have forwarded to the Director of the Medical Service of their district, by registered letter, a request calling upon the said service to certify their diseases or disability.

Article 6—Every decision involving the rejection of a permanent or temporary pension shall be null and void, unless it furnishes the reasons for such rejection and clearly indicates the facts and documents constituting the proof to the contrary, abrogating the presumption created by articles 3 and 5 of the present act.

Note that under this law every accident caused by service and happening where and during the time in which the soldier is subject to military authority is considered as arising "out of service." If a man were going on leave, or returning, at the expense of or by transport furnished by the state, any accident during such a journey would permit of compensation. If a soldier carelessly handled explosives and became disabled, even though contrary to orders, he receives compensation.

It must be also borne in mind that the French Army was entirely conscripted, and in the great need for men the physical standard was not maintained at a very high point. There would be more likelihood of the development of non-related disabilities in such an army than in the Canadian forces where exceptionally severe physical tests were first set, and only slightly relaxed even up to the time of adopting conscription.

Canada cannot go far astray, and belated justice will be brought to hundreds of men, if the state will accept the onus of proof in ascertaining the relation of disabilities to war service.—The Veteran.

EMPIRE WIRELESS

London Daily Telegraph: Newspapers in the Dominions lacking communication with the Mother Country by wireless, are able to obtain from other sources the swiftly-carried intelligence with which we are unable at present to supply them. So far as wireless telegraphy is concerned, this country remains practically silent; the ether is charged with messages, but they are not ours. That condition continues to be a source of weakness from the naval, military, and commercial standpoints, and it is reacting upon our prestige as a world power. Action has been too long delayed, owing to various events as deplorable as they have been unnecessary.

That is because, with all their differences of form, these other governments are all agreed with our own upon those fundamental principles which affect international relationships. The trouble with Russia, the obstacle to our entering into relations with her, is not her hostility to republicanism, but her repudiation of the law of Meum et Tuum.

WHAT CAUSES SO MUCH SICKNESS

Constipation Responsible for 90% of Disease

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Corrects It

It is generally recognized among the medical profession that Constipation or Insufficient Action of The Bowels, produces more disease than any other one cause. Constipation is responsible for at least 90% of the disease in the world today—because Constipation is responsible for the Indigestion and Dyspepsia—the nervousness, Insomnia and Rheumatism—the Eczema and other skin troubles—the Headaches and Backaches.

Why is this?

As you know, it is the duty of the bowels to carry off the waste matter in the system. If the bowel muscles are weak or the liver inactive, then this waste matter remains in the body and poisons the blood. As a result, every organ in the body is poisoned by this waste.

"Fruit-a-tives" has been wonderfully successful in relieving Stomach Troubles, Nervous Troubles, Liver Troubles, Kidney Troubles, Skin Troubles and Blood Troubles, because "Fruit-a-tives" positively and emphatically relieves Constipation.

"Fruit-a-tives" will always relieve Constipation, even though the trouble has been chronic for ten, fifteen and twenty years. Thousands of grateful users proclaim "Fruit-a-tives" the greatest remedy for Constipation that the world has ever known.

DISCUSSES SERIOUS ASPECT OF IRELAND.

DUBLIN, June 10. — (Canadian Press.)—At a meeting held here last evening in support of panel candidates for Parliament chosen by Free Staters and Republicans, and presided over by De Valera, Michael Collins declared that serious aspect of Irish situation was general brigandage throughout the county. It would be faced, however, and violent measures would be suppressed. Otherwise the country faced economic ruin.

"This is no time to take on war with North-east Ireland and the British Empire, too," declared Collins, in advising calmness in dealing with the Ulster situation.

PIMPLES ON FACE

DIDN'T LIKE TO GO OUT

Those nasty little pimples that break out on the face and other parts of the body are simply indications that the blood is out of order and requires purifying.

There is only one way to get rid of this obnoxious skin trouble, and that is by giving the blood a thorough cleansing which can best be done by that old reliable blood medicine, and when the blood is purified the pimples will vanish and you will have a clear, healthy complexion.

Miss Mary E. Finigan, R. R. No. 3, Stella, Ont., writes: "I have suffered for about two years with pimples and blotches breaking out on my face. The doctor said it was caused by bad blood. My face was so bad I didn't like to go out among a crowd of people. One day I was talking to a friend, and she advised me to get a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and try it. I took three bottles, and there was not a blotch or pimple of any kind left. Some of my friends asked me what I had used and I said, "Burdock Blood Bitters chased them."

B. B. B. has been on the market for the past 45 years so you are not experimenting with some new and untried remedy.

Snowy white without boiling

THAT dull, grey, streaky look that you always had to boil out of your clothes is never there when you use Rinso. It soaks the dirt, softens it, loosens it so thoroughly that it all runs away in the rinsing, leaving the clothes sweet, snowy-white and fresh as new.

It's because Rinso is the new, modern scientific washing preparation that works in an entirely new way. It washes by soaking. It is altogether different from ordinary soaps and washing powders. So, it should be used differently. Do not pour Rinso itself into the tub. Make your Rinso liquid first, as per directions.

IF YOU USE A WASHING MACHINE

Soak your clothes in the Rinso suds as usual—for one hour, two hours, overnight, or whatever time is convenient. Then add more Rinso solution and work the machine. Rinse and dry—you'll have a clean, sweet, snow-white wash.

Havelock Debaters Defaulted to Peterboro' Branch U.F.Y.P.O.

Failed to Assume Affirmative on "Resolved, That Direct Tax on Unimproved Land Values Would Be Improvement on the Present System of Taxation."

(Contributed).

At a recent meeting of the Peterboro branch of the U.F.Y.PO. the Havelock debaters failed to appear. In consequence the Peterboro debaters were winners by default. The subject was "Resolved, that a direct tax on unimproved land values, including natural resources, would be a better system of taxation than our present system." Messrs. Stanley Whitfield and Harvey Webber, handling the negative side for the Peterboro club, contended in part as follows:

"The spirit ot the constitutions of English speakmg countries prohabits unjust and excessive taxation, and requires that the burdens of government be distributed equally among the people. The equality consists of equal sacrifice and each citizen should be required to discharge the burden according to his ability. Because of this principle military service is required from the young and physically fit, since they are the ones best able to supply it.

Unoccupied Lands.

A very large portion of the unoccupied lands in Western Canada outside Hudson Bay Co. railway lands and school lands is not held by speculators, but by men who come to Canada (from the United States principall.) buy farms with the full intention of settling on them as soon as they could disentangle themselves from their home interests. This sometimes takes years to a complish

Why, you ask, did these men buy land in Western Canada before they were ready to settle on it? They had no intention of moving from home until they could get satisfactorily placed. It was necessary that they sell out their present homes, only after they had secured these lands; and also, they thus forestalled any prohibitive increase that they might have to pay by delaying this purchase. This large army of absentee land owners are now continuousl classed as speculators, simply uously they exercise ordinary business foresight.

If these unimproved lands were taxed so high that no one could hold them, they would eventually revert to the government, because they would be of no value to private persons. There are not enough farmers in Western Canada to work these lands, and even if there were enough, the lands would produce so much that the gain to the farmers would be practically nil.

Opinions Differ

Opinions may be divided as to the morality of direct taxation on unimproved lands. Why a citizen, who for the time being has his money in land should have it wholly or partly confiscated while another who leaves his money in the bank or buys bonds or shares remains in undisturbed possesion of his property, is difficult to understand.

We are told that rents would not increase, if the whole burden of taxation was against the lands. Authority might be quoted to prove that point. To the ordinary mind, the first and obvious effect of an increase in taxation of land, would be a corresponding increase in rents. Then the burden would be automatically transferred. This often happens in our large cities, and also in connection with farm tenancy. The tax is simply part of the world overhead cost, and is recovered in the rental charge.

The very first element in taxation must necessarily be the ability of the state to collect on imports We collect taxes on incomes, the citizens and all he owns is liable, whereas on a land tax, the land only is the security. Governments cannot carry on the public services and pay for them in town lots. They must have real money.

Fluctuating Values.

Here is the first difficulty. Urban land values, all over Canada, and particularly Western Canada are fluctuating just now, and may be for many years to come. A direct tax, as heavy as such a tax would necessarily be would not land itself very readily to raising revenues out of non-producing town lots.

The whole problem of settling our vacant farm land in the West, is not to be solved by any such systems of confiscatory taxation. It is, rather, a case for promoting general colonization and for bringing intending settlers and absentee land owner's together, so that a sale may be conveniently effected. Taxation may pay in part, if placed on a every moderate basis, but this should not be regarded as the sole policy worthy of consideration.

These men who have purchased land in good faith, probably at high prices, are entitled to protective against predatory legislation, which will, in the end, do more harm than good, by destroying the confidence of residents of other countries in our integrity and in our institutions.

Womens Institutes

The series ot meetings of the East Durham Women's Institutes are now arranged for, Mrs. R. H. Cronk of Pickering being the speaker. The following are the dates and places where Mrs. Cronk, who is a very capable speaker, will be heard: Mt. Pleasant, Temperance Hall, Thursday, June 15th, at 2.30 p.m.; Bailieboro, I.O.F. Hall, Friday, June 16th, at 2.30 p.m.; Millbrook and Cavan, Town Hall, Monday, June 19th, at 8 p.m.; Bethany, Town Hall, Tuesday, June 20th, at 8 p.m.; Garden Hill, Women's Institute Hall; Campbellcroft, Wednesday, June 21st, at 8 p.m., and Elizabethville, Sunday School room, Thursday, June 22nd, at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Cronk's list of subjects include: "Canada and How We May Serve Her," "The Needs of Our Rural Communities," "The 20th Century Woman, Her Needs and Possibilities," "The Institute as a Factor in the Community" and "Labor-Saving Equipment and Methods in the home." Local conditions will probably determine the choice of the subject most suitable for the various institutes where the addresses will be delivered. Members are requested to bring note-book and pencil and come prepared to ask questions, so the greatest possible amount of good may be accomplished from having so able a speaker visiting on the district.

Closing Meeting.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church held their closing meeting, until after the holiday season, on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. J. Gardiner, Tupper street, the following members being in attendance: Mrs. J. McKnight, Mrs. M. Todd, Mrs. J. Dawson, Mrs. W. Tremaine, Mrs. B. R. Raper, Mrs. G. Locke, Mrs. A. J. Brown, Mrs. B Raper, Sr., Mrs. W. Williamson, Mrs. G. E. Burnham, Mrs. J. Todd, Misses A. Hampton, E. Krieger, E. Connell, M. Needham and P. Burnham. This was not as large an attendance as usual, nor as many as might be expected to be present considering the membership of the Aid, but several were away, or had illness in their homes, and other events intervened also causing absentees.

The President, Miss Needham, occupied the chair, and after the opening devotional exercises, the minutes were read and confirmed, and the roll called those responding paying their fees where any were due. Items of necessary business, re the purchase of new curtains for the vestry and board room of the church (Miss Needham, Mrs. McKnight and Mrs. Tremaine being the committee appointed to attend to this matter) and some other repairs in connection with the parsonage, for which the Aid assumes the responsibility, were discussed and as far as possible provision made for their being carried out.

Mrs. Todd served refreshments at the close and a most enjoyable social hour was spent before the gathering dispersed. A vote of thanks to Mrs. Todd for her generous hospitality were moved by Miss Burnham, seconded by Mrs. B. R. Raper, all present signifying their approval by a hearty clapping of the hands.

Hector Charlesworth

No one is better known to the musical fraternity than Hector Charlesworth. As editor of the "Music and Drama" section of Toronto Saturday Night, his opinions carry the weight of authority.

LET me be frank and say that I was more or less ignorant of the great advance that has been made in the art-development of the player-piano, until quite recently a friend drew me into a Yonge Street music store and let the Williams Player Piano prove to me that "canned music" had long since passed from its mechanical beginning into the interpretive and artistic stage.

I am not sufficiently versed in mechanics to grasp how it is done, but there it was,—Godowski, for instance, in his infinitely ravishing and delicate interpretation of his own arrangement of Chopin's Polish song, "The Maiden's Wish";—and many similar delights. And the amazing part of it all is that but little skill seemed to be required to attain the unbelievable effect.

The ease of softening and augmenting tonal volume allows a very wide scope to the taste of the individual, who may become an interpreter and enjoy the thrill of creating music on his own initiative. And if the individual is audacious, and wishes to improve on Paderewski or Godowski, by experimenting with some favprite passage, well, he is at perfect liberty to do so. Those minutely responsive levers and buttons are there to his hand.

And what a library of music is now available to the player enthusiast! Development in the art of making the rolls themselves is to my mind revolutionary.

For instance, I heard rolls which reproduced the feeling phrasing and dynamics of Paderewski, Godowski, Harold Bauer, Rudolf Ganz, and other famous men.

Peculiar, I believe, to the Williams instrument is a device which transposes the key of the composition in a moment to suit any voice.

Above all, that which stirred me most was the mellowness and fluency of the tone produced. Instead of the old mechanical hardness, real tenderness, indivviduality and color; art expression, not parrot expression.

Therefore, after hearing the Williams Player Piano, I am prompted to take back all I ever said or surmised as to the limitations of "canned music."

Girls Showing An Increasing Interest In Baseball Game Now

Play the Game in Central Park on Tuesday and Thursday Afternoons—Walter Smaill Trying to Arouse Enthusiasm For Field Hockey.

The players in the different Girls' baseball leagues of the city are manifesting a great deal of interest in the sport. Games are held in Central Park on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, from 5.30 to 6.30, and on Saturday afternoons, from 1.30 to 4.30. The leaders in the city teams are the "Y" Tigers, of the senior aggregation, and the King George team for the juniors, still ahead in the second division. The De Laval team recently withdrew from the league, on account of so many changes from time to time in their staff, and the Jolly Juniors withdrew from the Junior League.

Mr. Walter Smaill is trying to arouse interest in field hockey, and would like to hear from any teams desirous of entering such a league. Field hockey, which is known in England as "frass hockey", is similar to soccer football, and is played with a ball resembling a cricket ball, and a stick which is oval on one side and flat on the other. It is becoming popular in Toronto and Winnipeg, and several men here would be willing to coach intending players. A goal-keeper, two backs, three half-backs, and five forwards comprise the line-up.

Mr. Smaill is also trying to arouse interest among the girls of school age in a series of events resembling boys' athletic contests, such as the bread jump, the high jump, and baseball throwing.

EAST CITY SCHOOL HELD ART EXHIBIT.

Pupils Excelled Themselves in Brush, Crayon and Pencil.

(Contributed.)

A very interesting exhibit of the art work done by the children of King George School was held recently in the school. The work consisted chiefly of pen, pencil, charcoal and color work, with some articles of sewing done by the girls and collections of wild flowers by both boys and girls.

The entire work is under the supervision of Miss MacRae, art teacher, who has been at great pains to make the work of the highest order. A gold star and ribbons of the best work in each class, with a blue star for second.

In the junior primer class, of which Miss Thelma Paxman is the teacher, the best work was done by Donald Moore, with Ethel Cooke a close second, and very good work also done by Donald Richardson and Fred. Hamilton.

In the senior primer and junior first classes, Miss Eva Outram teacher, Howard Bettes took first, with Phyllis Davis and Arnold Worboy second and third. The work in these classes consisted of crayon and charcoal work. In every case exhibited where an effort had been made to depict movement, the idea had been very well carried out.

In the senior first class, Miss Sisson teacher, Keith Darragh took first, Blanche Naylor second and Charlie Joyes and Albert Bradford third and fourth.

In the junior second, Miss Margaret Eastwood teacher, the awards went to Arthur Legon, Jack Lee, Allister Ferguson and Gladys Fawcett.

In the senior second, of which Miss Eva Tussie is the teacher, Hattie Taylor took first place, followed by Gladys Bradford, Willie Harper and Tommy Tooms.

Illustrated Stories.

The work of these classes consisted of color work with the crayons, using two or three colors and advanced charcoal work. Several stories were illustrated, "Little Red Riding Hood" being particularly well done. The more advanced pupils also had some excellent landscape work, as well as some fine book-cover designs.

The work of the junior third class, Miss Carrie Crookshanks teacher, was also exceptionally good. Essie Taylor took first place, with Herbert Lee second and Alistan Adam and Ernest Conners third and fourth. This class had some excellent examples of printing and water-color work.

In the senior fourth class, taught by J. Munro, the work of Genevieve Foster, was considered the best, with Arthur Knott second and Eleanor Dodds and Velma Strong tied for third. The work of this class consisted of difficult water colors, posters and conventional designs.

The work of the junior and senior fourth, taught by Principal Maurice Park, consisted of very difficult water colors. Landscapes, flowers, posters and conventional designs formed the major part of this exhibit, though some very good work was also shown in colored maps and outline pencil work. In this class Ray Ballantyne took first, Lillie Mecks second, Mary Lipsett third and Nan Parsons fourth.

The judges have not announced their decision on the exhibit of wild flowers.

RESPECT RIGHTS OF PROPERTY OWNERS.

Summer Campers Enjoined to Refrain From Offences.

Just to forestall the usual complaints that constantly pile up during the camping season about the actions of summer residents along Otonabee, those who take up their residence along the banks this summer are asked to refrain from the series of offences which have been annually committed in the past, in this section of the city, evidencing an utter disregard for the rights of property-owners in the vicinity.

The principle of a common ownership, while it may appear beautiful in theory, is not always relished by those whose property is made an example of in the earnest desire of its devotees, to live up to their belief. It is said that an attitude which appears to centre about the idea, "go ahead and do as you like" and practices which extend as far as cutting a tree down, come within the range of the experience of neighbors to the camping fraternity during the summer season along the banks of the "bounding Otonabee" as a convention visitor to our city expressed it last summer.

LINGERING WEAKNESS FOLLOWING DISEASE

DUE TO THE FACT THAT THE BLOOD HAS BECOME THIN AND WATERY.

In almost every case the victims of la grippe, influenza, fevers and contagious troubles are left weak, ailing and despondent after the disease itself has disappeared. They do not pick up strength as they ought and remain tired, listless and discouraged. The only reason for this is that the blood has been impoverished by the ravage of the disease through which the victim has passed. Strength and full activity will not return until the blood has been restored to its normal condition. The blood can be enriched and purified quickly and surely by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. To enrich the blood and strengthen the nerves is the whole mission of these pills, and thousands have found them beneficial after disease had left them weak and run down. Among those who have proven the value of these pills in cases of this kind is Mr. Charles A. Turner, light keeper, Thrum Cap light station, N. S., who says: "In January, 1917, I took a severe cold which I neglected until it developed into pneumonia, which confined me to bed for some time. When I was able to get up and sit around the house I found that I was not regaining my usual strength—in fact I seemed to be growing weaker and was reduced almost to a skeleton. I took an emulsion but it did not help me. Then one day a friend who came to see me said, 'Here's some Dr. Williams' Pink Pills; just the thing to put you on your feet again.' I took them and then got six boxes more and soon could feel they were helping me. By the time that the last box was empty I was doing my work again, and feeling fine, and I had gained in weight. My health has since continued good, and I give the credit to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or 6 boxes for $2.50, from the Dr. Wiliams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

LET YOUR OAR BE AERIAL "MAST."

When you go boating, take your radio set along. Let your aerial extend down to the set from one end of the oar, set up as the mast. For ground, drop the ground wire over boat so it will trail along in the water. The picture shows how easily this can be done.

Bloomer Dresses of Organdie

One of the largest shops of girls' clothes in New York is featuring bloomer dresses of the sheerest organdie.

The dress is transparent, of course, and so the bloomers are made very full and trimmed with little applique flowers just as the dress is.

The skirt is made of quite short and the bollers quite long. Because organdie is so stiff and the bloomers are so full the effect is one of billowing hoopskirts.

This is only an elaborate variation though, of the same bloomer dress the busy mother long has found so satisfactory. They are shown in sizes for girls from three to eight and may be bought of all manner of materials.

The most popular trimmings are cross-stitch smockings and applique. There are no restrictions as to color.

HEAD BANDS.

Fancy head bands seem to have been restored to favor. Many of them are worn very closely over the forehead, almost covering the eyebrows. These are composed of jewels or metal cloth or floral bands.

PLAIN RUGS.

Plain colored rugs are very good taste. For bedrooms these may be of blue, rose or green. For living rooms grey or tan are the best choice. The dark colored ones are very attractive, but show every footstep. Black rugs are liked by some decorators.

CARLOAD OF CATTLE MUST BE DESTROYED

High-grade Dairy Cows Found Infected With Tuberculosis.

(Special Despatch to The Globe.)

Mitchell, May 20.—A carload of cattle of an unusual nature was shipped from Mitchell to a Toronto abattoir, where they would have to be slaughtered, according to the tuberculin test which was made by Dr. Tory, a veterinary inspector sent out by the Department of Agriculture.

They were all high-grade dairy cattle, mostly thoroughbred, and one of them gave 80 pounds of milk the day before being inspected. Out of one herd of 21 cows, 19 were condemned, and the three others, which were taken from another stable, went to make up the carload.

FRIENDLY SOCIETY CLOSE THEIR SEASON

Enjoyed Jolly Afternoon at Jackson Park.

The Girls' Friendly Society of St. John's Church closed their season for this summer by a picnic held yesterday afternoon at Jackson Park. Notwithstanding the inclement appearance of the weather there was an attendance of nearly the full quota of members, and a most enjoyable afternoon was spent in baseball matches between teams led by Freda Shurety and Sybil Ecobichon, the former's team proving the winner, and in races, won by Beatrice Kent, Florence Dooley, Lily Wilson, Freda Shurety and Sybil Ecobichon. Supper was served later, closing a jolly event.

The Girls' Friendly Society, although an old society elsewhere, was organized here during the last year. It is undenominational, and the meetings have been marked by encouraging attendance of the members. The season will be opened again in September next.

COULDN'T DO HOUSEWORK HEART WAS SO BAD

Many women get weak and run down and unable to rest after their household duties owing to the heart action becoming impaired or the nervous system unstrung.

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy instead of sick and wretched. But how can a woman be strong and healthy when day in and day out she has to go through the same routine of work sweeping, dusting, cooking, washing, etc. Is it any wonder that the heart becomes effected and nervous, has hot flushes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells and can't sleep at night.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

are the best remedy to tone up the system and strength the weakened organs.

Mrs. Daniel Bezanson, Loganville, N.S., writes:—"As I was troubled with a weak heart for nearly two years I am writing to tell you what your great remedy, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, has done for me.

"My heart was so bad at night I could not sleep, I would take smothering spells, and was so weak I could not do housework. I tried two doctors, but no results. A friend advised me to try your pills. I used six boxes and am completely relieved. I think they are the best remedy for heart trouble there is."

MR. G. A. BRETHEN DEFENDS FARMERS

East Peterboro Member Contributes to the Budget Debate.

OTTAWA, June 10.—(Special.)—The budget debate was resumed here last night by Mr. G. A. Brethen, of East Peterborough, a Progressive, who dealt with the charge that the farmers paid too small a share of the tax and contended that evil conditions were responsible for the smallness of the rural contributions. A fiscal policy which enabled the urban 48 per cent. of the population to produce 99 1-3 per cent. of the income tax could not be defended. He believed that a change had come over public opinion in regard to reciprocity with our neighbours and declared that when it had been introduced by private arrangement in regard to pedigreed Holstein cattle of which he is a breeder, the balance of advantage should be on the side of Canada. There were some things in the budget which he could approve of, but the increase in the sales was highly reprehensible, as it bears heavily upon the poorer classes. Rather would he have seen the business profits tax and the luxury tax re-imposed and he would support a tax on land values. He paid some attention to the automobile industry and its tariff protection and declared that the people of Canada would be twelve million dollars in pocket if they paid all the workmen in motor factories their current wages, gave them a holiday and bought their cars where they lived. Mr. Morrison, of Weyburn, a western Progressive, discoursed upon the high price of farm implements in the west and complained that while he could only get one dollar for a cow hide, he had recently been compelled to pay twelve dollars for a pair of boots. He also defended Mr. Crerar from certain aspersions cast by rude newspapers.

ONT. LEGISLATURE HAS ADJOURNED

Longest Session in History Closed at 5.22 Last Evening.

TORONTO, June 10.—(Canadian Press.)—After longest session in its history Ontario Legislature wound up it 1922 session at exactly 5.22 o'clock last evening. Immediately the Attorney-General had secured assent for a motion that House do now adjourn until 3 o'clock Tuesday for formal prorogation, members sang the National Anthem. The last action was the hearty giving of three rousing cheers for Speaker Nelson Parliament.

The session just concluded is the longest on record. It began on February 14. Since then the House has sat on 80 days. This is 16 days longer than the previous session, which also constituted record. Altogether 270 bills were presented to members Probably a score of measures were presented and withdrawn, outstanding among which was Attorney-Generals bill to abolish appeals to Privy Council. Outstanding among the mass of legislation that has gone through during the four months was premiers Hydro Radial Bill, and its all important last minute amendments which were giv en third reading yesterday. In addition there have been amendments calculated to strengthen the O.T.A. improvemnts in Workmen's Compensation law, further aid in distribution of rural Hydro power, Lake of Woods control bill and the much discussed five percent tax on race track wagers.

No fewer than 27 bills were given their third reading in the last two hours of the session, one or two of them being advanced through that stage directly they had met with committee approval.

EGG MARKETS.

OTTAWA, June 10. —(Canadian Press.)—According to a market letter received from London, England, dated May 27, the demand there is slow and many imports are reported unsatisfactory, being affected by the heat. Supplies are said to be abundant and there are some fairly large quantities which have been put into cold storage. Reports of falling off in receipts are pretty general throughout this country and the quality is said to be much poorer. In parts of Ontario the price to producers is being lowered to 21 cents. Toronto and Montreal dealers are being offered 24 to 25 cents for straights receipts loss off and 28 to 29 cents for firsts cases free.

Toronto firm for specials and extras, weak for firsts and seconds, prices unchanged.

Montreal quiet, specials jobbing 36, extras 33 to 35, firsts 30 to 32, seconds 26 to 28, retail prices range from 30 to 40, some export demand for poultry, prices steady and unchanged

Manitoba and Saskatchewan unchanged.

Calgary receipts light, quality poor, most of arrivals grading seconds, storage space practically full. Trade quotations delivered extras 28, firsts 24, seconds 17. Edmonton lower, dealers quoting country shippers delivered, extras 24, firsts 20, seconds 15. Jobbing extras 30, firsts 25, seconds 21.

DOMESTIC BERRIES AT CAMPBELLFORD.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 10.—The first local strawberries of the season arrived on the market on Wednesday night and were retailing at 35c per box. On Friday they could be purchased at 25c and as there appears to be a bumper crop in this vicinity they are expected to reach much lower levels yet.

Good dairy or whey butter can be purchased for 33c. Potatoes seem to be plentiful at $1.50 per bag.

German Cut Throat Competition Under Virtual Free Trade Threatens Peterboro Industries

Might Put C.G.E. Co. Out of Business, Warning of Hon. Edmund Bristol

Member of Centre Toronto Appealed in Parliament For Adequate Protection Against the Products of Cheap German Industry—Quoted Salaries Paid in German Cities.

Discussing the budget in the House on Friday, June 2nd, the Hon. Edmund Bristol, representing Centre Toronto, referred at some length to possible effects on Canadian industry of the abolition of the Depreciated Currency Act.

"Everybody in this House knows that, since the war, every civilized country has been doing everything it possibly could to protect, preserve and maintain the home market of that country for its own people, and to protect and maintain its own home industries," said Mr. Bristol.

"It is well known," he continued, "that the value of the German mark to-day is a third of a cent. The latest information I can get from Germany is that skilled labour is paid 60c. a day, and ordinary unskilled labour is paid 30c. a day. But we will take sources perhaps more authentic, or at least more to be relied on. I take the industrial and Labour Information, Volume II., No. 6, of May 12th, 1922, published at Geneva, by the International Labour Office, and I find the following item:—

> It appears that the highest wages were paid in Hagen dyers, 639 marks ($2.13) per week; belt makers, 650 marks, ($2.17) a week; ribbon makers, 654 marks ($2.18) per week, Essen and Hamburg, and the lowest in Bautzen 353 to 508 marks, ($1.18 to $1.69), and Munich 409 to 524 marks ($1.37 to $1.75).
> The memorandum states that in most cases the weekly wages were lower than the minimum cost of living of a family of two adults and two children. In Berlin, for instance, the weekly minimum cost of living, December 1921, amounted to 557 marks ($1.86) per week, while in the same month the average wages in certain occupations were as follows:—Printers (married 553 marks a week $(1.84), railway mechanics 418 marks $(1.40); railway labourers 379 marks ($1.27); bricklayers 552 marks ($1.84); building labourers 522 marks, $1.74); navvies 381 marks ($1.27). In Hamburg the wages of bricklayers 620 marks, ($2.07), building labourers 594 marks ($1.98), and navvies, 589 marks ($1.87) were in excess of the minimum cost of living, while those of joiners 561 marks marks ($1.87)."

SALARIES IN CIVIL SERVICE

I am not suggesting these figures for Government employees in Canada, but I find in the Frankfurter Zeitung of March 28th, 1922, that they paid their Government officials the munificent salary of 11,000 marks a year, or $36.67 for the lowest group, and for the highest group a salary of 40,000 marks, equal in Canadian funds to $133.34 a year. It is not necessary for me to tell the House that the German mechanic is as well equipped for his work as any mechanic in the world, and that they are not working eight hours a day; they are working all they can—ten hours a day and an extra two hours for the FATHERLAND.

LOWER COSTS IN GERMANY

The present tariff brought in by the Hon. Minister of Finance takes for the valuation of German goods their fair market value in the country of production —Germany. You can figure what this value in Germany would be. Labour is 50 per cent of the cost of producing an article and then we have the raw material. I have shown you the labour cost, which is a prevailing cost. It practically means that the Germans can produce everything that is produced by factories in this country for about one-tenth of our cost, and freight rates from Germany to Canada are cheap. That is the real situation.

Mr. Bristol next quoted a partial list of the imports from Germany in 1913, and continued: "Just referring to electrical apparatus, Germany to-day is the first country in the world in manufacturing along electrical and radio lines, and it will practically mean that great companies in Canada, like the General Electric and the Westinghouse and the other large company at St. Catharines will be put out of business by Germany. or very seriously injured, when the Germans get started under the proposed tariff."

A MENACE TO ALL MANUFACTURERS

Concluding the reading of the list of importations in 1913, Mr. Bristol said: "I thought it proper to read this list of articles to the House to show that, as far as competition with Cermany is concerned, our mechanics have not only no protection, but there is practically nothing that is manufactured in this country, or that can be maufactured under reasonable competitive conditions, that Germany cannot put on the Canadian market under the present tariff and easily undersell its Canadian competitors."

Mr. Bristol quoted from the Safeguarding of Industries Act in England to the effect that in that former free trade country, a customs duty equal to one-third their value in England was levied on goods from Germany, and emphasized the point that the basis of valuation of such imports was their value in England and not in Germany.

He also quoted from the new United States Tariff Act, showing that the customs duties in that country were levied on the value of the imported article in the country of exportation and therefore on the basis of the American selling price, and not, he said, upon the value of the article in the country from which it comes, as such an article is being valued by our new tariff.

Mr. Bristol cited the protective measures adopted by France and Australia, and continued as follows:—"The Minister of Finance says that if you want to prohibit Germany from sending goods here you should say so. I am certainly not advocating that. He says: "If you want to say that German goods shall be prohibited, say so: if you shrink from saying that in such a direct way then put on a 1,000 per cent duty."

FAIR CHANCE TO COMPETE

It is not necessary to do that. Just put a value on German goods for tariff purposes that you would put on similar goods produced in Canada. Take the Canadian selling price of similar goods as the basis on which to value the German goods and put a reasonable duty upon them so as to give the Canadian factories a fair chance to compete with German exports on even terms. Before leaving this point I would refer to a statement made by Mr. Tom Moore president of the Trades and Labour Congress, after his return from a visit to Germany in 1921. He said:—

> "Skilled mechanics in Germany must work one day to earn the currency which will purchase one pound of butter; they must work one week to earn a pair of shoes. or one month to earn a suit of clothes."

Towards the end of his speech, Mr. Bristol said: "Since the war, the United States Steel Corporation, which, I suppose, is one of the best organized and most powerful corporations in the world, has not been able to successfully compete against German rails and steel in other parts of the world. That is an added reason for my argument that Canadian workingmen and manufacturers should be protected against German competition."

Britain's Protective Act

Since the war, nations have been forced to protect their own industries against foreign competition by increased levies on imports. Most significant in this group was free trade England's formulation of the "Safeguarding of industries Act, providing as follows: "Subject to the provisions of this Act, there shall be charged, levied and paid on goods specified in the schedule of this Act, on the importation thereof into the United Kingdom, duties of customs equal to one-third of the value of the goods. . . . The value of any imported goods for the purposes of this Act shall be taken to be the price which an importer would give for the goods if the goods were delivered to him freight and insurance paid in bond at the port of importation, and duty shall be paid on that value as fixed by the Commissioners."

Labour Anxiously Concerned.

Mr. Wm. Rudkins, president of the Peterboro Trades and Labour Council, told the Examiner that, although he had not given close thought to the annullment of the Depreciated Currency Act, he intended to bring it up for discussion at an early meeting of the Trades Council. From press reports of debates on this amendment to the tariff, Mr. Rudkins said he had concluded that Labour should be deeply interested in this matter and should endeavour to inform itself as to what effects on Canadian industry might follow from this change.

If some manufacturers were anxious about it, Labour should also be concerned. Mr. Rudkins felt that the general references to this item in the budget would not be inspired by any political motive but solely to discover whether or not Canadian workers would be affected. They had a right to expect protection against unfair competition from Germany or any other foreign country which might under certain conditions of exchange secure an advantage over Canadian industries and their workers that might have serious consequences. Mr. Rudkins said that Labour was vitally interested in this question, and would welcome assurances that the objections and dangers that have been mentioned since the Fielding budget was announced will not be realized in this particular.

Western Clock Co. and Staff Do Not Want Free Trade With Germany

Only Industry of its Kind in the British Empire Would Be Endangered By Wide Open Competition With the Germans Under Present Economic Conditions.

The average skilled worker in Germany is paid about 7c per hour. Women are paid $2.45 per week or about 5c per hour, according to Government statistics.

> With the mark valued at 12c, the duty paid to this country was 3 and 6-10 cents (at 30% duty). to this country was 3 and 6-10 cents (at 30% duty). This was some help—not much, but a little. The new ruling will mean a further handicap, for the duty will be 30% of the value of the mark, which is one-third of one cent. Hence the duty will be nine-hundredths of one cent for the same mark.
> Nobody can deny that this means free trade with Germany for all practical purposes. The readers of this paper are quite able to judge for themselves whether we can compete with such business or not.

It is especially bad in our case, for aside from the U.S.A., where high rates of wages apply, Germany is our only competitor. There is no other factory in the British Empire producing low priced alarm clocks.

We can't see why Canada wants free trade with Germany. We know the employees of our factory do not want it.

J. H. VERNOR,
Superintendent, Western Clock Co
June, 5, 1922

In the foregoing letter, Mr. Vernor emphasizes the full import of the abolition of the Depreciated Currency Act. Citizens of Peterboro have not forgotten the facts pertaining to the progress of the Western Clock Company which were brought out a few months ago when the bylaw granting a fixed assessment on their new factory was under considerabion. The Company has made splendid progress since coming to t a city. They chose a local staff which they trained and developed, and they have provided continuous work and good wages. They have in brief won the respect and the sympathy of the citizens.

One of the reasons for undertaking the new factory was to improve their production methods, increase the shop efficiency with the object of reducing the cost of their products. Their local expansion and the larger markets the company hopes to secure have the full support of the people of this city who will share Mr. Vernor's apprehensions that German clock from the currency clause in the budget has an advantage which they will be quick to realize and grasp to the incalculable detriment of this industry and its employees.

Peterboro recalls the assurances which the Hon. Mr. Fielding gave to local audiences that interests of Peterboro workingmen and women were safe in the hands of the Government to which his record and personality won a high degree of confidence. They believed that their confidence was not misplaced, and few persons can imagine that the Hon. William Fielding would expose such an important industry as the Western Clock Company to free trade with Germany.

Yet Mr. J. H. Vernor, who quotes facts without a trace of recrimination, indicates that the withdrawal of the Depreciated Currency Act means free trade with Germany, and particularly significant because of the very calmness of his utterance is this sentence in his letter:—"The readers of this paper are quite able to judge for themselves whether we can compete with such business or not."

It is really incredible that the Hon. Mr. Fielding would have any intention of giving special trade concessions to Germany. The people of this city will reserve their judgment temporarily while the budget debate proceeds, but will certainly look for some early action by the Minister of Finance to prevent German dumping in this country.

Manufacturers Alarmed by what They Describe as "Free Trade With Germany" and "A German Not a British Preference" as a Result of Hon. Mr. Fielding's Discarding the "Depreciation of Currency Act."

In the chorus of general satisfaction that has greeted the budget introduced in Parliament by the Hon. William Fielding on May 23rd, a discordant note of criticism and alarm has been raised by manufacturers, merchants and others who regard with freely expressed fears the effects of the abolition of the Depreciation of Currency Act which Sir Henry Drayton, Minister of Finance in the Meighen Government adopted in 1921.

That this customs change, announced by Mr. Fielding, exposes Canadian industries to "cut throat" competition from Germany, where labor costs are at extremely low levels due to the financial troubles of the country, is the anxious belief here in Peterboro' of business leaders, who predict that unless the Government quickly substitutes some alternative for the Act he discarded, a number of local manufacturing concerns will be ruined, and their employees thrown out of work beyond any local relief or recovery.

THE PURPOSE OF THESE ARTICLES

Realizing that Labour and the public generally are vitally interested in matters of employment and industrial prosperity the Examiner endeavoured to obtain statements from local manufacturers that would help to explain to the man on the street the import and probable consequences of the Hon. Mr. Fielding's abrogation of the Depreciation of Currency Act.

This Act was devised to protect Canadian industry against unfair competition from countries whose standard currencies had fallen considerably below their par value. Briefly, it provided that in no case should depreciation of any foreign currency be recognized for customs purposes below 50 per cent. of its par value.

REGARDS IT A GERMAN PREFERENCE

"It looks like a German and not a British preference," was the remark of one manufacturer who refused to believe that Mr. Fielding would long permit this feature of his budget to remain a menace to Canadian industry and Labour.

Textile Industry Seriously Affected Says Head of Big Toronto Comp'y

A Manufacturer Sees Difficulties For All Branches of the Industry If Currency Act is Revoked — Suggests Sliding Scale of Customs Rates.

One of the leading textile manufacturers in Canada sees difficulties ahead for the textile trade if the Depreciated Currency Act is revoked. In an interview in Toronto with The Examiner, he said the main thing Germany had to sell was her labour. German and Canadian manufacturers of textiles purchase their raw material at exactly the same price. This is only the first cost. If wool is sold at twenty cents a pound to the Canadian manufacturer, it will be the same to the German manufacturer. Wool is purchased all over the world—London, Australia, etc. Once having purchased the raw material, Germany has a distinct advantage over the Canadian manufacturer. Taking the following figures as a supposition of the Act of manufacturing, the discrimination in favour of the German product will be apparent.

	Germany.	Canada.
Raw wool (per pound)	20	20
Yarn, per pound (labour)	1	12
Cloth, per pound (labour)	3	25
Dye, per pound of cloth (labour)	2	12
Overhead, per pound of cloth	2	5
	30	74

The cost of manufacturing one pound of raw wool to the Canadian manufacturing is 74 cents, while the cost to the German manufacturer is only 30 cents. It must be remembered that these figures are not accurate, but they serve to illustrate the claim made by many manufacturers that Germany is prepared to exploit her cheap labour in the markets of the world, including Canada, and the removal of the Depreciated Currency Act will be of material assistance to her. German labour gets seven dollars a week as compared with Candian labour at $25.00, $30.00, and $40.00, according to the trade.

WOULD HAVE WIDESPREAD EFFECT

He was of the opinion that the removal of the tax would have a very serious effect on the underwear business, and might eventually wipe it out of existence. The president of a Toronto textile company was also of the opinion that the Depreciated Currency Act, as introduced by Drayton, went to the other extreme. An article that might only be worth $3.50 in German marks might be taxed up to $36.00 under the Depreciated Currency Act, fixing the minimum depreciation of the German mark at one-half its par value, or 12 cents. This would make the importation of German goods prohibitive. A desirable tax should not be prohibitive or non-prohibitive to the Canadian manufacturer. We want Germany's trade, because there are many things that we cannot buy elsewhere.

PROPOSES SLIDING TAX

Asked to suggest a better plan, he commended a sliding scale based on the prevailing value of the German mark, using the following figures as an example:

If the German mark is worth	24c	make the duty	30%
" " " "	12c	" "	120%
" " " "	6c	" "	120%
" " " "	3c	" "	240%
" " " "	1c	" "	720%

A few weeks ago, Mr. W. S. Fielding, Finance Minister in the Cabinet, was asked why he did not form a scientific commission made up of representatives from each of the various industries who would be familiar with the individual requirements of each industry. Mr. Fielding replied that he did not favour Commissions, and he thought it was a problem for the Government to handle.

Might Close, Not Expand

Mr. L. A. Turner of Turner Brothers' cardboard factory, Sherbrook Street, said he had not scrutinized the probable effects of the currency clause in the budget, and was therefore not in a position to express an exact opinion of what advantage Germany might derive from it.

"Before the war we had considerable competition from Germany," he said. "They make photograph mounts and other cardboard products but our competition during the war and since, has been chiefly from the United States. We are now planning to enlarge our factory, but we would be seriously handicapped if we were in competition with the cheap labour of Germany."

Mr. Turner said that on casual consideration the rescinding of the Depreciated Currency Act appeared to be a grave matter to his company. He was going to Montreal this week and would make full enquiries as to opinion there regarding this question. He intimated that the company's plans for expansion might have to be scrapped if the fears of some manufacturers were realized and German traders obtained a material advantage from the new change in the currency regulations.

How Depressed Currency Aids German Industries and Would Ruin Canadian

Concrete Illustration From the Affairs of the Colonial Weaving Company—Gloomy Alternatives Unless the Government Provides Proper Protection.

The effect of depreciated currency on industrial and labour conditions is little understood wing to the complex questions that have to be solved and the calculations that have to be made by international Bankers and Traders.

If we, however, consider the question from the standpoint of barter, i.e. the basis upon which the North American Indian did business then the question becomes very simple.

A few figures are necessary to have a proper understnading of the present situation.

One third of a Canadian cent till now purchase a German mark which has a normal value of 23.8 cents.

$4.52½ in Canadian money will purchase a British pound Sterling which has a normal value of $4.86 2-3.

What is the effect of these startling figures on Canadian Industrry and labour?

The United States Tariff Commission on the 9th of Junuary, 1922, gives a key to the situation when it reports as follows:—

> "In May, 1921, the standard wage in Germany for factory workers was roughly 10 cents per hour in gold as compared with 20 cents to 25 cents in France, 30 cents to 40 cents in England and 50 cents to 75 cents in United States."

What effect will this depreciated currency and unequal labour conditions have upon the manufacture of corset trimmings by the Colonial Weaving Company Limited?

Before answering that question we have to further consider the fact that Canada imposes a duty of 35% on corset trimmings imported from Germany while she only imposes a duty of 25% on corset trimmings imported from Great Britain.

HOW DISADVANTAGE ARISES

This preferential tariff would seem to indicate an apparent advantage in favour of Great Britain, but in practice, existing conditions work out to the disadvantage of Great Britain and ourselves—Take this example, 15 cents in gold in Germany will purchase more labor in the manufacture of corset trimmings than 32 cents in gold in Great Britain or 50 cents in gold in Canada.

If you take $1000 worth of high grade cotton down to the Colonial Weaving Company and employ labour at 50 cents in gold, you will produce $3000.00 worth of corset trimmings, exclusive of overhead charges for non-productive labour and the use of machinery and plant.

If you take that same $1000 worth of cotton and transport it to Great Britain, and spend the same labour on it that is worth 32 cents in gold, everything else being equal, you will find that you will only expend in labour, $1300.00 in gold, which will make your total cost of corset trimmings in Great Britain $2300.00 and if you bring these corset trimmings back to Canada you will pay 25% in duty, amounting to $575.00 thereby making your corset trimmings manufactured in Great Britain and laid down in Canada only $2875.00.

If you take that same $1000.00 worth of cotton and transport it to Germany and spend the same labor on it which is there worth only 15 cents in gold as against our 50 cents in Canada, everything else being equal, you will find that you will only expend in labour $600.00 in gold which will make your total cost of the same corset trimmings made in Germany $1600.00 and if you bring these corset trimmings back from Germany to Canada you will pay 35% in duty amounting to $560.00 thereby making your corset trimmings manufactured in Germany and laid down in Canada only $2160.00 as compared with the total cost of $2875.00 in Great Britain or as compared with the total cost of $3000.00 in Canada.

For the purpose of making these comparisons I have in all cases excluded the cost of overhead charges in non-productive labour and for the use of plant because the cost of transportation in freight rates and extra duty is more than set-off by lower cost in non-productive labour, etc. in England and Germany.

From these figures therefore, it will be seen that the cost of corset trimmings in material and productive labour stand in the following proportions:—

Made in Germany and laid down in Canada	$2160.00
Made in Gt. Britain and laid down in Canada	$2875.00
Made in Canada by Canadian labour	$3000.00

These calculations are made upon a moderate basis and the benefit of the doubt is given to German labour for as a matter of fact, German labour works longer hours and lives on poorer food, and receives in gold or its equivalent, about one-third less in wages according to the United States Report, than I have used in making this illustration and hence her product costs less than I have indicated.

In proportion to the quantity of labour that is employed in any manufactured product as compared witu Canada or Great Britain, the low standard of living among the working people of Germany ensures to her advantage over us.

APPLIES TO EVERY KIND OF FOOD

The same observations that I have made relating to corset trimming, apply to every line of goods that Germany can export to Canada.

According to trade returns for the year immediately preceeding the war, Canada imported from Germany over 126 lines of manufactured goods including electric apparatus, machinery, boots and shoes, kuitted goods, carpets, mats and rugs, gloves and mitts, embroideries and cotton, and woollen fabrics of various kinds. The German mark was then selling at par, but now that a great industrial, financial and labour upheaval has taken place, and the standard of living in Germany has become so low, and the cost of manufacturing in Germany has become so low, there is bound to be an unprecedented inflow of German goods in Canada that will either cripple or swamp many of our industries.

If our 2 parliaments does not meet the situation it must be apparent that either one of two things must happen in Canada, many of our manufacturers must close down or else Canadian workmen will have to get down nearer to the low standard of living that prevails in Germany. No sane Canadian who understands the facts would want either of such results to happen.

The proper course for our Canadian Parliament to pursue is to impose a reasonable surtax upon German goods in addition to all other duties.

A surtax was imposed upon German goods entering Canada in 1903. It is ten times more needed to-day. Even Free Trade England in 1921 was compelled and is still compelled, to impose a surtax on German goods to protect her industries and to maintain a living wage for her working people.

Canada May Be Flooded With Electrical Goods Made by German Labor

Interview with High Executive of the Largest Electrical Manufacturers in the Dominion. Only the Apathy of Germans will Prevent Inflow of Their Goods under Present Situation.

TORONTO, June 10.—Only one thing can prevent a flood of German-made electrical goods from pouring into Canada. That one thing will be apathy on the part of the Teuton manufacturer. Such was the opinion expressed to-day by an executive of one of the largest electrical corporations in this country.

Hitherton the Canadian producer has been protected to some extent from unfair competition foreign by the customs regulation which required imports to pay duty on at least fifty per cent of their par value in Canadian funds, regardless of the extent to which currency might be depreciated in the country of origin. True, the German shipper has sometimes evaded this barrier in the past by consigning his goods to England or Holland and then having them rebilled from there. But in the case of electrical equipment, the amount which trickled into Canada through these devious channels was so small as to be almost negligible, according to The Examiner's informant.

Now, however, the abolition of the depreciated currency regulation enables imports to enter the country by paying duty merely on their value as computed at current rates of exchange. As a result, the customs "levee" has been so undermined that it only requires a slight push on the part of the German exporters to send a torrent of the previously dammed-up goods swirling over the whole country.

"Steel, iron, coal, copper and practically all the raw materials required in the manufacture of electrical equipment are produced in Germany and can be bought there more cheaply than we can get similar commodities here in Canada," said the executive in question.

"Then the wages of labour and costs of manufacture in Germany are a laughing matter when converted into terms of Canadian currency, since it now takes nearly three hundred marks to make a dollar. Add to this the fact that ocean freight-rates are very moderate at present, and you have nothing left to keep out the cheap German goods except the tariff.

"How much protection will that afford the Canadian manufacturer? Electrical goods come in under the general list at 27 per cent. Suppose I have ordered a piece of electrical equipment worth 16,000 marks from Germany. With the mark at par, the duty would have been estimated on about $4,000 and would have amounted roughly to $1,100. Under the old depreciated-currency regulation, it would have been calculated on 50 per cent of the par value and would have totalled $550. But to-day, with the mark worth about the third of a cent and with the customs duty computed on current exchange value, this 16,000 mark machine would pay a levy of only around $14.65.

"That is, the abolition of the depreciated-currency regulation would appear to have cut the duty from $550 to $14.64. Recall the fact that German costs of production are a mere fraction of ours and you will see that the German exporter can undersell the Canadian producer in our own market in any type of engineering machinery, equipment or supplies.

"The only reason of which I know or can conceive that would prevent the Germans from invading this country with their electrical products would be the inadaptability of the German model to the Canadian market. We have become used to certain types and forms of equipment and supplies which serve certain particular purposes. The European manufacturers have not travelled along the same lines. But if the Germans are prepared to develop and deliver the class of goods demanded by our market, then there is no reason why they couldn't undersell us and obtain a lot of our trade.

"That, of course," he proceeded, "would mean that many of our small companies would be forced to the wall while the larger ones would have a pretty stiff fight on their hands. Eventually, I suppose, things would right themselves. Possibly the situation would become so unbearable that the authorities at Ottawa would be forced to come to the rescue with a remedy.

"At the present time," he said in conclusion, "it it too early to attempt to forecast what will be the effect of the cancellation of the depreciated-currency regulation. For all we know so far, there may be ships on the ocean at this very minute bringing big consignments of electrical goods from Germany to Canada or then again, conditions may be such in Germany that it will not prove desirable or profitable for the manufacturers there to attempt to exploit the overseas markets even under the present highly favourable conditions. Time alone can show how this will work out."

From another source, your correspondent learned that no change in policy is contemplated at the Peterborough plant of the Canadian General Electric company in view of possible developments in the electrical import trade.

"Our intention is to go ahead in the future as in the past," said one high official of the company, "and to get all the business we possibly can for the Peterborough plant. We don't know as yet how this foreign import situation may affect us. But we are going ahead with business as usual."

Surtax on German Goods.

According to the interview with Mr. R. R. Hall, Liberal ex-M.P. for West Peterborough, more money would be collected in Customs Duties on British goods imported by Canada than would be collected on the same identical goods imported from Germany under the proposed Tariff.

Mr. Hall makes it plain that a surtax must be imposed on German goods if Canadian labour in our factories is to receive a living wage.

Increased revenue is urgently needed by Canada. Why not impose a surtax on German goods to increase our revenue instead of giving her a preference over Great Britain and our Allies?

The Canadian people want a real British preference, and not a German preference in disguise.

EXPECTS TO SEE CANADA PRODUCE 500,000,000 BBLS. OF OIL A YEAR, FOR IT IS THE HOME OF ARCTIC OIL

Ontario, Which Now Ranks so High in the Production of Gold Should Rank Equally High in the Production of Petroleum, Says Scientists—Great Supply of Natural Gas Under Kawartha Lakes—World's Oil Supply.

By CASPAR LEBLANC.

The Quest for Oil.

Few scientific discoveries in ancient or modern times have given rise to greater speculation and appealed to the love of the mysterious in the minds of every people than has the Arctic Oil River of North America.

From the days of Solomon to the middle of the last century the cry of every nation in the world was for gold. From the northern seas to the most barren islands in the Antarctic Ocean, willing prospectors searched for the precious, yellow metal, and the whole world treasured what to-day we consider of secondary importance. Oil today takes first place in the thoughts of every statesman the whole earth over. The war has taught us that a nation may be "gold-poor." Commerce is the elixer of a nation's life, and oil is the prime essential to the carrying of the goods of the hundred nations of the earth over the length and breadth of the seven seas.

What Is Oil?

Oil is composed of hydrogen and carbon, and when burned gives up enormous energy. It is the hydrogen in the oil which determines its value, for hydrogen has a wonderful affinity for sunlight and is greatly attracted by the sun itself. Last year the world produced 759,030,000 barrels of the precious fluid, but so many and varied are the uses for oil that the demand is even greater than the supply. Twenty-five years ago half of the whole world's supply of oil came from the wells situated on less than ten square miles of the shore of the Caspian Sea. Today there are few countries in the world which have not a number of very fine fields.

The Origin of Oil.

What is the source of oil? That indeed is one of Nature's secrets. Some scientists declare that it is produced by decaying forests which ages ago were buried far beneath the surface of the earth. Others uphold the theory that oil comes from great quantities of shells which by some strange and wholly unexplained means were dumped in certain localities the world over, ages and ages ago. That which we call petroleum is stated to be a sort of fish oil. A third theory is that petroleum is the result of natural chemical combination of the elements of which it is composed, much the same as water is the compound formed by the union of hydrogen and oxygen. The latter, to my mind, is the more reasonable theory, (though I do not agree with it in toto) for it would appear to be more in accord with the facts of Nature as observed to date. It does not seem to have been necessary to imagine buried forests and buried shells to account for the water of the earth, so why should it be for the oil? Science of late appears to be imbued with the thought that elements so called, instead of being separated from one another by vast differences in chemical and physical constitution, are in reality so closely inter-related that the differences observed between two elementary substances can be accounted for by a difference in electric energy. A chemical change may therefore yet be shown to be nothing more or less than the releasing or the absorption of energy. Petroleum may yet be shown to be water in a less highly charged form.

In Its Infancy.

Sixty years ago the oil industry began its adventurous career a few miles south of our Ontario border in the great Alleghany oil fields. A little over half a century ago the first oil well was drilled, expressly for the purpose of mining the precious fluid. The industry is still in its infancy, hence the reason why so little is actually known about the oil resources of the earth. At first it was imagined that the supply of oil in the earth was very limited indeed. You can easily see why. If you take it for granted that oil comes from buried forests and buried shells, you will not be long in arriving at the conclusion that the supply is very limited. But every year new oil fields are discovered, new regions are opened up. The production of 1921 exceeded the production of 1920 by 65,000,000 barrels.

Oil Follows the Sun.

The great oil fields of the earth are just north of the Equator. The reason is obvious. Oil, as I stated, like water, is heavily charged with hydrogen, and hydrogen has a tendency to follow the sun. The sun at the present time, and for some ages past, has been in the south, so it is quite natural that the oil and the water of the earth should be found in greater abundance there. You have only to look at a map of the world to see where the water is, and I would have you note in particular that while it is 25,000 miles around the earth at the Equator where the sun is almost vertically overhead, 20,000 miles of that distance is water and only about 5,000 miles is land.

Some ages ago the sun shone directly overhead at the Arctic Circle, and doubtless will again in the ages to come. Man's life and the life of the race compared with the time required for the sun to move appreciably is so short that it is impossible for us to detect the slightest difference in our seasons. To the tiny insect which altogether lives but a few hours, and during that brief period emerges from the egg possessed of a hundred legs, which lives as a worm upon a luscious leaf for half an hour and then goes to sleep in a silken jacket, only to awake after what to it must seem an eternity of years, (but what to us is only sixty minutes) clothed with beautiful wings and able to flit from flower to flower, would it before dying fifty minutes later know that the sun "moves" across the sky, sets in the evening, and at night darkness covers the earth? It could not know, and we can easily imagine insects with life history so short that in the experience of their "race" the sun was never known to move, or the earth to revolve upon its Axis a single degree. We do not know that the sun moves north from the Equator to the Arctic, then back to the Equator and south to the Antarctic, but we have good reason to believe it does. We shall never know from actual experience for the time which has elapsed since man began to make accurate astronomical observations is so short as to be of no assistance to us.

A Scientific Deduction.

But like the beautiful insect upon the leaf, we are left to frame our theories by having recourse to observation and deduction. If the insect found a dew-drop on the rose and were gifted with intellectual powers, it might conclude that the water-vapor could not have condensed there in the very neat of the sun. The sunlight must have been withdrawn for a considerable number of ages, according to its manner of reckoning, before so great a quantity of water-vapor could have gathered together in one place.

We know that Canada was once covered by a great mass of ice, (but not since the dawn of history) and like the insect, must conclude the sun was absent during that period. Since the great land masses of the earth are in the north and the great masses of water are in the south, we conclude that as water follows the sun the sun must a few ages ago have been in the far south. We have further evidence of the fact in the submerged continents of the Antarctic Ocean, and can easily arrive at the conclusion that when last the sun was north the water followed, and North America sank beneath the waves. The hydrogen in the water causes it to follow the sun.

The Oil of the Arctic.

But if the hydrogen of the water caused the water to follow the sun northward, would not the hydrogen in the oil cause the oil of the earth to come northward too? This it appears to have done, and ages ago beneath the floor of the Arctic there existed the greatest oil field in the world.

The sun, however, did not remain in the north. It came south on its never-ending journey, and the water and oil followed. Not all the water followed, as witness the Arctic Ocean, nor did all the oil follow. As the water went southward submerged North America began to rise above the waves in the vicinity of Hudson Bay, and in the course of time the whole coast line of Northern Canada along the Arctic seaboard had risen above the water. If you will look at a map of North America you will find a sort of pocket between Alaska and Greenland. Beneath this landlocked ocean great quantities of oil were trapped. An impervious wall of granite, the north shore of Canada, cut the oil off from the south.

Man's Wonderful Home.

The earth, however, like the stars in the heavens, is of immense antiquity. The age of the human race, as compared with the age of the earth, is as the age of the lily and the value in which it grows. The earth was made expressly for man, and throughout its entire depth of 8,000 miles it doubtless reveals the handiwork of its Creator, the same as any other organism better known to the scientific mind. Buried beneath our very feet lie wonders even more astounding than hydrogen and the light of the sun. The earth is an organism perfect in every detail as the body with which we are clothed, and its only function is to supply the necessities of life to man, the creature for whom it was created.

The Home of Oil.

The rivers which flow upon the surface of the earth today are not the only rivers which ever have flown from the snow-capped mountains to the sea. Ages ago rivers were flowing much the same as they are today. Limestone and other porous rock was forming in their beds all the way from the mountains to the ocean. Limestone rock is the natural home of oil.

The Arctic Oil River.

Where are the cities of ancient Babylon? Buried beneath the sands of the desert. Where is the limestone rock bottom of the rivers of that period when last North America rose above the waves? Buried beneath hundreds of feet of glacial debris—lost to the sight of man. When North America last rose above the receding waters of the ocean a great river flowed from the region of Fort Norman to the Gulf of Mexico. Its course can be traced to this day south through Alberta to Montana, thence east to Lake Huron. Here it apparently divided, one small stream going south to Lake Erie and thence to Pennsylvania, the other and larger cutting out by the Kawartha Lake system and thence south across what is now Lake Ontario to join with its sister river.

From Pennsylvania this great river bent westward toward Oklohoma and Kansas, thence south to Texas, Mexico and the gulf. Along its course were many beautiful lakes, each with floors of porous, spongelike sedimentary rock formation. The whole surface of the continent, owinf to subsequent upheavel and subsidance changed, the old river died a natural death, and during the course of the ages was almost completely filled in, so that the barest trace can now be found of its former course. But enough remains.

The U. S. Oil Fields.

Last year the United States produced 61 per cent. of all the oil of the world. Where are its oil fields located? Over the old subterranean lake bottoms of the Arctic-Mexico river. The oil, which through the ages had been trapped in the Arctic Ocean, broke through, it would appear, into the old river bottom of the Arctic-Mexico river. The porous bottom of that old river acted as a great continental wick or petroleum highway for the oil, and, in my opinion, that is where the United States is getting its enormous supply of oil today.

The Canadian Oil Fields.

The old river ran through Alberta and through Ontario. Beneath Lake Huron and Lake Ontario there is good reason to believe that great quantities of the finest petroleum lie at the present time, endeavoring to escape southward. The Province of Ontario itself is dotted with subterranean lakes of oil derived from the Arctic Ocean source, for as the oil followed the old river's course southward it naturally rose high and higher until the petroleum back up the old streams which once flowed into the prehistoric lakes.

The Gas and Oil Mains of Ontario.

The lakes of the old prehistoric river will alone yield oil in paying quantities, but the smaller streams which fed the greater lakes act as great gas mains throughout all Western and part of Eastern Ontario. That is why seepages of oil are found practically everywhere in Ontario, from Sarnia to Belleville. The gas supply in the region of the Kawartha Lakes is enormous. In the near future Ontario, which now stands so high in the production of gold, should rank equally high in the production of the finest petroleum in the world.

I yet expect to see Canada produce 500,000,000 barrels of oil per year, for Canada is at the head of the Arctic Oil River, the oil-wick of America, the home of the oil of the north.

CANADA LEADS THE WORLD IN EXPORTS.

Export Trade Per Head Larger Than Any Other Country's.

OTTAWA, June 10—Canada leads the world in volume of exports per head of population. Computations made by the department of trade and commerce show that Canada's exports now amount in value to $150 per capita as compared with $98 for the United Kingdom and $65 for the United States. In 1902, Canada was exporting products to the value of $28 per capita, as compared with $40 per capita for the United Kingdom and $15 per capita for the United States.

BERNE, Switzerland, June 10.—(Associated Press). — Two hundred and fifty miles of electric mountain railways in the Canton of Grison have recently been opened. These lines connect the resorts of St. Moritz and Pontresina with Davos and other points, including Coire, on the Rhine.

Switzerland has now a total of 1,500 miles of electric railways many of which have been transformed from steam railways.

A CHEQUE ARTIST AT CAMPBELLFORD

Cashed Worthless Paper Drawn on B. of M., Norwood.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 10.—On Thursday a car pulled up to the front of the men's furnishing establishment of Mr. Herb. Leonard on Front street. A man and two young ladies alighted and entered the store.

The man asked to see some suits of clothes and finally found a suit to his liking, valued at $30. He told Mr. Leonard that he had not sufficient cash with him to pay for the suit, but he would give him a cheque he had drawn on the Bank of Montreal in Norwood, in his favour. He endorsed the cheque with the name of S. J. Burnette. The amount of the cheque was $43.00. Mr. Leonard took the cheque and gave him the balance in cash. Some time later Mr. Leonard, while making inquiries, discovered that there was no branch of the Bank of Montreal in Norwood. He tried to locate the man with the car, but he was nowhere to be found. Chief Duncalfe was notified and he at once communicated with the police in the surrounding towns and villages. As yet no word of the cheque artist and his fair companions has been received.

An Improvement.

A railing is being erected on the wall along the west side of the river, north of the bridge. This will be greatly appreciated as many people will undoubtedly travel the river wall to get to the tent in which Mr. Alexander Torrie of Toronto, will hold his evangelistic meetings. The first meeting will be held at 11 a.m. on Sunday, June 11th.

FORMER EXAMINER MAN MAKES GOOD

M. J. Hutchinson Joins Maclean Publications.

After managing the Canadian National Newspapers and Periodicals Association since December, 1920, M. J. Hutchinson has resigned from that body to become director of advertising for the Hugh C. MacLean Publications, Toronto.

Mr. Hutchinson has had a wide, varied and successful career as a newspaper man, commencing work with the Bowmanville Statesman, going later to the Peterborough Examiner, under the ownership of the late Hon. J. R. Stratton, as city editor. In 1907 he became editor of the Dry Goods Review, and later manager of that publication for the MacLean Publishing Company. Following this trade paper experience he established Ready-to Wear for the Acton Publishing Co., Toronto, and having managed this publication for a year left Eastern Canada to become advertising manager of the Regina Leader. In 1915 he was appointed business manager of the Edmonton Bulletin, and for nearly five years was instrumental in greatly increasing the revenue of that paper. During his sojourn in Edmonton Mr. Hutchinson was prominent in various civic and social activities, being on the council of the Board of Trade for three years, and becoming District Governor of the Rotary Clubs of all Western Canada comprised in Rotary District 19.

Mr. Hutchinson's work as manager of the C.N.N. and P.A. has been of much value to the association and he takes with him the best wishes of the directors who took occasion at a recent meeting to pass a hearty resoluton of appreciation of his services.

CHICAGO, June 10. Canadian Press. — Chicago batted the New York pitchers hard yesterday, driving 3 of them out of the box and won the final game of the series 10 to 6. The game was featured by extra base hitting. Bob Meusel knocked out his fifth home run of the season, and Ruth also polled his fifth. Ruths drive cleared the screen in centre field, the first time this ever was done. Catcher Schang hurt his leg in sliding into first base early in the game and Devormer ran for him by agreement. Schang assumed his position behind the plate. Later Devormer went in as catcher. The clubs made a total of 27 hits, which were good for bases. Score:

NATIONAL LEAGUE PRESIDENT DIES

Cleveland - Washington Game Postponed in Honour of the Late James C. Dunn.

CLEVELAND, O., June 10.— Canadian Press.— All Cleveland baseball fans last night were mourning the death of James C. Dunn, President of the Cleveland Baseball Club, who, because of his disposition had won the appellation of "Sunny Jim."

Upon receipt of the news of his death at Chicago yesterday's game between Cleveland and Washington was postponed and Mayor Fred Kohler ordered the flag on City Hall flown at half mast.

It is believed here that Mrs. Dunn, widow of the dead man, will maintain her financial interest in the baseball club. Should she decide to do this she will be the first woman club owner in the American League.

In this event it is believed that Tris Speaker, manager of the Indians, or Tom Walsh of Davenport, Iowa, Vice-President will be named President of the Club.

EXHIBITION GAMES.

LONDON, June 10.—The Australian Davis Cup team Thursday afternoon played exhibition doubles at the North London Club. Patterson and Werthe unexpectedy defeated Anderson and O'Hara Wood, 5-7, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

Observers stated that Patterson had not improved his back-handed playing. To some of them he seemed more erratic than in 1919, and Anderson showed similar inaccuracy with balls to his left hand side.

AS HE ONCE LOOKED

JOE McGINNITY IN THE GIANTS' UNIFORM

How many men of 49 could step out on the mound and pitch nine full innings of baseball in a professional league, even though only a minor one?

And how many could perform this stunt and win?

Not many, in answer to the first question.

In answer to the second—Joe McGinnity, at any rate.

Once Joe was known as the Iron Man of the New York Giants. Now he's manager and owner of the Danville Club of the Three-Eye League.

Finding his pitching staff shot to pieces, he undertook the twirling himself, and for seven innings held his opponents scoreless. In the eighth he weakened, allowing three runs, two of which were earned. In the ninth he tightened up again and prevented further scoring. Danville won, 5 to 3.

Joe struck out three men during this performance, hit one, and issued one pass, pretty fair for a man of 49.

McGinnity started ball playing at Rock Island, Ill., his native town, at the age of 15. He has lived an athlete's life ever since. Famed though he was, in his days in the big leagues, for his ability to pitch and win double headers, the strain never told on Joe's arm, as his present ability proves. Irregular living, not work, he holds, sends men to the scrap heap. Nobody ever took better care of himself than Joe.

WILSON WILLING TO MEET HARRY GREB.

BOSTON, June 10.— (Canadian Press)—Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion, is ready and willing to meet Harry Greb in New York or anywhere else at any time if Greb will agree to make 158 pounds at the ringside, according to Marty Killiles, Wilson's manager. This statement was in answer to the recent ruling of the New York Boxing Commission that it would declare the champion's title forfeited if he did not fulfill his agreement to meet Greb. Killiles contended that Wilson should not be forced to meet a light-heavyweight.

BABE RUTH HAS GIVEN UP HOPE OF NEW RECORD

Says He Will Beat Both Williams and Hornsby in Spite of Handicap.

WILL TOP THE LIST.

CHICAGO, June 10.—(Canadian Press)—Babe Ruth has given up all hope of passing his last year's home run mark of 59, he said here Thursday.

He is confident, however, that he will catch up with Ken. Williams of the St. Louis Browns and Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Cardinals and lead both major leagues in four-base drives.

Heretofore Ruth had insisted that despite his six week's suspension he might reach the sixty mark.

"I can't pass last year's mark—I haven't even a chance to equal it" he said. "But I'm going to lead both leagues, whether it takes twenty or forty to do it. Next year—well, we'll see."

A few minutes after Babe had made this statement, he knocked his fourth homer of the season with Charley Robertson, the White Sox no-hit pitcher, hurling against him.

GIRLS' GAMES.

Lessons in Golf

The aim, in the golf drive is from the top of the upward swing of the driver The club pauses for an instant at the top of the swing—and from this point the ball is hit and snapped away. Do not prolong the pause at the top of the swing. The beginning of the down stroke is called the take-off, that you are going to hit the ball. Then go at it easily, with rythm, letting the clubhead gain speed as it comes down. The important part of the driving swing is the back stroke. Players should practice the "slow back" principle. The "slow back" pays big dividends in the end. There is one right way for everything, and the "slow back" is the right way for the golf swing. And, above all, keep saying "relaxation" to yourself. Relaxation means looseness in the wrists, leads to rhythm and gives more slap to the clubhead when it snaps away the ball.

In the picture today you see a perfect driving finish by one of America's fine golfers, John Duncan Dunn, profesional of California. Note that Dunn's head, near the finish of his drive, is still on a line with the spot where ball was teed. The left leg has stiffened, the clubhead has followed, and the ball, you can see, has gone far and straight.

JUST A COUPLE MORE RECORDS TY YEARNS FOR

He Still Covets the Home Run Title and the .300 Batting Honor.

IS SLIPPING.

Ty Cobb holds a score or more records in the American League.

The name Cobb is everywhere in the list of notable major league feats, yet Cobb isnt quite satisfied.

True, Cobb is slipping. No athlete could travel the gait that he has and not show the effects. The remarkable thing about him is that he has stood the pace so long, before the slowing up process started in.

Cobb no longer goes down to first with the old-time speed. He no longer takes the wild chances on the bases that was once a part of his daily routine.

Father Time has cut in on Cobb. He has called a slight halt at least.

A persual of the American League records show that Cobb holds about every coveted honour. There are two major league exceptions, the home-run title and the consecutive .300 batting record.

Babe Ruth probably has monopolized the home-run honors for all time. His mark of 59 homers is going to stand for many a year, unless he breaks it himself. It is a record that seems entirely beyond Cobb's possibilities, despite his acknowledged greatness.

The other hopes of Cobb is shooting at and hopes eventually to hit is the record for the consecutive .300 batting record.

That honor is now held by Honus Wagner, with 17 consecutive years in which he has hit .300 or better. Cobb is a close second, with 16 years. The way he is going this year maeks it almost a certainity that Wagner will be forced to share the title.

In 1923 Cobb says he will break it.

WILL CANADA STAY WHITE

of an alien getting justice in Japanese courts, Mr. Stevens declared that our treatment of internationals from Oriental lands should be based on their treatment of ours in their country. An Englishman might procure a judgment favorable to his cause in a Japanese court, but it was next to impossible for him to get an execution of it, and leasehold of land under their regulations was a worthless thing, because of impediments placed in the way of improvements thereon.

The Drug Evil.

Going on to the consideration of the spread of the drug evil, in relation to the question of Oriental immigration, Mr. Stevens said: "One of the tragedies of modern civilization is the insidious increase in nearly every country of the world of the use of narcotic drugs." Its effects on men, women and minors were described in moving terms: "It will take the most chaste of womanhood and reduce her to the lowest degradation within a few months, it will turn a mother from her babe, and change a man in the prime of his strength to a mere bunch of skin and bones, who will be a thief, a deceiver and a wrecker. It will absolutely undermine and disintegrate human character."

Quoting from figures compiled by the Dominion Police in every province in Canada, figures which were borne out by statistics from local and Provincial officials, Mr. Stevens gave the record of one year's convictions for illicit dealing in drugs, "for the drug trafficker, the most damnable character we have in the community to-day, the man, who for gain, while he is often a non-user of the drug himself, will scheme and connive for the debauchery and fall of girls, women and men," British Columbia's total in this regard was given as 315, with 300 Chinamen convicted; Alberta 91, Chinamen 59; Saskatchewan 88, of whom 73 were Chinamen; Ontario 66, and 52 Chinamen; Quebec 237, Chinamen 133; New Brunswick 14, with 9 Chinamen; Nova Scotia 9, and 8 Chinamen, a total of 835 convictions, of whom 634 were Chinese traffickers. Two illustrations were given, from an inquiry into hundreds of individual cases, carried on in Vancouver by a committee of prominent citizens, including members of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs. One dealt with the case of a girl of sixteen, who, within three months after taking her first doze of the drug, had descended to the lowest depths of degradation. The method employed for inducing the habit was described as a gathering of dope addicts at a social evening, when the secondary quality cocaine, the mild form known as "snow," was distributed amongst the guests. The second case was that of a lady Sunday school teacher whose final condition was even worse than the first-mentioned case. Some three thousand cases were under investigation in Vancouver by this committee; "hundreds of whom were children from our best families. Seventy per cent. of the addicts in the United States are under twenty-five years of age, and most of them under twenty years of age, many who were the brighest young people in the community." The profits are enormous from the traffic, declared the speaker, who said that a big ring of dealers was in existence, of whose power the police authorities were fully aware, but whom, up to the present, they seemed powerless to apprehend. "You will say that one of the sources of the drug is in India," Mr. Stevens remarked, going on to say that the Canadian Government had taken up this question with Imperial authorities, to discover if it could be dealt with at its source.

A hearty vote of thanks to Hon. Mr. Stevens was moved by the Rev. Jas. Rollins, seconded by Rev. F. E. Malott, and supported by Rt. Rev. Mons. McColl and Rev. J. R. Webb, and unanimously voted on by the members, who also expressed their sincere appreciation of the efforts of Mr. G. N. Gordon in bringing Mr. Stevens to this city to address the Kiwanians on a subject in which they are especially interested.

Mr. Gordon's Guests.

Guests of Mr. G. N. Gordon, M.P., at last night's banquet were: Rt. Rev. Monsignor McColl, Rev. Jas. Rollins, Rev. G. E. Ross, Rev. J. R. Webb, Rev. F. E. Malott, Rev. W. E. Morrow, Rev. R. M. Fraser, Gilmour Church, Rev. R. B. Grobbe, Rev. P. H. Neville, Rev. S. Crufkshanks, Rev. Harold W. Young, Rev. J. F. Chapman, and Adjt. W. Bunton. Guests of the club last night also included Rotarian R. Denne, F. Jarrett, Toronto, F. Mather, C. Cook, H. Rush, Wm. Allan, S. R. Armstrong, Ald. Jas. Hamilton, Jas. Henderson, Sr.

Frank Whitehouse occupied the chair last evening with his customary cheerful efficiency, and Charles Lacheur was booster for the evening, introduced in a humorous speech by C. S. Cummer. Last night's fortunate winners in the lucky number series were Walter Stocker, Wilfred Lawson and Lloyd Hamilton.

"MY OLD KENTUCKY HOME" NAMED FOR FAMOUS BALLAD TO BE SHOWN HERE MONDAY

"My Old Kentcuky Home" an original story by Anthony Paul Kelly, who wrote the continuity of "Way Down East" named after the famous ballad and directed by Ray C. Smallwood, will have its initial presentation here at the Capitol Theatre starting Monday.

"My Old Kentucky Home" is a story of the south, of mother love, with a beautiful human romance running through it. It has thrills aplenty and has tremendous action, especially in the racing scenes. It has been compared to "Way Down East" for its wholesomeness and is making motion picture history throughout the land.

A splendid all-star cast is seen headed by Monte Blue, one of the country's favorite screen actors. Others are Sigrid Holmquist, Julia Swayne Gordon, Lucy Fox, Frank Currier, Matthew Betz and Arthur Carew. The scenes are lavish and well photographed. The big melodramatic punch, the Kentucky Derby where is seen the running of that annual classic event and the winning of the race by a horse on which a proud Southern widow has staked her all for her boy are remarkable. They were taken at the race-track at Lexington.

The story has to do with a young man who has been railroaded to prison and when released fears to go home for breaking his mother's heart. He hears the strains of "My Old Kentucky Home' resolves to go home. How he lives in fear of being exposed, how a villian tried to wreck his life and take his sweetheart from him and how he wins in the end is unfolded in a great big human way.

AT THE REGENT.

Many of our readers are possibly not aware that the REGENT Theatre on Hunter street, "just round the corner," is under new management, Mr. Ambrose Edwards, who opened and successfully conducted Peterborough's first moving picture house, has retired from the film exchange business and returned to his first love, the actual presentation and selection of pictures at the Regent From years experience in the film exchange business Mr. Edwards is fully in touch with all the exchanges and is enabled to secure the best productions on advantageous terms. For Monday the Regent's main feature is entitled "The Magic Cup," with Constance Binney in the leading role of Mary Malloy, the role which has made her famous. This is the story of a modern Cinderella and a cub reporter who "doubled" as fairy Godmother and Prince charming. The story is artistically presented, with a stirring plot that plays stirring chords of emotion on the heart strings of an audience. Mary Malloy is an humble maid in New York hotel. Her most treasured and only valuable possession is an antique silver flagon that had come down to Mary from her once aristocratic Irish ancesters. Sometimes when hard pressed for cash Mary pawns the old family relic. Some clever crooks, whose specialty is fake jewels, recognize the crest engraven on this pawned goblet and introduce one of their member to Mary as a long lost relative. As they know her family history Mary is fooled and makes friends with the crook. They use her as a decoy in furthering their nefarious designs, the girl not suspecting their plot. A bright newspaper reporter discovers their plot, warns Mary, falls in love with her and finally proposes a nearer and dearer life partnership. A strong plot beautifully told. Then there are other pictures all first run and specially selected by Mr. Edwards for Monday. A grand programme presented in the coolest place in Peterborough. Good music and a splendid soprano song with appropriate slides.

BONNIE TAKES A MIDNIGHT STROLL—DRESSED IN MY SUIT AND HAT

CHAPTER LX

Our motor tour of New England was like that of thousands of autoists.

Our party a exactly as Mr. Tearle had outlined it: Mary and Andy Smith, Bart and Bonny, Jeanne, Jack and I. All the men liked to drive, so we had but one chauffeur, a man qualified to look after the cars.

One of the cars was the new "Tyrone" Mr. Tearle had promised to give me if his little plot succeeded. It was a marvelous car. I used to ride along proudly pretending I owned it.

All the time I knew positively it was no use to tell Jack about my dream. He'd never let me accept it

All went well at the start. Even my tweed suit was smarter than Bonny's. She knew it, and loved it as well as my close hat of Paisley crepe. It was stunning, and awfully expensive, but not as becoming to me as to Bonny.

That girl had the school girl hobby for "swapping dresses.' And her pet habit made serious trouble for me the first time we stopped at a hotel. .....

Because here was a jam of tourists we girls had two rooms, while our men were obliged to bunk in one room. We retired early to be ready for a fair start the following morning.

Bonny of course had to try on new new suit. It fitted her perfectly. Then she donned my Paisley hat and without a word of explanation stalked out of the room.

I felt desparately cross because I was lonesome. It was my first night apart from Jack since our marriage, and I hoped he was as lonely as I.

Beginning to undress, I discovered my precious pearl beads had disappeared. I knew I had put them on in the morning.

I tried to phone Jack to go down to the garage to see if I had left them in the car, but the men were not in their room. Smoking, I concluded.

Then I called the garage but our chauffeur was not there. So I slipped into Bonny clothes, ran to the garage myself, and discovered my necklace in the pocket of a door.

I was rather ashamed of losing and breaking the silly beads so often So I did not refer to them when Bonny came into the room an hour later. .....

She had been walking in the moonlight with Bart, she explained. The moonlight—it was the most wonderful she had ever seen, she averred. She smiled happily and I smiled ino my pillow. Plainly her father's plan was working without a hitch!

Bonny threw my things in a heap on a chair and I had to get up and take care of them after she had fallen asleep.

GRESCENTS WIN FROM RIVERSIDES

Close Game Ended 5-4 —Fine Brand of Lacrosse

Lacrosse got a great boost in last night's senior city league game at King Edward Park between the Riversides of Ashburnham, and the South End Crescents, in which the latter boys won out by 5 goals to 4. The crowd was easily the largest of the series so far. In point of attendance there has been a marked improvement and at the same time the calibre of lacrosse has more than kept pace with the public's reviving interest in the game. It was as clean as the most exacting sportsmanship could expect, and at the same time was fast with lots of passing. McDonald of Riversides ran wild on the Crescents in the opening phases of the game, and hung up a string of three goals before the Crescents got started. After that they watched the little inside home man from across the river, and in the meantime Crescents broke into the scoring column. Ranger and Killoram were exceptionally effective for the Crescents. Ranger looked like the best man on the field, playing a hard, tireless game on both the home and outer defense. Jack Killoran got most of the goals. R. M. Glover was referee and Bert Todd judge of the play.

For Monday night's game Athletics meet the Strathconas at the Oval.

THE DROWNING ROY CHERRETT

Her mother-in-law spent most of the day downstairs.
"After supper Mrs. Cherrett went to lie down", witness continued. "Roy and I washed the dishes together. Afterwards he went out on the back verandah. About 8 o'clock Roy looked at his watch and said he was going with his mother to Galbraith's. She got up and Roy said I had better go to bed Roy said at supper that his mother was going to Galbraith's. I went up to bed shortly after".
Mr. Strickland —Did you see your mother-in-law after that?
Mrs. Cherrett — "No. The last time I saw her was when I started to go upstairs. She called me back to kiss me.
Was there anything unusual about that?—She hadn't made a practice of it.
What did she say?—She put her arms around me and kissed me and said good night.
Did anything strike you as unusual in what she did?—No.
Continuing witness said Roy had asker her if she minded his going out. Once he said he wasn't sure his mother would go as she wasn't feeling well. "He came up and got a street car ticket. He didn't want his mother to walk that far.
Mr. Strickland—You know where the body was found?—Yes.
Can you account for it being in that direction and not in the north of the city?—No, only we heard Mrs. Cherrett had a friend who lived in the south end.
Who was that? A Mrs. Evans. She lived next door when Mrs. Cherrett was on Water street.
You just heard they lived in the south end?—Yes.
Was your husband in good health?—He was troubled with his nerves.
He was worried was he?—Yes.
Was he irritable, jumpy, nervous?—Yes.
Was there any little family jar at all?— I heard his mother telling a friend about Roy's money matters. I told him on Saturday but we didn't quarrel.
What did she say? —She said she didn't know how Roy would get along there were so many bills to pay. She seemed to worry more than he did.
Was he put out at what his mother said? He said it wasn't a very nice thing to do, but he wasn't angry at all.
When did the nervousness come on him?—A few days before I went to the hospital.
Did the fact that you were in the hospital worry him?—Yes.
He was naturally upset?—Yes.
Did he consult a doctor about himself?—Yes, the doctor gave him medical treatment before he treated me.

Appeared Brighter

Mr. O'Brien —On Sunday afternoon was Roy down cast or depressed?—No; he was brighter than he had been.
You said his mother worried over money matters; did that seem to weigh upon Roy?—When I first went to the hospital he was but after that he thought he could get along all right. He told my sister he thought he saw a way to get along.
After is death were there any pay checks found in the house?—Yes, there were two from the C.G.E.
Were they uncashed?—Yes.
Did he have a bank account?—Yes, a small one.
Then there were no pressing financial troubles?—No.
Was there any hostility between you and his mother?—No.

for the sick and afflicted, and naturally enough those people who have been benefited by Chiropractic Spinal Adjustments become staunch advocates of this great health method. We, as Chiropractors, believe that disease is simply an abnormal expression of one or more of the nine primary physical functions. Chiropractic teaches that according to the dictates of an INNATE INTELLIGENCE (inborn intelligent force) which is resident within the brain. This intelligence controlls the body by means of impulses sent over the nerves to the various tissue cells. Any interference with the transmission of these impulses will cause an abnormal expression of function. All parts of the body are supplied directly or indirectly by nerves which emit between the bones of the spine. Any derangement of the spinal segments will cause pressure upon nerves and this will result in abnormal functioning of the tissues supplied by the impinged nerves.

The Body Functions

COULD HANDLE RAIL STRIKES ON THIS SIDE

Additional Wage Cuts Threaten a Large Body of Men—Labor Conference.

THE "OPEN SHOP"

CHICAGO, June 12 (Canadian Press). — With additional wage cuts threatening $40,000,000 further pay cuts to three hundred and fifty thousand more railway employees, it was rumoured to-day that any rail strike growing out of pay decrease decisions might be directed and financed from Canada to evade the decision of the United States Supreme Court holding unions liable for damage caused by their memoers.

Union leaders view the establishment of Canadian headquarters as legitimate, because the unions are international organisations.

Financial penalties in the case of a walk-out would thus be avoided.

New wage reductions order is expected to increase the total cut from railway workers wages to about $150,000,000 yearly.

THE DEATH TOLL MOUNTING HIGHER

NEW YORK, June 12.—The death toll of the brief, but terrific storm that swept down on the Metropolitan area yesterday passed the sixty mark to-day, with indications that the total of dead might go much higher.

Police reported this morning that the list of known dead had not been augmented.

INDIANS WANT DOMINION PARK

Three Hundred Indians Said to Be on the Way to Take Possession at Pointe Pelee.

LEAMINGTON, June 12.—(Special.)— Investigation of the report that three hundred Petawakia Indians from Alvinston and Walpole Island are coming on Tuesday to invade the Government Park at Pointe Pelee shows their claim is based on a deed to three hundred acres of the land which the Indians declare they have in their possession. Authorities at the park, however state they will recognize no such claim, and will resist any attempt of the Indians to take up residence there. To weeks ago a man named Williams, who claimed to be acting under the authority of a Mr. Greenshields, alleged to be general secretary for Indians, came to the Government Park on Pointe Pelee near Leamington and there showed the authoritics a document purported to be a deed to the entire Pointe Pelee and three hundred acres of land in the township of Anderson, which is in the north-west portion of Essex county. He served notice on the government authorities that on June 13th and 14th that an organized band of three hundred Indians would lay claim and seize the lands aforesaid mentioned, pitch their tents and use any timber or other material that they should desire, and this in defiance of all law and Government whatsoever. The park authorities it is understood, have made a full report to the Government at Ottawa, and have advocated the use of armed force to prevent the seizure.

Two families of foreign Indians are now already on the the Pointe and have come from Alvinston, and they claim the main body from Walpole Island will shortly arrive.

It will be recalled that Pointe Pelee has been set aside by the Government as a park and bird sanctuary. It has been visited by noted ornithologists and it has been stated that more varieties of birds can be found there than any other place in North America. For many years past it has been known here that the Indians claimed this and it is said that they believed that the present Government was in sympathy with their claims.

At the present writing the Government have no forces here to cope with Indians in formidable number other than the German field gun which Mr. Graham presented to the G.W.V.A. here. There is no heavy artillery in town. A crisis appears to be on the horizon, and if the lions see the light of day a sanguinary struggle for the maintenance of law and order may have to be waged upon Pointe Pelee.

She also fond that Canadian apples were looked upon with great favor in England and taht the apples received from Nova Scotia, Ontario, nd British Columbia. Cop in B.V.D's Chases Burglar Suspect While Landlord Pursues, Waving Trousers

NEW YORK, June 12.—A crowded court-room tittered cruelly in the Coney Island Court as Detective Lau of Inspector Sackett's staff preferred a charge of vagrancy against Ernest Moore, of 2,271 West First Street, Gravesend.

Lau lives at 270 Avenue W., Sheepshead Bay. Under him, in a two-family house, lives his landlord, Thomas Cearra. About 3 o'clock in the morning Lau was aroused from his slumbers by a rapping on the ceiling and his landlord yelling "Burglars!"

Lau answered the call to duty, clad only in his revolver and B. V. D.'s. He dashed into the yard in time to see a form disappearing up the street. He yelled, and the form only put on more speed, while neighbors' windows went up. Then he fired a couple of shots in the air, gaining thereby greater publicity and more speed on the part of the fugitive. The detective started to give chase, while some one was telephoning the Sheepshead Bay Station that a crazy ghost was shooting up the street.

In the meantime, being deeply shocked at the undressed condition of the majesty of the law, Cearra gathered up a pair of trousers and shoes belonging to Lau and started to deliver them, albeit he himself was no more substantially clothed than his tenant.

For three blocks Lau in his B. V. D.'s pursued Moore, and was in turn pursued by the scantily clad Cearra, waving Lau's trousers and shoes.

Lau admitted to Magistrate Liota in court that he was about to quit from sore feet when Moore gave up.

Moore, he said, was unable to give a satisfactory account of himself and was held in $500 bail for examination.

FAIR WAGES POLICY OF THE GOVERNMENT

Order-in-Council Relating Thereto Approved By His Excellency the Governor-General, June 7, 1922.

Through Mr. G. N. Gordon, Federal members for West Peterborough and Deputy-Speaker in the Dominion House of Commons, the Examiner is in receipt of an order in-council relating to the "Fair Wages Policy of the Canadian government and which policy is now in effect.

This policy is based on a resolution adopted by Commons in March 1900 as follows:

"That it be resolved, that all Government contracts should contain such conditions as will prevent abuses, which may arise from the sub-letting of such contracts, and that every effort should be made to secure the payment of such contracts, and that every effort shold be made to secure the payment of such wages as are generally accepted as current in each trade for competent workmen in the district where the work is carried out and that this House cordially concurs in such policy, and deems it the duty of the Government to take immediate steps to give effect thereto.

"It is hereby declared that the work to which the foregoing policy shall apply includes not only work undertaken by the Government itself, but also all works aided by grant of Dominion public funds".

In conformity with the above resolution the books containing a record of wages paid by contractors on government work are now to be open for inspection by Fair Wage Officers at any time.

And conditions have been inserted in Government forms of contract requiring the observance of current wage rates and providing that in the event of any dispute arising as to what constituted the current rates of wages the same should be determined by the Minister of Labour whose decision should be final.

Wages Schedules

In the case of all government contracts the department of Labour shall thereupon prepare and furnish to Department concerned schedules setting forth the rates of wages generally accepted as current for competent workmen of the various classes required in the district in which the work is to be performed or if there be no current rates in the district, then fair and reasonable rates the same to be recognized as the minimum rates of wages payable to the various classes of work men employed; and also settigg forth the hours of labour fixed by the custom of the trade in the district or if there be no such custom then fair and reasonable hours, the same to be recognized as the maximum hours during which the several classes of workmen employed shall be required to work, except for the protection of life or property or on due cause shown to the satisfaction of the Minister of Labour.

Minister to Decide

It is also provided that in the event of any dispute arising as to wages or hours to be observed under the Fair Wages Schedule or as to the wages and hours of any class of labour not covered by the Fair Wages Schedule, the same shall be determined by the Minister of Labour whose decision shall be final; payment may also be withheld of any moneys which would otherwise be payable to the Contractor until the Minister of Labour's decision has been complied with.

the term "hours of labour fixed by the custom of trade" in the foregoing are meant respectively the standard rates of wages and hours of labour either recognized by signed agreements.

Canadian Workmen

All workmen employed upon the work comprehended in and to be executed pursuant to a government contract shall be residents of Canada, unless the Minister is of opinion that Canadian labour is not available or that other special circumstances exist which render it contrary to the public interest to enforce this provision.

To Avoid Abuses

A precautionary clause in this order-in-council to be highly commended is the following:

With a view to the avoidance of

CHAUTAUQUA TO VISIT PETERBORO

Good Programme Promised for Season of July 4th to July 10th.

From July 4th to July 10th are the dates assigned this year for the appearance in Peterborough of the Dominion Chautauqua programme. In the six-day event, there will be eleven double programmes, covering the afternoons and evenings of the six days, with the exception of the fifth day, when a comedy success, "Her Own Money," will be presented in the evening, and no programme in the afternoon.

The lecture features this year are described as being of especial interest. Hon. Philip Witwell Wilson, former member of the British Parliament, and now New York correspondent to the London Daily News, is announced for an address on conditions throughout the Empire. Recently, Mr. Wilson addressed the Empire Clubs at Montreal and Toronto, and is reputed to be an excellent and interesting speaker.

Mr. John Duxbury, said to be England's' greatest elocutionist, will present a miscellaneous programme of readings; Dr. George W. Kerby, born in Ontario, and now president of Mount Royal College, Calgary, will visit his home Province and speak on "The Tasks of a Nation"; Mr. Tom Skeyhill, the Australian soldier-poet, orator, author and world-traveller, returns to Ontario with a new lecture dealing with conditions in Europe, with special reference to Russia, from which country he lately returned.

In addition to the play-feature already mentioned, to be provided by the well-known English actor-manager, Mr. Percival Vivian, there is more than the usual variety of musical and entertaining features. The Ferguson Operatic Quintette will present the most interesting scenes from several comic operas like "The Mikado" and "Princess Pat"; Mr. Herbert McFarren, the London pianist, brings his instrumental quartette in two high-class concert programmes, in the evening, supporting the well-known New York opera and concert singer, Miss Hazel Huntington, who starred last season in the William Wade Hinshaw production of the English version of Mozart's opera comique, "The Impressario"; Mr. Gabriel Hines, composer-pianist, lectures on music and illustrates his points with selections at the piano—an unusual and very attractive feature, and from sunny California comes its best-known singing male quartette, the Embers Male Quartette, assisted by Mrs. Elizabeth Spencer Rand, pianist.

Junior Chautauqua will be held every morning at nine o'clock, and on the afternoon of the last day the Juniors will present a pageant specially written for Chautauqua, called "The Conquests of Peace." This will be under the direction of the Junior Leader.

Miss Margaret Quinlan was the advance agent for the Dominion Chautauqua this year. The committee who have charge of arrangements this year is composed of: Messrs. G. A. Gillespie, D. R. Wren, C. G. Graham, P. P. Westbye, J. Wearing, G. A. Macdonald, Thos. Barrie, R. M. Glover, Leon Fraser and J. J. Duffus.

Funds derived from the sale of tickets this year, after expenses have been paid, will be used for the benefit of the crippled children work of the Peterborough Health Association.

JOHN COOPER GAVE ADDRESS LOCAL ROTARY

Says Canada Needs Five Hundred Agents Abroad —Cadana's Raw Products.

TO-DAY'S GUESTS

At the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club to-day Col. John A. Cooper, past president of the Canadian Press Association and for two years, 1919 and 1920, trade commissioner for the Dominion in United States impressed upon his auditors the fact that if this country is to progress the policy of United States and other countries in advertising their products must be emulated and "village methods" departed from.

While Canada employs only one agent in the United States the small country of Sweden has 50 and has a Chamber of Commerce in the states with over 700 members. United States has a battalion of 1200 highly trained agents getting business he said and they are practically self-supporting through the fee charged for invoicing goods. The agents in this country last year paid or their maintenance and left the government a surplus of over two hundred thousand besides. Canada's twenty five agents cost more than the United States 1200 because this country has not instituted the fee system like other countries.

"Canada needs 500 agents abroad" declared Col. Cooper. If the prune growers of California can spend $350000 on advertising surely he said Canada with all its potential industries could do as well. "I think Canada's future is bound up with her export trade. We have a cold climate. We have however an industrial situation which if properly developed is second to none in the world. We must get out of the rut. We must follow the plans of other countries".

Raw Products

Col. Cooper urged the business men to consider the importance of marketing Canada's raw products in the richest markets or these he said represented 60 per cent. of the total exports while manufactured products were only 40 per cent. Manufacturers were prone to lose sight of this fact he said. Canada's endeavour should be to buy in the cheaper market and sell in the dearest and a definite advertising program and national trade policy is necessary. "Just as a manufacturer nowadays has to advertise his article to sell it so nations must advertise if they are to succeed. Canada is advertising— has been advertising for 20 or 30 years but it has been largely done by manufacturers".

Col. Cooper was introduced by P. P. Westbye. There was a large attendance at the luncheon and plenty of enthusiasm. President John Crane appointed Reid Wren, C. E. Smith, Dr. M. A. Morrison, and Andrew Brown a committee to make arrangements for the Rotarians to visit the Boys' Camp at Stoney Lake on Thursday. Chris Graham informed the club that Riverside Park could be secured a week from Tuesday night for the return game with the Kiwanis Club and the club gave this date their approval. The players were in fine fettle over the outcome of the match last week and even assessments by Chris Graham, such as fining Robert Abbott for failing to touch third base, did not dampen their spirits.

To-day's guests were as follows: W. L. Phillips, H. E. Hodgins, Brigadier David Moore, Toronto; Rev. R. B. Grobb; W. C. Ackerman, T. H. Hooper R. J. Kidd. Brigadier Moore spoke briefly. "I appreciate very much the interest the Rotarians have always taken in the Salavation Army not only in Peterboro but elsewhere" he said.

METHODISTS CONDEMN TOBACCO AND RACING

TORONTO, June 12.—(Canadian Press.) — The Toronto Methodist Conference adopted a strong stand against the tobacco habit and race track gambling at its sessions here to-day. A resolution was passed condemning smoking in all forms and criticizing the Ontario Department of Agriculture for giving encouragement to tobacco growing in Western Ontario.

The Ontario resolution urged upon the older members of the church not to indulge in smoking and thus give a good example to the younger members. Race track gambling was strongly attacked and it was decided to form an organization for counter propaganda against it.

REFERS TO THE OPEN LETTER ON EMBARGO

LONDON, June 12.— (Canadian Press.)—The Daily Mail describes an open letter addressed to the Canadian Press by the Live Stock Defence Committee as a feeble and disingenuous document. It suggests that the sentence in the letter expressing inability to congratulate Canadians on the work of their newfound friends is a cheap sneer and proceeds to refute such an idea by asserting that the papers advocated the removal of the embargo on Canadian cattle long, long ago.

MANY MILK SAMPLES LOADED WITH GERMS

Estimate Passed For Trent Canal

OTTAWA, June 12.—(Special).—Saturday afternoon the Trent Canal estimates were presented by the Honorable W. C. Kennedy, Minister of Railways and Canals, to the Committee of Supply, which is presided over by G. N. Gordon, M.P., of Peterborough.

Mr. Gordon called these with confidence and speed and put them through without a question or an amendment, although the Progressives moved a reduction in the Welland Canal estimates of $4,000,000.

This is the first time in the memory of those in Parliament that the Trent Canal vote has not been questioned by those who doubt the value of it.

The attendance in the House was small but it caused a laugh when Chairman Gordon called "Resolution carried," before any had a chance to draw a breath.

The votes were: Trent Canal Construction and Betterments, $240,000; Improvements, $550,000.

PETERBORO HAD LITTLE DAMAGE

A Few Wires Down Here and There Due to Severe Windstorm.

The extent of the damage done locally by the wind storm last night and today was difficult to estimate, but Peterborough, due to its situation in a valley, did not obtain the full blast like other cities. Considering the reports from other centres, Peterborough's troubles, which consisted of a few electrical wires down, some broken windows and sheds blown down, were insignificant. The Bell Telephone experienced only a few interruptions to its services. Two cables on the long distance line to Toronto were out at Pontypool, another line was down at Madoc and locally there were a number of house wires cut off. The repair men were busy today.

The Utilities Commission reported about a dozen lines down in different parts of the city in residential sections where the wires are subject to rough treatment in the trees. "Wherever we have put in new services and trimmed the trees we did not have very much trouble," said Manager H. O. Fisk. No poles were down, and up to 11 a.m. no transformers reported out of commission. Mr. Fisk said that by noon the repairs would be finished. Most of the trouble occurred this morning, and the Manager himself was forced to forego the privilege of morning toast made on the electric plate, for his residence was cut off along with others

Fire System Intact.

With their alarm system remained intact, the Fire Department were notified of wires of the Utilities Commission that were down. The first notification was received at 4 p.m. yesterday afternoon from 453 Water street. At 9.39 this morning three wires came down at the corner of Stewart and Murray streets, short circuited and set fire to grass and the board sidewalk. The firemen had no difficulty in tramping the blaze out, and the Commission was notified.

Rough weather prevailed on the lakes yesterday, and a visitor to Stoney Lake declared that most of the craft on the lake were getting splashed. Most of the Stoney Lakers stayed in their cottages, and only ventured forth when necessary to reach the mainland. The beneficial result of the high wind keeping down the black flies and mosquitoes was, however, appreciated.

Broken window panes resulted from the storm and downtown a few people on the street and merchants were aroused by crashing glass at 11 a.m. today when the wind blew the glass out of the door of 382½ George street, which is being altered into a drug store.

OTTAWA HEARS RUMOURS OF GENERAL ELECTION

OTTAWA, June 12.—Rumours of a general election in September, as an outcome of the present political situation are current to-day. There appears to be little doubt that Conservatives and Progressives, with few exceptions, will vote solidly against the Government on the budget. Dissolution is understood to be favored by the Liberal wing, which sees in this step a way out of present difficulties. They claim that the Government would come back with a safe working majority over Opposition parties.

PRINCE IS HONOURED.

CAIRO, Egypt, June 12.—(Canadian Press.)—King Fuad has conferred the Order of Mohammed Ali on the Prince of Wales. This is the highest Egyptian honor, and the Prince of Wales is the first recipient of it.

The Prince leaves for Port Said to-night, and will depart on board the Renown this morning.

Board of Health Advises Public to Boil All Milk Until Next Test is Made —Vendors Threatened With Cancellation of Licenses.

GET ANOTHER CHANCE

So dangerous in their high content of bacteria were most of the samples of milk taken from the supplies of the local vendors last week, and tested by Dr. T. Y. McNair, of the local branch of the Provincial Laboratory, that, after hearing his report this morning, the Board of Health passed a resolution advising the citizens to boil all milk until the next examination is made.

They also decided to notify the vendors immediately that the results of the next test will be published and the licenses of vendors with a black mark will be cancelled.

The members present this morning were: G. H. Duncan, chairman, Mayor Taylor, E. F. Mason, James Lynch, Dr. T. W. H. Young, M.O.H., and Sanitary Inspector Stapleton.

Nineteen of the samples in the June report were declared by Dr. McNair to be dangerous. This represents a majority of the vendors who regularly supply the homes of Peterborough every day with milk.

When it was stated that a million bacteria, less or more, were found in fifteen drops of milk, according to one of the remarks in the discussion of the report, the lay members concluded that the milk from which such samples were taken must have been all bacteria.

Not Properly Handled.

Improper cooling methods during the hot weather was ascribed as one of the chief causes of the rather nauseous report, which apparently repelled and impressed the Board to such an extent that drastic action was threatened against any vendors who are adversely registered in the next test.

This morning there was a proposal to revoke the licenses of offenders forthwith, but it was finally agreed to give them all another chance.

It will be understood that not all the milk was condemned by Dr. McNair, but the number of those who were named by him was excessively large.

From the conversation that concluded this mornings meeting, it was gathered that there is going to be a lot of milk vendors out of a job unless they bring their product up to the required standards.

Evading Tests.

Some of the vendors failed to submit their milk for this month's test, and a special warning is issued to them.

"If one or two of them think they can get away with it others will try it too," said Mr. Lynch. "So we had better check them up right now."

Discussing Dr. McNair's report, Mr. Lynch said that the Board of ealth should not tolerate milk that was dangerous.

"It is dangerous, according to this report," Mr. Duncan observed.

"Well, they shouldn't have a license," declared Mr. Lynch. "The public should be protected. There is no use passing those things up that way. Here is a condition put before us, and we have to take some action."

"Are we in our legal right?" he asked Dr. Young.

"Certainly we are," replied the M. O. H. "What right has any person to sell poison to the people?"

Mr. Lynch said that some of the milk is handled in filthy cans and carted around in "any old way at all."

Mr. Mason said that the contamination might be caused by neglect to clean bottles and cans. He understood that the vendors obtained their supplies from the farmers, and perhaps the vendors were not all to blame.

"We might have these nineteen men appear before us at a special meeting," he suggested. "We could tell them that unless something is done at once their licenses will be cancelled."

Milk Famine Preferable.

Mayor Taylor remarked that there might be a milk famine in the city if many licenses were withdrawn.

"It would be better if there was a milk famine," said Mr Lynch

Dr Young: Some of them might be put out of business

Mr Lynch: I wouldn't give a fig about putting a man out of business if he's putting litle children out of business

Mr. Mason: The vendors probably don't know about the condition of the milk.

BELOW THE DEAD LINE

(Copyright 1921 By The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

Contrary to the general opinion, it was not Inspector Byrnes who instituted the famous imaginery barrier known as the "Dead Line" a point beyond which crooks could not penetrate except under peril of immediate arrest, even though no charges were pending against them at the moment. The device was originated by William Melville, superintendent of Scotland Yard during the reign of Queen Victoria and the man who was responsible for the solution of many mysterious crimes.

But it was in connection with the prevention of a crime, rather than in the solving of one, that Melville had his most distinguished success, for if he had not been able to capture Vroff, the famous anarchist, it is quite possible that the Czar of Russia and possibly some of the members of the reigning family in England would have been blown into eternity.

The affair in question occurred some months after Melville had taken charge of Scotland Yard. The visit of the Czar had been widely heralded through the press and every governmental operative in Great Britain had been pressed into service to secure the safety of the visiting ruler. The entire island was combed for men who were known to be in hiding and, as a final resort, Melville issued an order that any suspicious character found within five squares of the line of march from Buckingham Palace to the Mansion House would be arrested on sight.

"The "Dead Line," as it was known in police circles, was marked with red and conspicuously posted in every dive and resort of the underworld in London.

Three days before the arrival of the Czar, Melville's report indicated that the city had been thoroughly cleaned up. Every anarchist and agitator known to the Yard had been located and scores of them were sent to jail, while the others were being guarded to prevent their approach to the line of march.

But on the very day of the procession, only two hours before the royal families were scheduled to leave the palace, Melville was informed that his men had failed to apprehend the most dangerous nihilist on the Continent—a young Russian by the name of Vroff, who had escaped from a prison in St. Petersburg and had entered England in such a roundabout manner that his arrival had not been recorded. According to the word which reached Melville, Vroff had secured employment in a wine merchant's establishment along the line which the procession would follow and had sworn to throw a bomb under the Czar's carriage as it passed.

Melville realized that here wasn't a moment to be lost. Also it was a job which he must handle alone—both because of the fact that he did not dare alarm the anarchist by staging a raid on the wine shop and because all his men were busy elsewhere in London.

As it happened, Melville knew the establishment where Vroff worked, and he also knew that a certain vintage of champagne was kept in the cellar, whence it was produced only at special request. It was for this reason, therefore, that he made his way to the wine shop and stated that he would like to purchase half-a-dozen bottles of the champagne.

As he had expected, the proprietor informed him that the vintage was in the bin, but offered to have it brought up immediately.

"Don't bother to do that," replied the Scotland Yard man, "I'll go down with one of your cellarmen and pick out the bottles for myself. Possibly I'll see something else that I want at the same time. Send that man along with me to point out the way," and he indicated one of the employees whom he had recognized from the description as Vroff.

A moment later, Melville was feeling his way down the dark cellar steps. In front of him, totally unsuspicious of his danger was the anarchist.

As they reached the foot of the stairs, the cellarman pointed to a bin nearby and stated that it contained the champagne the customer had asked for. Realizing that he could not stage his coup too close to a means of exit, Melville examined the bottles, offered some objection to the age of the wine and inquired what lay in the back of the cellar.

"Burgundy," replied the other, commencing to be a bit restive for the hour of the approach of the procession was drawing rapidly nearer.

"Fine!" said the Scotland Yard head; "I think I'd prefer that, after all. Let me see some of it, will you?"

Grumbling a bit under his breath, Vroff led the way back into the dim recesses of the cellar and as he bent forward to secure a bottle, Melville closed with him.

Instantly the young Russian grasped the situation, and knew that it was a fight for his life, for arrest meant deportation to Russia and exile to Siberia. With a sidewise, eel-like slip he ducked out from under the government detective's arms and, before Melville knew what he was doing, he had reached into a bin in the centre of the cellar and secured a big murderous bomb which he held high above his head.

"Stop!" he commanded, as the Scotland Yard operative started toward him. "One more step and I'll blow the whole place to hell and you with it!"

Melville, wise in the knowledge of anarchical principles, realized that this was a bluff. Vroff was pledged to assassinate the Czar and, if he threw the bomb, he could not hope to escape with his life. It was because of this that Melville threw up his hands and feigned defeat.

"You've got me," he admitted. "But for God's sake, don't throw that thing in here! We'd both be killed!"

"Then back into the doorway," directed Vroff, "and don't make a sound. They couldn't hear you upstairs, anyhow, and you'll be safe until after the procession has passed."

Slowly and hesitatingly, so as to bring the Russian nearer to him, Melville obeyed orders. Then just as the anarchist reached out to close the door, Melville sprang, seized the bomb with one hand and with the other delivered an uppercut on the point of the anarchist's jaw from which Vroff didn't recover for fully five minutes. When he finally came to, he found that he had been securely handcuffed to one of the stanchions—there to remain until the sounds of the passing procession had faded into the distance.

INMATE OF THE INSANE ASYLUM WAS STRANGLED

Two Other Inmates Confess to Part Played in Causing Death of Fellow Prisoner.

USED BRACES.

DIGBY, N.S., June 12.—Canadian Press.—That they strangled Boyd E. Pendleton, 25, with a pair of braces one holding his legs while the other did the major part of the deed, is the story Blanchard Tidd told Saturday concerning himself and and Harry Smith, both inmates with Pendleton of the harmlessly insane ward of the Digby County Poor House. Smith held the man's legs ,Tidd said.

An inquest was held Saturday by Coroner Daley and a jury, and a recommendation was made that Tidd and Smith be removed to an asylum for the criminally insane.

Pendleton was found dead in his bed Friday morning and death was presumed at first to have been from natural causes as the man had been ill. Blood on the bed clothes and a mark on Pendletons' neck, however, led to inquiries.

Tidd at first said the dead man hanged himself with Smith's braces but later told the story of strangulation by himself and his companion.

Completion of Hudson Bay Railroad Is Urged

Many Branch Lines Are Needed in the West. Road to Northern Port May Have to Wait.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

OTTAWA, June 12.—(Canadian Press.)— The question of the completion of the Hudson Bay Railway will be reviewed by the new Board of Management of the National Railways when it is appointed. This announcement was made by Hon. W. C. Kennedy, Minister of Railways, Saturday night in the House of Commons during the discussion of a vote of $7,000,000 to pay the deficit on the Canadian Government Railways, that is the Intercolonial, Transcontinental and branches.

The subject was brought up by Andrew Knox, Progressive, Prince Albert.

Mr. Knox read a recent resolution by the Associated Boards of Trade of Saskatchewan in favor of the completion of the railways and expressed his confidence that the natural resources in the territory around the bay would justify the project He asked the Minister of Railways to give an assurance that it would be completed.

"I have enough faith in predestination," he said, "to believe that it is destined at no distant date to carry the products of the west to outside markets."

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, asked whether Mr. Knox would prefer, the completion of the Hudson Bay or the construction of branch lines in the west. It was a matter of priority, said the Minister.

Mr. Knox replied that he agreed that the branch lines were more more urgent, but he thought the Government should complete the inquiry as to which was the better port, Nelson or Churchill.

John Miller, Progressive, Qu-Appelle, also favored giving priority to branch lines but had strong faith in the ultimate success of the Hudson Bay line. He called attention to the wealth of the north with special reference to the muskox and the caribou. He quoted Steffanson to the effect that the musk ox had three times as much wool as sheep.

T. W. Bird, (Progressive, Nelson) said the people of the west felt that they were isolated on the west by the Rocky Mountains, on the south by a tariff wall and on the north by the wilderness. This condition was driving them to act together. Any person looking for a return of old political conditions in the west would be disappointed.

T. W. Caldwell (Progressive, Carleton, N. B.) changed the subject from the Hudson Bay Railway to general railway business. He commenced by asking Mr. Kennedy for the names of the directors of the Canadian National Railways. On receiving the information he read a speech delivered in the House by Right Hon. MacKenzie King last year to the effect that these directors were practically all serving as directors of other companies and that they would not be fulfilling their duties as directors of those companies if they did not look after their interests. Mr. Caldwell declared that if conditions were so terrible last year as explanation was due as to why changes had not been made.

Mr. Kennedy replied that the government would shortly make an announcement respecting the Board of Directors of the Canadian National Railways and the Grand Trunk Railway. Again replying to Mr. Caldwell, the Minister stated that the late Government had not given a huge contract to the Canadian Locomotive Company just prior to the election, but that a contract for the repair of five hundred cars had been given to the Eastern Car Company. This was for the purpose of relieving unemployment.

T. G. McBride, Progressive, Cariboo, thought that the Government should complete the Kamloops-Kelowna line.

D. W. Warner ,Progressive, Strathcona, wanted a road to connect the country about Edmonton with Churchill.

Then after a special appeal by John Evans, Progressive, Saskatoon, came the statement of the Minister. He said that every member of the House was interested in affording the grain growers of the west railway facilities at the lowest possible cost. The Hudson Bay Railway had up to the present cost about $20,000,000. He was informed that it would take $5,000,000 to complete the railway and $12,000,000 for the terminals. He stated that this whole question would be reviewed by the new Board of Management when appointed. He was asked to give an assurance that there would be an examination of the claims of Churchill but contented himself with replying that this, too, would be referred to the Board.

J. S. Woodsworth (Labor, Winnipeg, said that the Liberal party was committed to having Labor representatives on Government boards and he thought the House was entitled to a definite statement from the Minister on this point in connection with the new Canadian National Board.

The Minister did not reply, and the item carried.

LARGE GATHERING AT U.F.O. PICNIC

Progressive Ideal Unadulterated and Militant Reiterated and Reaffirmed.

OTTAWA, June 12 (Canadian Press).—The Progressive ideal, unadulterated and militant, was emphatically re-affirmed by front-rank Parliamentarians at a picnic rally held on Saturday afternoon at Bearbrook under the auspices of the Russel County U.F.O. Clubs.

Its militancy was indicated in the words of R. H. Halbert, M.P. for North Ontario, and one of the pioneers of the U.F.O. movement, who declared that the Progressive group would rather have the duty on agricultural imp'ements remain as it was than see increases in the sales tax creating an extra burden on the consumer.

"We are going to fight that in the House, even if we have to force an election," declared the former president of the United Farmers of Ontario. This announcement was greeted with cheers.

The continuance of a policy free from any adulterating ingredients, and divorced from any suggestion of old guard political tactics or centralised party dictation, was urged by Miss Agnes MacPhail.

Miss MacPhail urged constituency autonomy as opposed to any possible tendency towards centralised control and pointed out the perils of party success resulting in the ignoring of the rights of others.

"Let us be careful that success does not go to our heads," was her warning, "for success these days in Ontario goes to more people's heads than wine. We are out to look after our own just interests first, but," she counselled, "in getting justice for ourselves we must be big enough to see that we do not mete out injustice to others."

The other Parliamentarians who spoke were W. Irvine, M.P. for East Calgary, who branded both old parties as tweedledee and tweedledum, and as "having successfully divided the people of Canada amongst themselves—East against West, Ontario against Quebec, Labour against Farmer, and Farmer against Labour"; T. W. Caldwell, M.P. for Victoria and Carleton, N.B., and Harry Leader, M.P. for Portage la Prairie.

Mr. Leader informed the Russell County gathering that no more representation could be expected from the West until after re-distribution, and if the rogressive following in the House of Commons was to be augmented the increase would have to come from Ontario and the Eastern Provinces.

The event attracted a large crowd, and every section of the county was well represented, it being estimated that over 3,000 people were in attendance.

AEROPLANE MAIL IS PROPOSED FOR YUKON IN WINTER

Many Other Changes Are Proposed. National Railways to Have Preference in Mail Carrying.

RURAL MAILS.

OTTAWA, June 12.—(Canadian Press)—The Postmaster General has under consideration a proposal to establish an aerial service to the Yukon, but Yhe did not hold out much hope of it being put into effect immediately. He made this statement in reply Saturday night in the House of Commons to a plea by Dr. Black who represents that district for a better winter mail service Hon. Charles Murphy promised also to take Dr. Black's request into consideration.

This statement was made by Murphy during the discussion of a vote of $28,833,000 for the postoffice department. At the outset of the discussion Hon. H. H. Stevens urged the Postmaster General to investigate the handling of the mails with a view of giving the National Railways a preference. Mr. Murphy said that an inspector of the department was going to make a tour of the country during the coming summer with the object of seeing what improvements could be made. The Canadian National would be given o preference wherever possible with due regard for economy.

R. B. Hanson, (Conservative York Sunbury) wanted to know if the Government had resumed the practice of opening new free rural routes which had been suspended during the war. The Postmaster General said that the matter was under consideration at the present time, but as yet to open any new routes.

Robert Gradner, (Progressive, Medicine Hat) asked if it was proposed to renew the existing mail contracts as they expired. Mr. Murphy said that each case would be considered on its merits but he knew of no reason why any would be discontinued.

J. S. Woodsworth (Labor, Winnipeg, Center) urged on the Postmaster General the need of increasing the pay of some Postal employees whose salary is not sufficient for a decent living. Mr. Murphy said that this matter too was under consideration but that the salaries mere fixed by the civil service commission. Mr. Woodsworth was challenged from the Liberal side to say whether he would support a change in the law in this regard. He replied that he would.

CROP CONDITIONS GOOD IN THE WEST

Survey of This Year's Crops is Very Encouraging. Excellent Growing Weather.

CALGARY, June 12— (Canadian Press.)—The Calgary Herald said Saturday in its fourth Alberta crop review:

"From the extreme north of the province to the United States boundary reports gathered by the Herald's special correspondents present a most encouraging survey of this year's crop conditions, the situation in many districts being described as ideal and the best in years.

The general rain fall of the present week, followed by excellent growing weather, has removed all danger of drought especially in the south country where an urgent need of moisture was beginning to manifest itself. Abundance of moisture is also noted in the Grande Prairie district, with unusually warm weather.

Feed prospects in the south were never better with the probability that much of the grass will go to seed this year, improving ranges badly eaten down during the drought years.

A RE-UNION INSTEAD OF A FUNERAL PARTY.

If there was anyone on earth taken more by surprise Saturday than Charley Mangan it was the other members of the Mangan family, of Orono, who, one after the other on succeeding trains until six had arrived, and a telegram from a brother that he had left Winnipeg and ws on the way. They had come to attend Charley's funeral but found him in the pink of health with no notion of being the central figure in the processions. It appears a nephew of the same name passed amy in Newcstle, N.J., and the telegram sent to one of the sisters annoucing the death was misread Newcastle, Ont. and she immediately telegraphed other members of the family. It turned out to be a nice family reunion.

WATCH DOGS OF THE TREASURY SLEEPING

OTTAWA, June 12.—(Canadian Press.)—"One of the most flagrant pieces of legal robbery ever perpetrated in the Dominion of Canada," so L. H Martell, (Liberal, Hants) described in the House on Saturday payments which he said had been made to Hector McInnes, a Halifax solicitor, who was employed by the late Government in an investigation. Mr. Martell brought the matter up on a vote of $2,000 for arbitrations, awards and cost of litigation. He said that other solicitors employed by the Government received only $25.00 or $30.00 per day. There was no reason why Mr. McInnes should have been specially selected for higher payment. Mr. McInnes had been defeated most decisively by the people of Halifax at the last election.

Mr. Martell also said that Mr. McInnes' account had not been taxed. He proposed to ask for further information in regard to this matter at a later date.

G. G. Coots Asks That Motherwell's Election Promise to "Fire" Hon. F. B. Carvell Be Carried Out.

MAY IMPEACH.

OTTAWA, June 12 (Canadian Press). — When a vote of $221,635 for the Board of Railway Commissioners was under consideration in the House of Commons just before six o'clock on Saturday, G. G. Coote, Progressive member for Macleod, asked the Minister of Railways whether W. R. Motherwell had taken any steps looking to the removal of Hon. F. B. Carvell from the post of Chief of the Board.

Mr. Coote said that the Hon. George Langley had appeared before a committee of the House and stated that Mr. Motherwell had made an election promise to place a resolution on the order paper, calling for the removal of Mr. Carvell.

Mr. Kennedy replied that the proper person to ask was the Minister of Agriculture, who was in the Chamber.

Mr. Motherwell said that he had a statement on the matter in his desk,

HOTEL ACCOMMODATION.

At a recent gathering in Peterborough the statement was made that it was useless to advertise the advantages of the Kawartha Lakes district from a tourist viewpoint until ample hotel accommodation of a satisfactory nature was assured the visitors. In proof of this assertion an interview with an American who declared that he and half a dozen companions had visited the Kawartha Lakes some years ago, and while delighted with the scenic beauties, had been so disappointed with the hotel accommodation that they had decided not to return to this district, was quoted. The whole question of hotels in the Province reuires investigation, and it would be well if Mr. Raney's suggestion of an inquiry by a committee of the Legislature during the recess could be successfully carried out. The smaller municipalities of Ontario are in a bad way for hotel accommodation. The blame for this condition is sometimes credited to the Ontario Temperance Act, but while the passage of that measure undoubtedly caused the disappearance from business of a number of hotels, it cannot be denied that the accommodation was none too good even in the days before prohibition. The average proprietor paid more attention to his bar trade than he did to other departments of his business. In this way the bar did not furnish good hotels, but rather served to prevent them. Communities are judged frequently by their hotels; when the accommodation is poor visitors get a bad impression of the town, and the result is a distinct handicap to the business interests. A solution of the problem is that adopted in Renfrew, where the business men, recognizing the need of a good hotel, organized a community effort to supply th service that was lacking, and have made a striking success of the movement. Mr. Raney's committee have an important matter upon their hands, and if they can suggest a way by which the Provincial Government can remedy the present conditions, they will have accomplished a great deal for Ontario.

PUBLIC HEALTH IDEALS.

In the decision of the Canadian Public Health Association to broaden its field of endeavour there may be discerned a significant realisation of the possibilities of extended operation and of the services the Association can render to the community, says the Montreal Star. The establishment of an industrial section would seem to indicate at first sight that the whole problem of health in its relation to labour will be tackled. The improvements that have been effected in factories and other institutions where there is a large number of people working together hav been very great of recent years, but thee is plnty of room for furthe improvement, particularly in egard to child labou and conditions of light, ventilation and recreation.

The influence that could be exerted by the Association is not to be gauged by its public resolutions, but by its work done privately and represented in the form of important memoranda submitted to the proper authorities and backed up by powerful advocacy in the press and elsewhere. Labour endeavours to do what it can to help its own cause forward in this connection, but obviously its hands are tied to a considerable extent. A public body like the Health Association, with no axe to grind, with no motive but the establishment of better health standards among the community, and with the ability to set such standards and show how they may be attained and upheld, can do infinitely more effective work than any labour union could hope to accomplish.

It is often boasted that there are no slums in Canadian cities, but actual investigatin has shown again and again that this is an idle boast. The eradication of slum conditions comes within the scope of the Association's labours. By working in close harmony with the Board of Public Health by co-ordinating its efforts with that body's operations, and by a persistent public representation of existing evils and of the remedies by means of which they may be eliminated, the Association can work such a reform for the public, particularly those engaged in manual labour, as will result in a general elevation of hygienic standards throughout the country. It is not in the cities and towns alone that such reform is needed. There is plenty of room for it in the villages and hamlets also, and here the Association can make no mistake if it goes ahead with investigation and rcommendation and propaganda. If the youth of a nation be well nourished, that nation's future is thrice assured.

WHAT IT MEANS.

Hon. Mr. Fielding is expected to inform the House to-morrow oi several changes in his Budget proposals. It is sincerely to be hoped that among his announcements will be one that the Government has reconsidered the cancellation of the Depreciation of Currency Act, and has decided not to remove that barrier against a flood of cheap-made German goods.

The Examiner on Saturday published a number of interviews with manufacturers, who made plain their fear that the scrapping of the regulations providing that for customs purposes the German mark must be valued at 50 per cent. of its exchange value prior to the war, would result in great harm to Canadian industry. There seems no doubt on that point: If the Fielding proposal is allowed to stand, Canada must be prepared to find its markets crowded with German goods to the injury not only of the Canadian manufacturer, but of the Canadian worker. This country most certainly does not want free-trade with Germany, but unless Mr. Fielding changes his mind, what practically amounts to free-trade with Germany is bound to come. Prior to the war the German mark was worth about 23 cents—to-day it is worth about one-third of a cent. Consequently any Candaian tariff against German Goods was entirely wiped out, for dealing in Canadian currency the German manufacturer could easily surmount any tariff that Canada might devise. Recognising that fact, the late Government fixed an arbitrary value for the German mark for customs purposes, thus protecting Canadian manufacturers from the unfair competition of German goods, and preventing German manufactures from being sold in Canada at a price lower than our own manufacturers or any British firms could possibly give. The low wages and consequnt cheapness of manufacture in Germany would make it easy for German firms to undersell their competitors in this country if the door was open to them, and drive Canadian firms out of business.

Here is how the things works out: A German manufacturer ships to Canada a consignment of goods valued at 20,000 marks in German paper currency. Under the regulations adopted by the late Government, these goods would be valued at not less than 11.9 cents to the mark, making the Canadian valuation $2,380. If the customs duty were 30 per cent., the value of the goods in Canada would be 20,000 German marks plus 30 per cent. on $2,380, namely $714.00. The present market value of the German mark is about one-third of a cent, so that the value of the 20,000 marks in Canada would be about $66.60, and the total value in this country of the consignment would be $66.60 plus the duty of $714.00, or a total of $780.60.

Under the Fielding arrangement, nowever, this same consignment of German goods valued at 20,000 marks would pass through the Canadian customs at the actual value of the mark. The duty upon the 20,000 marks would, at 30 per cent., be 6,000 marks, or in Canadian money, at the present exchange, about $20.00, and the total value of the consignment in Canada would be 26,000 German marks, or about $86.60 in our money.

In other words, Mr. Fielding's cancellation of the Depreciation of Currency Act regulations would mean that on a consignment of German goods valued in Germany at 20,000 marks, Canada's customs would collect only $20.00 duty, instead of $714.00 as under the old arrangement, and that the goods could be sold in Canada for $86.60, instead of $780.60.

When the Canadian people thoroughly understand what is meant by the change, there will be such a volume of protest that it is extremely unlikely that the new arrangement would be allowed to stand. Germany must have no preference in Canada.

PROTECTING THE PEOPLE.

There appears to be a growing disposition to widen the scope of public ownership. Up to the present time it has been deemed prudent to apply the principle only to certain utilities which attach closely to the people, and which could quite conveniently be taken in hand in that way; but experience is fast demonstrating the need of taking other interests out of private control. Coal is at once logically suggested. Directly or indirectly it enters into universal consumption, and separates itself quite naturally from a considerable group of commodities which might be given a similar classification. Within that group would be lumber; but the analogy in that case is rather remote. Coal is a natural product, while lumber has to go through a process of manufacture before it can be made available for popular use. The same thing is true of iron and other metals.

All deposits of coal primarily belonged to the people. The conviction is deepening everywhere that it would have been well had they never been alienated. The coal was in the ground and needed only to be taken out. It was a matter largely of labor and the use of mechanical power in comparatively elementary forms. There was little room for skill and no call for inventive genius. As a fuel and a source of power it was an absolute necessary of life. Yet it was practically given away to corporate interests, and is so held to-day.

The coal industry has been, on the whole, badly administered. Had all the owners of mining concessions shown consistent regard for public interests, it is scarcely probable there would have been any serious complaint; but the history of coal mining as it obtains to-day is a long story of constant trouble with labor and of rising prices. No one can study the facts of the case and conclude that the fault lies entirely at the door of organized labor. When it transpires that miners are employed for but a little more than half the year it is evident that the business is inefficiently handled. Investigations which have taken place since the strike began in April last reveal defective organization and inordinate profiteering. The people are paying for this, and they are tired of paying on a swelling scale.

The first step toward public ownership has been taken in the United States. The Secretary of Commerce, Mr. Herbert Hoover, has fixed the price of coal at the pit mouth. This he has done by bringing about agreements among the operators. He had no power of law behind him to do even that, much less to take other steps which are obviously necessary and in sequence; for it now seems clear, in the emergency which has arisen, that no statutory authority has been given to anybody to interfere in any way whatever. It is the discovery of this helplessness on the part of the people which has inspired a demand for state regulation primarily, and state ownership eventually.

It should not be possible to have such a situation as at present exists in respect of coal. Superficially, the struggle is between the mine owners and their employees; but in reality it is between the mine owners and their employees, on one hand, and the people on the other. The people are vitally concerned, yet have no voice whatever in the contreversy. As the original owners of the coal deposits, they are now insisting that private possession shall cease in the interest of public safety; for, in the final reckoning, the people must get coal or freeze to death.

That is the basic principle of public ownership—the common good. It is conceivable that many enterprises might be brought under a head so comprehensive; but we must all see that the thing cannot be made general. If carried too far the foundation itself would be destroyed. That is to say, public ownership is only practicable on a community basis, and if state or municipal ownership were given too extensive application there would be insufficient room for those commercial and industrial interests which are essential for a balanced community life. Which is simply another way of saying that some things may be appropriately and beneficially operated as public enterprises while others may not.—Ottawa Journal.

Voice of the People

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,— People often ask what the difference is between a statesman and a politician, and Sir Lomer Gouin is showing them. Even at the moment of a crisis and of great danger to his government he speaks his mind. Canada cannot be saved by shufflers or juvenile idealists. It takes brains and a knowledge of history and a conscience to be a statesman.. It is self-interest that is the guiding star of the politician. The one sacrifices everything to party. The other sails the party boat in the way it should go. People in Ontario are led around by the nose more than in other provinces and that is why we are in so inferior a position to other provinces. We must give Quebec credit. People are free there and consequently produce a better brand at present anyhow.

JUSTICE.

Editor of the Examiner

The Hon. Manning Doherty, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario accompanied by Mr. Aaron Sapiro will tour the province of Ontario and deliver a series of addresses on Co-operative organization and marketing. They will commence at Glengarry June 14th and will arrive at Norwood on June 17 where they will speak at the Town Hall at 8.30 p.m. the meeting may be transferred to the open air. Mr. Sapiro is considered the best authority on Co-operative marketing on the Aemrican continent. eH is an expert for California U.S.A. where he takes charge of the co-operative system of marketing the fruit products of that State. It is interesting to note that Mr. Sapiro when addressing the Legislative Assembly remarked that we in Canada may have the best apples on her continent, but they sold the California apples

Norwood is only a short distance from Peterboro and I would commend this meeting to able business people, it will be of special interest to farmers, such an opportunity of hearing Mr. Sapiro should not be overlooked.

In connection with power matters Hon. Carmichael, Minister without Portfolio stated in the legislature that Eastern Ontario was to receive special consideration in the development of Hydro electric power this year

SPORTS DAY AT MILLBROOK WAS A HUGE SUCCESS

The Event Will Probably Be Made an Annual One—Exceptional Auto Parade—Good Races.

MILLBROOK, June 12.—The success which attended the community sports' day, Thursday, June 8th, has led those in charge to seriously consider the advisability of making this event an annual occurrence, conforming to the rules laid down by the National Athletic Association.

Some interesting facts regarding the history of the East Durham Agricultural Society were brought out by Mr. J. Lockie Wilson, of Toronto, Superintendent of Fairs and Exhibitions for Ontario, in his address, since it was under the auspices of the Millbrook Agricultural Society and the I.O.O.F. that Thursday's sports were held. The records show, according to Mr. Wilson, that the first fair was held here 60 years ago, the grant being $700, and the secretary, the late Mr. John Hunter. In 1894 the grant had increased to $800, the membership numbered 351, and the late Mr. William Vance, for 50 years postmaster of Millbrook, was the secretary. In 1904 Cavan amalgamated with Millbrook; since then both the grant and the membership have diminished. In 1921 the latter was reduced to 78, and the former was but $246. However, $1,115 was raised locally that year, and the Society, in common with many others, is doing excellent work, particularly by producing better farmers through its annual standing field grain competition, in which between 7,000 and 8,000 farmers throughout the province are competing. $430 came to those in Cavan who were successful in the field grain competitions last year, and we have abundant reason to be thankful for the splendid crop prospects this season.

The fact, too, that a Cavan farmer, Mr. D. Henry, won first prize for his wheat at both the Toronto and Ottawa exhibitions last fall is very creditable to this community. All classes are needed to build up our country, which is not in such turmoil and unrest as in other lands, and while inventions have reduced labor on the farm, this only empasizes the need of co-operation between town and country; let us do all in our power to see that no wedge is driven between them.

Auto Parade.

The auto parade was exceptionally good, the number of decorated cars rather surpassing the expectations of the committee, as this was the first time an event of this nature has ever been held in Millbrook. Mr. G. W. Sayles' car, which won the first prize, and was deesigned to represent a "June Bride," with white streamers, flowers, and pink bows, and with little Dorothy Conliffe and George Sayles dressed as a bride and groom occupying the rear seat, created much favorable comment. There was also a specially decorated I.O.O.F. car, having the three links and letters F.L.T. done in red, white and blue, which was cleverly designed.

The Races.

Mr. D. A. Loomis of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. was present to assist the committe in directing the sports. The list of prize winners is as follows:

Auto race (small cars), the prize being for the one going the slowest round the track in high gear—Mr. O. G. Urry, Ford coupe.

Auto race (large cars), same as above—1st competition, Mr. L. Henderson; 2nd trial, Mr. H. Tait; 3rd trial, Mr. G. W. Sayles.

3 mile race—1 Jim Larmer, 2 Gerald Thirtle.

Boys' relay race, under 15—1 Oscar Guthrie, 2 Linden Russell, 3 Lawrence Ingram.

75 yard race, boys under 12— 1 Henry Lancashire, 2 George McKnight.

50 yard race, boys under 12—1 Eddie Nattrass, 2 Harold Blue.

100 yards open—1 H. Cardwell, 2 E. Burnham.

150 yards, boys under 14—1 L. Russell, 2 L. Ingram.

One mile open—1 J. Larmer, 2 A. Woodward.

Broad jump, open—1 H. Cardwell, 2 A. Fallis.

High jump, open—1 A. Fallis, 2 V. Hunter.

The five mile race and the tug-of-war, Agricultural vs. the I.O.O.F., with one or two other events, were left over until the fall fair for lack of time. Hundreds picnicked on the grounds at tea time, and afterwards enjoyed the excellent band concert in front of the main building given by the military band under the leadership of Mr. G. A. Duncan.

The girls competing in the basketball team (chosen from the High school) were as follows:

"Bolshevists" — Centre, Loretta Barnard, Hilda Spencer; defence, Gertrude Gray, Florence Fallis; forward, Alexander Johnston, Helen Syer (captain).

"Sinn Feiners"—Centre, Kathleen Lancashire, Luella Shaw; defence, Thelma Ball, Thelma Spencer; forwards, Marguerite Russell, Dorothy Armstrong (catpain.)

Score, 7-6, in favor of the Bolshevists.

Concert at Night.

The talent for the concert at night, which was held in the main building, included Mr. J. H. Cameron, Miss Mary Mason, and Mr. Davidson, of Toronto, the audience filling the auditorium to capacity.

A letter from Mr. F. W. Bowen, M.P., was received by the committee, expressing his inability to be present as the vote on the budget was expected to take place that day. Mr. S. S. Staples, M.P.P., also was unable to accept the invitation to attend.

SCARLET FEVER STILL WITH US

Number of Cases Small During May—Pay for Plumping in Taxes.

The Board of Health is renewing its representations to the Council to provide for the installation of sanitary plumbing with payment therefor to be extended over a period of five years and collected out of the taxes. Mayor Taylor explained that only one or two applications had been received when this proposal was submitted some months ago, and because of the public's seeming lack of interest in the assistance thus provided, the Council suspended action.

At the Board's meeting this morning it was stated that quite a number of citizens are now willing to avail themselves of this measure, and the Board desires to lessen the number of earthen closets in this city.

"We have a record in that respect, haven't we?" Mr. J. Lynch remarked, and Sanitary Inspetcor replied affirmatively.

Dr. Young said there were about 1,200 houses in Peterborough that should be connected with the sewer.

"Lots of work for the plumbers there," said Mr. Lynch.

Dr. Young told the Board that the Provincial Officer of Health had recently declared that the city must provide a sewer connection to the Isolation Hospital. The M.O.H. and Mr. G. H. Duncan will wait on the Board of Works at their next meeting and present the need of this work.

Isolation Hospital Report.

No. patients May 1st	11
Admitted in May	6
Total	17

These six were scarlet fever cases. The 17 were, 14 scarlet fever and 1 diphtheria from the city and 1 scarlet fever and 1 diphtheria from out of town. Nine patients were discharged during the month, one died of diphtheria and seven scarlet fever cases were under care on June 1st.

Fees received at the hospital during May—$229.85.

Expenses during May—938.22, and for year from Jan. 1st to May 31st—$5,071.74.

MANY MILK SAMPLES

Dr. Young moved, seconded by Mayor Taylor, that the citizens be advised to boil all milk until the next test is taken.

"From the report received from the Provincial Laboratory, we find that a large majority of the milk samples are dangerous; therefore, we advise the public to boil all milk until the next examination is made," read the resolution.

Another motion by Dr. Young and Mr. Mason referred to the milk vendors, instructing the clerk to write them at once, conveying a final warning to the effect that if they wish to continue selling milk in Peterborough, their product must conform in quality with the standards of the Board—in other words, the milk tests will be made public, and the licenses of vendors whose milk is offensive will be cancelled at once.

Members of the Board believe that negligence is largely the cause of so bad a showing of the milk last week. They regard it as a condition which must not be tolerated, and that can be avoided by proper care of the milk.

Radio Popular! Miniatures, Freaks, New Fashions Prove It Is

Miniatures, freaks, new fashions!

Radio is getting its quota, just as other popular innovations have had theirs.

There is still a question as to who has the smallest radio set. And while the discussion rages, more "smallest radio sets" crop up.

Among the latest is the miniature made by Allen Turner, Los Angeles newspaper artist. It covers the tip of his finger.

Turner says he has heard concerts and lectures with his "radio cricket," broadcast from as far as 50 miles off!

Ring Set.

William H. Rief of Manasghan, N. J., comes forth with his ring radio receiver. Everything's mounted on a brass ring—except the telephone receivers.

But Sidney Kasindorf of New York says his little "safety razor set" is most practicable of all miniatures. Besides the receiving apparatus, he has a buzzer connection and battery to test the crystal. He has heard WJZ at Newark distinctly.

Among the freaks displayed recently at the radio show in New York, Miss Winifred Lockhart Wills had three. On her finger was a ring crystal receiving set. Between two fingers she held a cigarette radio set, and from her neck hung a necklace set.

Cigarette, Too.

The cigarette set contained complete receiving apparatus inside and reaching out from one end were two stretches of wire—the antenna—like an ant's feelers.

Fashion also claims part in the development of radio toward general popularity. The radio garter isn't new. Miss Wills has produced the radio necklace.

From Los Angeles comes Miss Pamela Rains with her "radio phonolier," a combination lamp and radio set. It's shaped like a parlor lamp, can be covered over for use as an electric light, or with cover up can be manipulated for receiving broadcast concerts.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK, June 12.—(Canadian Press).—Selling of the general list was actively resumed at the heavy opening of to-day's Stock Market. Incidents over the week-end including the failure of the German loan negotiations in Paris, gave further courage to short interest. Studebaker, U. S. Steel, Baldwin Locomotive, Mexican Petroleum and several of the speculative Rails were the only exceptions to further reaction. Canadian Pacific, St. Paul, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Kresge, Sears Roebuck, Republic Iron and Steel, Anaconda Copper, Industrial Alcohol, Westinghouse and American Hide and Leather Preferred were lower by fractions to one point. All foreign exchange were unsettled.

The most comprehensive selling movement staged in some time broke out shortly after midday. Prices of a score or more of active shares crumbled away two to three points. Practically all of the Industrial issues were under pressure, likewise a sprinkling of Railroads. Oils were foremost in decline, but there were heavy offerings also of Independent Steels, Shippings and Equipments. U. S. Alcohol, Davis Chemical, American Beet Sugar, May Department Stores, Continent Can., National Enamelling, Maxwell Motors A, North American and Brown Shoe also sustained losses.

THE HOME CIRCLE

It is said children are "natural born liars." This judgment has been passed upon them by unimaginative elders who cannot understand the fertile minds of their offspring. A normal child has no desire to distort the truth, unless forced to do so through fear of the punishment which may result if the truth is known. When a child prevaricates under such condition the fault rests upon those who thus force him to lie.

But there are many children, you say, who lie about events when the truth itself warrants no censure. And this is the case with the greater number of youthful prevaricators. But we should realize that their minds grasp facts differently than ours do. Events to them have entirely different significations. Images are called to mind, and the child being as yet untrained, cannot distinguish between the image and the reality. Their imagination is called into play, and they cannot recognize it as mere imagination. And when they give forth their thoughts and ideas they are branded as liars.

The wise parent, instead of stamping out the child's imagination by forcing him to see and report only the bare cold facts, rather teaches him to distinguish between fancy and fact, but in no way discourages him in the play of his imaginative powers. A child who is allowed to use his imagination will tend to have more creative ability as a man, and, more than that, no matter how badly the world may treat him, he will always be able to find pleasure and solace in the activities of his own mind.

Is family coherence based on money? The question is the basis of a novel recently published by Doubleday, Page and Company entitled "The Tribal God" by Herbert Tremaine. It seems rather a regretable fact that present day family life should give rise to such a question. Surely the families of our pioneer forefathers were not held together by money. What is it in our present mode of living that brings up this question? Is it the love of luxury? Do women stick by the men in the family because they provide them with things they want? Perhaps in some cases among the very wealthy class this might be true, but among the large middle class money, or the lack of it, has a dispelling force on families driving the women out to earn the luxuries they want. It seems that money has that tendency throughout the country and the world. It breaks up families instead of holding them together. And certainly the life of a family held together only by the ties of money would not be a happy one.

No doubt this new novel, "The Tribal God" brings out some interesting points but let us hope the answer to the question upon which it is based is proved to be in the negative.

Each year, or so it appears to anxious parents, the dangers besetting their children grow greater and more numerous. Temptations spring up on all sides, ready to engulf the youthful spirit in search of adventure. But parents should remember that in their youth they also were beset by the same temptations, perhaps in different guise, but none less vicious. And, in spite of the fact that, by their own parents, they were thought to be headed toward destruction, they safely skirted the whirlpools and launched forth upon the more or less tranquil sea of average American parenthood.

No matter how cold, windy and disagreeable the winter becomes as it nears its end, we never have a doubt but that it will at length spend its rage and be forced to retire before the advancing spring. Though skies are cloudy and the air is cold, we know that it won't be long until the bright sunshine calls forth the buds and encourages the birds to mate and build their nests. So, in life we should have the same unfaltering faith that winter, no matter how severe, must eventually pass, and spring, full of happiness and life, must follow.

FLOWER SUNDAY TRINITY CHURCH

Prizes Presented to the Successful Pupils—The Programme.

Flower Sunday was celebrated at Trinity Methodist church yesterday and it was particularly appropriate that Rev. F. E. Malott prior to his departure from the church should be priviliged to emphasize the beauty and message of the flowers with which he was surrounded in the pulpit. Unlike other years the flowers were not made into a design but banked below the pulpit. Huge white peonies emblematic of purity and filling the church with a rich fragrance predominated. What the flowers were mutely unable to convey choral and orchestral music expressed. In addition to the organ and choir the Sunday school orchestra under the direction of Rupert Gliddon rendered special numbers and Mrs. G. H. King sang. Scott Medd, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Medd sang "IThink when I eRad that Sweet Story of Old" in a voice that surprised his hearers with its sweet, clear, quality on this, his first appearance as a boy soprano

The Sunday school attended the morning service in a body and Rev. Malott referred to the pleasure he felt at delivering his last sermon to the school as a body on flower Sunday. Rev. Malott said he would take no text but the flowers about him. His message he said was for the children particularly and he pointed out white flowers symbolized —all that was sweetest and purest in life. Flowers have a soul he said and do not speak for those who can catch their meaning. They are found in unexpected places and the world would be a drab place if all the blossoms were taken out. Many of the children had pansies and Rev. Malott pointed out that this flower had five petals. Five qualities were represented by these petals, and he had the children repeat the following: punctuality, politeness, patience, piety and purity. One little voice when he asked what patience meant replied "Mother." Yes patience certainly does mean Mother and I don't know anything else that represents patience more unless it could be father" said the minister joining in the general enjoyment at the child ish remark.

Evening Service.

In the evening, the students and staff of the Normal School attended Trinity Church in a body. Mr. Malott preached an eloquent and inspiring sermon to the young people, taking his text from the second Chapter of Timothy, first to seventh verses; "God hath not given unto us a spirit of fearfullness, but all power of love and of discipline." He based his sermon on the three-fold endowment needed by young men and women for success in life's work, and, in opening, referred to Spencer's "Fairie Queen" in which the poet speaks of the three doors that led into a strong house, and the three inscriptions above them, the first "Be bold", the second, "Be bold, be bold," and the third, "Be not too bold." By boldness the poet meant courage, for more failures are due to lack of success in enterprise than to lack of natural ability.

Paul's message to Timothy was the result of his knowledge of Timothy's character and Paul told him that timidity and cowardice were not the characteristics of a Christian. God's three-fold gift to man was that of power, of love and of discipline. There are three kinds of power, physical, mental and moral, and it was the alter that Paul had in mind. Love must be the motive power in life of any sort, whether in the industrial, commercial, intellectual, or political worlds Germany was quoted as an example of power without the will of service. Discipline also, was necessary. To these young people starting out in their life's work, Mr. Malott said that they would be better men and women in ten years from now, because of the discipline received in their daily contract with the world. He concluded with a wish for their success in their examinations and their future careers in life

Music in the evening consisted of an unaccompanied anthem by the choir; 'Come Unto Me' a a solo by Mrs. Geo. H. King, "The Great Awakening", and a charming vocal selection by Miss Pollard, contralto singer from Kingston.

Turn need into demand

HUNGER seeks food; thirst calls for drinks; fatigue requires a place to rest; labor must be eased by recreation. Human nature and human wants create demand. If you can do your share in filling it, tell people so. Turn universal need into demand for your particular product.

Through the Daily Newspapers give the people the news about your goods. Make it a part of the daily life of Canada.

"Newspaper advertising," says the Ames Holden McCready Co., Ltd., "is as necessary to the successful distribution of a trade-marked piece of merchandise as food, raiment and shelter are to the well-being of the individual.

"Newspaper advertising nourishes the product; it clothes it with reputation, integrity and respectability; and it protects it from the storms of competition and the inroads of goods of questionable parentage."

The human demand for news has created a unit of daily newspaper circulation for every family in Canada and has left a million besides to provide for casual readers. If you need every unit to-day, it is yours; if only twenty thousand, the rest can stand aside without adding one useless dollar to your cost of distribution.

What's the Price of Good Clothing?

The public to-day will not buy if they believe the article offered is "high priced." Unfortunately, many stores have taken this to mean that people want only cheap merchandise.

That is not our belief. Our customers want fair prices, the lowest prices possible for quality merchandise. But they know we cannot sell good clothing at the same price as cheap clothing.

There is nothing the public buys in which quality is so important as in clothing. Nor is there anything in which cheap workmanship can be so easily concealed from the casual observer.

Good clothing is made up of three things—good fabrics, good design and good tailoring. Skimping any one of them will cheapen clothing in price, but will cheapen it far more in quality. You can buy cheap clothing which may look well when you first put it on, it may be made of good fabric, but the real test will come after you wear it—that's when quality will begin to show up.

The difference between the cost of good clothing and poor clothing is small. But the difference in value—in satisfaction to the wearer—is great.

We sell good clothing. The price represents the quality that's in it. The kind of clothing that makes satisfied customers—and that's the kind we have.

Our clothes are the kind that deserve special consideration from any man who thinks well of his appearance. Good style—good tailoring—and good fabrics.

YOUNG MOTHER NOW STRONG

Her Mother's Faith in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound led Her to Try it

Kenosha, Wisconsin.—"I cannot say enough in praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My mother had great faith in it as she had taken so much of it and when I had trouble after my baby was born she gave it to me. It helped me so much more than anything else had done that I advise all women with female trouble to give it a fair trial and I am sure they will feel as I do about it.—Mrs. FRED. P. HANSEN, 562 Symmonds St., Kenosha, Wisconsin.

A medicine that has been in use nearly fifty years and that receives the praise and commendation of mothers and grandmothers is worth your consideration.

If you are suffering from troubles that sometimes follow child-birth bear in mind that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a woman's medicine. It is especially adapted to correct such troubles.

The letters we publish ought to convince you; ask some of your women friends or neighbors — they know its worth. You will, too, if you give it a fair trial.

"Your Baby in Hot Weather"

PREVENT SUMMER SICKNESS RATHER THAN CURE IT

A BABY'S GREATEST BLESSING IS A WISE MOTHER.

BY MRS. MAX WEST.
Late of the United States Children's Bureau.

As summer comes, conscientious mothers all over the country begin to think with dread of the dangers to which their babies will be exposed in the long hot days of July and August.

They are acquainted with that alarming "summer peak" of infant deaths, put out by the health departments in large cities every summer, which shows how critical a season this is for babies, especially for those who are already somewhat under par.

It is true that hot weather is hard on a baby, especially if the heat is protracted, bu it is also true that with good care a baby may be safely brought through the hottest weather, in the great majority of cases.

Year by year, that dreadful "summer peak" with its mounting curves ever rising through the six hottest weeks, is being cut down. It is nothing like as high now as it was 10 years ago, and each year it is getting lower.

Two things are mainly responsible for this steady reduction in the number of babies who give up their little lives every summer. These are the better knowledge of the dangers of impure milk, with increased knowledge of how to keep it clean and pure, and the constantly growing number of mothers who have learned the principles upon which good baby care depends.

In practically every large city, and in some smaller ones, it is now possible to buy "certified" milk which, in itself is a great safeguard for the baby. But quite as important, if not more so, is the fact that it is now possible everywhere for all mothers to learn how to protect their babies from the special hot-weather dangers, by attending infant welfare centres, by using some of the many good pamphlets available, or by the direct guidance of physicians and nurses.

The mother should realize that the time to fortify herself with such advice and instruction is now, before the heat and possible emergency are upon her.

To prevent summer diarrhea is a far better thing even than to bring the baby safely through it, for it takes a good while to restore a child to perfect health even after a mild case, while it may take months, if the illness has been severe and prolonged.

STORM IN NEW YORK CAUSED MANY DEATHS

NEW YORK, June 12.—(Canadian Press.)—Six persons were killed yesterday and more than forty hurt when the high wind caught a huge ferris wheel crowded with people at Clayson Point and hurled it to the ground. Two men were killed in Newark when they came in contact with electric wires torn down by the wind.

A massive tree crashed to the ground at Mount Vernon and killed Mrs. Cassie Cacavalle and her infant son. On the Boston Post Road a woman and her seven year old daughter were killed by a falling tree.

Attempt to Oust

and began to search for it, when the Premier arose and stated that Mr. Motherwell had made representations on the matter to the Government, and that they were receiving consideration.

Mr. Coote went on to say that there was a strong sentiment in the West in favour of the removal of Mr. Carvell, and there appeared to be good reason for this sentiment.

Mr. Coote declared that the Western people were dissatisfied with the Railway Commission as it was constituted. The Minister of Agriculture had made a promise, and should implement it.

"Does the country pay the chairman of the Railway Commission $12,000 a year for the purpose of travelling around the country telling people that he would put no credence in the word of a man who works for the farmers? Do they think we should have a different status for farmers and business men?" he asked. The item should stand over over until Mr. Motherwell made his promised statement.

Hon. W. C. Kennedy said there was another way of dealing with the matter than asking that the pay of the Railway Commission staff be stood over. If any charges were made they would be looked into.

Hon. J. A. Stewart, Conservative, Lanark, declared that the House had a right to know if Mr. Motherwell refused to make a statement.

Hon. H. H. Stevens, Conservative, Vancouver, Centre, said that Mr. Mr. Motherwell had pledged himself to "fire the chairman of the Railway Board." The Railway Act provided the constitutional method. Mr. Carvell could be impeached through an address of the Senate and House of Commons. An explanation was due the House from the Minister of Agriculture, for his "rash statement." If the Minister was not prepared to make a charge, he should explain.

Mr. Motherwell declared he was ready to make the statement if it was in order to discuss a statement made by a witness before a House committee before the report of the committee was tabled.

Deputy Speaker G. N. Gordon, M.P. for Peterborough West, intimated that the discussion was out of order, and the Hon. George Graham stated that if Mr. Carvell's conduct was open to rebuke, there was a proper method of going about it. The provision was placed in the Railway Act to place officials, such as Railway Board Commissioners, above political discussion.

J. T. Shaw (Calgary West) wanted to know if it was the intention of the Government to impeach Mr. Carvell.

Mr. Motherwell being further pressed for an explanation, said he had made his statment regarding Mr. Carvell in his capacity as a private citizen. He was now a Cabinet Minister, and the position carried responsibilities.

This ended the discussion, and the item carried.

Diamond Dust

Port Hope plays in Peterborough on Saturday, and if they have one of those good days Al. Heckman will think that we have a special homemade lot of home-run clubs down this way. Well, here's hoping that Port Hope will be responsible for Mr. Heckman's retiring to the bench. —Port Hope Guide.

Well! Well! Page Mr. Heckman.

The locals go to Peterborough for a league match tomorrow, and if they decide to bring on the heavy artillery it will be all over with Mr. Heckman.—Port Hope Guide.

Port Hope must have lost their heavy artillery on the way up here. At any rate, we didn't see any of it in action around Riverside Park.

* * *

The Petes win again. That puts the locals in second place and tied with Belleville and Cobourg. Oshawa tops the list by virtue of the extra game played by that team.

* * *

"Swanny" and "Shiner" were obliged to demonstrate to Port Hope that even Ty Cobb isn't fast enough to steal second on them. A couple of the visitors tried it and then meandered slowly over to the bench.

* * *

Al. pitched a first-class game and fanned twelve. Deer struck out nine, and if his teammates had given him better support at the critical moments the score might have been a little closer.

* * *

The crowd yelled to hit it, but "Jake" said bunt, and bunt they did. The result was several runs that otherwise might not have been scored.

* * *

In spite of the rain and other drawbacks, George East had the diamond in first-class shape Saturday. George sure knows how to manicure the old ball field and isn't afraid to work to keep it in shape.

* * *

Rutherford got two hits and two runs in four official times to bat Saturday. He also stole second twice. Not a bad record at all.

* * *

Shaughnessey's single in the fourth sent Swanston and Heckman home for the first two runs of the game.

* * *

The locals go to Lindsay on Wednesday afternoon. A bunch of Peterborough fans are going along, too.

The next home game is on June 21 with Leaside. The Petes will play in Leaside on June 17.

HERE'S THE BATTERY THAT KEEPS PETES IN THE RACE

AL. HECKMAN.

MAX SWANSTON.

There are some splendid battery combinations in the Central League this season, notably Williams and Mills at Belleville, Derry and Tyson, Cobourg, and Gallagher and Evans at Oshawa, but Manager Solomon of the Petes wouldn't trade the pair pictured above for a couple of the batteries named, for the figures show the Heckman-Swanston team, leading the Central loop in almost every department.

Heckman has pitched six games, fifty innings in all, and has won four victories, two of them by the shut-out route. He has allowed only three earned runs in six fixtures, an average of one earned run every two games. Altogether only nine counters have been scored against him, which figures out at the rate of 1½ runs per game. His control has been so good that he has only issued five passes in the six games in which he has figured, and has hit but one batter, while his strike-out total is fifty-three, an average of approximately nine per game. Only twenty-nine hits have been registered against him. If any pitcher in the league can show a more consistent record, the local fans would like to see the statistics. In addition to his grand pitching, Heckman leads the Petes in runs scored, and is stinging the pill for a batting average of .471. In addition to scoring six runs himself, he has batted in five more counters, so that he personally has been responsible for tallying more runs that have been scored by opposing teams against him.

Max Swanston is playing the best ball of his career this season. He has handed Heckman's delivery in fautless fashion, has accepted 81 fielding chances without anything that look like an error, hasn't had a passed ball marked against him in six games and his deadly throwing has the opposition anchored on the bases. Ten base runners have attempted to steal second on Swanston this season and he has turned eight of them back by perfect pegs. In fact, if Umpire "Lefty" McDonald had not pulled a raw decision in Cobourg when he called a runner safe at second who was out by three feet, Swanston's record would have been nine base runners nailed in ten attempts. As it is, two stolen bases in six games is a mark that no other catcher in the league has reached. Swanston, in addition, is hitting in timely fashion, with an average of .333 for the season. He has scored four runs himself and driven in five others, making a total of nine for which he deserves the credit.

Altogether, on top of their great defensive work, Peterborough's crack battery have between them scored or batted in twenty out of the twenty-eight runs scored by the Petes this season.

HARD TASK IN FRONT OF PETES

Have Four Out of Their Next Five Games on Foreign Fields.

The Central League race tightened up again as a result of Saturday's games, Oshawa, by reason of playing one more game than the other first division clubs, going out in front by beating Lindsay. Cobourg's victory over Belleville pulled the Grand Trunks down from the top of the ladder, and Oshawa with five wins and two losses are half a game ahead of Peterborough, Cobourg and Belleville, who are tied for second place, with four wins and two losses. It is a great old race, and anybody who can pick a winner for the first half is a real prophet. Here is the standing:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Oshawa	5	2	.714
Peterborough	4	2	.667
Belleville	4	2	.667
Cobourg	4	2	.667
Lindsay	4	3	.571
Port Hope	2	4	.333
Leaside	2	4	.333
Bowmanville	0	6	.000

With four out of their next five games scheduled away from home, the Petes are facing their hardest task during the first half. On Wednesday the Solomon crew travel to Lindsay and on Saturday they go to Leaside. A week from Wednesday Leaside play here and on the following Saturday, June 24, the Petes battle Oshawa in Oshawa. On Wednesday, 28th, they are called upon to play in Port Hope, and then Cobourg comes to Peterborough on July 1st.

Many fans are going to motor to Lindsay on Wednesday for the battle there. The Petes must win to stay up in the first division.

Cobourg's protest against Oshawa in connection with the game of Saturday, June 3rd, in which the eligibility of Evans and Twigg of Oshawa is questioned, is being heard this afternoon by the sub-committee of the Central Ontario League, who are meeting in Port Hope.

POLKADOT WINS MINIATURE RACE.

Bull's United States model yacht, gained possession of the international championship trophy for the small craft yesterday by decisively defeating its English rival, W. J. Daniel's Endeavor, for the third straight time. The victory made a clean sweep for the Yankee miniature craft, which had won easily both previous races from the challenger.

PETES USE WHITEWASH BRUSH ON PORT HOPE

Win Saturday's Fixture Handily By 6 Runs to Nil, Heckman Holding the Visitors to Five Scattered Singles.

"BUNTED" A VICTORY.

SUPERFINE pitching by Al. Heckman, who held Port Hope to five singles, scattered through as many innings, did not issue a single pass and whiffed twelve, and clever use of the bunt form of attack by the Petes, enabled the Solomon crew to win an easy victory over the Ontarios on Saturday afternoon's Central League fixture at Riverside Park, the final count being 6 to nil. Heckman had the visitors thoroughly in hand at all stages, only one of them getting as far as third, and he was invincible when a hit might have meant a score. With lots of smoke and perfect control, refusing to pass a man, "Heck" was always in charge of the situation. Only eight of the visitors reached first, and three was the number that got to second.

The method of attack chosen by Manager Solomon had the visitors all at sea, for the Petes literally bunted their way to victory. They used that means of getting on bases and advancing base runners so often that the Port Hope infield was up in the air, and several times bunts that were intended for sacrifices were so badly handled that the batters were safe. Some of the grandstand managers kept advising the batters to "hit it out," but the Peters are working under orders this year, and Manager Solomon's signals were obeyed with results that justified the judgment of the Petes leader. Bunts by Heckman and Shaughnessy paved the way for the first two counters of the game in the fourth. In the next, an error on Rutherford's bunt and Johnston's sacrifice made the next counter possible on Swanston's single. Bunts by Long and Rutherford sent another run over in the sixth, and in the seventh Soden's perfect sacrifice bunt sent Heckman from first to third, in position to score easily on Shaughnessy's rap. This good bunting was responsible for the first five runs, and it was the best exhibition of inside ball that the Petes have given this season. Incidentally, some of the fans who howl their heads off when they see a batter sent up to bunt might find some food for reflection in a study of the manner in which the Petes' scores were registered on Saturday.

Deer did the gunning for the visitors and did not make a bad job of it, fanning nine of the homesters, but the slow and uncertain handling of bunts by his infield kept him in hot water. The visitors had Hall, McNeill and Teeple, formerly of Kingston, on their line-up, and the first-named contributed the feature play of the day, incidentally robbing Shaughnessy of at least a double and cutting off three runs. The bases were filled with two out when Shaughnessy drove one to deep left field. Hall started with the crack of the bat, and running out at an angle gathered in the ball while going at top speed. It was a sensational catch, and visiting left fielder got a big hand from the crowd.

The Petes broke into the scoring column in the fourth. Swanston started the attack by beating out an infield tap. Heckman bunted for a sacrifice, but Hills lost the throw, and there were two on the sacks. Soden fanned after two attempts to sacrifice, but Shaughnessy laid down a perfect bunt, which he easily beat out, filling the stations. Kirn was called out on strikes. Holyman, however, came through with a line single over short, scoring Swanston and Heckman with the first runs of the game. Long whiffed for the third out.

Good bunting featured the Petes' half of the fifth. Rutherford laid one down to start with and reached second when McNeill threw past first. Johnston moved him over to third with a neat sacrifice, and Swanston sent the run home with a clean single over second. Heckman walked and Soden's sacrifice bunt advanced the runners a peg each. Shaughnessy fanned to relieve the side.

Once more in the sixth the home crew used the bunting game to advantage. Kirn was walked to start with, but was forced at second on Holyman's bunt to Deer. Long bunted along the first base line, and was safe when Hills lost Deer's throw, Holyman going to third. Long stole second. Rutherford bunted safely in front of the plate, scoring Holyman and sending Long to third. Rutherford stole second, but Johnston struck out and Swanston cracked one to Deer, who tossed him out at first.

The homesters picked up another counter in the seventh. Heckman got a single on a high one back of first which Hills failed to reach. Soden's perfect sacrifice bunt sent the pitcher all the way round to third, Shortstop Teeple failing to cover the sack when McNeill came in to field a tap. Shaughnessy singled through short and Heckman registered. Kirn flied to centre and Holyman fanned.

A sensational catch by Hall, Port Hope's left fielder averted a flock of scores in the eighth. With one down, Rutherford was hit and went to second while Teeple was throwing out Johnston. Swanston was safe when Deer mussed up his tap, Rutherford going to third. Swanston started a delayed steal to second and Rutherford counted when Chalk threw low to second. Swanston got back to first safely. Then Heckman and Soden drew passes, filling the bases. Shaughnessy met one "on the nose" and the ball sailed far out into left. It looked like a double at least and three runs in, but Hall, running back at full speed, gathered in the Spalding in great style.

Port Hope's chances of scoring were not very plentiful. They got two men on through errors in the second, Hall getting a life on Holyman's slow throw, and after Chalk and Micks had fanned Fair's roller got away from Rutherford. Heckman whiffed McDonald to end the endings.

With two gone in the third, Hills singled past third, but Swanston threw him out when he tried to steal, Johnston blocking the runner off the bag in great style.

The visitors saw third for the first and only time in the fourth. Teeple led off with a single to left and went to second while Johnston was tossing out Hall. On Heckman's bad throw to catch him napping, Teeple went to third. Heckman fanned Bob. Chalk and Micks' best was a high foul near the stand, which Swanston smothered.

McNeill singled to open the sixth and was sacrificed to second by Hills, but the next two were easy.

Micks singled with one out in the seventh, but fell a victim to Swanston's accurate throwing when he tried to steal second.

McNeill got a life on Rutherford's fumble with two out in the eighth, but Hills was tossed out by Rutherford to retire the side.

In the ninth, with two down, Chalk singled to left, only to die on first, for Manager Johnny Rowden, batting for Micks, lifted an easy fly to Johnston, and the game was over.

COMRADES DEFEAT C.P.C. FOOTBALLERS

Game at King Edward Park Results in Victory By Narrow Margin For the Comrades.

Comrades pulled themselves further ahead in the Football League by defeating the C.P.C. team, 2 to 1, at King Edward Park Saturday afternoon. The game was very even and the Comrades just deserved their narrow win.

Both teams fielded new players, C.P.C. having Curtis, late of the C. G. E. in goal, while Comrades played Hoggarth, who was with the Callies last season.

The first half of the game was unproductive, neither team scoring though the Comrades had hard luck when a shot from McDougal hit both crossbar and upright, only to come back into play.

Comrades opened the scoring in the second half, McDougal beating Curtis. C.P.C. were not to be denied, and a cross from Strickland grazed off Anderson into goal, Fenner having no chance to save.

Both teams were hard after the winning goal, Comrades just getting in front in the closing minute. McDougal again had the honour of scoring.

The players were:

C.P.C. — Curtis, Oxley, Davis, Brierly, J. Shaw, Batley, Follis, Strickland, M. Shaw, Clarke and Bradbury.

Comrades — Fenner, Anderson, Hill, Ward, Brown, Sayers, Hansen, Hoggarth, J. Shaw, McDougall and Mallinson.

Referee—J. L. Howarth.

FIREMEN AND POLICE BATTLE

The ancient question of which of the two civic departments, the police or the firemen, is superior in manly prowess, will be settled once and for all on Thursday afternoon, when ball teams representing each will clash at C entral Park at 2.30 p.m. According to report the police hinted at the pleasure it would give them to show up the fire fighters, and Chief George Gimblett, who piloted the Central hall nine in Hamilton to the championship last year, promptly accepted the challenge, and Thursday was fixed as the date for the passage. The police have not yet announced their battery, but for the Firemen, Victor Carr will pitch and the Chief will catch. The Mayor and Council will be invited, and the accommodation will be at a premium, for the crowds that will want to see the ancient difference decided in a fair and friendly way. To-day both departments were ready to back their teams to the limit. The firemen have stipulated that the police must subject themselves to an examination to make sure they have no concealed weapons on their persons.

EXPECT STATEMENT ON IRISH SITUATION

LONDON, June 12.— (Canadian Press.)—Parliament re-assembled today after an eleven day recess with public interest mainly centred on Colonial Secretary Churchill's expected statement regarding the Irish situation. Prior to the meeting of the House another conference between Mr. Churchill and Irish delegates was arranged, and it was assumed in some quarters that this meeting may result in an agreement.

RULE STOPPING BARN STORMING IS MAINTAINED

National League Leaders Do Not Want Any Change in Law Which Almost Wrecked Ruth.

A SURPRISE.

NEW YORK, June 12.—(Canadian Press.—Retention of the "barnstorming" rule, for the breaking of which Babe Ruth and two other players were suspended, was recommended to Commissioner K. M. Landis Friday by seven National League clubs, which were represented at a meeting here.

"Thorough consideration was given the proposition to change the world series rules," says an official statement, "which requires both participating teams to disband immediately after the series. It was held that the present rule is a good one, and should be retained."

When Ruth, Bob. Meusel and Bill Piercy of the New York Americans, the latter now with Boston, went on an exhibition tour last October they said they were justified because the rule was "unfair." Some considered it obsolete and others opined that Commissioner Landis was making a strict interpretation of a resurrected law in suspending the three players.

During the winter and spring a movement to repeal the rule was begun. Little public argument was made against it and most fans believed that it would be erased from the books at league meetings this year, Friday's decision coming as a distinct surprise. Representatives of all but the Pittsburgh club attended the meeting. The statement did not say if the action was unanimous.

President John L. Heydler, who presided, was appointed a committee of one to carry out the league's plans in obtaining a site and erecting "a fitting memorial in memory of the late Captain Adrian C. Anson," who died in Chicago this spring. Anson is recognized as the "Daddy of Baseball."

There were other mournful touches to Friday's session. The league voted a monthly pension to Cal. A. McVey, one of the original Cincinnati "Reds," who played on the "Big Four" with Spalding, White and Barnes. McVey has suffered ill fortune, "and is in need," the statement says.

JOHNSON DILUTES HIS JUSTICE NOW.

He Considers the Temperament of His Players When Passing Judgment.

NEW YORK, June 10. — Ban Johnson is diluting his justice with mercy these days. Take the case of Babe Ruth.

Babe hurdled into the stands and made a fan do 2,100 revolutins a minute. If this had happened ten years ago Ban would have sentenced Babe to sell rogrammes or shuck new mown peanuts for the duration of the season.

But this year Ban writes a Valentine greeting in blank verse and orders Ruth to read it.

This was about the cruelest punishment meted out thus far this season by the head of the American League, who formerly was known as a martinet, a tsar, and names not so polite.

The Ruth sentence indicates that Ban has come to realise at last that baseball stars have something in common with those of the opera. They are subject to temperamental fits. Probably ten years hence a baseball wonder who gets front-page space for running amuck like an escaped steer on the streets of Bingville will be accorded a raise in pay, the clean-up position in the batting order, and an afternoon off every ladies' day.

"Our First Year"

(BY A BRIDE)

Again—Jack and I Both in Bad Humor at Once.
(By a Bride.)

"Did you have a pleasant walk last evening" asked my husband when we exchanged an abbreviated and surreptitious caress on the mezzanine before breakfast.

I took it for granted Jack had seen me go to the garage to hunt my pearls, so I answered:

"Yes, did you And did you sleep well"

"Passably."

My chance to refer to my fox scarf I was wearing for the first time did not come until we were finding our places in the cars. Then I whispered:

"How do you like my pet fox?"

"Stunning! Is it yours, dear I noticed it at breakfast. Thought you'd put on Bonny's."

"It's mine!" I announced gleefully; and indeed I was glad to so casually break the news of my purchase. Not that Jack ever had been horrid about what I bought for myself, but sometimes my shopping trophies made me feel he wasn't earning enough.

Before noon I realied the fox stole or something had started another rift between us, that some occurrence was spoiling our day.

Certainly it was unfortunate my nerves and Jack's should be frazzled at tht same time. That's always the way, I've found. Maybe it's action and reaction. Sometimes I've thought if I would make an effort to control my own nerves I wouldn't notice Jack's so much.

The big things, emergencies, disappointments, never disturbed us, but we seemed to be always on the lookout for some excuse for a petty mood.

If Jack had his reason for moods, all that trip, I soon discovered an excuse for my own.

Bonny always ran for the letters when we stopped for the night.

"Who's your lady friend, Jack Your steady correspondent?" she cried as she flipped a note to him. "Your mother,"

"Somebody old enough to be his mother," I answered for him.

Jack put the letter into his pocket, made no comment, and never referred to it again.

Said I to Me:

"He never opens them until he is alone! And I'm quite helpless. He and I are to be good chums and pals. I must accept everything, he never need explain. Therefore, my dilemma. I've just got to endure—and endure! And—it—is—not—fair."

FAIR WAGES POLICY

any abuse which might arise from the sub-letting of contracts it shall be understood that sub-letting, other than such as may be customary in the trades concerned, is prohibited unless the approval of the Minister is obtained; sub-contractors shall be bound in all cases to conform to the conditions of the main contract and the main contractor shall be held responsible for strict adherence to all contract conditions on the part of sub-contractor; the contract shall not, nor shall any portion thereof be transferred without the written permission of the Minister; no portion of the work to be performed shall be done at the homes of the workmen.

Government May Pay

In the event of default being made in payment of any money owing in respect of wages of any work men employed on government control work and if a claim therefor is filed in the office of the Minister and proof thereof satisfactory to the Minister is furnished, the said Minister may pay such claim out of moneys at any time payable by His Majesty under said contracts and the amounts so paid shall be deemed payments to the Contractor.

Wages at Nassua Dam

In explanation of the strict interpretation of the terms in the order-in-Council. "Current Wages" and hours of labor fixed by the custom of the trade", Mr. Gordon writes as follows:

In the foregoing are meant, respectively the standard rates of wages and hours of labour either recognized by signed agreements between employers and workmen in the district from which the labour required is necessarily drawn or rates actually prevailing although not necessarily recognized by signed agreements.

Which means that, on the Nassau Dam, where the labor was drawn largely from the City of Peterborough, the rate of wages of labour in the city of Peterborough will prevail, and not as Honourable Gideon Robertson declared, when I appealed to him last year, that the rates at Nassau should prevail.

"This change you will see would fix the rate of wages on any Government work around the City of Peterborough, at Peterborough rates, if the labor is drawn from the City of Peteborough; which should mean an increase in the standard of living of the day laborer.

"I have had many conferences with the Honourable James Murdock, and we have discussed this very point, which you will see, will benefit locally our working people".

AGED COUPLE DIE.

PRINCE RUPERT, June 12.—(Canadian Press)—The death of Thomas Minty and his wife, aged 99 and 98 respectively, at Aberdeen, Scotland, is reported in a message received by A. C. Minty, a son, here. They were said to have been the oldest wedded living couple in the United Kingdom, having been married 72 years. Nine children survive, all in Canada.

Allan Dwan presents "A Perfect Crime"
At the ROYAL—To-night, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

At The Theatres

CAPITOL — 'My Old Kentucky Home," racing drama of the Blue-grass Country. Balance of usual Capitol programme.

ROYAL — "A Perfect Crime"; Alice Calhoun in "The Charming Deceiver," and Mack Sennett Comedy.

REGENT — Constance Binney, in "The Magic Cup," and "High and Dry," as shown at Loew's Theatres.

AT THE REGENT.

"Say," said the deadly microbe to his mate, "now that people are worried by the heat and hard times let's go out and multiply! When people are feeling blue is our chance to get busy!" His mate replied, "Let's go! But we must keep away from the Regent Theatre as it is the coolest and most sanitary public place in Peterborough. With the splendid pictures now shown by the new manager, too, an audience forgets its cares and troubles and so keeps happy and healthy That's no place for us! What chance have we with people looking at such a feature picture as "The Magic Cup," with Constance Binney in this, the play that made her famous? Why, it's a play that holds an audience spellbound as they watch the story of a poor girl, whose only valuable is an antique silver cup she inherits from a long line of Irish ancestors and which cup brings her to riches and love. Nothing doing for us poor microbes at the Regent tonight! Besides, the Regent also presents a Chaplin and other pictures, as well as an illustrated song."

Capitol Entertainment

"My Old Kentucky Home," big human interest drama, is to the South what "Way Down East" means to New England, a story of mother love with thrilling Kentucky Derby horse race.

Vaudeville novelty for week end. Coolest place in the city is the Capitol Theatre.

"Weep no more my Honey."

The fate of a boy and girl was hanging in the balance and the saving of a Southern fortune was at stake. It remained within the power of a race-horse to put his right foot forward just enough ahead to win the Kentucky Derby and save the situation. Did the horse prove his worth? You can just bet your last dollar that he did and that's what makes "My Old Kentucky Home" one of the season's biggest pictures.

It is a story by Anthony Paul Kelly displaying the homely, Southern spirit and takes its title from the ever-famous song hummed throughout this broad continent. It is a vivid human interest drama of mother love with thrills galore and contains one of the biggest racing scenes ever witnessed on the screen. It has been favorably compared to "Way Down East."

The Kentucky Derby, the richest racing prize event in history, is pictured in all its splendor.

Convict 4485!

How would you like to go out into the world after serving a two-year term convicted of a criminal offense of which you were innocent?

Most people would feel sore at the world and go straight to perdiction Only those with a strong will could resist the temtpation.

Richard Goodloe, son of a Southern widow in moderate circumstances, recently came through such an experience and was on the brink of going down the wrong path when he heard the strains of "My Old Kentucky Home." The tune made him home-sick, brought back memories of his mother and childhood days and through the aid of two friends of the underworld he was enabled to get back home.

Sigrid Holmquist, called the Mary Pickford of Sweden, has been in the United States but six months. During that time, however, she has appeared in some of the best known pictures, notably, "Just Around the Corner," and "Prophet's Paradise."

For the last three days of this week, the Capitol management has secured a distinct novelty in the vaudeville line; Whitney's Doll Revue, a remarkably new and picturesque novelty from Europe, that is a guaranteed attraction, and has proved a headliner on the big American circuits, wherever shown.

Owing to its ventilating and cooling system, which permits of a complete renewal of air throughout the theatre every three minutes, the Capitol offers to its patrons one of the coolest places in town in which to spend an evening.

Through the extraordinary enterprise and progressive policy which characterizes all his activities, Manager Abbey of the Capitol Theatre, has secured one of the biggest moving picture sensations of the times. "Foolish Wives," is beyond doubt the last word in production, correct detail, gorgeous scenery and setting. It comes here after phenomenal runs in the United States, and at Pantages Theatre, Toronto. It did the largest business of a season which has been full of surprises in the theatrical line, the result of two weeks' business of "Foolish Wives" in that city proves conclusively that, given a really big attraction, hot weather, out-door sports and every variety of counter show, the people cannot be kept away from a super moving picture presentation. Advance notices to the effect that "Foolish Wives" is the sensation of the year, that it represents that last word in this wonderful business, and that it is a million dollar show, made in America with a cast that is all star, cannot begin to give one an idea of the treat that is in store for local fans. Peterborough people should be delighted to know that they are to see the picture that large cities have waited breathlessly for and have acclaimed as something so very different that houses like Pantages Theatre in Toronto were crowded to the doors — police restrictions prevented the lines on Yonge street and lobby, aisles and boxes were crowded as never before.

The first real million-dollar photo-drama has made its appearance. It is "Foolish Wives," an extravagant picturization of life and adventures at Monte Carlo, made by Eric von Stroheim for the Universal Film Company. In the lavishness of its sets, the absolute accuracy of its details and its unusual characterizations, it is reputed to outstrip anything hitherto attempted for the screen. It is to be presented at the Capitol Theatre soon.

Strong Cast.

A strong cast appears with von Stroheim in "Foolish Wives." Maude George and Mae Busch play the roles of two adventuresses, accomplices of the "Count.' Miss du Pont, who is a star in her own right with Universal, takes the role of the frivolous American wife, while Rudolph Christians, a popular Continental actor, plays her husband. Dale Fuller appears as a servant maid; Caesare Gravina, formerly an operatic star, appears as an old Italian counterfeiter, and Malveen Polo, as his halfwit daughter.

The characters delineated by these and other members of the cast are said to be gems of histrionic art. Von Stroheim, who directed "Blind Husbands" and "The Devil's Pass Key," long has been noted for the vividness of his characters. In "Foolish Wives," he has gone much further, it is understood, in creating characters that live in the mind as real and forceful personalities.

LESSON FOR LIARS IN "A PERFECT CRIME."

Have you ever had an uncontrollable desire to lie—to lie magnificently so as to impress someone with your importance? Have you ever had the desire to pretend to someone that you're a dashing hero or a society belle when as a matter of fact you are nothing of the sort? Have you ever felt that if you could attract someone's attention you could hold it—and have you ever had the desire to lie to do it?

On the assumption that you will answer all of these questions in the affirmative Allan Dwan has produced "A Perfect Crime," a comedy drama, as his second Associated Producer's release, based on the desirability and even importance of lying in an intelligent way. The picture comes to the Royal Theatre to-night.

Monte Blue has the role of Wally Griggs, a timid bank messenger whom everyone despises for his stupidity. Suddenly Wally, the worm, turns. He begins to lie. He tells magnificent and thrilling yarns about things which never happened on land or sea. His ridiculous yarns are published and he wins a beautiful girl who had ignored him in his honest days.

There is a little sister in the story, too, and it was she who first started him on the adventure of spinning lies by wholesale. The story is as pathetic in spots as it is amusing in others. Jacqueline Logan, a forme Zeegfield girl, plays the leading feminne role, while Stanton Heck and Hardee Kirkland are also in the cast.

PETERBORO ENTERS A RECOMMENDATION

Rates Question Was Heard Again This Morning—The Evidence.

OTTAWA, June 12 (Special to The Examiner).—Chairman McLean of the Parliamentary Committee on Transportation Costs, announced this morning that the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce had recommended a further suspension of the Crows' Nest Pass agreement for thee years, and that Order 308 of the Railway Commission be abrogated.

Questioning of W. D. Lanigan, the general traffic manager of the C.P.R., continued all morning.

W. M. German asked him if it were true that the Railway Commission had held that a railway was entitled to earnings sufficient to meet its fixed charges, pay a dividend, and provide a surplus.

Mr. Lanigan replied that this was the case.

Mr. German then asked whether, if the Crow's Nest Pass agreement had been in force since 1918, and an amount sufficient to earn this sum had not been earned, would it have been necessary to make this up through increased rates in other portions of the country.

Mr. Lanigan replied yes, that the money would have had to be made up through increased freight and passenger rates.

Questioned as to the value of Mr. Symington's statistics respecting revenue and operating expenses in the West as compared with those in the East, Mr. Lanigan said that they merely related to operating, but as they were not accounting figures, they were not an accurate statement of facts. The real estimate of the company's operations for a given year was contained in its report.

The Examiner was informed that outside of the painful sartorial feat performed, no injury was done to the toolmaker, and he is able to be out.

A CONFERENCE WILL BE HELD WITH INDIANS

Mounted Police Guard Entrance to Pointe Pelee Government Park—Indians Are Quiet.

OTTAWA INFORMED

LEAMINGTON, Ont., June 13 (Special to The Examiner). — A conference between chiefs of the Walpole Island Indians and officials of the Federal Department of Indian Affairs will likely be the next step in settling the dispute that has arisen about the ownership of land on Pointe Pelee.

Apparently there is no intention on the part of the Indians of invading the lands of the Government Park to which they lay claim.

There has been no trek of 300 Indians from Walpole, and contrary to reports last night the "main body" has not reached Wheatly Village, and is not even on the road.

The two red-coated mounted policemen doing sentry-guard at the main entry of the Island have so far been in the position of waiting for something interesting to happen. They have no need of reinforcements.

At nine o'clock this morning Sergt. Birtwhistle and Constable Ingram, of the Mounties, who have been doing picket duty in case any Redskins should come along, had a conference with Forest H. Conover, park superintendent, who has been in touch with the claims of the Indians all along, and who was instrumental in keeping Ottawa informed of the situation from time to time.

The results of this conference were not divulged in detail, but it is understood that a proposal was made by the policemen that Ottawa should be asked to name a date for a conference with the Indians when the claims of the chiefs to the Pointe Pelee land might be heard. There was no suggestion that violence might be encountered.

The authorities have been given to understand that the Indians want no more than their rights, but that they firmly believe that they are entitled to land in Anderon Township, south of a line joining Leamington and Wheatley. This includes the Governments 300-acre game preserve.

Breadway Prefers Tango to Jazz As the Latest Syncopated Squirm

NEW YORK, June 13.—Back in 1914 when Vernon Castle set New York to one-stepping from noon until breakfast time, "tangoers" was a term generally applied to all those who danced the new steps. To the strait-laced the term "tango" embodied all the sins of the flesh and carried with it all the offense of the jazz-born "shimmy" and "toddle" of later date. To be sure the tango was danced then and an effort was made by the dancing teachers to attach to it the popularity which with the one-step and fox-trot but they never succeeded and the so-called tango days were not tangoes in any sense of the term. The movements of this South American combination of grace and sinousness, whose origin is generally placed in Argentina, whence it gets the name Argentine tango, were too difficult and required too much instruction and practice for those who were smiten with the one-step fever.

But now Broadway is talking of the tango, or rather tango steps, as the successor of jazz-steps which are losing their popularity. Already some hotel orchestras which play for tea, supper and dinner dances are eliminating the syncopation and discords of jazz and playing fox-trots to slower and smoother music. No small part of the rising tide of favor in which the tango finds itself is due to the Spanish influence of fashions exhibited last summer among the wealthy and ultra-smart dressers by the wearing of Spanish shawls. If you are observant you will note that the frequent appearance of women promenading in Times Square these days wearing capes, generally fringed which unmistakably shows the style influence. Even the flaper has draped her legs with the fringes of these capes. Morever, the flapper is seeking instruction in tango steps and that in itself is sufficient to insure their vogue.

THIRD BATTLE YPRES KNOWN CANADIANS AS "JUNE SHOW" 1916

How in Face of Terrible Odds They Maintained the Canadian Tradition of Never Having Lost a Trench.

(Written for the Canadian Press)

Six years ago today the outcome of the third battle of Ypres was decided. On June 2, after concentrated artillery bombardment, the Germans attacked the allied line which bounded that blood-soaked triangle, the "salient" and for eleven days and nghts, attack and counter-attack, in-nights, attack and counter-attack, in-ling to which Canadians ever subject, raged from Hooge to Hill 60.

On that 3,000 yards of front, which represented the area of the fighting, it is estimated that over eleven German divisions were used in an effort to smash through the Canadian line. Oposed to thes were actually ony two Canadian divisions, for the Second Canadian division only contributed a few battalions. The Germans did advance; penetrating in one place to Zillebeke village, nearly 2,000 yards from the original front line trenches but in their attack six years ago today, Canadians drove them from the occupied ground, consolidated the line where it had previously been and made good the saying of the Canadian Corps "that the men from the Dominion had never lost a trench."

Historians only making passing reference to this fight which has been variously termed "The Battle of Sanctuary Wood, of Maple Copse or of Zillebeke, "neverthless the loss and the recovery of the position was fraught with some of the costliest and most desperate fighting of of the war. Whole battalions were wiped out in teh fury of the bombardments which preceded the attacks of the Wurtembergers and for miles behind the line the Boche guns shelled roads, dumps and billets until that strip of Flanders soil bounded on the North by the Menin Road at Hooge, on the South by Hill 60 and on the East by the trenches, was a litter of dead men, animals and the welter of equipment smashed by high explosive. The First and Third Canadian Divisions in leevn days of fighting, lost more men at the Third Battle of Ypres than those same Divisions lost in six weeks at the Somme. The enemy's losses, though never definitely ascertained, were estimated at close to 20,000 or nearly double the casualties sustained by the Canadians At least one German Corps commander was retired for failure to penetrate the position.

Story of Fight.

Briefly, the story of the fight is this: On the morning of June 2, the Boche opened with guns of all calibre upon the positions held by the Canadian troops from Mount Sorrel on the right to Hooge on the left. Armagh and Sanctuary Woods where splinter-proof shelters for the reserve companies of battalions in line were located, were deluged with shells and communication trenches, fire trenches, bombing and machine gun posts were obliterated by the terrific bombardment. When the enemy advanced only a few dazed and desperate survivors remained to resist.

The Third Canadian Division was in line at the time of the enemy attack, the Second Division was occupying front line positions further south, and the First Canadian Division was in Corps Reserve. The latter received orders to march out at once to the line to deliver the counter-blow necessary to restore the line. The first counter-attack was planned to take place before daylight, June 3rd, but the order was afterwards changed to 7 o'clock. Several hours before this time the battalions of the First Division which

Made New World's Parachute Record

DAYTON, June 13.—(Canadian Press)—Lashed and whipped about by a 120-mile an hour gale more than four and a half miles above the earth, on the verge of suffocation, caused by the loss of his oxygen tank, and compelled to cling to the ropes and straps attached to the parachute for fear that cross-currents might cause them to break, are several of the "mere" details related by Captain A. W. Stevens, McCookfield, who yesterday broke the world's parachute jumping record, when he descended 24,206 feet, and landed 25 miles from where he left the plane.

GOOD WORK ON THE NEW PLANT

Contractors Struck an Old Well on Westclox Site.

The contractors for the new Western Clock Company factory on Armour Hill report steady progress on the work. About 25 men were on the job to-day, and as the work continues the force will be enlarged. The contractors are concentrating on the construction of the boiler house, and the three boilers, two for heating and one for high pressure, are already on the job. Archie Barbeau put the last one on the ground today after a strenuous struggle up the hill. Three teams were required to move the monster boiler, and the last shove over the crown of the hill was witnessed by a big crowd.

Water and sewer connections have been put in, and the offices of the contractors and sheds for the equipment completed. As there will be no basement to the building, work has been started on the column footings, and a large number of these sunk. In putting down one an old well, a part of the Armour Estate, was struck and required a deviation from the original plans. These footings will be poured in several weeks and the skeleton of the building gone ahead with. The base of the immense 100-foot chimney, consisting of concrete blocks four feet deep and 14 and 11 feet in diameter, has been laid. Forms for the walls and divisions of the boiler-house are going up, and the work on this section is proceedingly rapidly. On account of part of the bank sliding away with the rains, a retaining wall has been built that will prevent any further landslides.

The artificial stone used in the building will be made on the job, it was announced to-day, and preparations will begin in a few days. Delivery of some of the brick, which is being bought in Lindsay and locally, has been made, and other material is being assembled so that as the work progresses there will be no delay. The orders for brick were given to two manufacturers, so delivery will be facilitated, Francis H. Leleu, resident engineer, stated today.

ROBBERS MADE DARING ESCAPE THROUGH SEWER

Detectives Dive After Robbers, Who Get Away With $1,000 Stolen from Butcher.

A THRILLING CHASE

NEW YORK, June 13.—By diving into Manhattan Island through a sewer, as Jean Veljean fled through the sewers of Paris in "Les Miserables," two hold-up men escaped the police after robbing a meat market at 618 West Thirty-Ninth Street. In their fruitless pursuit of the robbers detectives from Police Headquarters and the West Thirtieth Street Station, not only leaped into the river and risked death with a tide rising under a pier, but crawled several hundred feet up into the sewer.

It was a case of many thrills. Dominick Henry, the Deputy Chief Inspector of the Police Department, who had hurried to Thirty-Ninth Street to direct the chase, said at Police Headquarters that it was the most fascinating police pursuit he had ever seen in his long experience as a policeman in the city. Ten wet policemen from the West Thirtieth Street Station were willing to admit as much—and here's the story.

Joseph Bush, who runs a small shop at 618 West Thirty-Ninth Street, hardly more than a step from the river, was just counting up the receipts from a heavy day's business when two men stepped into the shop and ordered him to throw up his hands. He did. They grabbed the money, about $1,000, and hurried out without the usual threats of death if the police were called.

The hold-up men had not reached the corner before the butcher had Spring 2100 on the wire and was excitedly pouring his alarm into Police Headquarters and the West Thirtieth Street Station. So fast did the police respond to the call that the butcher had not finished the details of his story tor Police Headquarters before detectives in a high power car were at his door—a run of more than nine blocks in fire department time.

Butcher Pilots Detectives.

"They went that way," shouted the butcher, as he pointed toward the river.

"Close up shop and come with us," said the detectives. "We're going to catch these fellows and we will want you to identify them."

The butcher leaped into the automobile, and before he had struck leather the police chauffeur had the car in high and was shooting the short distance toward the river. This was fewer than ten minutes after the actual robbery.

Butcher and detectives were amazed to see the two men sitting on a stringer of the pier at Thirty-Ninth Street, leisurely counting out a roll of notes and dividing the loot. The robbers apparently were not so amazed, but before the detectives could start shooting the men had crammed the money into their pockets and dived off the pier into the Hudson. Annette Kellermann couldn't beat them in their leisurely, plumb-like method of diving.

Detectives Dive After Robbers.

Where the men went down the police saw a few bubbles. Knowing the way of the rivermen, the detectives felt sure that the men would not emerge from the river where they had leaped in, but might come up under the pier and seek some perch on a secure stringer under the 500 feet of the big platform.

Thinking that they might have time to catch the men under the pier, several of the detectives quickly took off their suits and leaped into the river, diving deep and coming up in the darkness under the pier. They could not see the men. Detective after detective made dive after dive along the length of the pier, trying to pick up some dark form hidden away in a dark corner.

The tide kept rising, so that the detectives had to dive deeper to get under the pier. Other policemen, reserves who had been called from the West Thirtieth, stood guard every few feet along the big pier, thinking that the tide would reach every hiding spot under the pier and force the men out in an attempt to escape death by drowning. The men did not come out.

Inspector Henry arrived in a high-power car from headquarters and started to work. He sent in a hurry call for the police boat John F. Hylan, two police launches and several row-boats, and a boat patrol around the pier was started. No luck.

Torches For Police Divers.

It was getting darker and the inspector sent for a searchlight and smaller lights from the Fire Department and the Edison Company, and told the men in charge of the apparatus that he wanted some rubber-bound wires strung so that the police divers could get in under the pier with the powerful torches and poke into every cranny as yet untouched by the rising tide.

Working swiftly, the electrical men quickly had several powerful lights ready and the detectives, holding the wires in their teeth, dived into the deep flood and crowled up under the pier. They threw beams into

COURT IN PARLOR

MRS. MILDRED BRANDT

Mrs. Mildred Brandt, housewife and mother of two children, has been elected police magistrate of Winslow, Ill. Probably she's the first Illinois woman to hold such an office.

"I'm going to hold court in the parlor of my home," she says, "so I can do my housework between court sessions without travelling back and forth from a downtown office.

"If I didn't hold court at home I don't know how I'd get through the housecleaning season or get my fruits and preserves put up for winter.

"You see, even if I am a judge, I'm first a wife and mother, and I mustn't neglect the duties that go with those titles."

CASE CRUELTY BEFORE COURT

Five and Ten Dollar Fine For Gravel Road Speeders

Cases of cruelty to dumb animals that come to his attention will be severely dealt with Magistrate O. A. Langley emphasized in Police Court when he found John Dallabough, a teamster, living on the Gravel Road guilty of cruelty to a horse owned by him. Evidence was brought in to show that the horse, while in service had a running sore one one leg and Dr. J. D. Deyell on examination found that the bone was fractured. The horse according to Provincial Constable T. Y. Stratton who brought the case into court was used by Dallabough on the Provincial Highway where he has been employed. The suffering of the dumb beast was so apparent to employees on the road that the matter finally came to the constable's attention and he visited Dallabough's place a week ago to find that the horse had been withdrawn from active service. The running sore was found to be in a serious condition and the veterinary was called. Magistrate Langley required Dallabough to pay the costs of the court amounting to five dollars and directed him sharply in regard to the care of dumb animals. A. E. Dixon appeared for accused.

After Speeders

According to the speed at which they were travelling in comparison with what the law allows Magistrate Langley set the fine for Gravel Road speeders at five dollars and ten dollars. Yesterday afternoon ther were two at each figure. Constable Stratton has been if anything more active of late and he has more summons under way. It is a poor day that some summons are not issued under the Motor Vehicles Act. The intensified campaign against speeding is having its effect however and in a few weeks the cars coming in from the Chemong dances will look like a funeral procession rather than a cross section of the Indianapolis races.

RILEY'S ARMY BACK AGAIN

TORONTO, June 13 (Canadian Press). — With light hearts and steady step, "General" Riley's army, which started out yesterday afternoon to again storm Ottawa, returned to the city shortly after noon today, and dispersed in Queen's Park.

They were particularly pleased that their threatened march on Ottawa had effect on the Government, and have high hopes of obtaining satisfaction when they appear at the D. S. C. R. for medical examination.

FOUR MEN KILLED.

DETROIT, June 13.— (Canadian Press.)—Explosion of an ammonia tank located in a tunnel under the boiler room of Parker Webb Packing Co., shortly before noon to-day, killed four employees and damaged the plant so that operations will be suspended for at least three days.

STAR WITNESS DID NOT TURN UP AT SARNIA

Four Bank Robbers Appear for Trial To-day—A New Angle in the Case.

GIRL THREATENED

LONDON, Ont., June 13.—(Special).—Mrs. Myrtle Koehler, star witness for the Crown in the robbery trial of four Londoners at Sarnia today, and mystery woman whose story first led to the arrest of the quartette and the charge against them of robbing the bank at Wyoming of $10,000, failed to show up this morning to go to Sarnia, and cannot now be found. She had been under constant police surveillance, but it is admitted she may have left for parts unknown. On the other hand, she may be on the way to Sarnia by motor of her own volition. The trial begins this morning, and Mrs. Koehler was admittedly the Crown's most valuable witness. Yesterday she gave an interview, in which she revealed much of the operations of the "Wyoming gang," claiming that she knew the loot from the Wyoming bank had been buried behind the race track at Hamilton, and that it had later been dug up and stolen by one of the gang. She added that her life had been threatened for "squealing" on the gang. Provincial Officer Palmer now believes that the threat may have been put into execution.

MUSIC FOR THE KIWANIS CLUB

Program Changed at Topay's Luncheon—Fine Artists.

The luncheon of the Kiwanis Club to-day was varied by the substitution of a musical programme of high order in place of the usual address by some speaker more or less renowned and the innovation was appreciated. The programme was particularly pleasing on account of the artists being all of this city. The speech-making was brief and to the point. President Frank Whitehouse extended to President John Crane of the Rotary Club, who was a guest, the Kiwanis' greeting, and Dr. Edward Wood in a neat speech said that both clubs were doing the same good work. "Our activities we know are not all we would like them to be, but we are doing new things every day. I hope the Rotary Club will go ahead this year with greater success than ever," he said.

"I shall be glad to convey to the Rotary Club your kindly greetings," said President John Crane. "It is true our work is much alike. Our work has come to the present time when we are all agog over our boys' camp. I want to congratulate you, sir, on the work at Jackson Park. It was certainly a wonderful work for one day," declared President Crane.

Maurice Park, always a popular soloist, was first on the programme and sang "Come Into the Garden Maude" in splendid tenor voice, and as an encore, "All the Roses in June," a beautiful number that was in capable hands. Tom Smith, the well-known cellist, was heard in Renard's "Berceuse," which was also played by Joseph Nasimok as an encore to his first number, "Adoration." The cello and violin solos were thoroughly appreciated, and both soloists were given a rousing ovation. Kenneth Greene showed the excellent training he has received as a flautist in the number, "The Artist's Dream," to which Miss Mildred Greene played the accompaniment. The musical programme was ended by Kiwanian Leslie Unitt, who played the accompaniments for Mr. Smith and Mr. Nasimok, playing Paderewski's Minuet with a wealth of feeling, possible only by a perfect mastery of technique.

Secretary George Henderson urged as many members as possible to attend the International Convention in Toronto next week. London club is going 90 per cent. strong, he said. He outlined the splendid programme prepared that indicated the Kiwanians would be busy every moment from Tuesday till Thursday in a continuous round of meetings and entertainments.

The club was reminded of the ball practice to-night at 6.30 at the Nicholls Oval and of the one to-morrow night in keeping with the programme of intensive training adopted by Dr. John Craig, captain of the Kiwanis nine. The booster to-day was Dr. H. M. Yelland, who was introduced by Will Warne. The winners of prizes were: Bill Barrie, Dr. Graham McDougall and Ernest Hensley. The guests to-day were: R. J. Devey, Adjutant Wallace Bunton, R. Fox of the R. G. Dunn and Company, in addition to President Crane and the musical artists, who deserved the hearty handclaps and lion roars extended to them.

To Peterborough in a Wheelbarrow

A. E. Dawson plans to make the Journey From Lakefield in Five Hours.

Some people have a pretty soft time in this world. Now here is A. E. Dawson, who lives in Lakefield, but has his office in Peterborough. In casting about for some cheap means of transportation, he recently hit upon the idea of using a wheelbarrow, but the drawback of course presented itself that it needed some outside means of propulsion. Another happy thought, there's E. R. Ttate and J. C. Strickland just looking for a little light exercise; if they can be persuaded to officiate as the motive power the problem is solved.

Again the colossal intellect of Mr. Dawson focused itself upon the great and entrancing problem. Ah! A great light dawns. A bet. The solution has been arrived at.

On Thursday afternoon, at 12.30, Mr. Dawson plans to ride in state, the same state being a wheelbarrow, from the Post Office at Lakefield to his place of business in Peterborough. The journey, according to Mr. Tate and Mr. Strickland, who have decided to do the pushing, will take less than five hours. According to Mr. Dawson, it will take more. The three gentlemen are so positive in their opinions that a bet has been placed with E. G. Connell as the stake-holder, time-keeper, judge and all other necessary officials combined. He is the court of both first and last appeals. On him and his trusty chronometer depends the winning and the losing of the bet. But that puts him in a very uncomfortable position, for he will have to walk all the way from Lakefield to Peterborough to see that the requirements and specifications of that bet are lived up to in spirit and in letter.

Mr. Dawson, with commendable foresight, has provided for his own comfort on the journey. He will be allowed to take with him in the wheelbarrow, in addition to his usual supply of clothing, a cushion, a pipe and tobacco, an umbrella and a book with which to wile away the tedious hours of the afternoon.

Some of the circumstances of the bet are still veiled in mystery, for the four who know have steadfastly refused to divulge them. For instance, no one knows what the stakes are, and they wont tell how the bet was started. In fact, they wont tell much of anything about it, except to tell the wide world that no one is going to back out, and the bet will not be won by default.

PRESENTATION TO MRS. HARRISON

Friends and Neighbors Say Farewell on Eve of Her Departure from the City.

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mrs. Harry Thompson, Hazlett street, last night, when the neighbors and friends of Mrs. Harrison, Oxford street, gathered to say farewell to her on the eve of her departure for Sault Ste. Marie. During the evening Mrs. Harrison was presented with a club bag, the presentation being made by Mrs. O'Rourke, while Mrs. Thompson read the following address:

Dear Mrs. Harrison,— Some of your friends and neighbors have gathered together this evening to let you know how sorry we are that you are leaving Peterborough. We cannot let you go without showing our respect and regard for you which we feel you have earned by your unselfish and untiring devotion to your dear mother. Your sacrifice has been great, but your regard will be greater for you sacrificed your happiness for her sake.

We all hope you will accept this club bag as a token of our great esteem and respect for you. Hoping that you will live for many years to use it, we all join in wishing you every happiness and prosperity in your new home with your husband and children.

Hoping that you may return to the old town again.

Signed on behalf of the neighbors, Mrs. H. H. Thompson, Mrs. R. Allen, Mrs. McGrath, Mrs. Yelland, Mrs. Starr, Mrs. Sawyer, Mrs. Kearns, Mrs. Beavis, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Meade, Mrs. O'Connor, Mrs. Garvey, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Quinlan, Mrs. O'Rourke, Mrs. Boomer, Mrs. Powell, Mrs. M. Murray.

Mrs. Harrison made a suitable reply.

Refreshments were served and a pleasant social time spent by those present.

LESS SEDIMENT IN MILK SUPPLY OF THE CITY

Dr. A. Y. McNair, of Provincial Laboratory Points Out One Marked Improvement.

THOROUGH TEST

"There has already been a marked improveent in the city's milk since the tests were begun by this department" said Dr. A. Y. McNair who is in charge of the provincial labratory at the city hall. "The deposits of sediment are much less than they were which is no doubt attributable to better care of the milk. Sediment is often the dust and other foreign particles that get into the milk while it it being handled."

Dr. McNair showed the Examiner the filter pads on which the sediment of the milk samples recently examined had been left. One of the exhibits stood out conspiciously above the other with a comparatively heavy deposit of small dark specks of dirt.

"That was the first sample of this vendor's to be tested, and if he had known his milk was as bad as tsat he would probably have stayed at home' Dr. McNair remarked.

In regard to the finding of bacteria in so many samples Dr. Mc Nair said he had rather expected that result with the coming of warm weather.

'You understand that our only concern or responsibility with the milk is to receive it from the Sanitary Inspector, to test it and to send our report to the Medical officer of Health," Dr. McNair explained. "I suppose the milk vendors will be up in arms against me, but it is not my fault. I gather that the Board of Health and the citizens want pure milk and they can get it with proper care by the men who sell it. What's the use of Peterbor spending $350,000 on a filtration plant to give the people a pure supply of water, if the milk is no good Or what is the use of the Health Association caring for children at Jackson Park and then feeding them there with milk that might be impure."

Dr. McNair was reluctant about discussing this subject, saying that Dr. Young, M.O.H. could do that, but he remarked that there was no intention of alarming the public. Not all the vendors were reported unfavorably in the June tests, one result of which would surely be a higher general average of pure milk for Peterboro.

"Babies are too hard to get and to take care of to expose them to the danger of any impure milk" said the Doctor.

The Milk Situation Here

Peterborough Milk Products State Not Necessary to Boil Their Milk

To the Public:—

We believe that the extreme growth of pasture in the country at the present time is responsible for the conditions found in the milk supply by the last tests of Dr. McNair and submitted to the Board of health at their meeting yesterday. Immediately we got the Doctor's report we were able to cope with the situation and have controlled the defect in so far as our milk is concerned, and we can say to our customers that it is unnecessary to boil the milk from the Peterborough Milk Products, deliveries, we can guarantee to the public even under abnormal conditions a safe milk supply.

AMBROSE ALWAYSRIGHT

I murdered Ambrose Alwaysright.
By request, on Monday night.
Ambrose was a male monstrosity,
Simply oozing with pomposity.
He was very avaricious.
Mean, unmanly, and malicious.
He used everyone. He used
All the people he abused.
He would dine with A—on Sunday
And abuse the man on Monday.
In a grill Room he would grumble,
You would pay and he would fumble.
Decency he would resent
And dismiss as "sentiment,"
So I killed him. When committed
I was instantly acquitted.
When acquitting me, the Judge
Did not hesitate or budge.
"Smith," he said, "how good your nerve is;
You've performed a public service.
Come and dine tonight; another
Alwaysright (the dead man's brother)
Will be there at eight o'clock——"
I nodded as I left the dock.
—Geoffrey Dearmer.

Remnants of Riley's Army Again Set Out For Ottawa Afoot.

MAY BE A BLUFF.

TORONTO, June 13.—(Canadian Press.) — The die-hards of Riley's army hit the trail again for Ottawa yesterday afternoon. At 2.30 p.m. 125 of them left Queen's Park and marched down University avenue escorted by a single mountie.

How far they will get or what they really intend, one can only guess. The march may be only a bluff as was the night march out of Ottawa when they temporarily refused to take the train home. Whether Riley will lead them is also a matter of conjecture. Before the body moved off he resigned, stating that he was "out to get McDonald," the former leader of the movement whom the police had refused to arrest.

The marchers, like the apostles of old, are without food and without money, except for the collection taken up to buy gasoline for their single motor truck. It is understood that the municipalities will not feed them again. They took the same route via the Kingston road to West Hill last night.

The decision to march came after a declaration from Riley to the contrary. "I will not sacrifice this little body again for the sake of others," he said. "Stick together and see what they can give physically unfit men to do. You are now an organized body. Go and see Col. Morrison who has church funds to give out through the D. S. C. R.

Then the leader proceeded to take his war ribbons out of his pocket and throw them on the ground, because of the disgrace, he said, to which they had been subjected by so many unworthy wearing them.

After his harangue, in which everything pointed to the army's remaining in the city, he suddenly changed his tune and asked his men if they were ready to go out and camp along the road. So away they marched singing on their way to Ottawa (?)

TORONTO, June 13.—(Canadian Press.)— "General" Riley's unemployed veterans who started out on another march to Ottawa yesterday afternoon return to the city to-day following receipt of a telegram from Premier King and Hon. James Murdock last night advising them to return to Toronto, where complete re-examination of every disabled veteran would be conducted. Veterans had reached West Hill when the march was halted.

AGED FARMERS KILLED.

McARTHUR, Ohio, June 13.—(Canadian Press.)— Three farmers past seventy years of age, were killed here yesterday, when their auto was struck by a train.

TO DECORATE GRAVE WITH MAPLE LEAVES

TORONTO, June 13.—(Canadian Press)—The G.W.V.A. is sending a delegation to a special ceremony which will take place in London in Wesminister Abbey on Dominion Day, at which the grave of the unknown soldier will be decorated. The delegation from the Toronto district, which is leaving on Friday, is taking along a large wreath of maple leaves and will place the colors on the soldiers' grave.

MODIFICATIONS TO THE BUDGET

New Proposals Presented in the House Last Evening by Finance Minister

OTTAWA, June 13.— (Canadian Press.)—Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, last night presented to the House of Commons modifications to his own budget proposals. Changes affected five items of customs tariff and include alterations in international and revenue taxes and in special war revenue taxes. New tax is introduced to apply to receipts of ten dollars and upwards, amount of tax is two cents on each receipt. Tax on cables and telegrams is reduced from five to three cents. Tax on cheques is altered by fixing maximum of two dollars. There will still be a tax of two cents for each fifty dollars up to this maximum. Tax on transfer of stock is reduced from five cents to three for one hundred dollars, but bonds are now subject to tax. Alterations in tax on cheques applies also to express and post office money orders.

Taxes on automobiles are revised. Tax on passenger cars up to twelve hundred dollars remains at five per cent. Above this amount the tax will be five per cent. on first twelve hundred dollars and ten per cent. on value over twelve hundred dollars. Five per cent. tax on confectionery remains. Tax on soft drinks is reduced from ten cents a gallon to five cents. Tax on beer, ale and porter reduced from fifteen to twelve and a half cents per gallon. Special taxes on cigars are revised and considerable reductions made. Excise taxes on cigarettes are reduced from nine dollars to seven dollars and fifty cents per thousand. Duty on cigarettes is reduced to $4.70 and $4.25 per thousand. Excise tax on beet sugar is reduced from forty-nine twenty-four and half cents per hundred pounds.

WERE NOT ARRESTED.

PRETORIA, Union of South Africa, June 13.—(Canadian Press.)—Denial was made yesterday of the report that five prominent Nationalists, including Dr. Moll, a member of the Provisional Council of the Transvaal and Secretary of the Nationalist Party in that province, had been arrested on a charge of high treason under the common law.

PROBABILITIES.

Moderate winds; fair and moderately warm; showers in Western districts to-night.

AMENDMENT TO ACT APPROVED IN HOUSE.

OTTAWA, June 13.—(Canadian Press)—Senate amendments to a Bill amending the Judge's Act were concurred in by the House of Commons last night. One amendment provides that in the case of a judge who becomes incapacitated through age or infirmity two or more judges will hold an inquiry into his case. If incapacity is established then on report of the Minister of Justice after this inquiry the judge's salary can be stopped The Minister also has power under the amendment to recommend leave of absence for any judge, to the Governor-in-Council.

FRANCE INSISTS ON RECOGNITION OF RUSSIAN DEBT

Poincare Sends Note to the British Government Relative to The Hague Convention.

RETURN PROPERTY.

PARIS, June 1. — (Canadian Press.)—Premier Poincare's note to the British Government relative to The Hague conference, which was delivered to the British Embassy last evening and which constitutes a reply to the recent British memorandum, insists upon the restitution of private property in Russia to foreign owners from whom it was confiscated, and that only exceptionally should the Soviet Government be permitted to replace restitution by compensation.

Concerning the war debts, France is favorable to granting delays in payment, but cannot admit for the present reductions to the amount of the sums borrowed by Russia during the war. France also insists upon the recognition of the rights of French holders of pre-war Russian bonds.

HEART WOULD BEAT LIKE A TRIP HAMMER

Heart trouble has of late years become very prevalent. Sometimes a pain catches you in the region of the heart, now and then your heart skips beats, palpitates, throbs, or beats with such rapidity and violence you think it is going to burst.

You have weak and dizzy spells, sinking sensations, are nervous irritable and depressed, and if you attempt to walk up stairs or any distance you get all out of breath.

We know of no remedy that will do so much to make the heart regain strength and vigor, regulate its beat and restore it to a healthy and normal condition as will

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS.

Mrs. Chadwick, Delhi, Ont., writes, "I had palpitation of the heart, and the least exercise such as going upstairs or up a hill, my heart would beat like a trip hammer and at times I was dizzy-headed and had a sinking sensation as if my time were near.

A friend suggested I try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills so I procured three boxes and by the time the first one was used I began to improve. In all I took six boxes, and now, although in my 66th year I feel like a young girl; no dizziness or heart-thumping and can walk miles without fatigue. At time of sickness I weighed 120 pounds, now I weigh 150."

Price, 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by the T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

THE HOME CIRCLE

The old and somewhat prevalent idea of godliness and poverty has absolutely no basis for its existence, and the sooner we get away from it the better. It had its birth in the same way that the idea of asceticism came into existence, when the idea prevailed that there was necessarily a warfare between the flesh and the spirit. It had its origin therefore in the minds of those who had a distorted onesided view of life. True godliness is in a sense the asme as true wisdom. The one who is truly wise, and who uses the forces and powers with which he is endowed, to him the great universe always opens her treasure house. The supply is always equal to the demand—equal to the demand when the demand is rightly, wisely made. When one comes into the realization of these higher laws, then the fear of want ceases to tyrannize over him.

Are you out of a situation? Let the fear that you will not get another take hold of and dominate you, and the chances are that it may be a long time before you will get another, or the one that you do get may be a very poor one indeed. Whatever the circumstances, you must realize that you have within you forces and powers that you can set into operation that will triumph over any and all apparent or temporary loses. Set these forces into operation and you will then be forcing a magnet that will draw to you a situation that may be far better than the one you have lost, and the time may soon come when you will even be thankful that you lost the old one.

—Ralph Waldo Trine

We all make the mistake of thinking that whatever we give away to others is lost to us when it has been proved times without number that the more we give the more we have and "ceasing to give we cease to have."

But money is worth so very little anyway unless one has the soul with which to enjoy it and how can a grasping, miserly person have a soul? But, of course, we do not all go so far as to be misers, or at least we are only small editions. Even so, if we could all get over that habit of tightening our hands about our pocketbooks every time we are asked for help we would all be happier. Do not be afraid that your generous disposition will lead you to the poor house. The Lord always provides for such emergencies. You seldom find a generous man in the poor house, but, if you do, we'll wager he is happy.

We have never yet discovered mother who could see her children star for school in the fall without a pang. We presume it is one of the queer twists of mother nature that she would rather wear herself out keeping track of them than send them away and let someone else do it.

FISHING VESSELS WILL BE EXEMPT

Bill to Exempt Vessels From Pilotage Dues Passes Third Reading at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, June 13.—(Canadian Press)—Third reading was given in the House yesterday afternoon to a bill so amending the Canada Shipping Act as to add to the list of vessels exempt from pliotage dues, ships of war and hospital ships belonging to specified nations. The idea is to grant the privilege to such nations as grant it to British warships. It further exempts Canadian fishing vessels from pilotage dues. It was explained that Canadian fishing vessels at present pay no pilotage dues but there is some uncertainty about the legal position and the purpose of the bill is to remove the uncertainty.

Before being adopted, the bill was amended so as to include among ships exempt from pilotage dues not only ships employed in trading from port to port in the same province but also ships engaged between one port and another part of the same port and ships engaged in towing or salvage operations.

COMPENSATION FOR AVIATORS INJURED OR KILLED ON DUTY

Amendment to Air Board Act Would Give Greater Protection to Canada's Air Men.

OTHER PENSIONS.

OTTAWA, June 13.—(Canadian Press)—A bill was introduced in the House yesterday amending the Air Board Act and giving to the Government power to establish regulations prescribing the compensation to be paid for the death or injury "resulting directly from a flight undertaken in the course of duty in the public service of Canada', was considered. The resolution contained the proviso that such regulations should not extend to the payment of compensation for any death or injury in respect of which compensation was payable under another act.

Hon. G. P. Graham, Minister of Militia explained that the reason for the proviso was that a gratuity or pension might already be paid to an individual or his relatives for military service. It was not the intention to pay two gratuities.

Sir Henry Drayton said he thought the higher gratuity of the two should be payablie in every case, and he proposed to submit an amendment to this effect.

Mr. Graham replied that he would be pleased to accept such an amendment if introduced on second reading of the bill.

Some Clothes Suggestions For School Year Wind-Up

Even the tedium of the very last days of schol can be lightened with a new frock or coat.

The coat is suitable for all-summer wear. It is of tweed or homespun unlined.

Do not put the Rinso direct from the package into the tub. Make the Rinso liquid first.

Mix half a package of Rinso in a little cool water until it is like cream. Then add two quarts of boiling water and when the froth subsides you will have a clear, amber coloured liquid; put it in a tub of cool or lukewarm water and you will have enough for a batch of clothes. STREET ACCIDENTS.

The need of an educational campaign to eliminate or reduce accidents on the streets of Winnipeg is apparent, says the Manitoba Free Press. This week, a coroner's jury has made such a recommendation.

Considering the number of motor vehicles in daily use in Winnipeg, the number of fatal or serious accidents on the streets is small, yet small as it is, this number undoubtedly could be reduced. In most cases the victim of a fatal accident is a young child and the driver of the truck or car is frequently exonerated from all blame.

While it is impossible to prevent the children from playing on the streets the proper method of education, if applied in the home and the schools, would have, without doubt, a good effect. The injury of one in a group of playmates tends to make the others more careful, for that season at least, but the price of education received in that manner is altogether too great.

The number of careless and reckless drivers of automobiles in Winnipeg is not great, but no matter how careful the majority of drivers may be there are times when it is practically impossible to avoid an accident. This is particularly true in some of the residental districts where the children have the habit of "stealing" rides on motor trucks or deliberately loitering in the centre of the roadway.

The full penalty of the law should come down on the careless or reckless driver. And the penalty should be a heavy one. But that will not be enough to prevent accidents. Every agency that can be utilized should be brought into operation in an educational campaign to impress on the children the dangers of the street.

CHECKING THE SPEEDERS.

The action of the Provincial police in rounding up speeders in the vicinity of Peterborough is being criticized by some people, who fear that visitors will be frightened away from the city because of the activity of the authorities. There is no logical grounds for such fears. It is not likely that motorists are going to give Peterborough a wide berth because they know that to exceed the speed limit of twenty-five means a police court fine. They will not stay away but they will be more careful to see that the legal limit is not exceeded, and that will be "a consummation devoutly to be wished." Nobody wants to drive visitors away from Peterborough, but if they are the kind who think they should be allowed to travel just as fast as their fancy dictates, then it is perhaps just as well that they should refrain from visiting us. We have enough speeders, enough reckless drivers in this city without having outsiders augment the number. There has been too much wild driving in this district, and even if the determination of the authorities to see that the regulations are obeyed has the effect of deterring people from coming here—and it is not likely to—increased safety along the highways will more than compensate Peterborough for the loss of a few hard-driving motorists. The trouble is that along most of Ontario's roads there has been little attempt to enforce the speed laws, and some drivers have grown so accustomed to rushing along at five or ten or fifteen miles an hour more than the regulations authorize that they regard it as an injustice if they run foul of the authorities. There is little foundation for such a view of the matter. The Provincial police are only doing their duty when they attempt to prevent Ontario's highways from becoming speedways for reckless drivers, for whom the speed limit has no significance.

THE GREAT SHAM FIGHT.

For more than a generation the tariff has provided the great sham fight of Canadian politics. It is still wasting the time of Parliament. Still the country is politically divided over an issue upon which the people are practically united. No one will pretend that the fiscal changes announced in the Budget carry out the pledges of the Liberal or Progressive platforms. But no one means to break pledges or betray the electorate. It is because Governments cannot wisely do otherwise than maintain the fiscal system which was established forty-four years ago that it remains substantially undisturbed.

There were no radical changes under the Laurier Administration nor will there be under the King Government. Necessities of revenue and of national self-protection govern ministers when they come to deal with fiscal policy. Even many Progressives are forced to recognize that Canadian industry must have some degree of protection and that the sources from which the public revenue is chiefly derived must be guarded. It is idle to suggest that manufacturers dictate fiscal policy. National considerations compel Governments to maintain the comparatively moderate duties which are now imposed upon imports from other countries. If there was some deliberate and aggressive movement to increase duties one could find an intelligible reason for the continuous attack upon the tariff. But when there has been no such movement for a quarter of a century it is difficult to discover any rational reason for the persistence of the fiscal quarrel.

The chief result is to divert attention from questions of great and immediate national importance. What we need chiefly in Canada are more people and more rapid development of the natural resources of the country. What we want are new industries, not the destruction of old industries. It would be of infinite advantage if we applied the money that we spend in tariff investigations to industrial and scientific research. If we gave half the attention to problems of exploration and settlement that we give to the tariff we would not have a North-West at least partly empty still, to use Edward Blake's phrase, and we would not have great natural wealth still undeveloped and undiscovered. When one thinks of the huge burden of railway deficits and the extreme pressure of taxation it is amazing that Parliament should be giving itself to controversies that are as old as the hills around Jerusalem and warring over the alleged political inconsistencies of groups and parties. It is still more amazing when we see that differences in theory between the groups and parties produce no differenes in practice.—Montreal Star.

BASEBALL AND SPORTSMANSHIP.

Leading United States newspapers are complaining about the unsportsman-like conduct of a large section of the crowds who attend professional baseball games. The American journals are apparently beginning to realize the truth of the criticism made by other countries in regard to the United States' attitude towards sport. What is that with the majority of Americans, the desire to win is stronger than the anxiety to "play the game." This is paricularly true of baseball. The fans want nothing but victory, and they are not particular how it is obtained. If the home players are, by trickery, enabled to evade the rules, their ingenuity is applauded, if the umpire can be bull-dozed or intimidated into giving a decision in favor of the home team that is manifestly unfair to the other fellow, the fans are happy. On the other hand, they want the benefit of every close decision, and the officials are denounced as "robbers" and blind men if they do not rule accordingly. And there are no patrons of any sport so flagrantly unjust and unfair in their treatment of the players than are many of those who regularly attend baseball games. The exploits of yesterday are forgotten. A pitcher who may have won three or four games in a row is greeted with cries of "Take him out" if he happens to run into misfortune; a batter who has perhaps been responsible for numerous victories because of his skill and prowess, finds that the fan's memory is short if he should fall into a slump. Perhaps the spectator's act on the theory that the average ball player is well paid for his services, and that the acceptance of abuse from those who want o heap calumny upon him is part of what he is given a salary for. It must be admitted that the average baseball crowd does not represent the highest type of sportsmanship, and so long as the anxiety to win is more potent than the ambition to fight strenuously but fairly, it is idle to expect that a larger level will be reached.

A SERIOUS SITUATION.

The announcement that laboratory tests of samples of milk supplied by nineteen Peterborough vendors show a dangerous condition because of the presence of bacteria is, to put it mildly, disquieting. The health of a community is to such an extent dependent upon the milk supply that Dr. McNair's report is a most unpleasant shock. Certainly this condition of affairs cannot, in the interests of the public, be allowed to continue, and the Board of Health has shown a proper appreciation of the seriousness of the situation by warning the citizens to boil all milk until further notice, and in notifying the vendors that their milk must be brought up to the proper standard, under penalty of having their licenses cancelled. There can be no half measures in dealing with a matter of this kind. Milk forms the principal article of food for children, and no community can allow the lives of its infants to be jeopardized by milk that is infected with dangerous germs. If the next test indicates that no improvement has been reached, the offending dealers must be driven out of business, a proceeding that may seem drastic, but that, nevertheless, is necessary. It is far better that a few vendors should have to suspend operations than that the people of Peterborough, and especially the children, should be exposed to the risk of an epidemic. In the meantime the attention of the citizens is called to the advice of the Board of Health to boil all milk used, no matter from whom it is purchased. Your vendor may be one of the nineteen, and you cannot afford to take a chance. Boiling the milk is a simple and effective safeguard against infection, and while the process may destroy some of the vitamines, this can be counteracted in the case of the children's diet by giving them a spoonful or two of orange juice or tomato juice. There is no need of being panic-stricken over the situation. The next examination may show a much better re-action to the tests, but until then the citizens can protect themselves by boiling the milk. That precaution should not be neglected in view of the report submitted to the Board of Health.

WELL DONE, LLOYD GEORGE.

London Daily Express: The mischevious tittle-tattle about secret meetings with the Bolsheviks, which has aroused such fury in Paris and elsewhere, cannot be too strongly condemned. It is, of course utterly untrue. Mr. Lloyd George has pursued a perfectly honorable and straightforward policy at the Genoa Conference. What is more, that policy is one approved by the vast majority of the British nation, which desires passionately the reconstruction and the reconciliation of Europe, not the perpetuation of old feuds and war-bred hates. When Mr. Lloyd George returns and lays his case before Parliament, as he rightly proposes to do, he will find himself completely vindicated. More, he will find a nation glad to give him enthusiastic approval. In these matters he has acted as the ideal spokesman of his country.

THE KING OF POETS

London Daily News: If Shakespeare had been a morose man, he might have been a great poet still; but he would not have been the one figure in literary history who today is regarded with a smuch real and intimate affection as if he were actually with us in the flesh. He is no longer, thank Heaven, so much as a "cult." To read Shakespeare's plays, to see them on the stage, to quote openly and with relish the passages you love most is not now to be thought "high-brow" or even odd. What other writer is read so extensively or with such unspoiled pleasure in the homes of the poor, even in the homes of the rich? In this age of a highly self-conscious intellectual pessisimim the popularity of Shakespeare—a blithe prince of philosophers who looked upon life and found that it was good—is a salutary, not to say a sanitary, influence of supreme value and importance.

THE ASSASSINATION OF THE DUC DE BERRY

The sensation which the assassination of the Duc de Berry, hope of the Bourbon dynasty, created throughout Europe in 1820 was enormous, for, in addition to the crime itself, it was sensed that behind the deed was a motive as far-reaching as it was blood-thirsty and that the men who were responsible for the crime would stop at nothing in order to attain their ends.

The political situation in France at this time—the period which followed the overthrow of Napoleon and the restoration of the Bourbons—was precarious in the extreme. The king, Louis XVIII, lacked force of character, while his long life in exile, with its long round of pleasures and epicurean enjoyment, had poorly qualified him for the task of ruling a nation divided against itself and at odds with the major portion of Europe. However, the liberal and patriotic measures inaugurated by Louis' advisers promised the speedy return of prosperity, when the assassination of the Duc de Berry crushed the hopes of the patriotic and reinstated the extremists in power.

De Berry was a nephew of the king who had passed his youth and early manhood in exile, returning to France when he saw that it was necessary to exercise his influence in connection with the governing power. Louis permitted him full sway and the prominence thus attained by the Duke is the reason assigned by the majority of historians for his assassination, for, once he was out of the way, it was felt that the elder branch of the dynasty would die out entirely.

Jean Pierre Louvel, the instrument of the crime, was an enthusiastic admirer of Napoleon and, in revenge for the Emperor's dethronement, as he later declared, planned the crime which was destined to play such an unexpected role in the history of France. But there can be litt'e doubt that, behind Louvel, was another sinister influence which wished De Berry out of the way for reasons of its own.

Louvel secured employment in the Versailles stables and, whenever the Duke went hunting, the admirer of Napoleon sought to find an opportunity of getting close to him. It was not until February, 1820, however that the assassin was able to achieve his purpose, stabbing de Berry as he was stepping into his carriage on his way from the Mardi Gras carnival. The most eminent surgeons in Paris were summoned at once, but the wound was fatal and the hope of the Burbons died only a few hours later.

The crime created an almost unprecedented sensation and the Royalist party tried to create the impression that the murder was the first symptom of a widespread conspiracy against the entire royal family and boldly charged that the liberal policy of the government was the cause of De Berry's assassination. In a session of the Chambers one of the deputies even went so far as to demand the impeachment of M. Decazes, Minister of the Interior, as an accessory to the crime and the King was finally compelled to yield to the popular demand for Decazes' dismissal.

"M. Decazes has slipped in the blood shed by Louvel's dagger," is the way in which Chateaubriand sums up the situation, adding that the entire Liberal party was punished for the crime of one fanatic. Other authorities, however, are by no means so certain of the innocence of a number of the Liberal leaders, several of the contemporary historians hinting almost openly at the guilt of men whose ambitions were distinctly forwarded by the removal of the Duke.

Louvel was tried before the Chamber of Peers and pleaded guilty, denying that he had any accomplices and stating that his hatred of the entire Bourbon... family was his only motive for the crime. He was unanimously convicted and went to his death on the guillotine on June 7, 1820—leaving behind him a train of mystery and official secrecy which has persisted to this day.

SKEETERS BAD AROUND APSLEY.

Pie Social Held Saturday Evening—Apsley News of Interest.

APSLEY, June 13.—The mosquitoes have been exceptionally numerous this year, exceeding in numbers and ferocity all previous years, so old settlers declare. A stranger approaching the village of an evening would imagine the place to be on fire from the clouds of smoke caused by the numerous smudges made by the villagers to abate the plague.

Much interest is being evinced in the annual picnic of St. George's church to be held on June 21st, which this year is under the auspices of the A.Y.P.A. The mile championship of the Chandos and Burleigh and Anstruther townships held by Vernal Windsor, will likely be contested, and it is reported that he will have a hard race to retain the title. Foe Hill Football Club has also challenged Apsley to play on that day, and a good match is expected.

On Friday last Mr. W. Buller, License Inspector Stewart and High County Constable Moore visited Apsley and travelled north on official business.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Post and children, and Mr. McNaughton, all of Havelock, visited Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler, Owenbrook, for the week end.

A Pie Social.

The annual pie social under the auspices of St. Paul's, Lasswade, was held, as last year, in Mr. Arch. Whitmore's barn on Saturday evening and was a decided success, net proceeds amounting to forty dollars. The entertainment by the Apsley Minstrels numbering sixteen, and who were conveyed in a body in George Stevens' car, was greatly appreciated, every number being vociferously applauded. Mr. Fred Bullied, former reeve, and always a welcome and popular visitor, came from Apsley with the troupe and very kindly auctioned off the pies. Quite a contingent of Apsley people took in the trip and helped materially to make the evening a success. At the close Mr. Spence expressed his appreciation to Mr. Whitmore for lending his barn for the occasion, and for the labour it entailed, and to Mr. Bullied for his valuable assistance.

A Heavy Thunder Storm.

A thunder storm visited this locality on Friday morning at two o'clock and though not very severe, the lightning struck Mr. Henry Prouty's house in Chandos, demolishing windows, door and telephone, but luckily not setting fire to the building. Mr. and Mrs. Prouty and grandchild all received a slight shock, but were not incapacitaed.

I.O.D.E. MADE A PRESENTATION TO MRS. VANCE

Havelock Organisation Held an Interesting Meeting — The Visitors

HAVELOCK, June 13. —The I.O.D.E. meeting was held on Friday last at the home of Mrs. H. W. Roche, and was largely attended.

The business for the month was discussed, also the proceeds from the 3rd of June celebration was placed to the Memorial Fund, which amounted to $140.00, after all expenses were deducted. After the business part of the meeting was ended, a presentation was made to one of the most worthy members of the Order in the person of Mrs. Wm. Vance, who was the organiser of the I.O.D.E. here, and until this year has filled the office of Regent, and filled it well. Friday, 9th June, was the aniversary of her wedding day, and so the members of the I.O.D.E. thought it a grand time and place to present her with a gift in token of the love and esteem in which she is held in the Order. She has been a resident of Havelock for over thirty years, during which time she has always been esteemed and honoured by all who knew her. She is always a willing worker in any good cause, and has loved the work of the I.O.D.E. Her home is ever open to all, and a welcome always greets you. She always carries a smile, and during the presentation she was smiling through her tears.

The presentation consisted of money in gold, accompanied by a beautiful bouquet, and was presented by Mrs. S. McGill, while the address was read by Mrs. B. Haig, secretary.

Mrs. Vance, although completely taken by surprise, replied in her usual jovial manner, and thanked the members for the very beautiful gifts they had bestowed upon her, and assured them that she certainly did appreciate them, and that her whole heart was in the work of the I.O.D.E., and that she would work with them as long as she was spared, for she loved the work.

A dainty lunch was then served, and a pleasant hour spent.

Two out-of-town guests were present, in the persons of Mrs. Dafoe, of Cobalt, and Mrs. Boyd, of Timmens, whom the Chapter were glad to welcome.

At the conclusion of the event, Mrs. Vance, on behalf of the I.O.D.E., tendered a vote of thanks to the hostess, Mrs. Roche, for her kind hospitality and the very dainty lunch served.

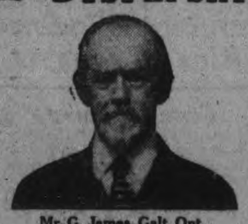
STOPS 50 YEARS' DYSPEPSIA

Mr. James amazed at quick results with Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin.



Mr. G. James, Galt, Ont.

Sufferers from dyspepsia and indigestion often think they can get permanent relief by chewing charcoal tablets, mint lozenges and such things. But constipation usually accompanies dyspepsia and a medicine is required that contains ingredients for both conditions.

Mr. G. James of 5 Norfolk Ave., Galt, Ont., found such a fortunate combination in Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, which gave him relief from 50 years of dyspepsia. With the same remedy Mrs. Ellen Laira of Pictou, N. S., now in her 87th year, freed herself from a lifetime of chronic constipation.

This remarkable medicine is a vegetable compound of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin, the greatest of all the digestants. It acts mildly and gently and does not gripe, and hence it is ideal for old people. It is so safe, however, that thousands of mothers give it to babes in arms. Every druggist sells Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, and a dose will cost you less than a cent. People who once use this medicine never afterwards resort to strong physics, calomel, etc.

HALF-OUNCE BOTTLE FREE

Few escape constipation, so even if you do not need a laxative at this moment, let me send you a Half-Ounce Trial Bottle of my Laxative Syrup Pepsin FREE OF CHARGE so that you will have it handy when needed. ROYAL YEAST CAKES

Canadian Made

A fresh, rosy complexion indicates perfect health. To secure this in most cases all that is necessary is to take one to three Royal Yeast Cakes a day for a few weeks.

Royal Yeast is a food. It supplies the water soluble vitamine which the diet may lack. Scientists tell us that this vitamine is essential to good health. Royal Yeast is highly beneficial in many cases in which the system seems to be run down. The yeast cakes simply add to the diet. It is a food - not a medicine.

Dissolve a Royal Yeast Cake in fruit juices or mix it with cereal and milk, and take it at meal time. The chances are in a few weeks the complexion will be clear. For children reduce the amount to one-half or one-quarter of a cake with each meal.

FARMER'S HOME A TOTAL LOSS

Percy Northey's Dwelling-House in Smith Township Burned to the Ground — Small Fire in Young's Point Blacksmith Shop.

YOUNG'S POINT, June 13.—The home of Percy Northey on the 14th Concession of Smith Township was totally destroyed by fire on Monday afternoon. About four o'clock Mrs. Northey put on a fire in the kitchen stove, and a few minutes later left the house to do a little gardening. The fire is believed to have originated in a defective chimney, and fanned by the high wind quickly spread over the frame house. When first noticed it was beyond control, and in a short time the whole building was aflame. Only the sewing machine was saved, according to reports received here. The dwelling, with all the rest of its contents, was completely consumed. It was stated that there was no insurance.

Shop Caught Fire.

About ten o'clock yesterday morning fire broke out in the roof of Robert Charlton's blacksmith shop here. Sparks blown from the chimney of his residence nearby lodged in the roof, igniting the shingles. Quick and effective action by neighbours, and by river-drivers who are on their way through the village, and also by school boys, checked the flames before they did serious damage. Part of the roof was burned, but only at a small loss.

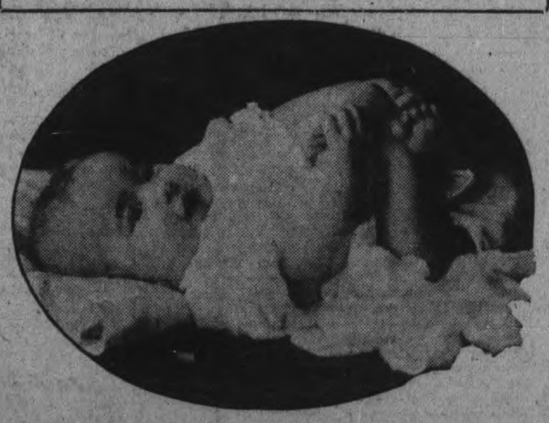
"Your Baby in Hot Weather"

BREAST MILK IS BEST OF ALL IN THE SUMMER TIME



A HEALTHY BREAST-FED BABY.

BY MRS. MAX WEST
Late of the United States Children's Bureau

The easiest baby to take care of and bring through the hot weather safely is the one who is nursed at his mother's breast.

Even a few drops of mother's milk may be the means of warding off serious and possibly fatal illness This is particularly true of the young baby.

Up to three months of age at least, breast milk is invaluable and even if the mother's supply is not quite sufficient for the baby, she should gve him the benefit of every drop there is, especially through the hot days of summer.

The baby should be allowed to nurse both breasts, if the supply is scanty. This not only helps the baby, but is the best known way for producing more breast milk. It has been found that more important even than the diet for the nursing mother is the regular stimulation of the breasts by the nursing of the baby, or by a method of hand manipulation by means of which the breasts are emptied, when necessary, by the mother herself.

Tiny babies deprived of mother's milk often have a hard time to cling to the frail thread of life in summer and it is so unusual sight to see a devoted nurse going from one hospital to another, the city over trying to find some nursing mother who can spare a few drops of the precious fluid which alone will avail to carry some infant past such a crisis.

But even breast-fed babies may suffer serious harm in summer if the rules of good feeding are not fully observed. If the mother makes a practice of offering the breast every time the baby cries, or permits the child to nurse whenever he wakes at night, it will be very easy to sleep all night without feeding.

Most babies thrive well if fed only once in four hours and three hours is the shortest time that should elapse between feedings. After the early months the baby should not require to be nursed later than the hour at which the mother retires, and many healthy babies early learn to sleep alll night without feeding.

In hot weather, over feeding is far more serous than at any other time, for a slight digestive upset easily becomes an alarming illness during the days of excessive heat.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

"Our First Year"

(BY A BRIDE)

ROMANCE OF BONNY AND BART RIPENS; I PLAY A HAND.

(By a Bride)

Since this is an account of our first year, I shall not augment it with the story of how Bart became devoted to Bonny in a fortnight, how propinquity turned the trick. They were thrown together, day after day, and Dame Nature, supreme matchmaker, performed her task.

Propinquity, according to Mary Smith, ought to keep people as happy after marriage as before.

She and Andy have been married five years and they make every vacation a new honeymoon. Our party dubbed them "The Spooners."

But that wasn't true of Jack's and my vacation, and Mary noticed something had gone wrong. But, of course, she couldn't speak about it except indirectly:

"Just being together ought to make a normal husband and wife love each other more, year after year, if they were fond of each other to start.

"Marriage is all right as an institution. There's nothing wrong with matrimony, but some human beings don't know how to live up to it. They spoil it. A wife ought to study all her chances—just as Bonny is doing!"

Certainly Bonny wasn't missing any of hers! In a few days she discarded her flapper pertness and acquired a demureness that charmed us all.

I realised if she were a poor girl, Bart would have asked us to witness a wedding ceremony at some village parsonage along our route. As an old friend, I suggested this.

"I'm too poor, Peggins! Bonny understands. I can't marry a girl with a fortune when I haven't a cent!"

"But, Bart — you'll break her heart!" I pleaded.

"Girls' hearts don't break nowadays, Peggins,' he said quite savagely.

"You're going to let her go, then, for some horrid old sport like George Bradshaw. He's poor enough—even in scruples!"

"Well, if Bonny says she loves me—then falls for a guy as old as her father—I don't think you and I better interfere with fate," he drawled.

More than once I argued with Bart and much of our former brother-and-sister attitude came back. More than once Jack noticed Bart and I were extremely confidential.

Sometimes at our evening camps Jack would come up as if hunting for me, discover me with Bart, and then drift by. That sort of indifference made me furious—only to leave me heartbroken.

When we have an odd moment alone together my man avoided being personal. It occurred to me Jack was being patient with me, just as a devoted parent with a wayward child, who hardly can be managed, who will fly into a tantrum if not carefully handled.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

A Trying Period Through Which Every Woman Must Pass

Practical Suggestions Given by the Women Whose Letters Follow

Detroit, Michigan—"During the Change of Life, I had a lot of stomach trouble, and was bothered a great deal with hot flashes. Sometimes I was not able to do any work at all. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in your little books and took it with very good results. I keep house and am able now to do all my own work. I recommend your medicine and am willing for you to publish my testimonial." Mrs. J. S. Livernois, 2051 Junction Avenue, Detroit, Mich.

Queer Feelings at Middle Age

Sheboygan, Wisconsin—"I was rundown, tired and nervous. I could not even do my own housework, could not sleep at night and all kinds of queer thoughts would come to me. Finally, I gave up going to the doctor and a friend told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After the first bottle I could sleep better and I have kept on improving ever since." Mrs. B. Lansen, 1639 N. 3rd St., Sheboygan, Wisconsin.

Knightington, Ontario.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable compound at the Change of Life for troubles women often have at that time. I had not been well for a year and was not really able to do my work. A friend who had taken the Vegetable Compound herself recommended it to me, and I highly recommend it to all women with troubles like mine." Mrs. Daniel J. Tracey, Knightington, Ontario.

Let the Compound Help You

The critical time of a woman's life usually comes between the years of 45 and 50, and is often beset with annoying symptoms such as nervousness, irritability, melancholia. Heat flashes or waves of heat appear to pass over the body, cause the face to be very red and often bring on headache, dizziness and a sense of suffocation.

Another annoying symptom which comes at this time is an inability to recall names, dates or other small facts. This is liable to make a woman lose confidence in herself. She becomes nervous, avoids meeting strangers and dreads to go out alone.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted to help women at this time. It exercises a restorative influence, tones and strengthens the system, and assists nature in the long weeks and months covering this period. Let it help carry you through this time of life. It is a splendid medicine for the middle-aged woman. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs and contains no harmful drugs or narcotics.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free upon request. Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

Grain, Cattle & Produce Markets

Sugar, in preparation for the canning season, is advancing rapidly. From New York comes a rumour of a three-cent increase in wholesale prices within the last few days. Tea also is up by ten cents a pound on the packaged goods, with the bulk variety due to take a similar jump shortly.

Whey butter is in the stores, the fresh, appetizing butter that comes with the cheese-making season, and does not keep quite as well as the ordinary brands. Florida canteloupe and Georgia peaches are already in the fruit stores, home-grown strawberries, the berry with the light red tint and the yellow base. Mr. J. Simons, the Charlotte street fruit merchant, claims that Campbellford has made a premature boast of having the first home-grown berries, which, he says, appeared here over a week ago.

STERLING RATES.

MONTREAL, June 13.— (Canadian Press.) — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday: Sterling demand 4.5253; sterling cables 4.5278.

CASH GRAIN.

MONTREAL, June 13.— (Canadian Press.)—There was no change yesterday in the condition of the local cash grain market. There was no change in flour prices, but prospects are that they will go lower. Business in all lines of millfeed is dull. There is little doing in the rolled oats markets. A fair business is passing in baled hay. The demand is steady in the egg market. The market for potatoes is quiet. Butter prices are down 7-8 cents per pound and the feeling in cheese is firm.

WINNIPEG WHEAT.

WINNIPEG, June 13.—(Canadian Press.)—Cash prices: Wheat—No. 1 hard 129 1-4; No. 1 northern 129; No. 2 northern 125; No. 3, 115 1-2; No. 4, 104; No. 5, 94; No. 6, 83; feed 74; track 128.

Oats—No. 2 C.W. 52; No. 3, 49 3-4; extra No. 1 feed 49 3-4; No. 1 feed 47 1-2; No. 2 feed 44 3-4; rejected 42 3-4; track 51 3-4.

Barley—No. 3 C.W. 64 3-8; No. 4, 63 1-8; rejected 59 7-8; feed 57 7-8; track 64 3-8.

WINNIPEG CATTLE.

WINNIPEG, June 13.— (Canadian Press.)— Receipts yesterday, 1,100 cattle and calves, 1,000 hogs and 205 sheep and lambs.

There was little activity in evidence in the cattle market yesterday; the supply of butcher cattle being very limited, and the few sales completed were at steady prices. Medium classes and stockers and feeders took 25 to 50 cents lower.

The hog market opened with a weaker tone, packers bidding 12.25 with odd lots up to 12.50.

A few good mutton sheep made 8.00 while the handful of yearlings offered sold at 10.00.

EGG MARKETS.

OTTAWA, June 13.— (Canadian Press.)—Country markets are steadier with the best graded slightly higher in price and the undergrades somewhat weaker. Hot weather is a serious factor to contend with and track shippers are finding an increasingly larger amount of low grade eggs in current receipts.

Toronto country points are steadier with track shippers paying 23-25 and making sales of straight gathered at 25 1-2 to 26 1-2. Graded firsts are being offered at 30 cents f.o.b. Specials jobbing 36, extras 35, firsts 31, seconds 27.

Montreal specials jobbing 36, extras 33 to 35, firsts 30 to 31, seconds 27 to 28. Quality very much poorer. None offering on mercantile exchange

Winnipeg market weak. Dealers offering 18 delivered, cases included, straight receipts jobbing 19 to 21. Quality much poorer on account of hot weather.

CHICAGO CATTLE.

CHICAGO, June 13.— (Canadian Press.)—Cattle, receipts 14,000; fairly active; better grades beef steers mostly steady; others weak to 15c. lower; top 9.50 paid for heavies and yearlings; bulk beef steers 8.25 and 9.10; she stock weak to 25c. lower; in-between grades butcher cows and heifers showing most decline; bulls and stockers steady to weak; veal calves mostly 50c. lower; bulk desirable stockers and feeders 7.00 and 7.75; bulk veal calves to packers 10.00 and 10.50.

Hogs, receipts 56,000; market mostly 10 to 15c. lower on lights; others 15 to 20c. lower; spots 25c. lower than Saturday's average; top 10.70; bulk 10.00 and 10.65; pigs steady, mostly 9.75 and 10.50; packing sows mostly 9.00 and 9.50; shippers took about 4,500; holdover liberal.

Sheep, receipts 19,000; best dry fed lambs steady; top 12.50; others, yearlings and light, wethers slow to lower; heavy sheep and spring lambs 25 to 50c. lower; top spring lambs 14.25; culls mostly 7.50 and 8.00; some fat heavy native ewes down to 2.50; good handyweight around 6.50.

CHICAGO WHEAT.

CHICAGO, June 13.— (Canadian Press.)—Wheat underwent a decided tumble in value yesterday, largely as the result of anticipation of big shipments from the south-west, where the harvest is becoming more general. Heavy liquidating sales on the part of holders took place and there was also aggressive offerings from short sellers, whereas demand from buyers was at a minimum. The close was unsettled. 3 1-8 to 5c. net lower, with July 1.09 3-4 to $1.03 7-8, and September $1.10 1-8 to $1.10 1-4.

Corn finished 5-8 to 1 1-2c. off; oats down 3-4 and 7-8 to 1 and 1 1-8, and provisions unchanged to 20c. lower.

ECZEMA

ON FACE AND HEAD FOR FIVE YEARS

Eczema or salt rheum, as it is so often called, manifests itself in little round pimples which contain an extremely irritating fluid. These break and subsequently a crust or scale is formed and the intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night or when the part is exposed to a strong heat, is almost unbearable and relief is gladly welcomed.

There is only one way to get relief and no remedy like

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

Take it internally and it gets at the seat of the disease in the blood and drives it out of the system.

Apply it externally and it takes out the itching, stinging and burning and promotes healthly healing.

Mrs. J. Sage, 215 Princess Ave., Vancouver, B. C., writes: "Having suffered with eczema on the face and head, for the last five years, I consulted several doctors, and tried various kinds of salves and lotions, but I derived no benefit from any of them. I did not know what to do until a friend advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and after I had used two bottles I began to get better and now after taking eight bottles I have not even a blotch on me. I feel that I cannot praise B. B. B. too highly I hope you will make full use of this recommendation for the benefit of those who are suffering from this terrible complaint, eczema."

HOME CIRCLE

It is indeed true that "out of the mouths of babes and sucklings cometh wisdom." The other day we happened to hear the story of a small boy who told about climbing a very steep hill. About half way up the hill the task seemed too much for him. He turned to go back but that way looked quite as dangerous as going ahead. "So," he concluded, "I kept straight ahead for I decided it was better to fall down climbing than to climb down."

"It is better to fall down climbing than to climb down." What true philosophy of life yet how long it takes most of us to learn it. That boy kept on climbing and reached the summit. Most of us could reach the summit of our troubles also if we would but keep on climbing, but instead of that we climb miserably down and hang about the foot of our Mountain of Trouble and never do achieve the other side. Let us at least attempt to make the other side.

Constructive criticism is a good thing but most of us do not make our criticism constructive and we are all over critical. A critical habit is an easy one to make and it grows upon us until we soon have a sharp word of criticism for everything and everybody. Our friends soon begin to shun us and we cannot understand the reason.

The ordinary criticism is quite useless and unnecessary anyway and unless we are in a position to know about what we are talking or feel we could do better ourselves, the best way is to keep still. It will save us a good friend perhaps, and a good disposition.

At its best, winter is rather a cheerless season out of doors. For that reason we should exert ourselves to make our homes as cheerful as possible. One of the best ways to do this is to have blooming plants in the house. It's like a tiny piece of summer held over into winter to see a window full of geraniums or cyclmen or foliage plants. More than people realize, it is these tiny bits of cheer that make life worth living. It is true that house plants are a bother and make considerable dirt but they more than pay for this in cheering up an otherwise dreary period.

Not very long ago, a passerby questioned a begger on the street. It turned out that he had quite a surprising amount of education, "but," he said, "I cannot find work. The world is down on me and I have lost confidence in myself."

That was exactly where all the trouble was—not because he couldn't find work but because he had lost confidence in himself. Never do that. It isn't necessary to think that your way is the best way. It isn't necessary to be egotistical about it, but do the best you can. You have as good a chance as the next fellow; you can do as well as he. Very well, go ahead, and with this faith in yourself you cannot be defeated.

A great many people overlook the value of wall paper in decorating the house. Artistic wall paper is really no more expensive than these hideous wall coverings we see with red roses that look like cabbages literally hitting us in the face when we come into the room or those stripped affairs that make us look cross-eyed. Yet people seem to think that unless they get a lot of color or design they are not getting their money's worth. Disturbing wall paper has much more to do with one's outlook on life than we realize and quiet tones adapt themselves much more readily to our moods and are much easier to live with.

SANCTUARY

Keep in your soul some still untroubled space
Weft of the things of loveliness and grace.
Where when a harried world distraught with fire,
Presses too hard on you you may retire
As to a ferny spot in some deep wood
Far from life's turmoil and in quietude,
When woe comes not, and peace her dwellings hath
Unvexed by man's unceasing urge to wrath.

Why Be "Skinny"

When It's so EASY to Build Flesh this New Way

Do you need more flesh? Are you pale, lacking in energy—or is your complexion blemished by humiliating pimples, blackheads, or boils? If so, simply go to your druggist's and get a package of IRONIZED YEAST tablets. Take these remarkably effective tablets—two with each meal. Then watch the results! Very likely you will be actually astonished at the improvement shown in you even after the first 48 hours. For IRONIZED YEAST embodies a remarkable new scientific process—a process which enables yeast to bring its splendid results often in just half the usual time.

The New Process

While yeast alone is good, tests show that it needs some other agent in order to quickly convert its wonderful health-building elements into firm tissue, rosy cheeks and sparkling vitality.

Everyone knows that iron is of great value in converting our food into living cells and tissue. So working on this problem, our scientists finally discovered the wonderful process of ironization—the process through which the combination of yeast and iron becomes 100% efficient.

Do not think, however, that any combination of yeast and iron will do. Yeast brings its best and quickest results only when it is treated through the scientific process of ironization. And this process is embodied only in IRONIZED YEAST, the one scientifically correct yeast treatment.

Watch Your Gums— Bleeding a Sign of Trouble

Medical science knows how serious is the sign of bleeding gums. For it knows that tender and bleeding gums are the forerunners of Pyorrhea, that dread disease which afflicts four out of five people over forty.

If the disease is unchecked, the gum-line recedes, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of the Pyorrhea poisons which seep into the system and wreck the health. These poisons often cause rheumatism, nervous disorders, anaemia, and other ills.

To avoid Pyorrhea, visit your dentist often for tooth and gum inspection, and use Forhan's For the Gums. Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea or check its progress, if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums firm and healthy—the teeth white and clean. Start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has already set in, use Forhan's according to directions and consult your dentist immediately for special treatment.

Third Battle Ypres Known by Canadians as "June Show" 1916

had marched the fifteen or twenty kilometres from the Corps rest camps appeared on the scene. Tired and hungry they were and their ranks depleted from the heavy shelling directed against the roads and overland trails they had traversed during the night.

The counter-attack on June 3rd in which the 7th, 10th, 14th, 15th and 49th battalions took parts was jointly superintended by Generals Tuxford and Lipsett of the 3rd and 2nd battalions respectively. Though those who had previouly chronicled this attack, are unaminous on the gallantry of the troops engaged, the operation has been styled a failure.

General Tuxford, who is now a resident of Moose Jaw, Sask. declares that it was the first attack on June 2nd, 1916, which made possible the success of the attack which today is the sixth anniversary. He cites the folowing reasons as to why he considers this is so

1. "The June 3 attack established the location of the Boche positions.
2. "It prevented the Wurttembergers from taking the iniative by taking the iniative from the Wurttembergers
3. "It established a continuity of posistion as the Canadians front line from which the "jump off" 'on June 3 was made possible."

General Tuxford blames the failure of the troops engaged on the June counter attack upon these facts:

1. "Lack of definite information concerning the positions to be attacked.
2. "Insufficient nature of artillery preparation.
3. "Alteration of orders concerning the time the blow was to be delivered.
4. "Poor communication as between battalions; both laterally and in depth, caused by incessant hostile machine guns and shrapnel fire."

The Advance.

In any event, troops attacking on June 3rd did occupy positions of some importance to which the enemy had previously penetrated. For example at Zillebeke village, the advance made totalled ebout 1,200 yards and carried the Canadians to the western extremity of Observation Ridge, a high tongue of ground in the left center of the position, running directly east and west. The gains therefore established a line of defense, established the position of the German troops and gave a good position to attack from. In view of the handicaps under which the troops labored including concentrated machine gun, rifle and shell fire to which they were subject; lack of knowledge of the position and the fact they had little instruction in the method they were to employ, the attack of June 3, may be described as distinctly successful, but costly withal in the lives of soldiers.

For several days artillery and counter-artillery bombardments, attack and counter-attack, mostly of a local nature, raged back and forth along the line. The German front line on the right and right centre was from 500 to 750 yards east of the old advance positions of the Canadians. Hooge, however, that commanding eminence to the extreme left, was still Canadian grounds and no effort put forth by the enemy up to this time had been successful in dislodging its stubborn defenders. On June 6, the enemy flew mines under the front line Canadian trenches in the Hooge sub-sector and in the attack which developed immediately afterwards, penetrated as far as the Hooge support lines. Major A. G. Styles, now of Regina, a captain at that time with the 28th Battalion, was the hero of the Hooge attack. He mobilized machine-guns and prevented the attackers from rolling up on the right. As the horde of Wurttembergers poured through "The Gap" (that slight depression just south of Hooge where 700 of the Prussion Guard broke through in October, 1914 and were annihilated by the British) the machine guns of the 28th and of the British battalions further to the left, had a beautiful enfilade on them and mowed the oncoming Boche down like corn.

In the interval, June 6 to June 12, the Boche made several local attempts to bomb and blast his way further into the heart of the Canadian position. In every case he failed, but the Canadians, now lying in full view of the Germans, who occupied the higher ground, had an unpleasant time. The slightest movement was shelled and all day and night the ground was swept with shrapnel and machine gun bullets, with the less noisy but more deadly missiles from aimed rifle fire.

The attack on the night of June 12-13 was well planned and well executed. The attackers were distributed in the front line along the western front of Armagh and Sanctuary Woods and the eastern side of Maple Copse. The night was vile for the rain fell in torrents but the masses of mud which formed in every hollow and shell-hole mercifully smothered the effect of the fast falling high explosive from the German guns. At a quarter to one in the morning the pandemonium of the Canadian batteries broke loose—the greatest concentration of guns ever behind the corps up to that time. Bombers formed the first wave of attack launced at 1.30 a.m. on June 13, and though the enemy resisted with stubborn bravery in certain isolated places, he was finally overcome and the Canadian line established in its old position along the crest of the low hills which accentuate the outline of the Ypres salient.

Units Engaged.

The principal units engaged were: 1st, 3rd, 7th and 8th battalions under Brigadier-General Lipsett; 2nd, 4th and 16th battalions under Brigadier-General Tuxford. General Garnett Hughes with the 5th, 10th, 14th and 15th was in Divisional reserve.

There are many rumors and theories concerning the Sanctuary Wood-Maple Copse-Hooge fight. The Germans gave warning of their intention to attack late in April, by driving T saps toward the Canadian line afterwards linking up the saps into new front trenches. On the right where the 2nd brigade of the 1st Division were holding the line and on the extreme left where the Royal Canadian Regiment were in the trenches on June 2nd the Boche did not advance, it is true, but at the same time the main force of the Wurttemberger attack was directed against the centre held by the troops of the Third Canadian Division, then making its debut in the trenches. Here the volume of shell fire was so intense that several battalions of this Division simply ceased toexist before the Germans even left their trenches. The enemy undoubtedly was fully informed as to the presence of the new troops in the line. His attack was launched accordingly.

Officers and men who were in the "June Show" (as it is called) of 1916, invariably express puzzlement why, after the Germans had smashed through the Canadian defence lines, they did not press the advantage, flatten the salient and cause a retirement of some miles in the direction of Poperinghe.

The German official mind which lays down hard and fast rules for attacking troops, is cited as one of the principal reasons why this programme was not carried out. The German under-officers and men— at this period, at least—were not allowed to use initiative. They were mere fighting machines, ordered to go here or there at the will of their superiors. Discipline carried them a long way and might have carried the June, 1916, attack to success had not the Canadian artillery, working in harmony with infantry and aerial observers, effectually smashed several attempts to reinforce the thinning ranks of those Teutons who did gain their objectives.

Another hypothesis is that the smash at the Canadian line was only to divert more Allied troops there, and prevent concentration of men elsewhere. The Hun was fearful of preparations for the Anglo-French offensive which had been going on all winter, which he knew to be imminent, and which did finally develop on the Somme.

Whatever is the explanation of the German failure to permanently crack the Canadian line, that line which was hammered continuously and stretched to its utmost during those eleven days of tragedy six years ago, nothing but the highest praise can ever be attached to the Canadian units which took part in the first defense, the struggle between and the final victory. Practically every battalion engaged took its share of honors and Sir Julian Byng, now Canada's Governor-General, Sir Arthur Currie and Brigadier-Generals Tuxford and Lipsett divide the glory for the final successful smash which restored the line.

And so, to-day, when primarily comes the thought of those twelve thousand or so Canadians who died or were wounded in the "June Show" of 1916, the veterans, some scarred, some whole, contemplate certain facts of the fight which perhaps they did not realize in the bloody chaos of the actual battle—the import of their heroic deeds in holding the line; the fact that the "June Show" was in reality one of the gravest crises averted by Canadians during their glorious tenure in France and Flanders.

I SAW A NEW WORLD

By W. B. Rands

(This poem shows what a mess might be made of the world if it were to be without change of any sort, and how interesting it is with its surprises and strife, and hope and dreams).

I saw a new world in my dream,
Where all the folks alike did seem,
There was no Child, there was no Mother
There was no Change, there was no Other.

For everything was same, the Same,
There was no Praise, there was no Blame;
There was neither Heed, nor Help for it;
There was nothing fitting or unfit.

Nobody laughed, nobody wept;
None grew weary, so no one slept;
There was nobody born, and nobody wed,
This world was a world of the living dead.

I longed to hear the Time-Clock strike
In the world where people were all alike;
I hated Same, I hated Forever,
I longed to stay Neither, or even Never.

I longed to mend, I longed to make,
I longed to give, I longed to take,
I longed for a change, whatever came after,
I longed for crying, I longed for laughter.

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED.

You do not make a display of your clothes or home furnishings, or whatever extraordinary you may have.

A woman may be marvelously gowned, but if she does not seem conscious of it she does not make anyone else uncomfortable.

She may have the most expensive home, but if she is cordial and friendly she will make it a background for her personality rather than something conspicuous and obtrusive.

An Unfailing Way To Banish Hairs

(Beauty Notes.)

Ugly hairy growths can be removed in the privacy of your own home if you get a small original package of delatone and mix into a paste enough of the powder and water to cover the hairy surface. This should be left on the skin about 2 minutes, then removed and the skin washed and every trace of hair will have vanished. No harm or inconvenience can result from this treatment, but be sure to buy real delatone.

A NEW TOPCOAT.

It's pleasant to think of the long sunny days coming when life will have nothing better to offer than driving along a country road between flourishing green fields.

But, remember, it always is dusty in the country. It will even be dusty in the city.

Fortify yourself with such a top coat as is sketched. It is a coat especially provided for such emergencies.

It is shown in herringbone weaves, tweed mixtures or linen and will protect you from dust, damp and drops in the thermometer. Made only in strictly tailored styles.

FACE DISFIGURED NINE MONTHS

Itched and Hard Pimples Broke Out. Cuticura Heals.

"My face and neck all broke out in a mass of nasty pimples. My face used to itch and then hard pimples would break out and fester over. They itched and burned dreadfully at times, and my face was badly disfigured for about nine months.

"I tried different remedies without any effect. I saw an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. It helped me so much that I bought more, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Hattie E. They Overlooked the Diamonds

THERE is a modern flippancy to the effect that, "What you don't know won't hurt you." It is also a fallacy. For instance:

The farmers of Kimberley were a disgusted, disheartened lot. They said the soil was too rocky to earn them a living. Some of them left. Others died in poverty.

And all the time their children were playing with diamonds.

But the farmers didn't know. They thought the priceless gems were pebbles.

Don't be like those Kimberley farmers. Know!

Don't seek opportunity in some distant place and overlook the diamonds that are daily within your grasp. Know!

Advertising is a mine of opportunity. It tells of values you wouldn't know about if it were not there to guide you.

The secret of economical buying is information. The man or woman who is best informed is the one who buys to best advantage.

SHORT WEIGHT IS NOT PERMISSIBLE

The Belleville "Daily Intelligencer" of June 9th has the following item:

"F. Davey Diamond, district inspector of weights and measures of the Belleville Division, was in Kingston on Thursday, conducting the prosecution of the grocery store on the corner of Montreal and Raglan Streets, conducted by The Robinson Stores, Ltd., under the Short Weights Act, for selling ten pounds of sugar, which did not weigh the amount represented. The company denied the charge, but after hearing the evidence for the prosecution and the defence, as well as argument by the counsel for the defence, and District Inspector Diamond, Magistrate Farrel found the company guilty, and imposed a fine of fifteen dollars and costs."

From information volunteered by the local Inspector of Weights and Measures in Peterborough, it appears that local grocers are not absolutely blameless in matters of this sort, and in future, prosecutions in case of short weight are to be rigidly enforced. It has been discovered here in some investigations that the short weight in packaged goods starts right at the beginning, that is, with the manufacturer, then again, the retailer is to blame. A public that harkens to the lure of so many pounds of a commodity at a lower price than elsewhere obtainable is not always sure, according to the inspector, of receiving the number of pounds guaranteed in the announcement.

INTERVIEW WITH MICHAEL COLLINS

Irish Leader Says Belfast is the Cause of Frontier Disturbances.

LONDON, June 13.— (Canadian Press.)— Interviewed prior to his departure for London which he reached to-day, Michael Collins declared that "things are well enough and I trust we will bring matters to a satisfactory conclusion with the British Government." He intends to take up the Ulster border situation immediately. He emphasized that there was no frontier trouble. Everything that happened was a result, not a cause, and the cause was Belfast, where there were men using the border situation to destroy the situation created by the treaty.

REMOVED HIS WHISKERS.

DUBLIN, June 13. — (Canadian Press.)—Three armed young men entered the home of Darrell Figgis last night, despite protests of his wife, and told him they had instructions to remove his whiskers, which they did. Mr. Figgis is chairman of the Irish Constitution Drafting committee.

NEW PASTOR OF TRINITY CHURCH

The "Journal Argus" of St. Mary's, Ontario, in its June 8th edition, contains a cut of Trinity church here, with a reference to the new pastor of Trinity, Rev. A. J. Langford, who succeeds Rev. F. E. Malott on the 1st of July. Rev. Mr. Malott, who was also an ex-pastor of St. Mary's church, goes to Bridge street church, in Belleville, and the clipping remarks that the membership of Trinity has increased by over 200 during Mr. Malott's pastorate here.

A complimentary reference to Mr. Langford's work in St. Mary's is made, as "a hard-working and efficient minister of the Gospel, whose addresses on all occasions have been marked by transparent sincerity of conviction and by deep spirituality of purpose, his unclouded independence of thought giving to his words something more than even his enviable command of the language could give."

BROKE GROUND TODAY.

The manual training classes of the Public Schools working under Instructor Albert Hope broke ground for the building that will serve as a rest room for the Peterboro Health Association in connection with its children's camp at Jackson's Park this morning. It is expected to have the rest room up before school is over. It will be approximately 50 by 20 feet and is the largest task ever undertaken by Public School boys in this city. The 274 boys who will all share in building it are enthusistic about the job and do not only do they want to put in two hours manual traini. g period every week there but also work after school and on Saturdays.

The Kiwanis club completed the first coat of paint on their dining room at the park last night and two more will be put on before the building is formally presented to the health association. The plans for both buildings were prepared by W. H. Barry and represent the most modern ideas in such construction.

TRUE DETECTIVE STORIES

THE MIDNIGHT MURDER

(Copyright 1921, By The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

"Then the only thing you have to go on is the fact that several people in Grafton Street recall having heard a cry a few nights ago and the old man hasn't been seen since?"

"That's all, Chief. If it weren't for the scream in the night and they all agree that it was a blood-curdling cry—it would look like a plain case of disappearance. We've been all through the house, but of course we couldn't search it thoroughly without a regular warrant and there's no ground for issuing one. Epstein may have wandered off somewhere to get away from his wife. She's a regular hellion, they say—though she was nice as pie to us."

John Kane, Chief Inspector of Scotland Yard, rubbed his chin thoughtfully. There had been entirely too many mysterious crimes committed in and around London within the past few months. If Epstein, who was reputed to be rich and a miser, has really disappeared it was up to the Yard to discover him before the newspapers got wind of the affair.

Besides, there was the scream that a number of the neighbors had heard and which some of them stood ready to swear was the voice of Epstein, raised in mortal terror.

"I'll take a run down to Grafton Street myself as soon as I have gotten these reports out of the way," stated Kane. "In the meantime keep an eye on the house and let me know if anything develops."

When Kane approached the house on Grafton Street later in their evening, one of his men reported that there were indications of activity inside the place.

"Looks like they were getting ready to go away or something," said the operatives. "There's a dray coming up now. Wouldn't be surprised if the woman, alarmed at our snooping around is preparing for a getaway."

Kane said nothing, but edged closer to the house. From the meagre information at his disposal he was not all at inclined to credit the theory that a crime had been committed. But there would be no harm in looking things over, particularly if Mrs. Epstein was intending to move. That, in itself, was not suspicious but, coupled with the other incidents of the affair, it might bear inspection.

From the driver of the dray, Kane obtained the information that the luggage was to be taken to Charing Cross, thence to be shipped across the Channel. The tags were on the various articles, and it was not until the last piece was brought out of the house, that Kane noted anything out of the ordinary. Then he mentioned to his men to close in.

"Take that chest back into the house," he ordered. "Let's see what's in it!"

"What right have you to give such orders?" demanded a voice from the doorway and the Scotland Yard man, looking up, caught a glimpse of a tall, gaunt woman glaring down at him from the threshold.

"The right of an officer of the Crown to investigate suspicious circumstances," retorted Kane. "I happen to be the Chief Inspector of Scotland Yard and, as your husband recently disappeared, I desire to know what is in that box."

The woman said nothing, but her eyes flashed as she directed the drayman to take the rest of the luggage to Charing Cross.

"I'll ride down with you," she concluded, but changed her mind when, at signal from their chief, two Scotland Yard men lined up on either side of her.

It was in the dim, barely-furnished parlor of the house that Kane directed the chest to be placed. The flickering yellow light of a single gas-jet cast a ghostlike illumination over the scene and even Kane's iron nerves were shocked when the lid of the box was thrown back. When the top of the chest opened, what appeared to be the ghost of a man sat up and leered out into the room! It was the body of the missing man, the upper portion of the trunk attached to the lid of the box in such a manner that, when the top was thrown back, the body sprang into a sitting posture, as if it were alive again!

Even Mrs. Epstein, hardened as she was, cried out at the apparition and then fainted dead away.

"Quick!" directed Kane. "Find out how the man was killed!"

"A thrust of some long thin instrument through the heart," reported one of the detectives. "A drop of blood on his chest is the only indication of foul play, but that's what did it, all right. Not a stiletto or a dagger, though. The puncture isn't large enough for that."

The Chief Inspector examined the wound for a moment, thoughtfully and then, stepping across to where the fainting woman lay, began to fumble with something in her hair.

"Throw some water in her face," he ordered, "and then stand back. I want to find out something before she gets a chance to recover her nerve."

As the woman's eyes opened she became aware, first, of the body of her dead husband staring at her with sightless accusing eyes. Then she saw the Chief Inspector, standing in front of her, examining something under a pocket magnifying glass—something that glittered and shone in the light of the jet directly above it.

An instant later, Kane stood over her, his finger indicating the thing he held in his hand.

"Why did you kill your husband at midnight, four days ago?" he demanded. "Yes, you did! There's no use denying it! We have witnesses who heard the scream. We have proof that you were alone in the house with him. We know that he had a considerable sum of money concealed on the premises and"—here his voice became the voice of doom—"I have here the weapon with which the murder was committed—your hat-pin, with a tiny bit of the dead man's blood clotted close to the head where you neglected to wipe it off!"

Some months later Mrs. Epstein was sentenced to penal servitude for life, while the hat-pin was added to that gruesome collection which adorns the archives of Scotland Yard.

STAGE SET FOR BUDGET VOTE THIS EVENING

OTTAWA, June 13. —(Canadian Press.)—The stage is set for the vote to-night on the modified budget. It was at first felt that changes announced by Hon. Mr. Fielding might give rise to further extended debate, but opinion of members is that with eighty or so speeches already delivered the budget discussion has gone sufficiently far and that the vote should be taken to-night. Division is expected about midnight.

The impression prevails that the Government will get sufficient individual support from the Opposition, coupled probably with absentions to secure a safe majority. Liberals talk of minimum Government majority of ten.

COBOURG LOSE THEIR PROTEST

Sub - Committee Decides Against Horse Show Town on Evidence Submitted.

At a meeting of the sub-committee of the Central Ontario League, held in the Queen's Hotel, Port Hope, yesterday afternoon, the protest entered by the Cobourg club against the Oshawa victory in Cobourg on June 3 was considered, and after representatives of both clubs had been heard the protest was disallowed. Cobourg's protest was based on the grounds that Players Evans and Twigg of the Oshawa club were not eligible under the residence rule to play for Oshawa. Beyond the statement of their belief that the players in question could not qualify as bona fide residents of Oshawa, however, the Cobourg club submitted no evidence. Oshawa, on the other hand, produced a flock of affadavits to prove that the two players, who hail from Kingston, had established residence in Oshawa before May 15th, although it was admitted that Evans, who is a medical student at Queen's, had gone back to Kingston after that date to write examinations.

After hearing the evidence, the sub-committee, with Mr. Kimmel of Cobourg not voting, decided that the protest should be dismissed, but that in view of the fact that there had been a misunderstanding as a result of the executive meeting some weeks ago and Cobourg's action had cleared up a point that the sub-committee felt the executive should have dealt with, that the deposit of $25 made by Cobourg in connection with the protest should be refunded to that club.

The sub-committee consists of Sandy Lockington, Port Hope; Art Kimmel, Cobourg, and F. D. Craig, Peterborough. President Parsons and Secretary J. G. Nott were also in attendance.

Tennis 60 Per Cent. Footwork

By BOB DORMAN.

How many tennis fans pay serious attention to footwork? Yet in no other sport, not even boxing, is it more important. Frank Anderson, national indoor champion of 1921, rates it at 60 per cent. of the game. "Watch the game's stars—men like Tilden, Johnston and other ranking players," he advises.

For those who lack the opportunity to do this he suggests the following simple rules:

In serving, stand a-tiptoe, left foot turned in and weight on left toe, enabling you to follow through and go to the net with your service without waste motion. To receive your opponent's service, stand with legs slightly apart and weight equally distributed, enabling you to move quickly in any direction. To use forehand stroke, the left foot should carry the weight and be toward the opposite court, with the right foot turned at a slight angle. On backhand stroke, the right foot should bear the weight and be forward, with the left at an angle. To go to the side, turn on the ball of the foot toward the side to which you are going, and stride with the other leg.

Surrounding Anderson's portrait, shown here, the player is seen using the back stroke (1), starting to the side (2), awaiting service (3), going to the side (4), and using forearm stroke (5).

Yesterday we inadvertently credited Shaughnessey with the hit that started the winning streak of the Petes on Saturday. Tommy Holyman was the player who batted in the first two runs, and he did it in good shape. Shaughnessey, incidentally, also swings a pretty wicked stick.

KEENE WINS FROM LAKEFIELD TEAM

Fast Game Ends in a 2 to 1 Victory For Keene — Played Under Difficult Conditions.

Keene defeated Lakefield 2 to 1 in a fast U.F.O. League game at Keene yesterday. Both teams played exceptionally good ball in spite of the fact that a strong wind and the sun in the players' eyes made playing difficult. Keene showed a little the best form throughout the game. Weaver, the new first sacker who was trotted out as a Lakefield find, lived up to his dark horse reputation and played a stellar game for the losers. On either team but few men got past the initial sack.

SOLDIERS MASSACRED.

LONDON, June 13.— (Canadian Press.) — Twelve British soldiers have been massacred by the Turks in the neighborhood of the Dardanelles, according to a semi-official dispatch from Athens received here tonight.

The men were taken prisoner during a raid by Kemalist bands on a weak British detachment.

AVIATOR KILLED.

GALVESTON Tex., June 13.—(Canadian Press)—Cadet Sergeant Leslie Wright, Flint, Mich., 20, was killed here yesterday when his airplane crashed to earth in sight of hundreds of spectators, watching a war game between the 27th and 29th Aero Squadrons.

LITTLE GOLF LESSONS

Stance is the position of the feet when the golf shot is made. The common varieties are: The square, the open, and the left-foot-in-front-of-the-right. The square stance serves as a standard for the variations. It is taken with the feet well apart and so placed that a straight line from toe to toe will parallel with an imaginary line from the ball to the hole.

In today's picture Francis Ouimet, the star Boston golfer who has held both amateur and open championships, is shown about to send out one of his long, straight drives. His stance in this position is slightly open. The position of the feet for the slightly open stance is shown in the diagram.

COLLEGIATE BALL OVER FOR SEASON.

Baseball in the Collegiate this year took the form of a league, consisting of six teams. The games were played in front of the Armouries after school.

The brand of ball played was superior to that of previous years. The developing Babe Ruths emptied the treasury of the Boys' Athletic Association, due to the high price of bats. Double plays were not infrequent.

There was keen rivalry between the teams, and the boys looked forward to the games. The winners of the games were always uncertain, many ninth inning rallies deciding the victor.

Much of the success of the league is due the teachers, who took the sometimes embarrassing role of umpire.

The final standing of the league is: Fanning, Miller, Legon, Green, Gollop, Bradbern.

DIAGNOSIS OF ACUTE GOLFITIS.

By JIGGER.

Acute golfitis is such a frequent disease that two physicians, Dr. Hookem and Dr. Slicem, have gotten together for the purpose of diagnosing such cases and offering the best possible remedy.

History—Golfitis originated among the shepherds of Scotland about 500 years ago. Since its very origin the disease has always appeared in an acute form. No mild cases have been reported by reliable physicians or specialists, although some cases of the milder form of mental disorder have apparently been taken for it.

Etiology—The cause of golfitis seems to have some connection with an excess of leisure time. Although the disease is unquestionably brought on in most cases by accidental contact with persons already contaminated, it has not been proven that poor hereditv predisposes to golfitis. It generally attacks persons between the ages of eight and eighty, although some cases have been reported above and below these ages. The only races so far uncontaminated are the Eskimos and the Bolsheviki.

Diagnosis—The disease is characterized by its sudden onslaught. The disorder appears in full force from the beginning and so demoralizes the patient that no help in fighting it can be expected from that source. The fact that it breaks out immediately after exposure is a great aid in diagnosis, but a great disadvantage in treating it. The onslaught is followed by sleeplessness, irritability and enormous increase in appetite; later, little faults of memory appear, the patient misuses words and becomes indifferent to the higher sentiments; he also loses interest in his family and in important affairs, errs in appointments, becomes inaccurate in handling simple problems in arithmetic, seldom being able to count above five without help, and is easily angered. He suffers from rushing of blood to the head, mild attacks of convulsions, and loss of the sense of time. He has moods of exaltation and depression, peculiarities and incoherence of speech, grandiose ideas of his athletic ability and melancholy delusions about his handicap. Many show a tendency to gamble and quarrel.

Morbid Anatomy—The physical changes show a great increase in the size of the chest, a peculiar gleam of the eye, and a great increase of heart and lungs, and also an increase of general vitality.

Prognosis—The disease is practically certain to run throughout the life of the patient. No case of complete cures recorded. The patient will probably not live more than 90 or 100 years, but with proper care he may remain active until the last and may be a useful citizen in spite of his affliction.

Treatment—Owing to the hopelessness of these cases the patient is usually committed to a country club or other institution of this sort, although many return to their homes at intervals. Since there is no hope of effecting a cure it is best to make the patient as comfortable as possible and give him nourishing food. Be careful not to interrupt him in his ravings and see that he is not burdened with business or professional care.

WILDCATS SWAMP FIRE HALL FALCONS

High Wind Interferes With Game at King Edward Park.

In a Corner Lot fixture played last night on King Edward School grounds the Wildcats defeated the Fire Hall Falcons, 16 to 4. The strong wind hindered the twirlers and made the fielder's job difficult. Bradley pitched for the Wildcats, Cheu for the Falcons. Bradley received better support from his teammates than Cheu. Some of the Falcons handled the pill like a red-hot iron. Moore replaced Bradley in the seventh.

The Falcons started off well, grabbing three runs and holding their opponents scoreless; but the Wildcats opened up in the second and secured eight runs. They continued the good work by keeping the bases empty and getting eight more by the end of the seventh.

Johnson's running catch of Batley's long drive to right was easily the feature of the game. There were some long hits made. Moore and Johnson each poling triples.

The players were:

Falcons—Cheu, p; Feeley, c; Griffin, 1b; Smith, 2b; McNeely, 3b; Lewis, ss; Shadgett, rf; Cameron, lf; Johnson, cf; Cohenon, sub.

Wildcats—Bradley, p; Miller, c; Hunter, 2b; Fitzgerald, 3b; Batley, ss; Eliott, rf; Connors, lf; Batley, cf; Marchand and Whitehouse, subs.

FOOLISH WIVES IS COMING

TRANSFER OF ALBERT SMOKE IS WITHHELD

A.A.U. of C. Ask for Action by P. A. A. A. and Executive Refused Sanction.

G. N. GORDON GIVES A CUP

The Executive of the Peterborough A. A. A. at a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce last night, decided against giving sanction to the transfer of Albert Smoke from the local association to the Gladstone A. C. of Toronto. The request for Smoke's transfer came from the Gladstone club. A communication was also received from the A. A. U. of C. asking the local association to take action in the matter.

Smoke's transfer to the Gladstone club was announced by the club following the runner's fine showing in the Boston Marathon. Arthur Scholes of the Toronto club, accompanied the Indian runner to Boston. Smoke has since taken part in a number of races for the Gladstone club.

The local association was altogether ignored when the club undertook to take charge of Smoke, and there was also no apparent appreciation of the assistance given to Smoke by the citizens of Peterborough, who contributed towards Smoke's expenses as an entry in the Boston Marathon.

The A. A. U. of C. took the stand that as Smoke was registered with the Peterborough A.A.A. the action taken by the Gladstone club was irregular and could not be sanctioned.

Mr. Gordon Gives Cup.

The Association has received a handsome gift from Mr. G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., deputy speaker of the House of Commons. Ald. N. E. Phelan announced the receipt of a communication from Mr. G. N. Gordon, donating a silver trophy to the association, to be used by the association in the work of promoting amateur athletics. The trophy was formally accepted and the secretary instructed to extend to Mr. Gordon the thanks of the association for his gift. The trophy is now on display at E. V. Warne's.

A report from the awards committee brought forth commendation for good work done by the committee, of which G. R. Langley is chairman. This important part of the association's programme is in the hands of a capable committee, and the rules and regulations governing the awards are practically completed.

CAPITOL — "My Old Kentucky Home," racing drama of the Blue-grass Country. Balance of usual Capitol programme.

ROYAL — "A Perfect Crime"; Alice Calhoun in "The Charming Deceiver," and Mack Sennett Comedy.

REGENT — Constance Binney, in "The Magic Cup," and "High and Dry," as shown at Loew's Theatres.

Capitol Entertainment

There was a filled house at the Capitol last night for the usual good programme, which is featured this week by "My Old Kentucky Home," an absorbing romance of the blue-grass country, with the atmospherc of the sunny South in its dark servitors, its pretty girls, and its pillared, wide-verandah'd Colonial mansions. The horse-race is the thrilling episode in a tale of vivid, swift-moving action, but is in Corsair and the horse Dixie, or the faster Lightning, with a lone, white stocking on its forefoot, that strive for mastery as the straining heads and the flashing feet race by? That remains a mystery until the final reel, while the white-haired lady in the box cheers for Dixie, and the black family straddling the white-washed fence yell for Lightning.

Monte Blue is the lovable, rather spineless hero who wakes up finally and lands the villain an uppercut that sends him sprawling. With a secret record of two years in Sing-Sing behind him, he trembles at the fear of disclosure to his mother, and his romance comes very near to a tragic end in consequence. Sigrid Holmquist is splendid as the little, fair-haired heroine, and two of the most likeable characters in a picture that interests from start to finish are Loney and Steve, the crooks, who are smugglers in New York, but refuse to run a "crooked race" in Kentucky. On the lone steadfast principle of one crook and the scheming ways of another the whole fabric of the story rests.

There is a chapter of the serial, "White Eagle," with this week's offerings, and Snub Pollard has a comedy that shows him in prison stripes, making a fast and furious getaway, with a final mournful return.

RUMORS OF "FOOLISH WIVES" HAVE YOU HEARD THEM?

"Foolish Wives" the superfeature to be shown at the Capitol Theatre soon is the first real million dollar picture. Its actual cost up to the time of its first showing was $1,103,736. This stupendous sum was expended in the ...ruction of gigantic and costly sets and the hiring of thousands of "extra' actors and actresses to make up th.. crowd scenes. Eric von Stroheim the author director, and principal actor in the picture, prided himself upon reproducing at Universal City, Cal., the exact scenes and activities to be found at Monte Carlo.

The three principal buildings at Monte Carlo were duplicated in California with remarkable fidelity for the making of "Foolish Wives," the million dollar Universal picture which begins at the Capitol Theatre soon. They were the Casino, better known as the Hall of Chance, the Hotel de Paris an the Cafe de Paris. The interiors were fitted with the same furnishings as used in the original structures even to the monograms on the hotel linen. Eric von Stroheim, the director and star, demanded absolute verisimilitude.

Several hundred prominent San Francisco societ, folk played roles as humble "extras' in "Foolish Wives", the million dollar picture to be seen at the Capitol. The "millionaire extras' were used to give tone to the promenade scenes which picture the wealthy crowds surging along the walks and terraces at Monte Carlo.

The Universal Film Company, in order to reproduce these scenes, built an immense set at Point Lobos, near Monterey California. The ocean side of Monte Carlos famous casino, the bandstand, and the sea-side promenades of the Riveria resort were duplicated.

Participation by San Francisco's Four hundred was obtained by Carl Laemmle, president of Universal, as the result of a handsome contribution to a worthy San Francisco charity. The wealthy Golden Gate blue-bloods motored to Monterey for the week-end and devoted Sunday to strolling around the Monte Carlo set, acting naturally, just as if they were strolling around at Monte Carlo. Meanwhile the cameras clicked, and certain bits of action for the picture were enacted, against this millionaire background, by Eric von Stroheim and the other principals in the regular cast.

It is not a novelty to rent a railroad train or a trolley car for use in moving pictures, but it is unique to lay a street-car track an remake a car. Yet this was done at Universal City, during the making of "Foolish Wives,' Eric von Stroheim's great picture. Having constructed exact replicas of the Casino, the Hotel de Paris and the Cafe de Paris Monte Carlos principal buildings, von Stroheim had to install the street car system which runs across the plaza formed by these buildings.

Against this background of realism, von Stroheim has woven a plot of intrigue and adventure typical of the Continental gambling mecca. In concerns the affairs of a bogus Count who is both a debonair and polished Lothario and a complete villian. Aided by his accomplices two Russian "princesses" he intrigues the wife of an American diplomatic envoy to Monaco. The story of his villainy and its startling climax is picturized in forceful sequences and with skillful detail yet in the most artistic settings ever conceived for the screen.

Just as the settings and the photography are exceptional, so the character delineations ar extraordinary. From the role of the Count, played by von Stroheim himself, down to that of the half-wit girl of the Monacan slums, played by Malveen Polo, each character is vivid. Maude George and Mae Bush as the two "princesses" are rare actresses. Miss du Pont, the "foolish wife" is charming and natural in her frivolous indiscretions. Her husband is played by Rudolph Christians with great nderstanding. Dale Fuller makes a masterpiece out of the role of a wronged servant girl. As an old counterfeiter and an avenging father Caesare Gravina makes one remember him.

"Foolish Wives" is destined to become the most talked-of picture of the time, because of its artistry, its magnificence and its realism of atmosphere and chara er. Even its subtitles strike a new note in visual suggestion.

AT THE ROYAL.

PRINCE OF LIARS HAS HERO ROLE IN DWAN FILM.

Monte Blue and Jacqueline Logan Play Leading Parts in Big New Picture.

Oh, boy! how he can lie! "A Perfect Crime," Allan Dwan's second picture for Associated Producers, has a lying hero who provides some of the best laughs of the season and ruffles your emotions to an alarming extent. The picture is quite the most human of any of the string of successes which Mr. Dwan has given the public.

It combines humor with pathos and builds in interest as well as presenting for your delight a number of clever characterizations. The story is simple and deliciously real.

Monte Blue, one of the most able actors of the screen, has the role of Wally Griggs, an awkward, bashful fellow of unromantic mein. He quite suddenly decides to rob the bank where he is employed as messenger! From this weighty decision to "finis" the picture is rich in humor and human interest. For Dwan's forte is in doing the human thing in the most direct way. The picture forces the tears to the eye as frequently as it sends you into spasms of laughter. It is its steady onslaught to your emotions which you'll enjoy.

The most amusing scene is where the scraggly messenger suddenly blossoms into a dashing fellow who invents the most pleasing lies. It's all part of the plan to rob the bank, but it turns out differently than he expected. He becomes a social lion, the author of a book on amazing faked travels and the champion of a girl who is pursued by an unscrupulous district attorney. The surprise climax must be seen to be appreciated.

Dwan has selected a uniformly good cast to interpret the various roles. Jacqueline Logan, a former Ziegfeld girl, is seen in the leading feminine role. Stanton Heck and Hardee Kirkland, two very able actors, are also in the cast. The settings are unusually attractive and the lighting effects noteworthy.

AT THE REGENT.

Constance Binney in "The Magic Cup" is leading attraction at the Regent to-night. This is a typically Irish play although the scenes are mainly laid in New York. There is that generous impressive and kind hearted disposition impelling the heroine's actions that are so characteristic of the real Irishman or woman. Mary Malloy is kitchen girl in a New York hotel. On Christmas eve she spends every cent given her by generous guests. She find a woman and her little ones homeless on the street and, to get them shelter pawns an antique silver Cup inherited from long dead Irish ancestors. A gang of jewel thieves see the cup and recognize the old crest engraved thereon. They plot, by introducing one of their number to the girl as an Irish relative of title, to use the game. She, unsuspicious of their cruel plot welcomes a long lost relative and unconsciously aids them in a big jewel robbery. A bright young reporter discovers the plot and, after warning the girl falls in love with her. "The Magic Cup" leads to love and discovery of her real relative in Ireland. A spell binding plot through which runs a subtle irresistible vein of humor. The balance of the program includes good comedies and news bulletins. A well balanced bill all through.

STRATHCONAS LOSE TO THE ATHLETICS

George Mein's Athletics came through with a win last night by defeating the Strathconas by 4-2 at the Oval. The chilly wind that swept the Ashburnham height may have been the cause of the loose play that marked most of this game. It was interesting enough, but was rather a let-down on the quality of lacrosse which had been steadily improving as the schedule was carried out. Athletics nicked three before the Strathconas landed one, and after Johnnie Ward's crowd got two, and also appeared to have another, which the goal umpire declared had not gone within the bars, the Strathconas seemed to lose heart. Shortly afterward Grover Halpin got another for Athletics, making it 4-2 and decisive.

How a Designer Gets Criticism of Public

To get into closer touch with public criticism of new styles, to know at first hand just what men like best, the Chief Designer of the Semi-ready shops opened a little exhibition shop on a quiet and exclusive shop in Montreal. "It helps in creating new styles called for in our 'Special Order' or wholesale custom tailoring service," said the head of Stock's distinctive men's wear shop on George street.

ROBBERS MADE DARING ESCAPE

every dark corner, but found no spot where even a rat could hide much longer with the tide coming up so swiftly.

Finally they found a sewer opening in an obscure spot deep under the pier. It was wide enough for a man to crawl through if he wished to feel his way in the blackness as a rat would. The detectives crawled far back into this opening, with their strong lights showing the way, and finally they came to several openings through which a fugitive might have escaped to the open air on Manhattan Island.

When Robbers Emerged From Sewer

They found that one of these openings came up in a coal yard, which is unfrequented at night, and through this the men might have escaped. It is not far from the vacant lot where Patrolman Neville was slain several months ago — one of the deserted spots on Manhattan Island.

Scores of policemen started to search the neighborhood for the fugitives, but have found no trace of them. After about two hours Inspector Henry returned to Headquarters and left the task to the patrolmen and detectives. He was convinced that the fugitives had escaped by their daring methods, but would be captured when a general alarm was sent out.

A START MADE ON SEWER CONNECTION

The Board of Works has made a start on the Mount St. Joseph sewer and expect to give sanitary connection to the institution in three weeks and relieve a problem that has been objected to by residents of the west end for a long time. Ald. Walter Stocker reported that the surface drains on Hunter stree east would be finished in about ten days. The work is advancing up the hill and the gang are making speed as only 12 inch pipe is being laid in that section.

The concert, which took place in the Union Church, was attended by a packed audience, and received enthusiastic applause for every number. Selections were given by the Junior orchestra of the Conservatory, by the Hawaiian club, with vocal solos by Miss Ina Allen, readings by Miss Helen Morrison, and a duet for violin and cornet, by Arnold Spencer and William Cormack.

Mr. Jack Duignan, of the Dominion Bank, Toronto, was in town over the week-end.

Walker and Dr. Park, a vocal solo by Mrs. Ford Turner, an ex-graduate, a violin selection by Dr. Park, and an instrumental duet by Misses C. Caldwell and M. R. Rannie. Refreshments were provided and served by the ladies of the Normal staff.

ADDRESSED LOCAL MEDICAL SOCIETY

Mr. W. MacLachlan of the Hydro Staff Deals With Resuscitation.

The Medical Society held a special meeting last evening, at which the principal speaker was Mr. Wills MacLachlan, of the Hydro Electric staff. Mr. MacLachlan has important and varied duties in connection with the Hydro and other electric systems in an advisory capacity. One branch of his work of special interest is his investigation into the methods of resuscitation in cases of electric shock and his systematic instruction of the best metnod to all who are exposed in any way to this danger.

In regard to electrical shock, the speaker mentioned some very interesting points. He stated that shock from moderate voltage affected the heart principally—a high voltage had little effect on the heart, but stopped the breathing. In cases where a very small voltage produces death, there is practically always some moisture, which increases the conduction. This latter point is illustrated by the case of a person standing in a bathtub of water and touching an electric light fixtufe. Such contact of only 110 volts under that condition would easily produce death.

Mr. MacLachlan reviewed the history of resuscitation from the earliest methods of mouth to mouth inflation of lungs, up to the present day. He made the interesting statement that the so-called modern pulmotor is not at all new, its original prototype being a double action bellows planned and used as long ago as 1745. This apparatus was improved until it took the form of the present day pulmotor or lungmotor.

In the first half of the last century other methods of forcibly contracting and expanding the chest were used with fair success. In later years the pulmotor was looked upon as a life-saver, but it is now almost entirely abandoned, as the time taken in procuring it is the most valuable in restoring life, and even when it is obtained its benefit is doubtful.

The method accepted by investigators of to-day as the best in every way is the prone pressure method of resuscitation. This method is the one to adope in case of electrical shock, poisoning by gas, or in drowning. It is easy to apply, is not so tiring on the attendant, and should be maintained even for hours—until breathing is restored or rigor mortis sets in. The plan is simple:

Have the patient lie face downwards, the doctor or attendant on his knees over the patient, placing his hands on the lower part of the patient's chest, and apply pressure at regular intervals at the ordinary breathing rate. This method makes the air enter and leave the lungs much more completely than any other method.

Mr. MacLachlan has been in town on different occasions, instructing the men of factories using electricity in this method. He has found such information, in several cases, the means of saving life, even where there seemed little hope.

In a community such as Peterborough, where electricity and water is present in abundance, it would be wise for as many as possible to know this method, and especially valuable for all who have the care of bathers.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK, June 13.—(Canadian Press.)— Supporting orders checked further general decline of prices at opening of to-day's stock market, but the tone was very feverish and unsettled. Rallies of one to almost two points occurred in the Domestic and Foreign Oils, American Smelting and Union Pacific. "Merger" Steels were hesitant Republic advancing one point while Midvale reacted that much. Shippings were under further pressure Mercantile Marine preferred falling 1 1-2 points. Foreign exchanges reflected nervous conditions abroad. Elimination of speculative or margined acounts added to markets unsettled tone in first hour. Gulf States Steel and Davison Chemical lost one to three points and many of miscellaneous specialities gave way to increased pressure. List rallied before noon. Popular oils rising two to three points. U. S. Steel and Independent Steels recovered one to 2 1-2 points and motors and thi accessories rose one to two points. Food specialties, sugars rallying one to three points.

Oats started 1-4 to 3-8 lower to 1-8 advance; July 35 1-4 to 35 1-2 and later hardened trifle on all deliveries.

PENALTIES FOR ABSENT JURORS

Judge Huycke Threatens to Impose Fine for Non-Appearance.

Jurors who absent themselves without leave from the June and December sessions of the County Court leave themselves liable to penalties which Judge Huycke at the opening of the court this afternoon threatened to impose.

J. T. O'Connell and W. A. Greenslade did not answer the roll call of grand urors, although Mr. O'Connell arrived shortly afterward.

"It would serve these men right if I fined them each $100," said His Honor. "It ought to be done, and whether I'll do it or not before the court concludes I shall take into consideration. This is a flagrant breach of duty and of good manners in being subpoenaed by the Crown for Crown business and then not being here."

Judge Huycke expressed his regret that Crown Attorney Hatton was indisposed and unable to assume his duties. His place was taken by Mr. J. F. Strickland, at the request of Mr. Hatton, and with the concurrence of the Judge.

Only one criminal case on the docket indicated that there was no great prevalence of crime in this county.

Applications for naturalization were made by Mr. V. J. McElderry on behalf of Mr. Phillip Black, and by Mr. I. A. O'Brien for Mr. Wm. Taylor Seaman.

The case of Akey vs. Letellier was adourned until the next court.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Davidson, of Otonabee, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. David Morrison, South Monaghan.

EVIDENCE FOR DEFENSE ENDS

Claim of Chas. Ireland Against Bruce McKenty of Harvey Township to Jnry This Afternoon.

Witnesses called by Mr F. D. Kerr this morning for the defense at the resumed hearing of the Ireland-McKenty suit for $500 damages gave evidence corroborating the statement of the defendant given yesterday afternoon.

Leslie Hall swore that on three occasions he had made to Bruce McKenty offers from Charles Ireland to settle the case.

Melville Hall recalled several conversatios he had with Ireland.

"He told me he would get even with McKenty and that McKenty had been over to his house. He said he was going to enter a case in court and if he could get $200 or $300 out of McKenty he would be better than cutting cordwood, and he could sit up and laugh at him. Afterwards he said he didn't thing McKenty would let the case go to court.

Joseph Johnson substained another point in McKenty's story. He testified that he had met McKenty on the road about December 14 or 15 last. McKenty asked him what time it was, and witness looking at his watch said it was 11.15. Johnson said he believed it would take half an hour to drive from that place of their meetng to Standeaven's lumber camp.

Henry B. Parker.

Henry B. Parker's contribution to the defense was a rectital of the incident at McKenty's when Charles Ireland demanded a dollar which he claimed was due him. Witness is a farmer in Harvey township where he lived six years. He is also a storeman and moved from Bobcaygeon six years ago to Harvey where he has been a member of the municipal council four years.

Parker was working at McKenty's one day last October he said. Ireland came there and told Parker that McKenty owed him a dollar.

"I said I thought Mr. McKenty would pay him a dollar if he owed it. He said "If he don't I'll knock hell out of him I'm in the right humor for it."

Witness then told of the encounter between Ireland and McKenty.

"Ireland said 'I'll have more than the dollar before the year is out'". McKenty said he couldn't see how Ireland could get any more money Ireland replied that he had never been beaten in a law scrape yet. "You'd better look sharp" he said, "between me and my wife, we'll have more than a dollar out of you before a year is up."

Mr. Parker said that Ireland was very angry at that time and used abusive language.

To Mr. J. A. O'Brien, counsel for plaintiffs, witness said he still had a contract with McKenty to complete the stone wall on which he had been working last fall.

Hugh Given recalled statements which he said Ireland made to him at Pullybank's camp last February.

"He said he was pulling McKenty for assault, and that if he could scare 400 or $500 out of him it would be easier than cutting wood. He also said McKenty was so scared he was then willing to settle for $200 but that he (Ireland) woudn't settle for that.

Mr. Edward Wood concluded the evidence for the defence by explaining pre-confinement delusions of women.

The jury in this case was empanelled as follows after eight other jurors were challenged by Mr. Kerr and Mr. O'Brien—James Moore, Edward Trennum, Clifford Hancock, Harry Short, Wm. Blewett, John A. Freeman, W. J. Charlton, John Kingsley, Arnold Wood, Wm. C. Bennett, Edgar Turner, James Murphy

BANK BANDITS' TRIAL STARTS

Edward McMullen Accompanied by a Sheriff and a Wad of Gum is the First to Appear.

SARNIA, Ont., June 14.—(Canadian Press).—Edward McMullen, the first of four alleged bank bandits to stand trial here to-day, entered court room at 9.50 handcuffed to a Sheriff Officer. McMullen, stout and slightly bald appears to be a man in his early thirties. He was neatly dressed but despite the "clean shave" which gave rise to conjecture last evening his jowl was of a perceptibly blush tilt this morning. McMullen was chewing gum. While the charge of robbery with violence was read by Crown Attorney Wilson the accused man stood calmly, with one arm resting on the side of the dock. In an unemotional voice he pleaded "not guilty". "Are you prepared for your trial to go on."

McMullen ruminated over his gum for several seconds before replying in the affirmative.

Selections of petty jurymen occupied the Court for some time.

The defence challenged a large number of Jurymen while the Crown also objected to a few.

After a legal argument between Counsel, all witnesses to be called in any four cases were excluded from the court room.

DEVELOP COLONIES.

LONDON, June 14 (Canadian Press Cable). — Speaking at a dinner attended by the Colonial Administrators to-day, Under-Secretary for the Colonies Wood urged the desirability of not arresting development schemes in the colonies, however essential economy might be in other directions. MERCHANTS BANK CASE IS UP AGAIN

MONTREAL, June 14.—(Canadian Press).—(Special).—The collapse of the Merchants Bank case is being looked into once more here to-day. This time it is the Grand Jury in the Court of King's Bench that is considering it to decide whether or not it will return a true bill against D. C. Macarow, the bank's former manager, charged with sending a false return to the Government regarding the institution standing.

It will be recalled that Judge Cusson decided some weeks ago that there was not enough evidence produced before him to warrant sending Mr. Macarow to a Higher Court for trial. Shortly after the Minister of Justice and Premier Taschereau as Attorney-General of Quebec to sign a bill of indictment against Mr. Macarow despite Judge Cusson's decision, it is this bill that the grand jury is considering to-day.

The case against Sir Montagu Allan, which is similar to that against Mr. Macarow is scheduled to come up before Judge Cusson tomorrow, but it is likely it will be again postponed pending a decision in the Macarow case. If a true bill is returned against the latter it is probable that the former case will be further put off until the other one is finally disposed of. What decision the grand jury has reached will likely be communicated to Judge Monet this afternoon.

Characterizes the United States As World's Largest Bootlegger

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 14 (Canadian Press). — Charging that the United States is "Incomparably the biggest bootlegger in the world," a letter, written by Augustus Busch, president of the Anheusor Busch Company, while en route to Europe and forwarded to President Harding, was made public here to-day.

In the letter to his associates, Busch declared that he learned while crossing the Atlantic on the steamship George Washington that ships operated by the United States Shipping Board "Are the wettest on the ocean."

He said he also learned that passage on ships was sold with a money back guarantee that the bars for the sale of liquors would be thrown open as soon as they passed out of the three-mile coast line.

He held it was a violation of the law for the Government to possess and transport liquor within the three-mile limit.

BRISK DEBATE CHURCH ISSUES BY MINISTERS

Too Many Generals in the Methodist Church Army Declared Rev. W. E. Wilson---Need More Privates

CONFERENCE NEWS

TORONTO, June 14.—(Special).—The Toronto Methodist Conference this morning decided decisively against the separation of the conference into two—north and south.

There was a lively debate in the proposal to merge some of the Church departments—the home missions and evangelism, the finance and superannuation, and the education and religious education departments. Rev. Dr. Young declared that the overhead cost was too heavy. E. S. Caswell said "the old church was top heavy."

"We have so many generals that you can hardly see the army because of them," said Rev. W. E. Wilson. "We need more privates in the army."

The conference decided that it would suffice to send the memorial on to the general conference without recommendation.

Can a minister of one conference be legally a member of a church in another conference? This point arose in the discussion over the memorial to the general conference, asking that clergy residing in other conferences be allocated to the church where they reside. The case in point was that of Rev. Dr. W. B. Creighton, editor of the Christian Guardian, who belongs to the London Conference, but attends Howard Park Church, Toronto.

"I was an outlander in the church. I attended in Winnipeg," said Dr. Bland, in telling of his experience in Winnipeg when he was at Wesley College. But the memorial was defeated.

"Downright nonsense," was Chancellor Bowles' description of the motion to incorporate in the College charters the provisions of the general conference that it may declare the theological doctrines and principles to be taught there. He protested at such strings being placed on the colleges.

"You question the orthodoxy of the men and now you question the orthodoxy of the colleges."

Dr. Bland described the colleges as having a particularly fine spirit and turning out good students.

The motion was killed by a large majority.

Rev. Percy Peacock was elected as the 26th delegate to the general conference. Thus ended the many ballots to settle this issue.

Tear Gas Used to Protect a Slayer

JACKSON, June 14 (Canadian Press). — The use of tear gas to repel the advances of more than a thousand angry citizens of Jackson, who sought to take George Straub, confessed slayer of Miss Alice Mallett, from the custody of the Sheriff, is largely responsible for Straub's safety in an unnamed Michigan city to-day.

The prisoner escaped from the angry mob which sought his life at the jail last night, in the disguise of a fireman, and was spirted out of Jackson several hours before it was known he had left the prison.

NIMROD'S DAY IS JUNE SIXTEENTH

Opening of Season for Bass and Maskinonge Eagerly Awaited by Sportsmen Of This District.

The fishing season for bass and maskinonge opens on Friday, June 16. It has been quietly heralded by the alluring show of all the essential implements and fancy accessories of the art of angling as set out in attractive array in window displays of sporting goods. Steel rods and trick patented bait, artificial flies, landing nets and hooks and other nets for the catching of minnow bait, hooks of all sizes, reels and trolling lines and spoons, in brief, all the paraphernalia which inveterate fishermen like to conjure with in the early days of June. Some are content with the simplest tackle and get the greatest pleasure in beating out their own copper spoons, plating some of them with silver for use on dark days, and finally bringing home a ten-pounder which they landed with home-made devices. Others prefer to look over the wares of the sporting goods department for novelties in spoons and bait, and to provide themselves with brand new and bright trappings as if they were going to take part in a pageant. Fishing is one grand sport—for those who like it—that accommodates itself to every purse. You can catch just as big a fish with a long sprout of bamboo or a willow limb as you can with the finest split bamboo or steel rod. Reels aren't necessary, but you can get them jewelled like a watch up to $30 or $40 and beyond that. And worms are known to have attracted as many fish as the most brightly painted bait.

The opening of the season will come as a relief to those enthusiasts who have been fishing for pickerel, and hoping against hope that a maskinonge wouldn't accidently bump against their hooks.

And when you hear stories of 17-pound pickerel having been caught you are fairly certain that their worst fears were realized, fortunately when the fish inspector wasn't in the neighborhood.

POLITICAL AIR CLEAR

Budget had Cleansing Effect at Least and Possibilities of Election Remote.

OTTAWA, June 14.—(Canadian Press)—The division on the budget clears the political air and today the government members are in a caucus on vote and its portents. In the view of the old political observer however it had dispelled any idea of a general election at any rate until efter the redistribution bill is brought down next session. There is now talk of prorogation within a cople of weeks.

FREIGHT RATES UNDER FIRE.

LOCAL POLICE ARREST THREE FROM RESERVE

Redskins Plead Guilty to Entering and Stealing from Seven Summer Cottages—Remanded.

GOODS RECOVERED

The police are confident that three Indians, now in custody, two from the Scugog Island reserve near Port Perry, and one from Curve Lake reserve, are at the bottom of the series of plunderings that took place at summer cottages at the Kawartha Lakes last fall and winter, resulting in losses estimated at $5,000 by Chief S. Newhall. In police court today the three Indians, Russell Taylor and Norman Marsden, from Scugog, and Strafford Jacobs, of Curve Lake, pleaded guilty to entering and stealing from seven cotttages altogether. Taylor pleaded guilty to being in all the plundering expeditions, while Jacobs was only on two and Marsden on five with him. The cottages broken into were owned by E. B. Mulligan, James Acton, Mr. McCollum, C. L. Marshall, William Irwin and William Shewan.

Stolen property recovered by the police is valued at over one hundred dollars, and embraces a wide variety of goods, from clothing to cutlery. The local police, with Inspector A. B. Boyd of the Criminal Investigation Department, Toronto, have been working on the case for a week, after a private detective employed by the insurance companies and cottagers interested in the losses, is said to have disappeared from the chase after promising assistance. This private sleuth notified the police over a week ago that he was working on the case and was ready to spring the trap on the guilty parties. Inspector Boyd and the local police offered their co-operation and arrangements were made for cleaning up the cases, but the police say that the detective at the time appointed, failed to show up at the station and has not been heard of since.

A Week's Remand.

The authorities therefore proceeded as planned and working along an altogether new line, found clues hitherto overlooked. The week's investigation, of which two days, Wednesday and Thursday of last week, were spent at the lakes, convinced them that the Scugog Indians, with Jacobs, of Chemong, were implicated. Yesterday Inspector Boyd arrested Taylor and Marsden at Scugog reserve and Chief Newhall brought in Jacobs from Curve Lake.

To-day the trio pleaded guilty to all charges preferred against them, after requesting summary trial. J. F. Strickland, representing the Crown, asked for a week's remand for sentence, as the Crown had evidence to offer that could not be brought in at the present time, he said. Magistrate Langley granted the request, pointing out to the Indians that the charges were of a serious nature and they must not consider that they were being severely treated in being held over for a week.

The summer cottages were broken into in October, just after the owners had closed them up, and according to the police the plunderings were legion in number. It is not known yet what the losses were, for many cottages have not been opened for a year. Prominent cottagers interviewed the chief of police a week ago, pointing out that the situation was so serious that the tourist business of this section was threatened unless the thieving was stopped. The agitation set up resulted in the provincial and local authorities stepping in and going over the heads of the county officers, in whose hands the case had rested since last fall, in order to clean it up.

Mr. Halcrow's name was added at the suggestion of H. H. Dewart. Mr. Tooms leaves for England tomorrow to visit his father in Northampton, and will be away six weeks.

TO SEEK INCREASED GRANT FROM COUNTY

Failing This the Children's Aid Society May Decide to Bill County for Care of Children.

A NEW PRESIDENT

Mr. B. F. Ackerman was appointed president of the Children's Aid Society at yesterday afternoon's regular monthly meeting, to replace the Rev. F. E. Malott, whose removal to the pastorate of Bridge Street Church in Belleville necessitated his resignation. Many expressions of regret greeted Mr. Malott's announcement of severance from the local Board, but a unanimous chorus of approval followed the address of Mr. John Edgar, secretary of the Society, giving the name of Mr. B. F. Ackerman as successor to the presiding chair.
